NEW HOPES FOR A SETTLEMENT

ALL OF EUROPE TURNS TOWARD DAWES REPORT

(Copyright 1924, by the United Press.)

LONDON, April 12. — Europe stands on a threshold whence the first step well may be toward her eventual reconstruction.

At least, the Dawes report has accomplished its initial purpose. It has brought conflicting parties in the European muddle all to the same threshold, and pointed out the direction of the first step.

Promise of prompt acceptance of the experts' plan by Germany, contained in Berlin dispatches today, means that the all important start in a common direction may soon be made

"It's up to Germany," a member of the reparations commission said today, "but there is no reason why Germany should hesitate at the start. She may eventually balk and hinder success of the undertaking, but in the beginning she has everything to gain and nothing to lose."

A look at the proposed first step in the Dawes plan will reveal this. After the reparations commission has received a formal statement from the Marx government and Premier Poincare has had his talk with Premier Macdonald about securities and economic sanctions in the Ruhr in case Germany makes a false move, the elaborate machinery devised by General Dawes and his fellow business men can be put together

Accepted in Beginning.

Before this machine has finished its task, it may be unrecognizable. Its functions and eventual working out may be changed many times before the last mark of reparations debt is paid. But in the beginning every one accepts it as its standard.

The first practical step towards final consummation of the experts' dream of a rehabilitated Germany grinding out reparations payments on schedule time is establishment of the gold bank. Inseparable from this project is the floating of a loan of Germany. It will be seen that the statesmen of the reich can find little to Germany's disadvantage in these.

Careful provision was made by the experts that none of this gold should get into Germany. For it to do so requires a unanimous vote of the expert bord of directors, on which the allies and neutral countries have equal representation with Germany.

United States Involved.

The opening phase of the Dawes plan involves the United States perhaps more than any other country save Germany.

This is one reason for the optimism from allied capitals today regarding the initial functioning of the scheme.

In the first place, the allies expect that the loan will be raised largely in America. In the second, they intend to see that the United States has prominent representation on the various boards of control, either officially or unofficially.

The allies feel that they finally have involved the United States in a reparations settlement and a feeler was put out in Paris yesterday that the "reparation director" who will be a sort of Judge Landis of reparations will be an American.

They do not mind that the American government is still outside.

REED LAUNCHES BITTER ATTACK ON PRESIDENT

Says Coolidge "Denouncing Senate Because It Exposed Albert Fall" and Asks Expunging of Message From Record.

ASSERTS STATEMENT IS "OFFENSIVE DOCUMENT"

Walsh, Reed and McKellar Lead Fight and Will Oppose Watson's Resolution Dissolving Investigating Committee.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 12—As the climax of one of the most harsh and bitter attacks to which a president of the United States has ever been subjected, Senator James A. Reed, democrat of Missouri, tonight offered a resolution in the senate to expunge from the Congressional Record the special message of President Coolidge condemning the investigation of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and the bureau of internal revenue.

Declaring that the presidential message should "never have been given the courtesy of being received," Reed described it as an "offensive document" which was an "insult to the senate."

Reed announced that he would demand action on the resolution Monday.

The resolution was as follows:

"Resolved, that the communication of the president of the United States, of date of April 11, 1924, and the letter to the secretary of the treasury of date of April 10, 1924, be and are hereby expunged from the record of the senate."

Nicholas Murray Butler Declares Senatorial Probes Are Unlawful.

Makes Address at Banquet Given in Honor of Andrew W. Mellon.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. April 12 — Upbraiding congress for its general conduct, Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, in an address here tonight at a banquet, given in honor of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, scored those who investigate the private affairs of the cabinet officers.

"Neither house of congress has any authority under the constitution to investigate the private affairs of anyone," Butler said.

"The house may properly investigate any public official who is liable to impeachment with a view to ascertaining whether or not he should be impeached.

"The senate, however which, if impeachment follows must sit as a court is without any such authority and the present forcible manifestation of this authority is lawlessness personified."

Osborne W. Wood Leaves U. S. Army

WASHINGTON, April 12.— President Coolidge has accepted the resignation from the army of Osborne C. Wood, son of Governor General Wood of the Philippines, the war department announced today. Wood is reputed to have made nearly a million dollars in stock market operations while serving with his father in Manila. He is now traveling in Europe.

INFANT DIES IN MOTHER'S ARMS WHILE IN STORE

Talbott Child Expires Five Days After Accidental Death of Father.

George, 4-month-old son of Mrs Floyd Talbott, whose husband was crushed to death in an elevator accident Monday, died in his mother's arms in the Parke-Brown department store at 8:30 Saturday night. The father was buried Wednesday. He was 19 years old.

The young mother had come downtown with some relatives, and was carrying the child. She was in the act of showing him to a friend who had worked with her husband when the baby's death was discovered. Ten minutes before the babe had been chortling.

Saturday was the mother's nineteenth birthday, and before her husband's death the two had planned a simple birthday celebration in honor of the event. He had worked but three days for the Gunn Seed company when he was killed.

Looking at the baby with the friend to whom she was about to show the child, the mother saw something was wrong, and an attempt was made to call a doctor from the store which was crowded at that time, but she was unsuccessful.

She then went to the People's City Mission and Superintendent G. O. Rogers took the mother and child to the Lincoln Sanitarium, where Dr. John W. Thompson examined the child. Because a detailed examination could not be made Dr. Thompson said the exact cause of death could not be given.

The body is being held at Hodgeman's undertaking parlors pending funeral arrangements.

The baby had suffered an attack of pneumonia about six weeks ago, and was thought to have recovered. It is believed, however, that it was still possibly in a weakened condition.

Another baby, age 2, survives.

With Mrs Talbott at the time were her mother, Mrs. George Stopher, 2219 North Twenty-ninth street, and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hall.

WHEELER GIVES GRAVE WARNING

Says Corruption Must Come to Light or Government Undergo Change.

Declares Situation "Unparalleled in the History of Our Country."

CHICAGO, April 12—"Unless the people of this country are brought to realize the corruption and rottenness existant at Washington, they may be called upon to undergo deep and fundamental changes such as occurred in Europe where the ruling powers were overthrown when their rottenness was realized," Senator Burton K. Wheller, democrat of Montana, "chief prosecutor" of the Daugherty investigation told his Jefferson audience at the Iroquois club tonight.

Wheeler referred indirectly to his recent indictment by a federal grand jury in Montana when he thanked his hearers for their enthusiastic reception, "despite the severe criticism to which I have been subjected recently."

"Investigations in Washington have revealed a situation unparalleled in the history of our government," he continued. "It is your duty to learn the extent of this corruption."

Speaks of Convention.

He outlined what he termed a history of the investigations starting with the republican convention in Chicago four years ago, the "inside history" of which he said he learned several months later from a woman government employe who said she knew far in advance just what the convention would do. In scathing terms, he castigated the men he held responsible for "conditions of corruption."

"There are few of us who are willing to stand the broadside of criticism that the facts may be brought to light. I have been severely criticised because of the character of witnesses we have used. It has been necessary to call such witnesses in order to show the type of department officials our government had.

"Our government had sunk so low that it could not long survive under the present conditions," he charged.

Mayor William E. Dever in his introduction of Senator Wheeler, said, "Our nation itself was diseased in its most vital organs. It needed great men to bring facts to light. It is significant that one state, itself not a leader as far as population goes, should produce two of the men who have had the intelligence and courage to say that this reign of terror and pillage must cease."

Three Fliers Die In Crash

LAWTON, Okla., April 12—One lieutenant and two nono-ommissioned officers were instantly killed and their bodies burned beyond recognition when the De Haviland plane in which they were cruising side-slipped at an altitude of 200 feet and crashed to the ground on the outskirts of Leon, Okla., twenty miles from Marietta, Okla., today.

The dead: First Lieut. Solomon Ebert, 30, Boise, Ida., Corporal Emmett J. Reese, 24, Norman, Okla., Corporal Emmett W. Marsh, 25, Leon, Okla.

The dead were members of the forty-fourth observation squadron at Post Field, Fort Sill, Okla., and were making an official cross country flights.

Henry Ford's Reply Awaited

DETROIT, Mich., April 12.— Henry Ford's letter of withdrawal from the democratic presidential race was in the mails this afternoon and should reach William A. Comstock, chairman of the democratic state central committee not later than Monday it was stated by Ford officials?

Almost immediately after Ford was returned victor over Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris in the presidential primary in the democratic ticket, Comstock got in touch with the motor king's secretary to determine Ford's attitude.

Today it was made clear that Ford would withdraw from the democratic race and maintain his attitude toward President Coolidge as announced last December when he came out for the president.

YOUNG MAN IMPRISONED.

DENVER, COLO., April 12 — Last minute attempts to keep Maurice Mandell, convicted of embezzling $464,600 from the now defunct Hibernia Bank and Trust company, out of prison failed today. Motions by his attorneys to reopen the case were overruled, and the young man was ordered committed to jail to begin serving nine to twenty years at hard labor.

State Convention Chairmen

Right—Arthur J. Weaver, selected to wield gavel at republican powwow in Lincoln.

MAJOR PARTIES PICK CHAIRMEN

Former Senator Hitchcock to Preside Over Demo State Convention and Weaver to Wield Gavel at G. O. P. Gathering.

KEYNOTE SPEECHES BY RECOGNIZED LEADERS

Newly Elected Delegates to National Conventions May Meet Soon to Elect Nebraska Representatives On Important Committees.

Former United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Omaha has been selected by the democratic state executive committee to preside over the state convention of that party at Omaha on May 1, while the republican executive state committee has chosen Arthur J. Weaver of Falls City for chairman of the g. o. p. convention at Lincoln on the same date. Both men have accepted Mr. Weaver over the long distance telephone and Mr. Hitchcock in a telegram from Washington.

Each of the two major organizations in Nebraska will thus be assured of a comprehensive keynote speech outlining the issues of the campaign by a recognized leader who has been prominently identified with public affairs. Both men are recognized as able and well informed spokesmen for their respective school of political thought.

Mr. Weaver is the largest commercial fruit grower in Nebraska, has

IMPROVEMENT OF RIVERS IS URGED

Advocate Project to Make Missouri Navigable as Far North as Sioux City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12.—Inland waterway improvement advocates today went on record as favoring projects affecting the middlewest as proposed in the Newton bill in congress carrying $74,000,000 in appropriations.

The river enthusiasts from seven states adopted a resolution urging a permanent navigable channel, six feet deep and 600 feet wide from Kansas City to the mouth of the Missouri to make the river suitable for use by steamships and large barges. They favored either a bond issue or a lump sum appropriation to complete this project within five years.

Improvement of the river between Kansas City and Sioux City, Ia., was advocated as the next project to accommodate 7,000,000 persons in the food producing states of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota.

Representatives from Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana were in attendance at the two day meetings which closed today.

Daugherty Asserts His Home Entered

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 1.—That his home here had been entered during his absence at Washington, D. C. was the announcement made today by former Attorney General Daugherty. An inspection disclosed that a number of his files were scattered around, Daugherty stated. He was unable, however, to state whether any had been stolen. Nothing else he said, was disturbed.

EMORY KING HELD

CHICAGO, April 12—Emory King, wanted by police of Denver on a charge of fleecing a minister and banker of that city out of $254,000 in a wire tapping scheme was arrested here today. He was picked up on the street. King said he would fight extradition.

BONUS MEASURE IS NOW ON WAY TO ENACTMENT

Bill Expected To Go To White House This Week After Senate Passage.

Indications Are Compensation To Be Considered Before Tax Measure.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 12 — The soldiers bonus bill tonight was on its way to enactment by congress. Only passage by the senate remains to be accomplished before the bill goes to the White house and this is looked for next week.

Overriding the objections of democrats, the senate finance committee today reported the bonus bill passed by the house, providing twenty year endowment insurance policies for veterans of the world war. Cash payments were proposed only in cases where the amount of the bonus totalled $50 or less.

Defeated in efforts thus far to provide a cash option also, democrats, through Senator Simmons, democrat, of North Carolina, announced they would introduce a cash payment amendment Monday or Tuesday.

The bonus was ordered reported without a formal vote, and it was decided to lay the bill formally before the senate Tuesday. Senator King, democrat, of Utah, was the sole member of the committee to announce opposition to the bill.

Unable to reach a decision today, Senator Smoot, republican of Utah, chairman, called a meeting of the committee for Monday to determine whether the bonus or the tax bill shall be given preference in the senate. Democrats, according to Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, were united to demand tax legislation first. They do not want to lay themselves open to the possible charge that they delayed enactment of tax legislation.

Republicans Favor Bonus.

Virtually assured of a majority in the senate, republican leaders insisted that the bonus be given the right of way. Senator Smoot pointed out that final determination of the amount of tax reduction depended on the bonus bill. Should the bonus be ordered taken up first, as seemed certain from a poll tonight, it is not believed the senate would consume more than a week in passing it.

Committee experts declared that approximately 3,000,000 veterans would be eligible to the insurance provided by the bill. At today's session, the committee also added a provision that 11,000 women who served in a clerical capacity in the navy and marine corps are eligible to the bonus.

Estimates that varied as much as 1,500,000,000 were given as the cost. The highest figure, 3,800,000,000 was presented by Joseph McCoy, actuary of the treasury; the lowest, 2,220,000,000, by John Thomas Taylor, counsel for the American legion.

Slays Son and Then Kills Self

GAINESVILLE, Fla., April 12. — D. P. Faircloth of Williston tonight shot and wounded Dr. J. M. Willis of that town, killed his own child with the same gun, and then slew himself as a result of an old feud, according to word reaching Gainesville police.

Gainesville is thirty miles from here.

Police said witnesses expressed an opinion that Faircloth thought he had killed Willis and then, not wishing to leave his own small son living, killed him before committing suicide.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—April 13.—The weather outlook for the week beginning Monday follows:

Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys: Generally fair weather at beginning of week, and considerable cloudiness with a probability of occasional showers thereafter; temperature near normal most of week.

Kansas: Partly cloudy Sunday and Monday; moderate temperature.

W. H. THOMPSON IS MADE JUDGE

SELECTION BASED ON CHOICE OF VOTERS

Predictions that W. H. Thompson of Grand Island would be appointed to the Nebraska supreme bench to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Judge C. H. Aldrich were fulfilled Saturday, when Governor Bryan officially announced his selection of Thompson for that position. The appointment is to take effect at once, and the Grand Island man will sit with the high bench at the next session, beginning April 21.

"Although Judge Aldrich was elected from the state at large, before the present constitutional provision for electing supreme judges by districts was adopted, I feel that the constitution as it now stands should govern my action and that the appointment should go to some other district than the First, which now has two of the judges," said Governor Bryan.

"Neither the Third nor the Fifth district is now represented on the supreme bench. However, candidates were nominated in those districts in the recent primaries to be voted for at the November election.

"In appointing Mr. Thompson I feel that the voters of Nebraska—at least those of his own district—have in reality made the choice. His vote in that district seems to be about twice as great as that of any other candidate, and he is therefore, the unquestioned choice of the people so far as the primary is concerned.

"His qualifications are all that a judge should have to serve on our highest judicial tribunal, and I am sure that his selection will be recognized, not only by the bench of

Gompers Feels Outlook Bright

CHICAGO, April 12.—Business pessimism has found no place in Samuel Gompers' calculations as he turned turned them towards labor's prospects for 1924.

"A general improvement in labor conditions with the coming of spring and a prosperous year for workers generally," was the outlook the veteran labor leader predicted on his arrival in Chicago today for a number of important conferences with midwestern labor leaders.

He was particularly optimistic regarding a reported outlook for women workers.

Mr. Gompers said he was concentrating on a huge organization plan for women workers. "If greater protection is not afforded women workers by legislation then there must be greater organization of the women workes," he stated.

ARREST MORE IN CLASH OF KLAN

LILLY, Pa., April 12. — Total arrests in connection with the fatal rioting here a week ago between members of the Ku Klux Klan and townsfolk grew to forty tonight when thirteen residents here were taken in to custody and lodged in the county jail at Ebonsburg on charges of murder, rioting and carrying of concealed weapons.

Twenty seven klansmen, previously arrested on charges of inciting a riot and murder, were already held in the jail without bail.

Counsel for the thirteen townsfolk arrested tonight immediately applied for the writ of habeaas corpus and a preliminary hearing on the writ will be held Monday.

Dietrich Funeral To Be Held Sunday

(Special to The Star)

HASTINGS, Neb., April 12 — The funeral services for Charles H. Dietrich, former governor of Nebraska and United States senator, will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home in accordance with his wish the services will be very simple. Bishop George A. Beecher will read the Episcopal service at the residence and the Masons will have charge at the grave.

Couzens' Condition Shows Improvement

WASHINGTON, April 12—Doctor's bulletins tonight announced that Senator James A. Couzens rested easily through out the day and is preserving a satisfactory condition in preparation for an operation next week. He is attended by his personal physician Dr. Hugo Freund, who was called from Detroit.

HOUSE PASSES BILL REDUCING IMMIGRATION

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Riding roughshod over the objection of many high administration officials, including Secretary of State Hughes, and ignoring the blunt warning of the Japanese ambassador that the present relations between Japan and the United States may be imperilled, the house tonight passed the new immigration bill, restricting all immigraton to the lowest point in history, and absolutely barring by statute the entrance of orientals — Japanese, Chinese and Hindus.

The statement of the Japanese ambassador that passage of this bill would be offensive to Tokio made little impression on the house, for it wrote the exclusion provision into the bill without a record vote, and then passed the measure by the overwhelming vote of 322 to 71, more than 4 to 1.

Permissible immigration under the bill is reduced from the existing 3 per cent quota under the 1910 census to 2 per cent quota of the 1890 census. This reduces the total authorized immigration per year from 345,000 to about 165,000. The present 3 per cent law expires by limitation June 30 next.

Vigorous Fight Waged

The most vigorous fight against the legislation centered about the selection of alien population under the 1890 census as a basis against which to apply the quota. Italy and Rumania officially protested the adoption of the 1890 census because it discriminated against their nations and reduced their quota. Other southern and southeastern European countries are given reduced quotas under the proposed legislation, while immigration totals for Great Britain and northern Europe are raised.

Adoption of the quota and census plan by the house came after many attempts had been made to change the census year. All amendments were beaten down by a 2 to 1 vote, and the house immigration committee held immigration restrictionists in line at all times.

Essential features of the bill as passed by the house are:

It preserves the basic immigration law of 1917. It retains the principle of numerical limitation inaugurated in 1921. It changes the quota base from the 1910 census to the 1890 census, and reduces the percentage from 3 to 2, plus a base quota of 100 for each country.

Must Be Certified.

It provides for certification of immigrants by American consuls with a preliminary examination overseas. It exempts the wives, children under 18, and parents over 55 of American citizens. It reduces classes of exempted aliens. It places the burden of proof on an alien to show he entered legally, rather than on the United States to prove illegal entry. It denies admission of aliens ineligible to citizenship, but carries exemption to comply with treaty agreements.

The provision for the protection of treaties provides among the exempted classes.

An alien entitled to enter the United States solely to carry on trade under and in pursuance of the provisions of a present existing treaty of commerce and navigation.

The senate, which went into a night session with the expectation of a possible vote on its own immigration bill, recessed at 7.30 o'clock this evening, without taking up the measure.

KEISER MUST PUT UP $55,000 BOND

Judge Shepherd Rules In Case of Farmer Declared Incompetent.

Levi Keiser, aged Wahoo farmer, must furnish supersedes bond in the amount of $55,000 if he wishes to retain control of his estate while his appeal from the decision in district court by which he was declared incompetent is pending.

District Judge Fred Shepherd of Lincoln, who substituted for Judge George Corcoran when the case was tried in the district court at Wahoo, decided Saturday that the bond was necessary.

Three alternatives were open to the judge: the appointment of a receiver, the supersedes bond, or the impounding of the estate as security.

Keiser may either secure the bond or appeal from the decision of Judge Shepherd to the supreme court with only a small bond to secure the costs in the case.

If this is done, though, the guardian appointed by the court, Levi Keiser, a brother, will assume charge in the interim.

The large supersedeas bond is to insure the estate against loss during the time lapsing before decision is given on the appeal.

Keiser, who married Mrs. Irene Buell, woman attorney, was said by his son to be incompetent to manage his affairs. The county court declared him incompetent and the district court affirmed the decision.

SINCLAIR PLANS A LONG BATTLE

WASHINGTON, April 12— Harry F. Sinclair, oil multimillionaire, today fired the opening gun in a legal battle which will end only in the United States supreme court and will decide probably for al time to come the powers and authority of the United States senate in its investigations of private individuals.

An array of distinguished legal talent, representing Sinclair, filed in the District of Columbia criminal court a formal demurrer to an indictment under which the government charged that Sinclair is in contempt of the senate in refusing to answer questions or produce records of his business affairs before the committee investigating his lease of the Teapot Dome oil reserve from former Secretary of the Interior Fall.

British Vessel Is In Distress

NEW YORK, April 12—The British steamer Buchannes has sent out an S. O. S. from latitude 49-46 north, longitude 22-22 west, the naval communications here was advised tonight.

The ship is about 800 miles off Valencia, Spain.

The nature of her trouble is not known.

Barry Promises Dry Convention

"Our regular force will co-operate with dry officers that will be here to keep the lid on tight during the meeting, Barry said.

Report Trotzky May Be Dropped

LONDON, April 12—A sensational report of a possible shakeup of the soviet cabinet at Moscow was received from Stockholm this evening.

A rumor was received at Stockholm from Moscow that Alexiev Rykov, who succeeded Lenin, and Leon Trotzky, head of the red army, might be dropped. According to this source, the forthcoming all-Russian congress may appoint a successor to Rykov, who is in ill health, while Leo Kamenev may replace Trotzky. In such event, the ruling triumvirate at Moscow would consist of Zinoviev, Stalin and Kamenev.

George, 4-month-old son of Mrs. Floyd Talbott, whose husband was crushed to death in an elevator accident Monday, died in his mother's arms in the Parke-Brown department store at 8:30 Saturday night. The father was buried Wednesday. He was 19 years old.

The young mother had come downtown with some relatives, and was carrying the child. She was in the act of showing him to a friend who had worked with her husband when the baby's death was discovered. Ten minutes before the babe had been chortling.

Saturday was the mother's nineteenth birthday, and before her husband's death the two had planned a simple birthday celebration in honor of the event. He had worked but three days for the Gunn Seed company when he was killed.

Looking at the baby with the friend to whom she was about to show the child, the mother saw something was wrong, and an attempt was made to call a doctor from the store which was crowded at that time, but she was unsuccessful.

She then went to the People's City Mission and Superintendent G. O. Rogers took the mother and child to the Lincoln Sanitarium, where Dr. John W. Thompson examined the child. Because a detailed examination could nt be made Dr. Thompson said the exact cause of death could not be given.

The body is being held at Hodgeman's undertaking parlors pending funeral arrangements.

The baby had suffered an attack of pneumonia about six weeks ago, and was thought to have recovered. It is believed, however, that it was still possibly in a weakened condition.

Another baby, age 2, survives.

With Mrs. Talbott at the time were her mother, Mrs. George Stopher, 2219 North Twenty-ninth street, and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hall.

WHEELER GIVES GRAVE WARNING

Says Corruption Must Come to Light or Government Undergo Change.

Declares Situation "Unparalleled in the History of Our Country."

CHICAGO, April 12—"Unless the people of this country are brought to realize the corruption and rottenness existant at Washington, they may be called upon to undergo deep and fundamental changes such as occurred in Europe where the ruling powers were overthrown when their rottenness was realized," Senator Burton K. Wheller, democrat of Montana, "chief prosecutor" of the Daugherty investigation told his Jefferson audience at the Iroquois club tonight.

Wheeler referred indirectly to his recent indictment by a federal grand jury in Montana when he thanked his hearers for their enthusiastic reception, "despite the severe criticism to which I have benn subjected recently."

"Investigations in Washington have revealed a situation unparalleled in the history of our government," he continued. "It is your duty to learn the extent of this corruption."

Speaks of Convention.

He outlined what he termed a history of the investigations starting with the republican convention in Chicago four years ago, the "inside history" of which he said he learned several months later from a woman government employe who said she knew far in advance just what the convention would do. In scathing terms, he castigated the men he held responsible for "conditions of corruption."

"There are few of us who are willing to stand the broadside of criticism that the facts may be brought to light. I have been severely criticised because of the character of witnesses we have used. It has been necessary to call such witnesses in order to show the type of department officials our government had.

"Our government had sunk so low that it could not long survive under the present conditions," he charged.

Mayor William E. Dever in his introduction of Senator Wheeler, said, "Our nation itself was diseased in its most vital organs. It needed great men to bring facts to light. It is significant that one state, itself not a leader as far as population goes, should produce two of the men who have had the intelligence and courage to say that this reign of terror and pillage must cease."

World Fliers Again Delayed

SITKA, Alaska, April 12. Assorted winter weather again held up the scheduled departure of the four-round the world planes here today.

Fog, rain, snow, sleet and a high wind combined to keep the planes out of the air and securely tied up in the shelter of the cove.

The planes have been ready for two days to get away to Cordova and according to weather forecasts tonight, they may be able to make the northward hop tomorrow.

Major Frederick Martin, chief of the army squad of flyers, said he and his men are in fine fettle, and ready to take the air at the first rift in the weather blanket.

State Convention Chairmen

Right—Arthur J. Weaver, selected to wield gavel at republican powwow in Lincoln.

MAJOR PARTIES PICK CHAIRMEN

Former Senator Hitchcock to Preside Over Demo State Convention and Weaver to Wield Gavel at G. O. P. Gathering.

KEYNOTE SPEECHES BY RECOGNIZED LEADERS

Newly Elected Delegates to National Conventions May Meet Soon to Elect Nebraska Representatives On Important Committees.

Former United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Omaha has been selected by the democratic state executive committee to preside over the state convention of that party at Omaha on May 1, while, the republican executive state committee has chosen Arthur J. Weaver of Falls City for chairman of the g. o. p. convention at Lincoln on the same date. Both men have accepted Mr. Weaver over the long distance telephone and Mr. Hitchcock in a telegram from Washington.

Each of the two major organizations in Nebraska will thus be assured of a comprehensive keynote speech outlining the issues of the campaign by a recognized leader who has been prominently identified with public affairs. Both men are recognized as able and well informed spokesmen for their respective school of political thought.

Mr. Weaver is the largest commercial fruit grower in Nebraska, has

IMPROVEMENT OF RIVERS IS URGED

Advocate Project to Make Missouri Navigable as Far North as Sioux City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12.—Inland waterway improvement advocates today went on record as favoring projects affecting the middlewest as proposed in the Newton bill in congress carrying $74,000,000 in appropriations.

The river enthusiasts from seven states adopted a resolution urging a permanent navigable channel, six feet deep and 600 feet wide from Kansas City to the mouth of the Missouri to make the river suitable for use by steamships and large barges. They favored either a bond issue or a lump sum appropriation to complete this project within five years.

Improvement of the river between Kansas City and Sioux City, Ia., was advocated as the next project to accommodate 7,000,000 persons in the food producing states of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota.

Representatives from Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana were in attendance at the two day meetings which closed today.

Daugherty Asserts His Home Entered

COLUMBUS, Ohio., April 12.—That his home here had been entered during his absence at Washington, D. C., was the announcement made today by former Attorney General Daugherty. An inspection disclosed that a number of his files were scattered around, Daugherty stated. He was unable, however, to state whether any had been stolen. Nothing else, he said, was disturbed.

EMORY KING HELD.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Emory King, wanted by police of Denver on a charge of fleecing a minister and banker of that city out of $254,000 in a wire tapping scheme was arrested here today. He was picked up on the street. King said he would fight extradition.

BONUS MEASURE IS NOW ON WAY TO ENACTMENT

Bill Expected To Go To White House This Week After Senate Passage.

Indications Are Compensation To Be Considered Before Tax Measure.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 12. — The soldiers bonus bill tonight was on its way to enactment by congress. Only passage by the senate remains to be accomplished before the bill goes to the White house and this is looked for next week.

Overriding the objections of democrats, the senate finance committee today reported the bonus bill passed by the house, providing twenty year endowment insurance policies for veterans of the world war. Cash payments were proposed only in cases where the amount of the bonus totalled $50 or less.

Defeated in efforts thus far to provide a cash option also, democrats, through Senator Simmons, democrat, of North Carolina, announced they would introduce a cash payment amendment Monday or Tuesday.

The bonus was ordered reported without a formal vote, and it was decided to lay the bill formally before the senate Tuesday. Senator King, democrat, of Utah, was the sole member of the committee to announce opposition to the bill.

Unable to reach a decision today, Senator Smoot, republican of Utah, chairman, called a meeting of the committee for Monday to determine whether the bonus or the tax bill shall be given preference in the senate. Democrats, according to Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, were united to demand tax legislation first. They do not want to lay themselves open to the possible charge that they delayed enactment of tax legislation.

Republicans Favor Bonus.

Virtually assured of a majority in the senate, republican leaders insisted that the bonus be given the right of way. Senator Smoot pointed out that final determination of the amount of tax reduction depended on the bonus bill. Should the bonus be ordered taken up first, as seemed certain from a poll tonight, it is not believed the senate would consume more than a week in passing it.

Committee experts declared that approximately 3,000,000 veterans would be eligible to the insurance provided by the bill. At today's session, the committee also added a provision that 11,000 women who served in a clerical capacity in the navy and marine corps are eligible to the bonus.

Estimates that varied as much as 1,500,000,000 were given as the cost. The highest figure, 3,800,000,000, was presented by Joseph McCoy, actuary of the treasury; the lowest, 2,220,000,000, by John Thomas Taylor, counsel for the American legion.

Slays Son and Then Kills Self

GAINESVILLE, Fla., April 12, — D. P. Faircloth of Williston, tonight shot and wounded Dr. J. M. Willis of that town; killed his own child with the same gun, and then slew himself as a result of an old feud, according to word reaching Gainesville police.

Gainesville is thirty miles from here.

Police said witnesses expressed an opinion that Faircloth thought he had killed Willis and then, not wishing to leave his own small son living, killed him before committing suicide.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—April 12.—The weather outlook for the week beginning Monday follows:

Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys: Generally fair weather at beginning of week, and considerable cloudiness with a probability of occasional showers thereafter; temperature near normal most of week.

W. H. THOMPSON IS MADE JUDGE

SELECTION BASED ON CHOICE OF VOTERS

Predictions that W. H. Thompson of Grand Island would be appointed to the Nebraska supreme bench to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Judge C. H. Aldrich were fulfilled Saturday, when Governor Bryan officially announced hi sselection of Thompson for that position. The appointment is to take effect at once, and the Grand Island man will sit with the high bench at the next session, beginning April 21.

"Although Judge Aldrich was elected from the state at large, before the present constitutional provision for electing supreme judges by districts was adopted, I feel that the constitution as it now stands should govern my action and that the appointment should go to some other district than the First, which now has two of the judges," said Governor Bryan.

"Neither the Third nor the Fifth district is now represented on the supreme bench. However, candidates were nominated in those districts in the recent primaries to be voted for at the November election.

"In appointing Mr. Thompson I feel that the voters of Nebraska—at least those of his own district—have in reality made the choice. His vote in that district seems to be about twice as great as that of any other candidate, and he is therefore, the unquestioned choice of the people so far as the primary is concerned.

"His qualifications are all that a judge should have to serve on our highest judicial tribunal, and I am sure that his selection will be recognized, not only by the bench of

Gompers Feels Outlook Bright

CHICAGO, April 12.—Business pessimism has found no place in Samuel Gompers' calculations as he turned turned them towards labor's prospects for 1924.

"A general improvement in labor conditions with the coming of spring and a prosperous year for workers generally," was the outlook the veteran labor leader predicted on his arrival in Chicago today for a number of important conferences with midwestern labor leaders.

He was particularly optimistic regarding a reported outlook for women workers.

Mr. Gompers said he was concentrating on a huge organization plan for women workers. "If greater protection is not afforded women workers by legislation then there must be greater organization of the women workes," he stated.

ARREST MORE IN CLASH OF KLAN

LILLY, Pa., April 12. — Total arrests in connection with the fatal rioting here a week ago between members of the Ku Klux Klan and townsfolk grew to forty tonight when thirteen residents here were taken in to custody and lodged in the county jail at Ebonsburg on charges of murder, rioting and carrying of concealed weapons.

Twenty-seven klansmen, previously arrested on charges of inciting a riot and murder, were already held in the jail without bail.

Counsel for the thirteen townsfolk arrested tonight immediately applied for the writ of habeaas corpus and a preliminary hearing on the writ will be held Monday.

Dietrich Funeral To Be Held Sunday

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., April 12. — The funeral services for Charles H. Dietrich, former governor of Nebraska and United States senator, will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home. In accordance with his wish the services will be very simple. Bishop George A. Beecher will read the Episcopal service at the residence and the Masons will have charge at the grave.

Couzens' Condition Shows Improvement

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Doctor's bulletins tonight announced that Senator James A. Couzens rested easily through out the day and is preserving a satisfactory condition in preparation for an operation next week. He is attended by his personal physician, Dr. Hugo Freund, who was caled from Detroit.

HOUSE PASSES BILL REDUCING IMMIGRATION

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Riding roughshod over the objection of many high administration officials, including Secretary of State Hughes, and ignoring the blunt warning of the Japanese ambassador that the present relations between Japan and the United States may be imperilled, the house tonight passed the new immigration bill, restricting all immigraton to the lowest point in history, and absolutely barring by statute the entrance of orientals — Japanese, Chinese and Hindus.

The statement of the Japanese ambassador that passage of this bill would be offensive to Tokio made little impression on the house, for it wrote the exclusion provision into the bill without a record vote, and then passed the measure by the overwhelming vote of 322 to 71, more than 4 to 1.

Permissible immigration under the bill is reduced from the existing 3 per cent quota under the 1910 census to 2 per cent quota of the 1890 census. This reduces the total authorized immigration per year from 845,000 to about 165,000. The present 3 per cent law expires by limitation June 30 next.

Vigorous Fight Waged.

The most vigorous fight against the legislation centered about the selection of alien population under the 1890 census as a basis against which to apply the quota. Italy and Rumania officially protested the adoption of the 1890 census because it discriminated against their nations and reduced their quota. Other southern and southeastern European countries are given reduced quotas under the proposed legislation, while immigration totals for Great Britain and northern Europe are raised.

Adoption of the quota and census plan by the house came after many attempts had been made to change the census year. All amendments were beaten down by a 2 to 1 vote, and the house immigration committee held immigration restrictionists in line at all lines.

Essential features of the bill as passed by the house are:

It preserves the basic immigration law of 1917. It retains the principle of numerical limitation inaugurated in 1921. It changes the quota base from the 1910 census to the 1890 census, and reduces the percentage from 3 to 2, plus a base quota of 100 for each country.

Must Be Certified.

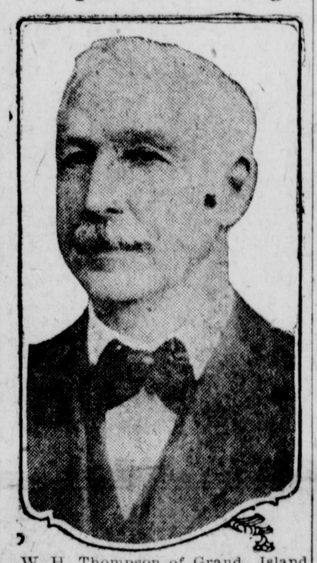

It provides for certification of immigrants by American consuls with a preliminary examination overseas. It exempts the wives, children under 18, and parents over 55 of American citizens. It reduces classes of exempted aliens. It places the burden of proof on an alien to show he entered legally, rather than on the United States to prove illegal entry. It denies admission of aliens ineligible to citizenship, but carries exemption to comply with treaty agreements.

The provision for the protection of treaties provides among the exempted classes:

An allen entitled to enter the United States solely to carry on trade under and in pursuance of the provisions of a present existing treaty of commerce and navigation.

The senate, which went into a night session with the expectation of a possible vote on its own immigration bill, recessed at 7:30 o'clock this evening, without taking up the measure.

KEISER MUST PUT UP $55,000 BOND

Judge Shepherd Rules In Case of Farmer Declared Incompetent.

Levi Keiser, aged Wahoo farmer, must furnish supersedes bond in the amount of $55,000 if he wishes to retain control of his estate while his appeal from the decision in district court by which he was declared incompetent is pending.

District Judge Fred Shepherd of Lincoln, who substituted for Judge George Corcoran when the case was tried in the district court at Wahoo, decided Saturday that the bond was necessary.

Three alternatives were open to the judge: the appointment of a receiver, the supersedes bond, or the impounding of the estate as security.

Keiser may either secure the bond or appeal from the decision of Judge Shepherd to the supreme court with only a small bond to secure the costs in the case.

If this is done, though, the guardian appointed by the court, Levi Keiser, a brother, will assume charge in the interim.

Keiser, who married Mrs. Irene Buell, woman attorney, was said by his son to be incompetent to manage his affairs. The county court declared him incompetent and the district court affirmed the decision.

SINCLAIR PLANS A LONG BATTLE

WASHINGTON, April 12.— Harry F. Sinclair, oil multimillipnaire, today fired the opening gun in a legal battle which will end only in the United States supreme court and will decide probably for al time to come the powers and authority of the United States senate in its investigations of private individuals.

An array of distinguished legal talent, representing Sinclair, filed in the District of Columbia criminal court a formal demurrer to an indictment under which the government charged that Sinclair is in contempt of the senate in refusing to answer questions or produce records of his business affairs before the committee investigating his lease of the Teapot Dome oil reserve from former Secretary of the Interior Fall.

Report Trotzky May Be Dropped

LONDON, April 12.—A sensational report of a possible shakeup of the soviet cabinet at Moscow was received from Stockholm this evening.

A rumor was received at Stockholm from Moscow that Alexiev Rykov, who succeeded Lenin, and Leon Trotzky, head of the red army, might be dropped. According to this source, the forthcoming all-Russian congress may appoint a successor to Rykov, who is in ill health, while Leo Kamenev may replace Trotzky In such event, the ruling triumvirate at Moscow would consist of Zinoviev, Stalin and Kamenev.

ISSUES BOOKLET ON CONSTITUTION

State University to Place Work in Hands of Nebraska Students.

Contains Essays by Men Who Have Made Study of the Subject.

A copy of "Government Under the Constitution," a booklet published by the University of Nebraska and edited by Charles E. Matson of Lincoln, head of the Americanization committee of the Nebraska State Bar association, is now available for every high school student in the state. The booklet, containing essays by well known lawyers and historians, is intended for the aid of the high school students entered in the association's essay contest.

The essay, dealing with phases of the constitution of the United States, must be in by May 10. The original date was May 1, but the change was made to allow the students more time to study the booklet.

"Some high schools are requiring that each student in certain classes write for the contest," Mr. Matson said.

"The medals which will be given as prizes are now being struck off and will be put on display in some window in town as soon as they are ready.

We have sent a copy of the booklet to every county superintendent in the state and one to each district chairman." The state is divided according to the judicial districts.

"What are the Distinguishing Features of Our National Government as Provided by Its Constitution?" is the subject of the essa contest. The essays in the booklet deal with the growth of the constitution from its background in English rule in the eleventh century to the interpretation of the constitution today.

The essays are by F. Dumont Smith of Hutchinson, Kas., noted authority on the constitution; H. H. Foster, professor of law at the University of Nebraska; Roy E Cochran, associate professor of American history, University of Nebraska; Warren A Seavey, dean of the college of law, University of Nebraska; Carroll O. Stauffer, judge of the district court, Omaha; L. J. Tepoel, dean of the Creighton law college, Omaha; H. H Wilson, and C. Petrus Peterson, attorneys of Lincoln, William B Rose, judge of the Nebraska supreme court, and Robert W. Devoe, Lincoln attorney.

CLASS REUNION HELD THURSDAY

Ag College Graduates of 1914 Return to Celebrate Anniversary.

Sixteen members of the original class of eighty-nine men and women who graduated from the Nebraska school of agriculture in 1914 gathered at the Grand hotel last Thursday to commemorate the tenth anniversary.

The celebration began with a luncheon at the hotel. After the luncheon E W. "Slats" Loseke acting as toastmaster called upon every member present for a short response. In giving his response, Lee Thompson presented Miss Virginia Zimmer, class sponsor, with a bouquet of spring flowers as a tribute of her never ending service and interest in the "fourteeners."

After the luncheon the members adjourned to Dairy Hall where pictures of by gone days were thrown on the screen. Pictures of each member of the class were shown, while Mrs. Bryon French (Olive Loughbridge) told what the members were doing at the present time and interesting incidents regarding their personal history.

Flora Bullock read the class poem which was composed by her in 1914. The class history was read by Mrs. E. W Loseke (Martha Arnold). The class prophesy was read by Walter F. Roberts and the class will by M. B. Posson. Greetings from members who could not attend were read by Miss Zimmer.

Words of kind remembrance were expressed for the following members who are now deceased: L. R. Wilcox; D. C. Walker; T. E. Benham, and Hazel McClellan. The three boys died in service.

Pictures of those attending the reunion were taken at the class rock, which was left on the campus by the 1914 class. Those attending the reunion were: Miss Virginia Zimmer, class sponsor, Lincoln; Miss Flora Bullock, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Loseke (Martha Arnold) and children, Superior, Neb; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reese (Addie Wheeler) and three children, Carroll, Neb; Mr. and Mrs. Bryon French (Olive Loughbridge) and two children, Page, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs Lee Thompson and two children, Geneva, Neb; Henry Bull, Elkhorn; Mrs. B. G. Darling (Charlotte Monnich), Hooper; Lottie Sandstrom, Uni Place; Olive Norton, Lincoln, Anne Sutton, Wahoo; Myrtle Campbell, Lincoln; Chas. Meese, Wahoo; M. B. Posson, Lincoln; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter F Roberts, Wahoo.

The class decided to hold another reunion in 1929 and elected the following officers to serve until that time: B H. French, president, Lottie Sandstrom, vice president, and M. B Posson, secretary-treasurer.

Swallow Elected Head of College Magazine Society

The association is composed of the leading agricultural magazines of the country.

J. L. HEILMAN IS GIVEN FREEDOM

Former Treasurer of Thomas County Paroled by State Pardon Board.

Omahan Serving Term for Causing Death While Speeding Also Released.

J. L. Heilman, former treasurer of Thomas county, has been paroled by the state pardon board after hearing numerous pleas in his behalf last Thursday from leading citizens at Thedford, Seneca and elsewhere, backed up by letters from many others who had taken an interest in his case.

Upon being released from prison, Heilman went to the home of his aged mother a few miles from Lincoln and is spending Sunday there. Within a day or two he will decide whether to accept employment which has been ofered him with a business firm in this city, or to go to Ravenna, where his wife is now living and teaching school near by to support herself and their little child. Work is open to him there, also.

The presiding judge, the prosecutor, and practically all of the present officials of Thomas county except the sheriff joined in recommending clemency.

Driver of Death Auto Released.

The board also hearkened to pleas made by William Blank of Omaha, his relatives and friends, and granted a commutation of sentence so that he will not have to serve the remainder of his maximum three-year term for causing death while driving an automobile at excessive speed.

On Christmas eve, 1922, Blank went riding in a Ford car with his cousin, Leonard Bogatz, another young man, and two girls. The three men, he admitted to the pardon board, were all intoxicated. While the machine was going 48 miles an hour it crashed into a street car, killing Bogatz and slightly injuring others of the party.

Following is a list of the cases acted on by the board on testimony taken at its session last Tuesday:

Penitentiary Cases (Paroled).

Joseph Nightengale, Douglas, robbery, 1-20.

Churchill Cannon, Douglas, forgery, 5-7.

Frank Taylor, Douglas, forgery, 2-4

Y. M. AND Y. W. CABINETS MEET

Dinner Held Saturday Evening at Close of Second Day Program.

Students Representing Seven Lands Tell of Conditions Abroad.

Students representing seven countries spoke Saturday evening to 150 Y M C A, and Y. W. C A, members attending a "World Student Christian Federation" meeting at the Elks club.

The dinner meeting, in imitation of the real world federation session to be held August 7 to 21 in London, England, was the closing event of the second day in the three day program being put on here by a joint cabinet conference of the young men's and young women's organizations. The conference will close at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Practically every college in the state has sent delegates to the conference. This is the first joint conference of the cabinets ever held. The purpose is to better train the members for Christian work in their schools.

Henry Harmon of Cotner was toastmaster and spoke first for England. He was the only speaker whose home is not actually in the country which he represented. Mr Harmon told of the beginning of the student federation in London, and gave figures to show its growth.

No Religion in Russia.

Russian students in this country are afraid to tell the truth about their land, Mr. Goldstein declared, because they are liable to be deported.

It is far better off than Germany or any other country, asserted Mr. Goldstein, because it has the right way of doing things and the right government. It will be the first nation in Europe to get back on its feet. Today, it is better off than it was in 1914-17.

William H. Werkmeister from Germany told something of the great cooperative student organization there, and the work it is doing to keep men in school. It enables them to get jobs, and provides for those willing to work, at very small cost.

K. Yoshimura, who is studying at the state university, spoke of the changing Japan. It is becoming an industrial country, he said, with the problems and Christian needs of such a nation.

Clara Palafox, also a student at the state university, told of the efforts being made to introduce English as the language of the Philippine islands.

Yuhching Liu, Chinese student at the state university, talked about religious conditions there since the world ferceration session in 1921. Students, he said, are an active force in the country.

Fern Babcock from Nittsburg Normal school in Kansas, and an elected delegate to the London meeting, told of student life from the American point of view.

Cotner Debaters Are Guests of College at Big Forensic Banquet

Cotner college was host to its championship debating team at the annual forsenic banquet Friday in the woman's building.

Arrangements were made by the ten honor organizations of the college. Decorations were spring blossoms, with the Phi Kappa Delta symbol illuminated in color.

Dean J. K. Shellenberger was toastmaster, and the following responses were given:

The champions of 1921, Floyd Leavitt, Marvin Shaffer and Ray Bradley, were guests and engaged in an impromptu debate with this year's team. Other guests were members of the visiting team from the Montana State college. One hundred and sixty were present.

Victim of Crash Brings Suit For $20,000 Damages

William T. Kear filed suit for $20,000 damages against the Lincoln Traction Co. in district court Saturday, alleging that he was injured when his truck was struck by a street car at the intersection of Forty-sixth and South streets. The accident is said to have occurred November 10, 1922.

Kear claims that the street car was going at a high and unusual rate of speed and that he was proceeding cautiously when the accident happened.

The right collar bone and shoulder were broken and numerous bruises received by Kear, the petition states. Kear says he is permanently disabled.

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S.! RE-ELECT HOSMAN STATE SECRETARY

Lincoln Man Selected by Executive Board of State Teachers Association.

Policies Demand That Control of Schools Remain in Hands of Taxpayers.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Nebraska State Teachers association held at the secretary's office here Saturday, E M Hosman was re-elected secretary for the coming year. The meeting was held following a session of the old committee. President J. A. True of McCook presided, and former President Pate of Peru conducted the meeting of the old board.

Outlining the policies of the executive committee, Mr. Hosman said that it is the purpose of the board to oppose taking the control of the schools out of the hands of the farmers or any other body in which control is vested at the present time.

Adding that it will also be the policy of the new board to bring closer co-operation between teachers and tax-payers, Mr. Hosman said that definite action was taken at the meeting to bring about 180 days of actual teaching in every school in the state, in which the association has control of the teachers. To do this a re-arrangement of convention dates has been worked out, and in the future state and district meetings will interfere little, if any, with work during the school year.

As a first step toward eliminating absences from classes by teachers, the executive committee fixed the dates for the annual convention for December 29, and the meeting of the delegate assembly was set for December 31 and January 1. Both gatherings will be held in Omaha, and the dates were so arranged that teachers attending one meeting could attend the other. Both will come during the Christmas vacation period.

In arranging for the holding of the two meetings during the Christmas vacation, Mr. Hosman said, the committee has eliminated two meetings which has been customary to hold heretofore. The state meetings will be stressed, however, and every effort made to make them the biggest ever held. No effort will be made to interfere with the district meetings. In fact it is the purpose to make the district gatherings the greatest of all meetings held in the state.

Discussing charges that Nebraska teachers were seeking new sources of revenue for the purposeof increasing taxation, the board announced that the statements are not founded on fact. They said that the only objective the teaching fraternity has is the equalization of the tax burden.

A legislative committee was appointed, along with a committee to draft amendments to the constitution, ordered by the delegate convention held recently in Lincoln.

Mr. Hosman said that the convention of the third district held last week at Norfolk was attended by more than 520 teachers. Conrad Jacobsen of Wayne was elected president, and E E. Lackey also of Wayne elected as a member of the tate executive committee.

Local Merchant Participates In Nation-wide Movement

"Pride in Appearance" Brought Here by ELI SHIRE.

Spring has brought forth a remarkable development in the field of men's wear—the "Pride in Appearance," movement. This movement towards better clothes for men has been gathering force for many months, and is now finding expression in all sections of the country. The features emphasized in men's wear for spring call special attention to correctness and smartness — to "Pride in Appearance."

Mr. Eli Shire, president of Mayer Bros. Co. who are participating in this nation-wide movement and who for the next week are featuring a special "Pride in Appearance" event at their store, said in an interview concerning the significance and cause of this movement:

"American women are known the world over for their dress. Nowhere else have women been so quick to realize the importance of clothes, and as a consequence, nowhere else have so many women been well-dressed.

"With the American man, the case has been different. Franklin, in Revolutionary days, appeared before the courts of Europe clad in homespun. And until recent times the American man generally has not usually given much attention to appearance. The same man who is proud of the appearance of his wife and daughter, who insist that they be well-dressed has often himself been negligent. If his wife or daughter should make a public appearance badly dressed, he would regard it as casting discredit upon himself, but he has seldom given much thought to his own clothes, or considered that clothes might be taken as an index to his social standing.

"This condition was perhaps natural in a new country. Life was hard and as a result men had little time to give to appearance. In the south men took pains to look their parts and to dress in accordance with their social standards, but this was a notable exception to the rest of the nation.

A Remarkable Change.

"During recent years, however, there has been a decided change. As the nation has ceased to be a pioneering country, men have had more leisure and have realized the importance of proper dress. Not that clothes make the man, but they do give the first impression of a man. A well dressed man gives an impression of carefulness, of prosperity, and above all of a well-ordered existence. He has an air about him of being dependable, while a person badly clothed is justly suspected of being careless in other things also. To be sure, no man is admired for giving over-anxious attention to his clothes, but few men today would argue that an ill-fitting suit was a help in business. For clothes are perhaps the most important single item in giving a good first impression.

"Pride in Appearance."

"This change may be summed up in a phrase: 'Pride in Appearance' Men regard clothes today as something more than a necessity. They regard them as a source of constant pleasure and satisfaction, and as a standard by which the world at large measures their social standing. Men have come to realize that they owe it to themselves, their families and their positions to dress well.

"This movement for better dress, the 'Pride in Appearance' movement is sweeping the country. It is evidenced by the attitude of men in buying clothes. In the past little attention was given to anything but whether a suit of clothes would wear. Today this is not enough. A man demands also that it be well-tailored, that it be well cut. And he has discovered that correct, careful dress is not a matter of spending more money but of choosing clothes more carefully and as a result he chooses his clothes with more care. In a word he has come to know more about clothes, and has become more discriminating.

The 'Pride in Appearance," movement is also evidenced by the attitude taken by clothing manufacturers. Manufacturers who are quick to respond to public opinion, realize the importance of the movement and are paying more attention to the character of their product. As a result, better values are to be found in the men's clothes today than have ever before been offered—values which make it possible for every man to be better dressed — to take 'Pride in Appearance.

"We think this movement so significant and so far-reaching in its effect," added Mr. Shire "that beginning today and until Easter Sunday we are devoting both our store and our advertising entirely to a special 'Pride in Appearance' Event."

Make Many Arrests On Liquor Charges

State and local law enforcement officers were active in various parts of the state during the last two days. Several large hauls and a number of arrests were made by the state officers with the co-operation of the local and county officers.

M. C. Remington of Big Springs was arrested at Ogallala Saturday for liquor violations and was fined $300 and costs. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Fred Benton and the local officers.

Several alleged liquor law violators were arrested in Platte county, State Sheriff Tom Carrol said.

Four men were arrested at Ashton in Sherman county and one big still was confiscated.

ISSUES BOOKLET ON CONSTITUTION

State University to Place Work in Hands of Nebraska Students.

Contains Essays by Men Who Have Made Study of the Subject.

A copy of "Government Under the Constitution," a booklet published by the University of Nebraska and edited by Charles E. Matson of Lincoln, head of the Americanization committee of the Nebraska State Bar association, is now available for every high school student in the state. The booklet, containing essays by well known lawyers and historians, is intended for the aid of the high school students entered in the association's essay contest.

The essay, dealing with phases of the constitution of the United States, must be in by May 10. The original date was May 1, but the change was made to allow the students more time to study the booklet.

"Some high schools are requiring that each student in certain classes write for the contest," Mr. Matson said.

"The medals which will be given as prizes are now being struck off and will be put on display in some window in town as soon as they are ready.

We have sent a copy of the booklet to every county superintendent in the state and one to each district chairman." The state is divided according to the judicial districts.

"What are the Distinguishing Features of Our National Government as Provided by Its Constitution?" is the subject of the essa contest. The essays in the booklet deal with the growth of the constitution from its background in English rule in the eleventh century to the interpretation of the constitution today.

The essays are by F. Dumont Smith of Hutchinson, Kas., noted authority on the constitution; H. H. Foster, professor of law at the University of Nebraska; Roy E. Cochran, associate professor of American history, University of Nebraska; Warren A. Seavey, dean of the college of law, University of Nebraska; Carroll O. Stauffer, judge of the district court, Omaha; L. J. Tepoel, dean of the Creighton law college, Omaha; H. H Wilson, and C. Petrus Peterson, attorneys of Lincoln; William B. Rose, judge of the Nebraska supreme court, and Robert W. Devoe, Lincoln attorney.

CLASS REUNION HELD THURSDAY

Ag College Graduates of 1914 Return to Celebrate Anniversary.

Sixteen members of the original class of eighty-nine men and women who graduated from the Nebraska school of agriculture in 1914 gathered at the Grand hotel last Thursday to commemorate the tenth anniversary.

The celebration began with a luncheon at the hotel. After the luncheon E. W. "Slats" Loseke acting as toastmaster called upon every member present for a short response. In giving his response, Lee Thompson presented Miss Virginia Zimmer, class sponsor, with a bouquet of spring flowers as a tribute of her never ending service and interest in the "fourteeners."

After the luncheon the members adjourned to Dairy Hall where pictures of by gone days were thrown on the screen. Pictures of each member of the class were shown, while Mrs. Bryon French (Olive Loughbridge) told what the members were doing at the present time and interesting incidents regarding their personal history.

Flora Bullock read the class poem which was composed by her in 1914. The class history was read by Mrs. E. W Loseke (Martha Arnold). The class prophesy was read by Walter F. Roberts and the class will by M. B. Posson. Greetings from members who could not attend were read by Miss Zimmer.

Words of kind remembrance were expressed for the following members who are now deceased: L. R. Wilcox; D. C. Walker; T. E. Benham, and Hazel McClellan. The three boys died in service.

Pictures of those attending the reunion were taken at the class rock, which was left on the campus by the 1914 class. Those attending the reunion were: Miss Virginia Zimmer, class sponsor, Lincoln; Miss Flora Bullock, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Loseke (Martha Arnold) and children, Superior, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reese (Addie Wheeler) and three children, Carroll, Neb; Mr. and Mrs. Bryon French (Olive Loughbridge) and two children, Page, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs Lee Thompson and two children, Geneva, Neb.; Henry Bull, Elkhorn; Mrs. B. G. Darling (Charlotte Monnich), Hooper; Lottie Sandstrom, Uni. Place; Olive Norton, Lincoln; Anne Sutton, Wahoo; Myrtle Campbell, Lincoln; Chas. Meese, Wahoo; M. B. Posson, Lincoln; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter F Roberts, Wahoo.

The class decided to hold another reunion in 1929 and elected the following officers to serve until that time: B. H. French, president, Lottie Sandstrom, vice president, and M. B Posson, secretary-treasurer.

Swallow Elected Head of College Magazine Society

The association is composed of the leading agricultural magazines of the country.

J. L. HEILMAN IS GIVEN FREEDOM

Former Treasurer of Thomas County Paroled by State Pardon Board.

Omahan Serving Term for Causing Death While Speeding Also Released.

J. L. Heilman, former treasurer of Thomas county, has been paroled by the state pardon board after hearing numerous pleas in his behalf last Thursday from leading citizens at Thedford, Seneca and elsewhere, backed up by letters from many others who had taken an interest in his case.

Upon being released from prison, Heilman went to the home of his aged mother a few miles from Lincoln and is spending Sunday there. Within a day or two he will decide whether to accept employment which has been ofered him with a business firm in this city, or to go to Ravenna, where his wife is now living and teaching school near by to support herself and their little child. Work is open to him there, also.

The presiding judge, the prosecutor, and practically all of the present officials of Thomas county except the sheriff joined in recommending clemency.

Driver of Death Auto Released.

The board also hearkened to pleas made by William Blank of Omaha, his relatives and friends, and granted a commutation of sentence so that he will not have to serve the remainder of his maximum three-year term for causing death while driving an automobile at excessive speed.

On Christmas eve, 1922, Blank went riding in a Ford car with his cousin, Leonard Bogatz, another young man, and two girls. The three men, he admitted to the pardon board, were all intoxicated. While the machine was going 48 miles an hour it crashed into a street car, killing Bogatz and slightly injuring others of the party.

Following is a list of the cases acted on by the board on testimony taken at its session last Tuesday:

Penitentiary Cases (Paroled).

Joseph Nightengale, Douglas, robbery, 1-20.

Churchill Cannon, Douglas, forgery, 5-7.

Frank Taylor, Douglas, forgery, 2-4.

C. W. Hearn, Douglas, breaking and entering, 1-10.

Leo Pollock, Douglas, grand larceny, 1-10.

William R. Husband, Douglas, robbery, 3-15.

Roy Hawn, Douglas, grand larceny, 1-7.

Joe Adcock, Lancaster, auto stealing, 1-10.

Albert Gard, Lancaster, auto stealing, 1-10.

Frank Martin, Lancaster, grand larceny, 1-7.

Leo Hines, Lancaster, forgery, 1-20.

Robert Bailey, Holt, grand larceny, 1-7.

Hugh Howell, Lincoln, burglary, 1-10.

Joseph Lane, Richardson, burglary, 1-10.

J. L. Heilman, Thomas, embezzlement, 1-21.

Dave Hilderman, Scottsbluff, burglary and larceny, 1-10.

Frank Crist, Custer, arson, 1 year.

Men's Reformatory (Paroled).

William Blank, Douglas, causing death while exceeding the speed limit, 1-3.

Herman Gold, Cheyenne, grand larceny, 1-10.

Floyd Peck, Sedar, hog stealing, 1-5

Y. M. AND Y. W. CABINETS MEET

Students representing seven countries spoke Saturday evening to 150 Y. M. C. A., and Y. W. C. A., members attending a "World Student Christian Federation" meeting at the Elks club

The dinner meeting, in imitation of the real world federation session to be held August 7 to 21 in London, England, was the closing event of the second day in the three day program being put on here by a joint cabinet conference of the young men's and young women's organizations. The conference will close at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Practically every college in the state has sent delegates to the conference. This is the first joint conference of the cabinets ever held. The purpose is to better train the members for Christian work in their schools.

Henry Harmon of Cotner was toastmaster and spoke first for England. He was the only speaker whose home is not actually in the country which he represented. Mr. Harmon told of the beginning of the student federation in London, and gave figures to show its growth.

No Religion in Russia.

Russian students in this country are afraid to tell the truth about their land, Mr. Goldstein declared, because they are liable to be deported.

It is far better off than Germany or any other country, asserted Mr. Goldstein, because it has the right way of doing things and the right government. It will be the first nation in Europe to get back on its feet Today, it is better off than it was in 1914-17.

William H. Werkmeister from Germany told something of the great cooperative student organization there, and the work it is doing to keep men in school. It enables them to get jobs, and provides for those willing to work, at very small cost.

K. Yoshimura, who is studying at the state university, spoke of the changing Japan. It is becoming an industrial country, he said, with the problems and Christian needs of such a nation.

Clara Palafox, also a student at the state university, told of the efforts being made to introduce English as the language of the Philippine islands.

Yuhching Liu, Chinese student at the state university, talked about religious conditions there since the world ferferation session in 1921. Students, he said, are an active force in the country.

Fern Babcock from Nittsburg Normal school in Kansas, and an elected delegate to the London meeting, told of student life from the American point of view.

Cotner Debaters Are Guests of College at Big Forensic Banquet

Cotner college was host to its championship debating team at the annual forsenic banquet Friday in the woman's building.

Arrangements were made by the ten honor organizations of the college. Decorations were spring blossoms, with the Phi Kappa Delta symbol illuminated in color.

Dean J. K. Shellenberger was toastmaster, and the following responses were given:

The champions of 1921, Floyd Leavitt, Marvin Shaffer and Ray Bradley, were guests and engaged in an impromptu debate with this year's team. Other guests were members of the visiting team from the Montana State college. One hundred and sixty were present.

Victim of Crash Brings Suit For $20,000 Damages

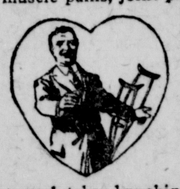

William T. Kear filed suit for $20,000 damages against the Lincoln Traction Co. in district court Saturday, alleging that he was injured when his truck was struck by a street car at the intersection of Forty-sixth and South streets. The accident is said to have occurred November 10, 1922.

Kear claims that the street car was going at a high and unusual rate of speed and that he was proceeding cautiously when the accident happened.

The right collar bone and shoulder were broken and numerous bruises received by Kear, the petition states. Kear says he is permanently disabled.

Manufacturers who are quick to respond to public opinion, realize the importance of the movement and are paying more attention to the character of their product. As a result, better values are to be found in the men's clothes today than have ever before been offered—values which make it possible for every man to be better dressed — to take 'Pride in Appearance.

"We think this movement so significant and so far-reaching in its effect," added Mr. Shire "that beginning today and until Easter Sunday we are devoting both our store and our advertising entirely to a special 'Pride in Appearance' Event."

Make Many Arrests On Liquor Charges

State and local law enforcement officers were active in various parts of the state during the last two days. Several large hauls and a number of arrests were made by the state officers with the co-operation of the local and county officers.

M. C. Remington of Big Springs was arrested at Ogallala Saturday for liquor violations and was fined $300 and costs. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Fred Benton and the local officers.

Several alleged liquor law violators were arrested in Platte county, State Sheriff Tom Carrol said.

Four men were arrested at Ashton in Sherman county and one big still was confiscated.

BUSINESS GOOD IN MOST LINES

Industrial Conditions Described as Excellent in Weekly Report.

Mercantile Trade. However. Has Not Attained Normal Prosperity.

NEW YORK, April 12—While industrial conditions continued excellent, mercantile trade has not yet attained normal prosperity. Orders for future delivery are light.

Prosperous times appear in sight for the copper industry. Production has been curtailed, but the demand continues good. Producers look for heavier foreign shipments within the immediate future.

Steel production is higher than usual despite cautious buying for future delivery.

Bradstreet's reported 382 commercial failures this week, compared with 392 the preceding week. Most of them were in the middle western states.

Average price of twenty representative industrial shares on the New York exchange was 92.83, compared with 94.64 last week. Average price of twenty representative railway shares was 81.82 against 84.12 last week.

Bank Clearings Less.

Bank clearings in the United States this week were estimated at $7,493,105,232, compared with $8,594,347,555 the previous week.

Visible supply of American cotton was estimated at 2,635,199 bales against 2,111,502 bales last week.

The rate on money for call loans in New York ranged from 5½ to 4¾ per cent this week. Three months loans were made at 4¾ per cent.

Nearly all issues of Liberty bonds advanced in price this week. New bonds issued by states, municipalities, banks, industrial corporations and railways totalled $104,358,000.

Both wheat and corn prices broke during the week. The visible supply of American wheat was estimated at 55,657,000 bushels, the decrease this week being 892,000 bushels. The visible supply of corn decreased 1,595,000 bushels.

The Rev. Richard Kuehne, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Friedens church, Sixth and D streets, has recently been given the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by the University of Heidelberg. The Rev. Mr. Kuehne went to Germany under the auspices of the American Volga Relief society last autumn.

HONOR DEGREE TO REVEREND KUEHNE

University of Heidelberg Confers Doctor of Divinity On Lincoln Man.

Pastor of Friedens Congregation Will Return This Month.

When Rev. Wm. E. Richard Kuehne of Lincoln was recently invited to appear before the theological faculty of the University of Heidelberg, Germany, the dean announced to him that the faculty had a very pleasant surprise in store for him. Through an intimate friend of Rev. Kuehne, they had been advised of his splendid work and success in the ministry in America. And in order that they might express their sincere appreciation for the vast amount of good cheer that he had brought to so many German people, in his work [illegible] the degree of doctor of divinity. Accordingly Dr. Kuehne now wears the gown and hood which entitles him to the named distinction. Dr. Kuehne received his early training in his native country, Duisburg, Germany, where he also entered the bible institute at the age of eighteen. In 1890 he was commissioned by a mission society as a missionary in East and West Prussia. After having rendered the required military service he pursued a further theological and scientific training in London and Chicago. He returned to Germany where he was ordained to the gospel ministry in 1896. In December of the same year he returned to America, where he was received into the general synod of the Lutheran church. He was called as assistant pastor in Washington, Ill. In this affiliation he has served three churches in Iowa, until his acceptance of his present charge in 1914, to the Evangelical Lutheran Friedens congregation, Lincoln, Neb., a congregation [illegible] families. Dr. Kuehne received his final naturalization papers in 1904 and has ever since taken great interest in the progress of both church and state in America.

His popularity won for him the confidence of the American Volga relief society, and was by that organization singled out last December to represent them in the distribution of several carloads of clothing and food stuff. How well this was done has been fittingly acknowledged in accepting the suggestion of a friend in Nebraska, whose grandfather was theological professor in the named university. Rev. Dr. Kuehne writes that it would require at least six months to accept the many invitations that he is receiving from every part of Germany to speak and preach in their churches. In one of the last gatherings, he was greeted by an audience of 1,400 people. He is looked upon as a "God-send" from America and despite the effort to have him remain, Dr. Kuehne has declined and now on his return trip, expecting to arrive in New York, on board the Cleveland, about April 15. He is planning to be in Lincoln about April 15, at which time the American Volga society and the members of the Friedens congregation will meet their representative and pastor at a banquet which is being arranged in his honor.

Cause of Action as an Estate

We learned last week that under the Common Law of England no civil action would lie for an injury which resulted in death; but that in 1845 "Lord Campbell's Act" aimed to remedy the defect. Also that our General Sections 1352 and 1353 are based on Lord Campbell's Act.

These sections provide a method of recovering damages for an injury which results in death, but the judgment and the money damages recovered under it are for a special use. They are part of the deceased's estate, but only for the use of the surviving spouse and next of kin. Suppose there is no property whatever, will a cause of action under Lord Campbell's Act itself constitute an estate?

Missouri Pacific Railway Company v. Bradley, 51 Neb. 596, answers "yes" to this question. Charles L. Myers, a resident of Jackson County, Missouri, died from injuries received in a railroad wreck, on April 22, 1892, in Otoe County, Nebraska. He had on his person $4 in money, a pocketbook, a knife and an order for $25. The purse and the $4 were sent to the widow at Kansas City, but later returned to Otoe County.

It seems that the principle of Lord Campbell's Act was not in force in Missouri at that time. At any rate, administration was petitioned for and granted in the Probate Court of Otoe County. It was not the home of Myers, but the place of his death, and letters of administration could be granted if he had any estate there.

Administrator Bradley at once commenced an action against the Missouri Pacific, and the cause was fought out with brilliant lawyers on both sides—Orr and Waggener for the road and Watson, Adams, and Heltman for the administrator. Two cases between the parties reached our Supreme Court. The first opinion held that "where the resident of another State dies intestate, an administrator may be appointed by the County Court of any county in which there shall be an estate; and that the right of action constituted an estate within the meaning of the law.

It was urged by the railroad counsel that Nebraska allows non-resident Executors and administrators to sue in our courts the same as any other non-resident; but the Supreme Court in effect held that that did not prevent administration in Otoe County in the case at hand, even if administration might have been had in another State.

LINCOLN WAY AT CINCINNATI SHOW

Kinscella Method Is Demonstrated Before Music Supervisors.

The first four days of the week of April 6 will long be a bright memory for a couple of groups of Nebraska boys and girls. Those days were spent in traveling and in sightseeing and in demonstrating the Kinscella method or Lincoln way of teaching piano in public school classes before the National Conference of Music Supervisors in Cincinnati, O.

Fourteen children were selected to represent the Lincoln classes and another group represented the Kearney classes and the rural schools of Buffalo county. The Lincoln children had all been on the train, although many of them had never been out of Nebraska, but four of the Kearney youngsters had not been on a train before.

One hundred twenty-five children from Lincoln Way classes in Rock Island and Moline, Ill., Davenport, Ia., Ypsilanti, Mich., Roanoke Rapids, N. C., Cincinnati and Fremont, O., and nearby rural schools, Muskogee, Okla., and Nebraska were assembled in an inter-community demonstration. Cincinnati papers gave the children high praise and many of the supervisors were interested in the method.

H. O. Ferguson Assists.

The demonstration was given in the ball room of the Hotel Gibson Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Miss Kinscella presided at the demonstration and H. O. Ferguson, supervisor of music in Lincoln, assisted in the necessary explanations to the audience.

The first number was a piano ensemble by sixty Cincinnati children, the three numbers being written for them by Miss Kinscella. This number was followed by a demonstration of development of rhythm, directed by Mrs. Una Sawyer, director of public school music at the Kearney Normal, and the children of Buffalo county, Nebraska, and the rural children of Ohio taking part. The third number was blackboard work, consisting of dividing notes and rests into measures, filling measures and tapping the rhythm, and recognizing and naming keys and signatures, with related majors and minors, participated in by all the children.

Kearney, Neb., and Fremont, O., pupils participated in the fourth number, scale development, and tiny Nadine Wheeler, an eight year old Lincoln child, played major and minor scales in rhythms, thirds, sixths, and tenths, and scale and Arpeggio suites. Ypsilanti pupils transposed a simple folk song and Edward Beaty of Lincoln played Bach two part invention No. 8 in F and Audrey Utterback, also of Lincoln, transposed the number into ten different keys, transposing as various auditors asked for them.

Solo numbers were given by the following Lincoln children: "Evening Bells," Nadine Wheeler; "Allegro in F," Ruth Laymon, "To A Wild Rose," Mary Eby; "To a Water Lily," Bernice Schellenberg; Valse in D Flat," Audrey Utterback.

For the demonstration of Kinscella Victor ensemble records, Jimmie Harris of Lincoln played the bass of 'Marching On" as the record played the upper part. A little Fremont, O., girl then played the upper part as the record played the bsas. The two children then played together, although they had not played together before.

The final number was a piano ensemble, the children from two states and three communities played "Marching On," from five states "Ding, Dong, Bell," both by Kinscilla, from seven states and nine communities "Evening Song" and the Lincoln children "Country Dances," both by Beethoven.

The Lincoln children had a glorious time in the east, Cincinnati treating them as honored visitors in the outward and return trips, three railroad men met the trains at stations outside Chicago. They took charge of all the baggage, took the delegation to dinner going east and breakfast on the return, and assisted them until train time In Cincinnati, large busses met the children to take them to the hotel.

The Lincoln group stayed at the Hotel Sinton, directly across from the convention headquarters, and not the least thrill of the trip to fourteen young hearts was that they were given President Coolidge's suite at the hotel. Tuesday afternoon was devoted to rehearsal and stern decrees sent the young members of the party to bed at 7 o'clock.

Wednesday at noon, following the demonstration, a formal luncheon, the Kinscella method luncheon, was served the children, chaperones, and teachers at the Hotel Sinton. One hundred sixty-eight covers were laid.

In the afternoon, the Hyde Park Mothers' club, one of the parent-teacher organizations, entertained the Kinscella groups with a motor ride about the city. The children were given passes to all points of interest and traffic was stopped as the cars passed. Among the places visited was the house where "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was written, the house where Jenny Lind stayed, now a memorial, Eden park, the zoo, Burnett Woods, the Rookwood pottery factories, the Gruen watch assembly plant, the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and the Baldwin piano factory. The afternoon closed with a concert, in which one thousand Cincinnati school children sang "Into the World," accompanied by a symphony orchestra.

The children were taken to several of the principal stores and left Wednesday evening at 9:30 for Lincoln. The Kearney children spent Thursday in Chicago and gave a demonstration of their work while there.

Among the noted guests at the convention were: Otto Meissner, president of the national conference; George Oscar Bowen, second vice president and editor of the supervisors' magazine, and director of music at the University of Michigan, Paul J. Weaver, member of the educational committee and music director at the University of North Carolina, O. G. Sonneck, vice president of G. Schirmer company of New York, and noted editor—who also brought each child a box of candy—Walter Aiken, director of music in Cincinnati, and Frances Elliott Clark, educational director of the Victor talking machine company.

Howard Urges Cut In Aluminum Tariff

WASHINGTON, April 12.—A 50 per cent cut in tariff duties on aluminum is proposed in a bill introduced in the house today by Congressman Howard, democrat of Nebraska.

Howard said his bill is in the interest of the American housewife who desires good kitchenware. He asserted an aluminum trust is controlled by "one American family," alluding later to Secretary Mellon's interest in aluminum.

Facts Versus Fiction About Men

Men are not what they are pictured. Modern novels, the movies and advertisements fail to show men as they are. Every man is given a phony make-up.

They picture all bankers with silk hats and frock coats, and you could not find one dressed that way in the whole land. They picture red blooded young men with white spats and canes, and still your hunt would be in vain.

Why all this camouflage? Is man such a weak mortal that he has to be dolled up with such idiosyncrasies of dress to make him presentable? No! Clothes are necessary to every man's success and welfare; but let them be the kind that are commonly accepted by his fellowmen.

There never was a time when men's clothes were more sensible, than they are for Spring and Summer 1924, or better looking. The new styles fit easily and hang informally. They are not loose or baggy; they have a little more room than clothes of previous seasons.

You'll find this Spring's Clothes will set you apart; give you an air of distinction, a prosperous look; in business, in professional fields—anywhere—it's a big help to look like somebody. Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes are better Clothes—they make men look like men, and keep them looking that way. You'll be interested in the spring models selling at Thirty-five to Fifty Dollars.

LINCOLN WAY AT CINCINNATI SHOW

Kinscella Method Is Demonstrated Before Music Supervisors.

The first four days of the week of April 6 will long be a bright memory for a couple of groups of Nebraska boys and girls. Those days were spent in traveling and in sightseeing and in demonstrating the Kinscella method or Lincoln way of teaching piano in public school classes before the National Conference of Music Supervisors in Cincinnati, O.

Fourteen children were selected to represent the Lincoln classes and another group represented the Kearney classes and the rural schools of Buffalo county. The Lincoln children had all been on the train, although many of them had never been out of Nebraska, but four of the Kearney youngsters had not been on a train before.

University Notes

The offices of the Alumni association have been moved from the college of law to the two northeast rooms on the main floor of the Temple. All equipment and fixtures have been moved and decorators are refinishing the interiors. The larger room will be used as general office and stadium headquarters, and the smaller room will be used for mailing. Returning "old grads" will find a special reception room for their comfort—furnished to provide headquarters when they return to the university.

ENGINEERS WILL MEET THURSDAY

Session of Society for Promotion of Engineering Education at Temple.

Nebraska Engineering Experiment Station Will Be Topic of Discussion.

The local spring meeting of the Kansas-Nebraska section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education will be held Thursday evening, April 17, in the Temple building of the University of Nebraska. After dinner at 5:45 in one of the private dining rooms of the cafeteria the following program of discussion topics, arranged by Prof. M. I. Evinger, chairman of the program committee, will be given:

"Organization of the Nebraska Engineering Experiment Station," Dean O. J. Ferguson of the college of engineering.

"Nebraska Engineering Experiment Station Projects in Progress," Prof. William Debaufre, chairman of the department of mechanical engineering; Prof O. W. Sjogren, chairman of agricultural engineering; Prof. M. I. Evinger, civil engineering; and Prof. C. M. Duff, applied mechanics.

"Station Projects in Other State Educational Institutions," Prof C. E Mickey, chairman of the department of civil engineering.

"Announcement of annual meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at Boulder, Colo.," Prof. H. J. Kesner, civil engineer.

This discussion will be open to all persons interested in engineering research. Members of the university faculty have been urged to attend and are invited to bring guests.

This spring meeting of the society is held at the same time at the three institutions—the universities of Kansas and Nebraska and Kansas state agricultural college represented in the Kansas-Nebraska section. Joint meetings of the organization are held every fall.

Howard Urges Cut In Aluminum Tariff

WASHINGTON, April 12.—A 50 per cent cut in tariff duties on aluminum is proposed in a bill introduced in the house today by Congressman Howard, democrat of Nebraska.

Howard said his bill is in the interest of the American housewife who desires good kitchenware. He asserted an aluminum trust is controlled by "one American family," alluding later to Secretary Mellon's interest in aluminum.

Facts Versus Fiction About Men

Men are not what they are pictured. Modern novels, the movies and advertisements fail to show men as they are. Every man is given a phony make-up.

They picture all bankers with silk hats and frock coats, and you could not find one dressed that way in the whole land. They picture red blooded young men with white spats and canes, and still your hunt would be in vain.

Why all this camouflage? Is man such a weak mortal that he has to be dolled up with such idiosyncrasies of dress to make him presentable? No! Clothes are necessary to every man's success and welfare; but let them be the kind that are commonly accepted by his fellowmen.

There never was a time when men's clothes were more sensible, than they are for Spring and Summer 1924, or better looking. The new styles fit easily and hang informally. They are not loose or baggy; they have a little more room than clothes of previous seasons.

You'll find this Spring's Clothes will set you apart; give you an air of distinction, a prosperous look; in business, in professional fields—anywhere—it's a big help to look like somebody. Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes are better Clothes—they make men look like men, and keep them looking that way. You'll be interested in the spring models selling at Thirty-five to Fifty Dollars.

Re-roof for the last time

Simple and efficient! Just lay Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles right over the old wooden shingles. No need to tear off the old roof. No dirt! No clutter! And in almost no time you have a new and beautiful asbestos roof that will shelter your home for years to come.

For home roofs

Whether Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles are laid on a new house or right over old shingles they can be depended upon to safeguard the house from fire and weather for years to come.

For flat roofs

For sloping roofs of Industrial Buildings

Such buildings need roofing protection against fire, smoke, alkali, as well as against weather. Nothing could be more satisfactory than a roofing with a basis of rock—which is Johns-Manville Asbestos Roll Roofing.

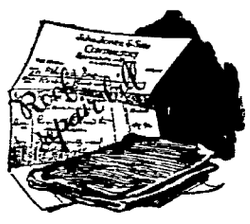

Save money by this method

You save the cost of tearing off the old shingles. You save the cost of having them carted away.

But these savings, desirable as they are, seem only incidental when you consider the far greater savings you make by having, at last, a permanent asbestos shingled roof on your house. You need never worry about roofing repair bills. When you re-roof with Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles you have re-roofed for the last time. Their first cost is their only cost—and this first cost is surprisingly low—especially so with the savings effected by this method of re-roofing.

Double-roof protection, too

You not only save money by not tearing off the old roof, but you actually have a better roof by leaving it on! The old roof, underneath the new, becomes a protecting, insulating blanket. Dry wood is an excellent insulator. You are quite likely to find the upstairs rooms warmer in winter and cooler in summer because this two-fold roof helps to keep outside temperatures outside.

No more wear and tear on your part. You pay your last roofing bill when you buy Asbestos Shingles.

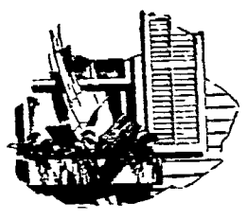

Two kinds of Asbestos Shingles

Johns-Manville make two kinds of asbestos shingles—rigid and flexible. Either can be laid over the old roof.

Johns-Manville Rigid Asbestos Shingles are solid slabs of asbestos rock fibre and Portland cement—literally compressed rock. They come in several soft-toned colors, and in two shapes.

The second type of shingle is the Johns-Manville Flexstone Asbestos Shingle. This shingle falls within the popular price levels of the slate surfaced composition shingle. But instead of a rag-felt base, such as these other shingles have, Flexstone Shingles are built upon a dense layer of asbestos rock fibre. This gives a strength, a fire safety and a durability that is not obtainable in any other flexible shingle.

None of this! because you don't tear off the old roof there's no litter around—no broken shrubbery nor ruined lawns!

Important!

Perhaps you are interested in a building, other than your home, for which you want the protection of asbestos.

Besides the Asbestos Shingles, our line includes Built-Up Asbestos Roofings for flat roof buildings and Asbestos Roll Roofings, both slate-surfaced and plain, for all types of sloping roofs, industrial buildings, sheds, garages, farm buildings, etc., and that comfort-giving material for lining walls, floors and roofs, Johns-Manville Housline, which insulates your house against heat, cold and noise.

The Dealers and Contractors listed here can tell you what type Asbestos Roofing best meets your needs. Consult the one nearest you, and fill in the coupon below.

A MAN WHO BECAME FAMOUS

Doctor R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, was not only a successful physician but also a profound student of the medicinal qualities of Nature's remedies, roots and herbs, and by close observation of the methods used by the Indians, he discovered their great remedial qualities, especially for weaknesses of women, and after careful preparation succeeded in giving to the world a remedy which has been used by women with the best results for half a century. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is still in great demand, while many other so called "cure-alls" have come and gone. The reason for its phenomenal success is because of its absolute purity, and Dr. Pierce's high standing as an honored citizen of Buffalo is a guarantee of all that is claimed for the Favorite Prescription as a regulator for the ills peculiar to women.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE THIS WEEK

The Salvation Army Appeal will begin Monday and from the present outlook the organization should be successful in raising the quota of $10,000, according to C. W. Taylor, state commander of the American Legion, who is in charge of the drive.

Business and professional men are lending their assistance, and members of the women's auxiliary of the American Legion, K. of P.'s and the Elks, and other organizations have given their endorsement. The Central Labor union has given notice of their interest in the Army.

Stores, wholesale houses and factories are making a generous response to assist by appointing representatives to be in charge of the solicitation in their establishments. Among those so doing, are Mayer Bros. Co., Miller Z Paine, Rudge & Guenzel, H. Herpolsheimer Co., Lincoln Traction Co., Gold & Co., Beatrice Creamery Co., Lindell hotel, International Harvester Co., Woodruff Printing Co., Lee Broom & Duster Co., Pepperberg Segar Co., Kline Publishing Co., C. B. &Q. roundhouse, C B & Railroad Co., and many others.

MEETINGS DRAW LARGE CROWDS

At the close of the second week of the union evangelistic meetings now being held at the tabernacle in Havelock, interest is growing with each day. The attendance at the evening services is about fifteen hundred.

Paul Rader, of Chicago, the evangelist, spoke with great power, and many are turning to the Christian life. Mr. Rader has a different way of presenting the message. He says that his business is to hold Christ up, and that if he can get men to look, "He will draw all men unto him."

At the noon hour Mr. Rader speaks at the Burlington shops.

Did This Ever Happen To You?

Hello, This B and four fours
Send me a covered moving van in the morn
Now be sure and send me a covered van
For it may rain says the weather man
And I don't want to get my furniture wet
Neither do I care to worry or fret.
One time I moved and before I knew
The wind came up, oh how the dust blew
When my goods were half loaded it started to rain
They tried to put on a tarpaulin, but t'was all in vain,
The wind blew so terrible, no one it seemed
Could hold down the cover, rain came down in streams,
So this time I'm determined, not to take any chance
A covered van in the morning, don't fail me, thanks

A MAN WHO BECAME FAMOUS

Doctor R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, was not only a successful physician but also a profound student of the medicinal qualities of Nature's remedies, roots and herbs, and by close observation of the methods used by the Indians, he discovered their great remedial qualities, especially for weaknesses of women, and after careful preparation succeeded in giving to the world a remedy which has been used by women with the best results for half a century. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is still in great demand, while many other so called "cure-alls" have come and gone. The reason for its phenomenal success is because of its absolute purity, and Dr. Pierce's high standing as an honored citizen of Buffalo is a guarantee of all that is claimed for the Favorite Prescription as a regulator for the ills peculiar to women.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE THIS WEEK

The Salvation Army Appeal will begin Monday and from the present outlook the organization should be successful in raising the quota of $10,000, according to C. W. Taylor, state commander of the American Legion, who is in charge of the drive.

Business and professional men are lending their assistance, and members of the women's auxiliary of the American Legion, K. of P.'s and the Elks, and other organizations have given their endorsement. The Central Labor union has given notice of their interest in the Army.

Stores, wholesale houses and factories are making a generous response to assist by appointing representatives to be in charge of the solicitation in their establishments. Among those so doing, are Mayer Bros. Co., Miller Z Paine, Rudge & Guenzel, H. Herpolsheimer Co., Lincoln Traction Co., Gold & Co., Beatrice Creamery Co., Lindell hotel, International Harvester Co., Woodruff Printing Co., Lee Broom & Duster Co., Pepperberg Segar Co., Kline Publishing Co., C. B. &Q. roundhouse, C. B. & . Railroad Co., and many others.

MEETINGS DRAW LARGE CROWDS

At the close of the second week of the union evangelistic meetings now being held at the tabernacle in Havelock, interest is growing with each day. The attendance at the evening services is about fifteen hundred.

Paul Rader, of Chicago, the evangelist, spoke with great power, and many are turning to the Christian life. Mr. Rader has a different way of presenting the message. He says that his business is to hold Christ up, and that if he can get men to look, "He will draw all men unto him."

At the noon hour Mr. Rader speaks at the Burlington shops.

Did This Ever Happen To You?

Hello, This B and four fours
Send me a covered moving van in the morn
Now be sure and send me a covered van
For it may rain says the weather man
And I don't want to get my furniture wet
Neither do I care to worry or fret.
One time I moved and before I knew
The wind came up, oh how the dust blew

When my goods were half loaded it started to rain
They tried to put on a tarpaulin, but t'was all in vain,
The wind blew so terrible, no one it seemed
Could hold down the cover, rain came down in streams,
So this time I'm determined, not to take any chance
A covered van in the morning, don't fail me, thanks

RECEIVER FOLDA PROTESTS CLAIMS

Atlas Bank Case Occupies Time Of Court For Two Days.

(Special to The Star.)

NELIGH, Neb., April 12. — The case of the failure of the Atlas bank of this city last November has occupied the attention of Judge A. A. Welsh for the past two days, including night sessions. Receiver Folda has objected to allowing certain claims as charged against the guaranty fund on account of the payment of more than five per cent interest or where it has been shown that a sum had been given the bank as a loan.

J. J. Melick, a resident of Omaha to rthe past fourteen years and previous to that time a citizen of this city for 34 years, was on the witness stand most of Thursday and until Friday noon Mr. Melick was one of the vice presidents and a director of the failed institution.

The claims contested in this bank amount to more than $100,000 and cover thirteen specific counts.

On account of the illness of R. S Payne, one of the vice presidents of the Atlas bank, who was unable to appear yesterday at the court room as a witness, the court and all attorneys interested moved to the Payne residence and held court at his home and secured his evidence.

Valparaiso Couple Wedded 60 Years

VALPARAISO, Neb., April 12.—Mr. and Mrs J. V. Housel celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Saturday April 5, at their home here.

Mr. Housel was born in Trumbel county, Ohio, April 20, 1839, and Mrs Housel in Franklin county, Ohio, on March 10 of the same year. Both moved to Washington county, Ia., before Mr. Housel went to the Civil war for three years. He received a scalp wound in the battle of Hhiloh.

Eight months before his discharge, he married Mrs. Housel, then Miss Harriet Romine, and for three years after the war, the couple farmed in Washington county. They came to Nebraska and located on a homestead four miles east of David City in 1871, where they remained for thirty-three years For the last twenty-seven, they have lived in Valparaiso.

There are five living children, N A. Housel, of Madison; Mrs. Mary Allard, Primrose; M. O. Housel, of Wertertown, S. D; Mrs. Myrtle Oeschger and Mrs. Lillie McMaster of Valparaiso. There are also twenty-three grandchildren and fourteen great grandchildren. A family dinner was served at the home, children and grandchildren being present.

In the afternoon, a number, of friends came in to bring thier congratulations and good wishes.

Two Cars Wrecked But No One Hurt

(Special to The Star)

HELVEY, Neb., April 12—A serious spill occurred just south of here late Friday afternoon when a fast southbound C. I. freight train was derailed at a switch north of Fairbury while running at full speed. Two empty coal cars jumped the track and were smashed to pieces. The Burlington line from Endicott to Fairmont was blocked and a passenger train held at Fairbury for three hours, and the main line of the Grand Island railway was blocked for several hours, until a wrecking crane could be ordered from the Hock Island railway at Fairbury and clear the damaged cars from the track. The train crew members in the caboose of the derailed train were thrown from their positions by the impact but escaped injury. The train contained 35 cars of time freight.

Brady's Debaters Lose to Elmcreek

(Special to The Star)

ELMCREEK, Neb., April 12.—The Elmcreek debating team defeated the fast Brady team on the affirmative of the state debating question by a two to one decision. Prof. E. W. Lantz of the teachers' college of the University of Nebraska, Prof. Grover Rost of Grand Island high school, and Prof. Stevens of Grand Island college acted as judges. Brady has been at the head of the debating league in the western district, holding a tie with Elmcreek until this debate when Elmcreek forged to the front The Elmcreek debating team was composed of two boys and one girl. Miss Margaret Yoder, Fred Barber, and Forrest carter. The team has one more debate with Callaway. A win in the last debate will tie it with Brady for first place.

Hold Funeral of Chester Pioneer

(Special to The Star.)

CHESTER, Neb., April 12.—Funeral services were held here today for Mrs. Elizabeth Kincade, seventy-three years old, former pioneer of Chester, who died while at the home of her daughter in Omaha two days ago. She lived at Chester for over twenty-eight years, her husband, J. W. Kincade, being a former employe of the Burlington railroad here. He died in 1909, and a son and daughter are also buried here. The family was widely known and prominent here in former days. The surviving children are: Mrs. Cora Roberts, of Omaha; Miss Laura Kincade, of San Francisco; Mrs. Lola Filips of Colon, Panama Canal Zone; Mrs. Lillie Johnson, Lander, Wyo.; John Kincade, Burlington locomotive engineer, of Sterling, Colo.; Alonzo, of Granger, Wyo.; and Wilson Kincade, Burlington engineer of Wymore.

SEWARD, Neb., April 12 — Vera Gereke Luhe of Seward is among the Nebraska women who are brave enough to enter the political arena. Mrs. Luhe is a native of Nebraska and a native of Seward. Her father, J F. Gereke who passed away three years ago, was prominent in democratic circles i nthe state. Her husband, August Luhe, passed away several years ago during the flu epidemic. She has one small son, Thomas.

Mrs. Luhe inherits her father's love for things political and was nominated for clerk of the district court in Seward county, on the democratic ticket, at the recent primaries.

Asido from being a very capable business woman, Mrs. Luhe is a fine musician and gives freely of her time and talent, being much in demand as an accompanist.

PNEUMONIA FATAL.

(Special to The Star.)

HUMBOLDT, Neb, April 12—The death of Mrs. John J Hunzeker, aged forty years, occurred at the family home eight miles southwest of this city, Friday night, from flu. She leaves a husband and ten children, ranging from one to sixteen years, nine boys and one girl two years old.

Fred Keunneth of Hastings Called While in North

(Special to The Star)

HASTINGS, Neb., April 12.—Fred Keunneth, vice president of the First National bank and for many years actively associated with banking circles of Harvard and Minden, died at 2 o'clock this morning at Rochester, Minn.

Mr. Keunneth was president of the DeMolay bodies in Nebraska as well as advisor for the organization in the South Platte district and "Dad" of the Hastings chapter. He was treasurer for all Scottish Rite bodies and a thirty-third degree Mason and anyone of the most active Masons in this part of the state. Funeral services will be held at the Congregational church here at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

CRETE NOTES.

(Special to The Star)

CRETE, Neb., April 12.—The members of the Crete Woman's club were treated to an unusually fine program at the club rooms Friday afternoon. Vases of sweet peas and spring flowers added to the cheerfulness of the room and a good audience was in attendance. Mrs. W. S. Collett, newly elected president, was in the chair and after a short business session. Mrs. Gregory led in parliamentary drill. Miss Mabel McCargar sang a group of songs very charmingly. A history of Bohemia was given in an interesting paper by Miss Agnes Axamit. J. A. Lothrop gave a talk on planting of trees and shrubbery, followed by a violin solo by Robert Jacobson. Mrs. J. E. Taylor presented a most able paper on the new republic, Slovakia, which was a continuation of Bohemian history. Punch and wafers were served by the outgoing officers in honor of the incoming officers and the ladies of the club.

The C. A. R. chapter at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. B. G. Miller, Saturday morning. They had a most happy surprise when they learned that they had been presented with a box of books by Mrs. Alvin Connelly of Washington, D. C. The books, "Facts for Patriots," were written by Mrs. Connelly and were presented to the Crete children for excellence in the work done during the year, as this is the largest chapter, according to the size of the town, in the state The tree planted on the Carnegie library grounds was reset this last week, as the first one died. After the business session and study program had been concluded an Easter egg hunt made a happy hour for the children.

Wymore Postoffice Has Rating Raised

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE, Neb., April 12.—Papers have just been approved by the postmaster general's office in Washington, and Wymore will be raised to a second class office effective July 1, according to Postmaster F. E. Crawford. The increased sale of stamps, postal supplies and mail matter handled during the past few months were found to be sufficient to warrant the change of class. This will raise the pay of present postoffice employes here, allow additional help, and thus serve the public to better advantage. Once before Wymore was raised to a second class office, but reverted to a third class office again.

Henry Is Jailed On Liquor Charge

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., April 12—In county court Jake Henry, Humphrey poultry raiser, was sentenced to 90 days for a second offense of illegal possession of liquor and was bound over to the district court on a charge of manufacturing, following his arrest by State Officers Broady and Depew. Four other men and a quantity of hootch and mash were caught in the net in a series of raids made by the state men yesterday.

Two Prohibs in Antelope County

(Special to The Star.)

RALEIGH, Neb., April 12.—The official canvass of the primary election of Antelope county held last Tuesday shows that the e were only two votes cast in the entire county for the prohibition candidates. The vote also shows that there were only sixteen ballots cast for the progressive party.

The expense to the tax payers of this county for these parties was enormous, when it is taken into consideration that several thousand ballots had to be printed to accommodate eighteen voters.

Steal Automobile Of County Attorney

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., April 12—For the second time during his services as county attorney Otto F. Walter has lost an automobile at the hands of thieves. His Ford sedan disappeared from a parking space last night while he and Mrs Walter were attending a concert. A few years ago a touring car belonging to Mr Walter was stolen while he was attending a circus. This is not only the second theft of a car from him but the fourth from members of his family. A Ford car was once stolen from his brother, Leo Walter, and a Ghalmers from his father, the late W. J. Walter.

CHANGE MADE IN MOTOR COMPANY

McCue Takes Tait Service Department — Auburn English Coach Coming.

Announcement was made Saturday afternoon by L. E. Tait of the L. E. Tait Motor company, that H. J. McCue has taken over the service department of his business and will have charge of the local retail business. Mr. McCue will operate under the name of the Lincoln Auburn company. Mr. Tait will continue as head of the L. E. Tait Motor company and will devote his entire time to the promotion of wholesale and retail sales. Their headquarters will remain at 1640 O street.

Mr. Tait said that he and Mr. McCue had just returned from Kokamo and Auburn, Ind., where they inspected the Haynes and Auburn plants. While there they saw the latest model cars, he said, and was greatly enthused over the new Auburn English coach.

Auburn Fulfills Promise.

"Auburn promised us a distinctly new body," Mr. Tait said, "and in the English coach he has fulfilled that promise. I liked it so well I ordered one sent to Lincoln in a shipment which is enroute here and will be seen on our display floor by the latter part of the coming week.

One of the outstanding features of the English coach, Mr. Tait continued, is its performance, "which is practically the same as that of the open car. The arched sides, top and back, give greater strength with weight only slightly greater than that of the open type car. First reports on records of performance show a consumption of gasoline and oil and tire wearage much lower than is ordinary in closed cars. The economy of operating the English coach is reported to be on a par with the economy of Auburn open models"

Mr. Tait said that when the English coach is placed on display in his shown room Lincoln people will be able to see something distinctively new and attractive in a closed model car.

Ship Much Walnut Out of Nebraska

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE, Neb, April 12.—Walnut logs are again being shipped through the local railway yards from stations west of here, destined to furniture firms at Kansas City and Des Moines. At least 100 carloads of these logs have gone out of this vicinity since January 1, and it was thought about all the timber of desirable growth had been taken, but now Endicott, Fairbury and Reynolds are loading an average of two carloads or logs each, daily. The present shipments are coming from Little Blue river and Rose creek timber.

Neligh Extending Its Water System

(Special to The Star.)

NELIGH, Neb., April 12. — The city council has awarded the contract for the extensions to the Neligh waterworks system to the Norfolk Bridge and Construction Co., for $8,462. This firm was about $800 lower than the next bidders.

The contract price is about $1,000 lower than the engineer's estimate of the cost. Another good feature is the promise of the contractors that they will employ local labor in the work except skilled mechanics, when such cannot be obtained here.

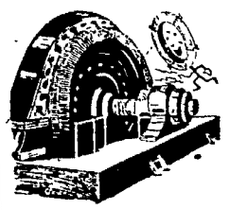

PIONEER PASSES AWAY.

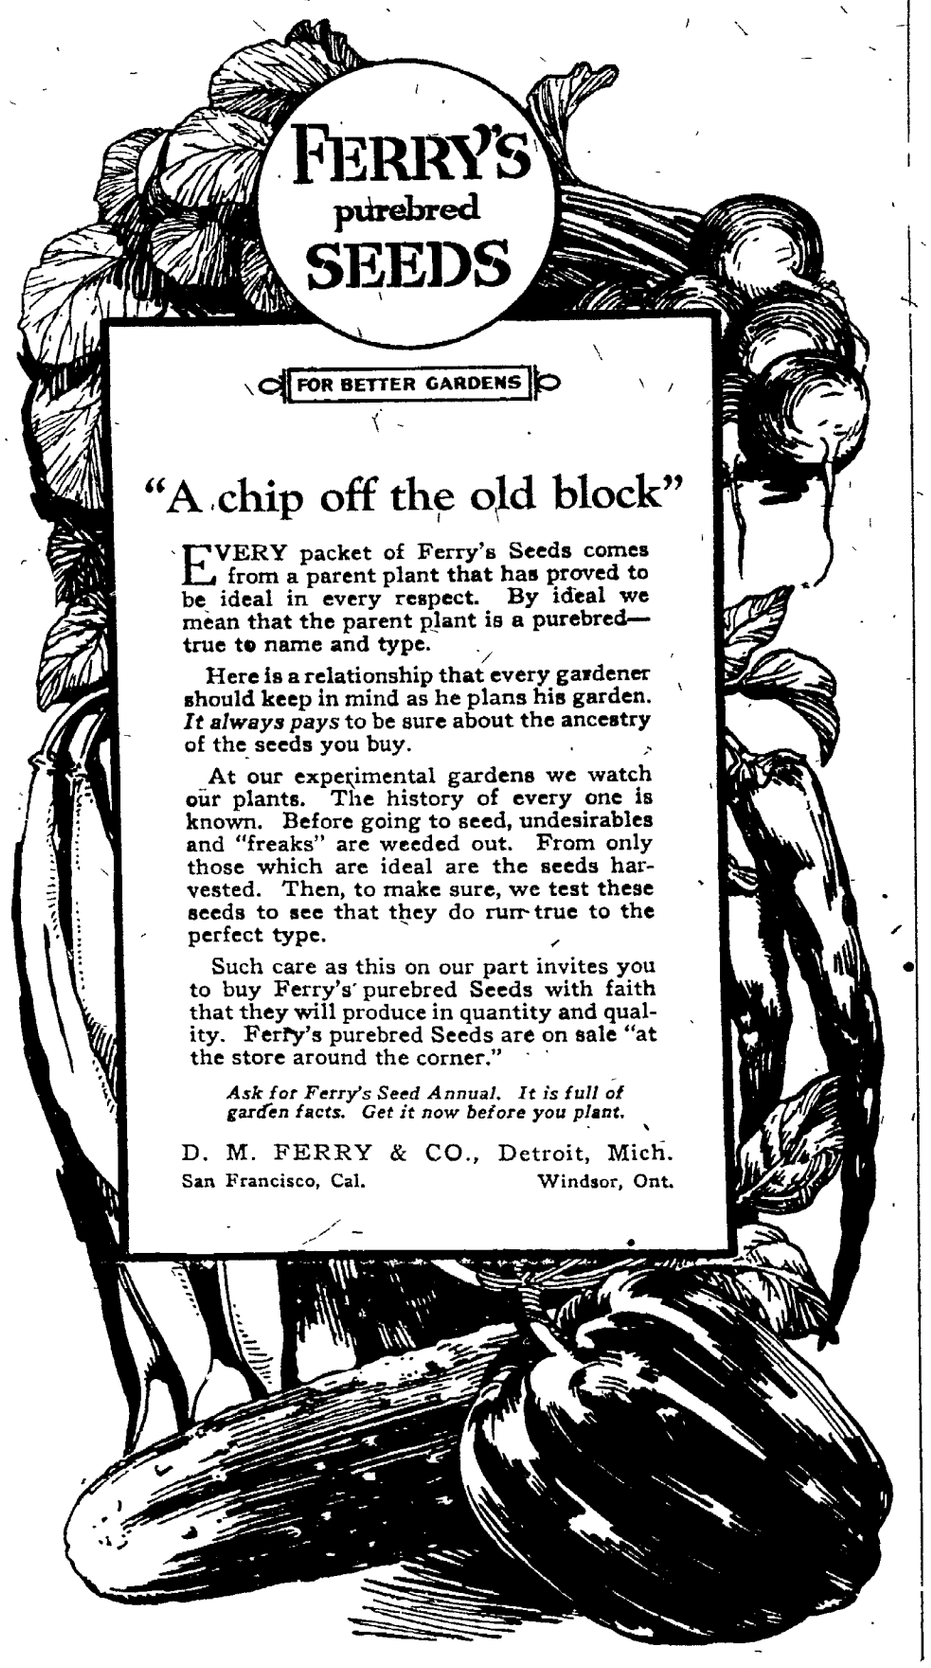

(Special to The Star.)

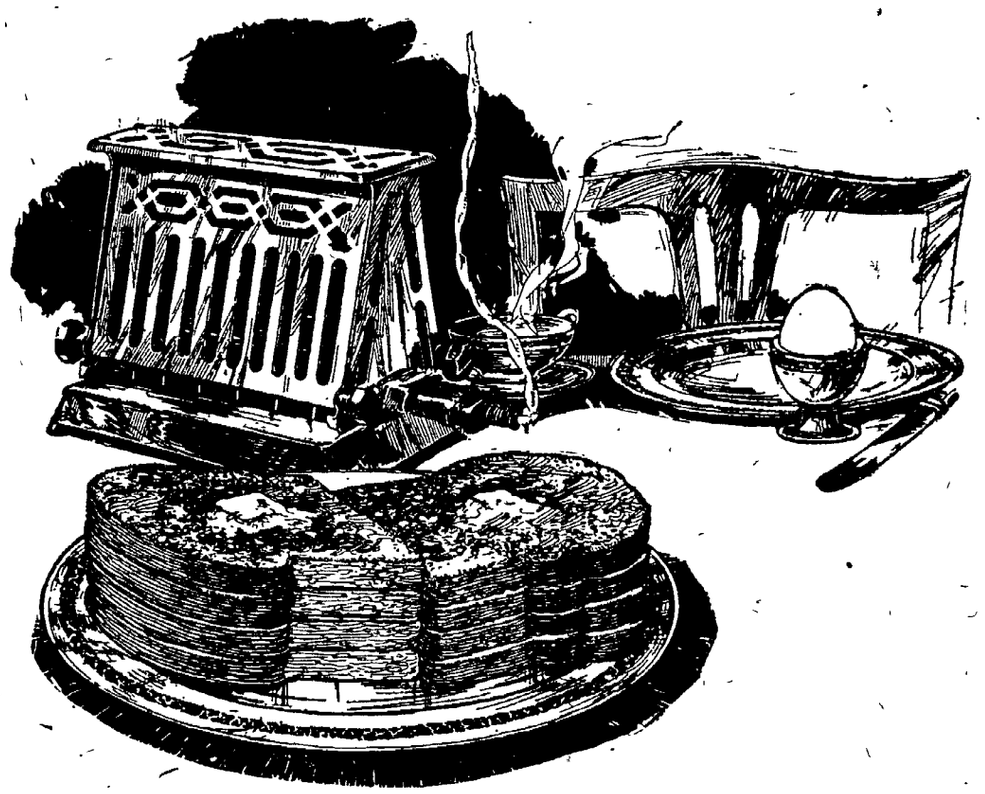

MORROWVILLE, Kas., April 12.—Mrs. Sarah Ann Jones, sixty-six years old, a resident of Washington county for the past twenty years, died at the farm home three miles northeast of here Friday afternoon. The family came to Kansas from Virginia in the early days The survivors are the husband, George T, and one brother and one sister, of this vicinity, and five children: L. L. Jones, of Paxton, Neb.; J. H. Jones of Morrowville; Mrs George King, of Humboldt, Neb; Mrs Laura Pritchard, of Falls City, and Mrs. L. P. Vaughan, Glencoe, Okla. Burial will be at Washington, Kas., Sunday.

RECEIVER FOLDA PROTESTS CLAIMS

(Special to The Star.)

NELIGH, Neb., April 12. — The case of the failure of the Atlas bank of this city last November has occupied the attention of Judge A. A. Welsh for the past two days, including night sessions. Receiver Folda has objected to allowing certain claims as charged against the guaranty fund on account of the payment of more than five per cent interest or where it has been shown that a sum had been given the bank as a loan.

J. J. Melick, a resident of Omaha fo rthe past fourteen years and previous to that time a citizen of this city for 34 years, was on the witness stand most of Thursday and until Friday noon. Mr. Melick was one of the vice presidents and a director of the failed institution.

The claims contested in this bank amount to more than $100,000 and cover thirteen specific counts.

On account of the illness of R. S. Payne, one of the vice presidents of the Atlas bank, who was unable to appear yesterday at the court room as a witness, the court and all attorneys interested moved to the Payne residence and held court at his home and secured his evidence.

Valparaiso Couple Wedded 60 Years

VALPARAISO, Neb., April 12.—Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Housel celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Saturday April 5, at their home here.

Mr. Housel was born in Trumbel county, Ohio, April 20, 1839, and Mrs. Housel in Franklin county, Ohio, on March 10 of the same year. Both moved to Washington county, Ia., before Mr. Housel went to the Civil war for three years. He received a scalp wound in the battle of Hhiloh.

Eighteen months before his discharge, he married Mrs. Housel, then Miss Harriet Romine, and for three years after the war, the couple farmed in Washington county. They came to Nebraska and located on a homestead four miles east of David City in 1871, where they remained for thirty-three years. For the last twenty-seven, they have lived in Valparaiso.

There are five living children, N. A. Housel, of Madison; Mrs. Mary Allard, Primrose; M. O. Housel, of Wartertown, S. D.; Mrs. Myrtle Oeschger and Mrs. Lillie McMaster of Valparaiso. There are also twenty-three grandchildren and fourteen great grandchildren. A family dinner was served at the home, children and grandchildren being present.

In the afternoon, a number of friends came in to bring thier congratulations and good wishes.

Two Cars Wrecked But No One Hurt

(Special to The Star.)

HELVEY, Neb., April 12.—A serious spill occurred just south of here late Friday afternoon when a fast southbound G. I. freight train was derailed at a switch north of Fairbury while running at full speed. Two empty coal cars jumped the track and were smashed to pieces. The Burlington line from Endicott to Fairmont was blocked and a passenger train held at Fairbury for three hours, and the main line of the Grand Island railway was blocked for several hours, until a wrecking crane could be ordered from the Rock Island railway at Fairbury and clear the damaged cars from the track. The train crew members in the caboose of the derailed train were thrown from their positions by the impact but escaped injury. The train contained 35 cars of time freight.

Brady's Debaters Lose to Elmcreek

(Special to The Star)

ELMCREEK, Neb., April 12.—The Elmcreek debating team defeated the fast Brady team on the affirmative of the state debating question by a two to one decision. Prof. E. W. Lantz of the teachers' college of the University of Nebraska, Prof. Grover Rost of Grand Island high school, and Prof. Stevens of Grand Island college acted as judges. Brady has been at the head of the debating league in the western district, holding a tie with Elmcreek until this debate when Elmcreek forged to the front. The Elmcreek debating team was composed of two boys and one girl. Miss Margaret Yoder, Fred Barber, and Forrest carter. The team has one more debate with Callaway. A win in the last debate will tie it with Brady for first place.

FERRY'S purebred SEEDS FOR BETTER GARDENS
"A chip off the old block"
EVERY packet of Ferry's Seeds comes from a parent plant that has proved to be ideal in every respect. By ideal we mean that the parent plant is a purebred—true to name and type.
Here is a relationship that every gardener should keep in mind as he plans his garden. It always pays to be sure about the ancestry of the seeds you buy.
At our experimental gardens we watch our plants. The history of every one is known. Before going to seed, undesirables and "freaks" are weeded out. From only those which are ideal are the seeds harvested. Then, to make sure, we test these seeds to see that they do run true to the perfect type.
Such care as this on our part invites you to buy Ferry's purebred Seeds with faith that they will produce in quantity and quality. Ferry's purebred Seeds are on sale "at the store around the corner."
Ask for Ferry's Seed Annual. It is full of garden facts. Get it now before you plant.

Howard's Club May Make Trouble When New Talent Plugs Gaps

LINKS READY TO GO AT FAST CLIP IF GAPS FILLED

NOWATA, Okla., April 12.—The Links got back at the Bartlesville Bearcats today by drubbing the Southwestern leaguers, 13 to 6, today on the Bartlesville diamond. Rose started on the mound for Lincoln, but was not in form and the Bearcats bumped him hard. Rasmussen followed, holding Bartlesville to one hit in three innings. Bulla pitched the three final innings for the Links, pitching shutout ball and giving the Bearcats one stingy hit. Heavy hitting by Conkey, McDonald, Moore and Hamilton featured.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Ghosts of the Sioux City ball club, a seventh place aggregation in last year's Western league flag flight, will be stalking in Lincoln uniforms when the gong clangs at Wichita next Wednesday for the getaway game by Howard Wakefield's Links and "Baldy" Isbell's athletes.

Positive promises by Western league magnates during the Hot Stove season to aid Boss Howard in his quest for talent have not been kept. There has been little more than a gesture by the moguls of the Tearney loop in the direction of making good their pledges, yet Wakefield is not complaining. The Lincoln boss, in truth, figured from the first that it would be strictly up to himself to do the hustling for talent; that the promises of help were so much apple sauce—and nothing more.

Boss Howard Handicapped.

Handicapped by a late start, Boss Howard has not been able to date to attain appreciable results in rounding up desirable pastimers from other leagues, which explains why the Lincoln owner will be starting the race with the remnants of the Siouxtown team, with a few tryout youngsters tossed into the bunch.

But all the baseball fish have not been caught, so Boss Howard will keep on angling for talent, intent on strengthening the weak spots and eventually building up an aggregation of Links that is worthy to factor in the fight for the flag.

Promise of New Players.

Catcher Synder, a holdout, and Art Stokes, a former ace of Lincoln's State league club, are carded to round up in Wichita Tuesday in time and condition to get into Lincoln duds for the opening day fray. Definite promises have been made Wakefield that not less than four teams in leagues of higher classification than the Western will release to the Links a string of players of class A grade. That the new athletes will arrive in Wichita prior to the Wednesday inaugural is a problem that time only will solve. Should the promised players be delayed in delivery, the Lincoln team which Wakefield will pit against the Isbells on opening day will present the following personnel:

Lineup at Wichita.

Catchers—Snyder, Stumpf and Conkey.

First base—Vacant, but probably will be played by Snyder until Wakefield can snare a regular for that position.

Second base—Hamilton.

Third base—McDonald.

Shortstop—Maloney.

Outfield—Milan, Moore, Henry and O'Connor.

Dudley, a pitcher belonging to the Washington Americans, presumably will be on the way early this week from the Minneapolis club to the Links, while the Millers also have assured Wakefield that a shortstop is to be released to the Lincoln team.

Real Talent On Squad.

An inventory of the Wakefield baseball stock now on hand justifies encouragement from a Lincoln standpoint. The squad includes several pastimers ranking with the topnotchers of the Tearney circuit.

Snyder, rated as the regular catcher, is touted on the Pacific coast, where he played winter ball, as a backstopper who is destined to go up to the major leagues. Snyder's throwing to bases is a strong point, yet his forte is swinging the hickory club. In the California Winter league, Snyder was hailed as one of the most consistent clouters on the circuit.

Hamilton, who can cover either short or second, ranks with the steadiest and yet the most brilliant infielders in the league.

Moore Wizard In Center.

The same may be said for Outfielder Eddie Moore, guardian of the middle garden, while O'Connor and Milan are first-grade performers in the outfield, with Henry, a youngster of exceptional promise, in reserve.

Wakefield's chief need, at the present writing, is a pair of reliable pitchers, a first baseman and a shortstop. The rest of the team has first division quality and filling of the four gaps specified should and most probably will so fortify the Links as to place them in the top four of the pennant flight.

It is conceded that the Links will likely get away to a poor start. The needed strength and punch is not there in all departments, yet the gaps are few and when Wakefield fills them satisfactorily, as he surely will, the Links will not be slow in making up lost ground.

Lincoln Never a Quitter.

The writer declines to take stock in the intimation that Lincoln fans may not stick with a losing team; that the interest will not be there unless Lincoln has a winner from kickoff day until the curtain thuds late next September.

Lincoln never was a quitter in the old days when the capital city of Nebraska held membership in the Western circuit and it is impossible to conceive that the newer, larger Lincoln of today will be lacking in loyalty to its team or fail to appreciate its responsibilities in a baseball sense.

It is worth a lot to Lincoln to be restored to its rightful place on the Western league map, along with the most progressive cities in this region of the middle west, but its Western league membership would have a much greater value if Nebraska's capital city, regardless of the position of its team in the pennant race, is known and esteemed as one of the live ball towns of the Tearney circuit.

Preparing for Opening Day.

Directors of the local boosters' association, which holds title to Landis Field, will hold a special meeting some day this week to map out definite plans for the opening day ceremonies in Lincoln, dated for Tuesday, April 29. Civic organizations will be invited to join hands with the boosters in making the Lincoln inaugural worthy of Nebraska's capital city.

The general plan provides for a parade through the business section to the ball park. Invitations already have been extended and accepted whereby Governor Bryan and Mayor Zehrung are to officiate as the batterymen in pitching and catching the first ball. League President A. R. Tearney and a party of his Chicago friend, will be present at the Lincoln inaugural.

Youngest Manager In Major Circles

Stanley J. ("Buckey") Hafris is the youngest manager in the two major leagues. He was chosen by Clarke Griffith to pilot the Washington Americans in the 1924 race in addition to holding down his regular birth in the infield.

St. Paul Welter Coming to Clash With Black Boy

Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, Minn., in his day a super fighting man in the glove pastime and a developer of mitten-whirlers during recent years, has come to the rescue of Billy Hale, matchmaker for the Company I National Guard club of Lincoln, which is standing sponsor for the fistic program dated for next Tuesday night at the City auditorium.

Matchmaker Hale has been deeply immersed in trouble as a result of the tactics of would-be scrappers in Sioux City, who, after contracting to meet Charlie Long in Tuesday's semi-windup, proceeded to stage a run-out. First Ray Carter ducked away from the Omaha negro's game; then Ted Zanfres did a sidestep. Hale was in despair until last night, when his wire appeal to Gibbons brought a positive announcement from the St. Paul man that he would send one of his best welters—Larry Coleman—to Lincoln to exchanges punches with the aggressive Omaha dusky in the eight-round bout next to last on the card.

Gibbons Boosts Coleman.

"I informed Gibbons in my wire that any man he might send would have to lug real goods; that Long is a beneeat and worthy to meet any of the high-graders in the welter brigade," Hale said last night.

"Mike came back with the statement that Coleman is o. k and in prime condition to battle with Long or any other welter in the west, so I am looking forward to a semi-windup and a full card of fighting, for that matter, that will please the fans better than at any other glove program staged in Lincoln this season.

"The preliminary bouts look good, the Long-Coleman scrap should be a hummer, while the Bat Strayer-Buddy Chambers main event of ten rounds will give the bugs all they might desire in the way of action.

"Jack Zolice, a top class lightweight from Boston, recently performing in Des Moines, had wired a challenge to the winner of the Tuesday main event. Zolice gave Roscoe Hall, lightweight champion of Iowa, a neat trouncing a few weeks ago and I may put him on in Lincoln in a subsequent Kuard club main event, although the Boston boy demands a stiff guarantee."

LINCOLN COURSE IN FANCY SHAPE

Country Club Links In Ideal Trim For Tournament By Nebraska Golfers.

New Traps and Hazards Added and Course Second to None In the Mid-West.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

The Lincoln Country club course, which will be the scene of the 1924 Nebraska golf tournament, June 9-14, is one of the most beautiful golf links in this section of the country. With hills and valleys, such as to delight the golfer's heart, followers of the Scotch pastime who journey to Lincoln next June are in for a pleasant week.

The course should be in wonderful shape, for the state tourney, says Norman H. Sommers, club professional. The local "pro" is busy putting the finishing touches on the greens and fairways, after a winter season at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The greens weathered the winter in great shape and will be far better than last year. The fairways also are improved since last fall's seeding and fertilizing. A number of hazards and traps have been added and the links need bow to none in this section.

Par Is Seventy-Two.

Par forthe 6,337 yard course is seventy-two. Norman Sommers, professional, holds the course record, having made the eighteen holes in a par seventy-two. The amateur record of 75 is held by Phil Aitken, Lincoln golfer and former member of the University of Nebraska golf team.

A description of the course follows:

No. 1—300 yards with par four: A blind hole. The player tees off down hill with the green well hidden.

No. 2—290 yards with par four: One of the sporty short holes of the course. The player is forced to shoot up hill with the green well trapped.

No. 3—400 yards with par four: One of the hardest to make considering the length. Sloping fairway to the left. A slight hook lands you in bad in the traps or ravine, while a bad slice means out of bounds over the fence.

Plenty of Water Hazards.

No. 4—398 yards for a par four: Water hazard with plenty of it. The golfer must clear the water with the drive. The green is not hidden, but the fairway rolls to the right with a slice more dangerous than a hook. The fourth green is well trapped.

No. 5—141 yards with par three: A pitch hole which takes an accurate shot to reach the green. The green is well trapped in front and back, with a pond waiting to receive a vicious hook. A slice is out of bounds to the right.

No. 6—332 yards for a par four: Water hazard. Not much trouble after crossing the pond, which is in front of the tee. No hazards around the green.

No. 7—440 yards for a par four: Dog-leg hole. One of the sportiest on the course. A two-shot hole before the green is reached. No trouble to the man who keeps his ball straight.

No. 8—525 yards for a par five: An uphill grind all the way. A marathan with no traps.

Well-Trapped Greens.

No. 9—315 yards for a par four: Down hill for the drive. Well trapped in front of tee, with the green fairly open on the opposite hill.

No. 10—135 yards for par three: Pitch hole into the bull ring. Takes accurate shot. Traps surround the green and all are well sanded.

No. 11—555 yards for a par five: Up and down hill with a hidden green.

No. 12—225 yards for par three: One shot hole but hard green to reach as it lies on the hillside. A slice finds the ball in trouble on the dip below the green.

No. 13—466 yards for par five: Dog-leg hole. Very sporty. Two wood shots and a pitch. Green banked and a slice is dangerous.

No. 14—113 yards for par three: Plenty of water to worry the best. Accurate shot required. If the drive is topped the ball lands in the lake, while too much drive sends the ball in the road out of bounds. Ball played right will get good results.

No. 15—422 yards for par four: For its length this is one of the hardest on the course. First drive is over the lake. Uphill work all the way. Slice dangerous for out of bounds while there is plenty of bad rough to take care of a hook.

No. 16—335 yards for par four: Fairly easy.

No. 17 Is Long Tour.

No. 17—595 yards for par five: Longest hole on course. Number of traps, and owing to length requires good golf to obtain a par score. Slice sails toward fence, while hook brings hte golfer into the rough.

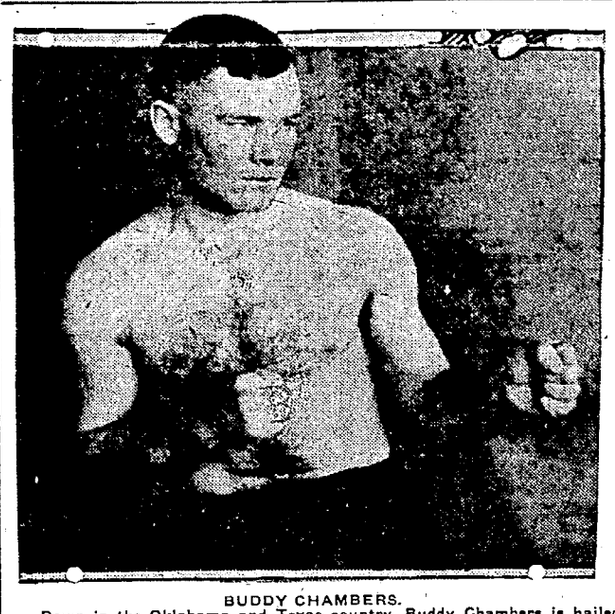

No. 18—350 yards for par four: Dog-leg hole, with the green practically hidden from the tee. Out of bounds awaits a hook, while bad rough waiting for a slice. Green is well trapped.

St. Paul Bids For Wills and Fulton

ST. PAUL, April 12 — Jack Reddy, manager of the St. Paul boxing club, has offered Paddy Mullins of New York $10,000 for Harry Wills to fight Fred Fulton here May 6.

Reddy telegraphed his offer tonight and specified that Mullins must accept his offer by Monday night or another fighter will be sought for Fulton.

"Bat" Strayer's Opponent In Tuesday's Main Glove Event

BUDDY CHAMBERS.

Down in the Oklahoma and Texas country, Buddy Chambers is hailed as the lightweight champion boxer of the southwest. Since establishing headquarters in Omaha, Buddy has been itching for a whirl at Bat Strayer or Ace Hudkins in a Lincoln main event, thereby hoping to qualify for the lightweight glove title of Nebraska. Recent suspension of Hudkins was a bar against matching the Oklahoma boy against Ace, so Buddy's manager, Jack Lewis, has booked his protege to battle ten rounds with Strayer. Buddy and "Bat" are to mix for ten rounds in the main event of the next Tuesday night's mitten carnival at the City auditorium.

Ball Clubs In Action Sunday At Landis Yard

Baseball bugs of Lincoln, longing for a nibble at the national pastime, may view the athletes in action this afternoon at Landis Filed. An exhibition game, in which the Lawlor Sports, including a string of professional performers of local reputation, will clash with the Munson City leaguers is on the card for 2:30 p. m.

The Lawlor lineup lists Albert Bool, ex-State league catcher; Bill Lellvelt, team secretary of Wakefield's Links and former Detroit and Minneapolis pitcher; and several ex-Nebraska leaguers such as Scott Dye, Dewey Bondurant, Joe Gauhan and Lou Welch. The Lawlor pastimers have been working out at Landis yard nearly every day during the past two weeks and are reputed to be in physical trim to exhibit the real article in the diamond sport.

Construction of the grandstand annex at Landis Field has been in progress nearly two weeks and the enlarged plant, if inspected today, may open the eyes of local fans to the fact that Lincoln now has a ball yard of Western league class.

Lineups announced by the managers of the Lawlors and the Munsons follow:

Lawlors	Pos.	Munsons
Bool	c	Maser
Johnson, Lellvelt	p	Kaiser
Sconco	lb	Tibbets
Dye	2b	Muldor
Gaughan	3b	Wilson
Bondurant	ss	Brown
Bronson	lf	Cook
Hudson	cf	Little
Welch	rf	Oxenhardt

Big Leagues Set For Opening Gun

NEW YORK, April 12—With the usual predictions for tight competition increased interest and bigger business, the major leagues penant races will start the 1924 season next Tuesday afternoon.

The National League will get under way with Chicago at St. Louis; Pittsburgh at Cincinnati; Brooklyn at New York and Boston at Philadelphia.

Police Called To Halt Riot At Ball Park

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—Police answered a riot call here this evening following a melee between members of the San Francisco and Portland clubs of the Pacific Coast league and hundreds of spectators.

Manager Kenworthy of the Portland club was knocked out by Third Baseman Eddie Milligan of San Francisco in a fight at second base which started the general riot. Kenworthy has previously struck at Milligan, who bumped into him while rounding the second sack.

Baseball's Oldest Old-Timers.

George Wright, one of the greatest baseball players who ever lived, the "Babe Ruth" of his day, played with the Unions of Morrisania, N. Y., in 1868, and then went to the unbeatable Cincinnati Red Stockings, where in one year, he made 47 home runs, struck out only four times and made only four errors. Albro Akin was another star of the old Unions of Morrisania when they were champions in 1867-68. They are shown again after 55 years, on the Ormond Beach, Fla., diamond. Each is 77 years old. They did not wear gloves half a century ago, and they refused to wear them when they played again.

NEW BALL CLUB IN DES MOINES DUDS

BY "SEC" TAYLOR.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 12. — When the Des Moines team takes the field next Wednesday at Oklahoma City to face the Western league champions in the opening game of the season not more than five of the regulars, including the pitchers, will be holdovers from the Booster team that finished the 1923 pennant race. It will be a rebuilt organization that Manager Johnny Corriden will lead this year.

Gordon Jones and Jim House, pitchers; Barnard Hungling, catcher; "Polly" McLarry, first baseman, and Corriden, outfielder, are the only regulars on the team of last year. However, Helding Nelson, who played short in 1923, and Walter Genin, an outfielder, who was with the Boosters part of the 1922 and 1923 seasons, will remain with the club for a while at least and Genin may possibly make good.

New Bench of Pitchers.

Johnson, Brown, Lindberg, Boyd and Wilson have taken the places of Lynch, Olson and Davis of last year's hurling staff. Lynch and Olsen having been sold and Davis having been recalled by San Francisco. Wilson, who formerly played with Sioux City, and Lindberg, last year with St. Joseph, are southpaws, while Boyd, purchased from Independence, Kas., of the Southwestern league, Brown who was with Bridgeport, Conn., in the Eastern league in 1923, and Johnson, who hurled in the New York State league last year, are the right-handers who will help out Jones and House.

Johnson and Wilson came to the locals from the New York Yankees in the Olsen deal, and Brown came from Brooklyn in the deal for Klugman.

Hungling Regular Catcher.

Hungling will be the regular catcher this year, assisted by Anfinson, an experienced Pacific Coast league man. Anfinson displaces Wheat, who was recalled by Dallas.

"Polly" McLarry, with the Lincoln club in 1912, is the only regular from last season's infield and there is a possibility that he will not be able to start as he has not yet recovered all of his strength from a severe attack of pneumonia. If he is unable to play in the opening series, Hungling will be shifted to first. Knaupp, a veteran Southern and Texas league infielder, has displaced Klugman at second base; Chavez, under option from the Oakland club, has earned the shortstop berth, and Thompson, purchased from Tulsa, will hold down third in place of Koenig. This leaves Nelson and Haugen, a recruit, for reserve infielders.

Manager Corriden is again slated for left field but the man who will play the other two outer posts may not be known until about the time the team takes the field, for Corriden has not made up his mind about the new players. Ping Bodie, veteran outfielder, who was purchased from Vernon will fill one of the holes left by Horan and Murphy, provided he agrees to report here. For the other position there are Roseberry and Langford, both sent to the locals by the Yankees, and Genin, a holdover Horan of last year's club was sold to Reading and Murphy was turned back to the Minneapolis club, to whom he belongs.

Roseberry, Langford and Genin have looked good in the spring training. The former played in the Tri-State league last season, while Langford was with Jack Coffey's Macon, Ga., aggregation. Genin is not a hard hitter, but is fast, a good waiter at the plate and gets on bases often.

Winning Trip In Texas.

The Boosters, playing without the services of McLarry, Corriden and Knaupp, three .300 hitters, won seven of the first nine games they played in Texas. They look strong this season and both manager and club-owners expect them to be in the running this year.

The pitching and catching staffs look especially good while the infield looks much better than last year. If there is any weakness it will be in the outfield, where it is possible there is not enough clouting ability. That remains to be seen, however, for Bodis, Langford and Roseberry may come through with the bat all right.

Select Tennis Squad To Play For Davis Cup

NEW YORK, April 12.—Fifteen ranking American tennis stars were named today as members of the Davis cup squad by the United States Lawn Tennis association.

From the fifteen candidates will be picked the team that will defend the cup late next summer.

Appointment of a squad of players is an innovation, the association made it known and it was done for the purpose of notifying the players that they were recognized as candidates for the team and that their form was to be watched closely by the committee which will pick the team.

The squad, named in order by the association, consisted of:

William T. Tilden, national champion; William M. Johnston, holder of the British national championship; Richard Norris Williams, Philadelphia; Vincent Richards, national indoor champion, New York; Frank Hunter, New York; Howard Kinsey, San Francisco; Carl Fisher, intercollegiate champion, Philadelphia; Harvey Snodgrass, San Farncisco; Robert Kinsey, San Francisco; Wallace F. Johnson, Philadelphia; Clarence G. Griffin, San Francisco; Frank T. Anderson, Watson, M. Washburn; George King and Hugh Kelleher, New York.

WHITE SOX TRIM GIANTS; DODGERS MAUL THE YANKS

Chance Takes the Chicago Helm and Pilots His Crew To Victory; Robins Win In Ninth.

CHICAGO, April 12.—The White Sox, with Manager Frank Chance at the helm, pulled upon even terms with the Giants in the series, winning a ten-inning game today, 2 to 1. Hughie McQuillan, starting for the Giants, was injured sliding to third base in the fifth inning and was removed from the game, Dennis Gearin replacing him. Charlie Robinson, George Connally and Ted Lyons pitched for the Sox.

Two other players were injured besides McQuillan, Jackson being struck in the head by a bad bounce of the ball on a grounded, and Clyde Crouse being forced out with an injury to his right hand from a foul tip.

Seven thousand shivering fans welcomed home Frank Chance, now peerless leader of the Sox, and cheered his boys' defeat of the Giants. The series now stands five-all and the deciding game will be played Sunday. Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Giants	000 010 000	0—1	8	3
Sox	000 100 000	1—2	8	0

Dodgers Knock Off Yankees.

NEW YORK, April 12.—In a ninth inning rally, the Dodgers trimmed the Yankees today, 10 to 8. It was the first victory of the Dodgers in their spring games with the Yankees. Babe Ruth did not shine with the bat in his initial appearance before a "home crowd" today.

He fanned twice, got hit once and raised a puny foul in his last attempt. Scott and Pipp swatted out circuit clouts for the Yankees, while Fournier hit a home run for the Dodgers. Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Dodgers	000 310 1 0	5—10	11	5
Yankees	000 321 020	8	9	2

Batteries—Reuther, Vance, Dickerson and Deberry; Shawkey, Jones, Roettger and Schang, Hoffman, Autrey.

Browns Bump Cardinals.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—Before a record crowd of 25,000 fans, the two St. Louis big league baseball teams staged their own season's opening here today in the city series, the Browns trimming the Cardinals, 4 to 1. The second and last game of the series will be played Sunday.

Triumphal return to the diamond of George Sisler as manager of the team, which he had to leave in 1922 because of eye trouble, was the feature. Sisler got a tremendous ovation each of his four times at bat and gave the spectators a triple and a single for their applause.

Rogers Hornsby furnished a home run, as did Kenny Williams. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Browns	4	8	1
Cardinals	1	6	1

Batteries — Pruett, Shocker and Severeid; Sherdell and Holm.

Athletics Trim Phillies.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 12.—The Athletics got back into their stride at Shibe park this afternoon and took the Phillies into camp, 5 to 1. The game was played before 15,000 fans who jammed the park to see the final game of the series before the opening of the league season Tuesday, when the Phils will entertain the Boston Braves and the Athletics play in Washington. The score:

	R	H	E.
Phillies	1	8	3
Athletics	5	13	1

Batteries—Glazner and Henline; Hart and Keenan.

Cubs Wallop Blues.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12. — Hammering the Blues slab staff, the Chicago Cubs trounced Kansas City, 13 to 6, in the fourth of a five-game series here today. Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Cubs	002 251 021	13	15	2
Kansas City	010 003 110	6	11	5

Batteries—Alexander, Pierce and Hartnett; Thormahlen, Ahman and McCarty.

Reds Defeat Indians.

CINCINNATI, O., April 12.—Timely hitting by the Reds defeated the Cleveland Indians here today, 4 to 3. With two down in the ninth, Burns doubled, scoring Carl Mays with the winning run. Cleveland made fourteen hits to the Reds' eight. Uhle pitched the entire game for the Indians.

Burns of Cleveland knocked one over the left field fence in the fourth, one of the few times such a long hit ever has been made at the [illegible].

Nebraska Home Course Relays Close Monday

Competition in the second annual interscholastic home course relays will close Monday. Schools competing in the relay event will telegraph their results to Henry F. Schulte, track coach at the University of Nebraska, Monday evening.

The winning high school team will be sent to the Kansas relay carnival according to present plans. Some difficulty is being experienced in entering the Nebraska interscholastic champion in the Kansas event, the Jayhawker authorities insisting the team being entered Saturday while the winner will not be determined until early this week. Coach Schulte announced Saturda yevening that should the Nebraska champions be unable to compete in the Kansas relays, they would be sent to the Drake relay carnival at Des Moines later in the month.

Erwin Rival Of Paddock At Drake Relays

MANHATTEN, Kans., April 12. — Captain L. E. Erwin, fiery topped sprinter who won the 100-yard dash in the Drake relays last year in 09 4-5 seconds, is burning up the Kansas Aggie straightaway this spring and rounding into great shape for his attempt to again win the sprint special at the Drake meet at Des Moines on April 25 and 26.

Erwin has a special design in wanting to win the 100-yard dash at Drake. Deep in his heart he has long harbored the desire to meet Charley Paddock, world's record holder.

This will not take place at Drake, but the next best thing will be available. Paddock will run at the Drake meet, but he will compete in a special handicap dash, while Erwin will run in the collegiate 100-yard dash.

Comparison of Speed.

However, Erwin is determined that he will run the hundred at least as fast as Paddock. The Kansas Aggie star will have a chance to compare his speed with that of the "fastest human" on the same track and under similar conditions.

Erwin, in addition to winning the hundred in the Drake meet last year, too kfirst in the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the Missouri Valley conference meet. He won the 50-yard dash at both the K. C. A. C. and Missouri Valley indoor meets this year and took third in the 75-yard dash at the Illinois relays.

New Shark in Discus.

Gartner, a big weight man who has perfected Coach Charley Bachman's form in the discus, hopes to place high in this even in the Drake meet. His best mark in practice this spring is 138 feet 8 inches, which is better than the Drake relay record.

Final selection of men to compete at Des Moines will be made on Wednesday, April 23.

Washington Crew Beats California

SEATTLE, Wash., April 12.—University of Washington crew men today flashed in victories here over the University of California shell in the annual dual regatta.

Washington finished ten lengths ahead of the entirely outclassed Californians. The winners' time was 16:24 3-5 over the three mile course at Lake Washington.

Today's victory of the Purple and Gold crew, the eighteenth since 1903 over the California shell men, gave it the right to represent the far west in the annual collegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, where Washington last year finised in first place. Loss of Rogers, California stroke, because of an injured back, handicapped the Bears, Coach Ky Ebright said tonight.

"Farmer" Burns 64 Years Young

"Farmer" Burns, famous old-time wrestler and trainer, although 64, is still active in athletics in Omaha. He trained many of the present crop of wrestlers, including Earl Caddock, John Pesek and Charlie Hansen. Years ago he took Frank Dotch from behind a plow and made him world's champion. Burns says he has never been sick a day in his life and has never had to visit a dentist. No drinking or smoking and chewing, regular living and regular hours will let any man live to be 100, he declares.

Howard's Club May Make Trouble When New Talent Plugs Gaps

NOWATA, Okla., April 12.—The Links got back at the Bartlesville Bearcats today by drubbing the Southwestern leaguers, 13 to 6, today on the Bartlesville diamond. Rose started on the mound for Lincoln, but was not in form and the Bearcats bumped him hard. Rasmussen followed, holding Bartlesville to one hit in three innings. Bulla pitched the three final innings for the Links, pitching shutout ball and giving the Bearcats one stingy hit. Heavy hitting by Conkey, McDonald, Moore and Hamilton featured.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Ghosts of the Sioux City ball club, a seventh place aggregation in last year's Western league flag flight, will be stalking in Lincoln uniforms when the gong clangs at Wichita next Wednesday for the getaway game by Howard Wakefield's Links and "Baldy" Isbell's athletes.

Positive promises by Western league magnates during the Hot Stove season to aid Boss Howard in his quest for talent have not been kept. There has been little more than a gesture by the moguls of the Tearney loop in the direction of making good their pledges, yet Wakefield is not complaining. The Lincoln boss, in truth, figured from the first that it would be strictly up to himself to do the hustling for talent; that the promises of help were so much apple sauce—and nothing more.

Boss Howard Handicapped.

Handicapped by a late start, Boss Howard has not been able to date to attain appreciable results in rounding up desirable pastimers from other leagues, which explains why the Lincoln owner will be starting the race with the remnants of the Siouxtown team, with a few tryout youngsters tossed into the bunch.

But all the baseball fish have not been caught, so Boss Howard will keep on angling for talent, intent on strengthening the weak spots and eventually building up an aggregation of Links that is worthy to factor in the fight for the flag.

Promise of New Players.

Catcher Synder, a holdout, and Art Stokes, a former ace of Lincoln's State league club, are carded to round up in Wichita Tuesday in time and condition to get into Lincoln duds for the opening day fray. Definite promises have been made Wakefield that not less than four teams in leagues of higher classification than the Western will release to the Links a string of players of class A grade. That the new athletes will arrive in Wichita prior to the Wednesday inaugural is a problem that time only will solve. Should the promised players be delayed in delivery, the Lincoln team which Wakefield will pit against the Isbells on opening day will present the following personnel:

Lineup at Wichita.

Catchers—Snyder, Stumpf and Conkey.

First base—Vacant, but probably will be played by Snyder until Wakefield can snare a regular for that position.

Second base—Hamilton.

Third base—McDonald.

Shortstop—Maloney.

Outfield—Milan, Moore, Henry and O'Connor.

Dudley, a pitcher belonging to the Washington Americans, presumably will be on the way early this week from the Minneapolis club to the Links, while the Millers also have assured Wakefield that a shortstop is to be released to the Lincoln team.

Real Talent On Squad.

An inventory of the Wakefield baseball stock now on hand justifies encouragement from a Lincoln standpoint. The squad includes several pastimers ranking with the topnotchers of the Tearney circuit.

Snyder, rated as the regular catcher, is touted on the Pacific coast where he played winter ball, as a backstopper who is destined to go up to the major leagues. Snyder's throwing to bases is a strong point, yet his forte is swinging the hickory club. In the California Winter league, Snyder was hailed as one of the most consistent clouters on the circuit.

Hamilton, who can cover either short or second, ranks with the steadiest and yet the most brilliant infielders in the league.

Moore Wizard In Center.

The same may be said for Outfielder Eddie Moore, guardian of the middle garden, while O'Connor and Milan are first-grade performers in the outfield, with Henry, a youngster of exceptional promise, in reserve.

Wakefield's chief need, at the present writing, is a pair of reliable pitchers, a first baseman and a shortstop. The rest of the team has first division quality and filling of the four gaps specified should and most probably will so fortify the Links as to place them in the top four of the pennant flight.

It is conceded that the Links will likely get away to a poor start. The needed strength and punch is not there in all departments, yet the gaps are few and when Wakefield fills them satisfactorily, as he surely will, the Links will not be slow in making up lost ground.

Lincoln Never a Quitter.

The writer declines to take stock in the intimation that Lincoln fans may not stick with a losing team; that the interest will not be there unless Lincoln has a winner from kickoff day until the curtain thuds late next September.

Lincoln never was a quitter in the old days when the capital city of Nebraska held membership in the Western circuit and it is impossible to conceive that the newer, larger Lincoln of today will be lacking in loyalty to its team or fail to appreciate its responsibilities in a baseball sense.

It is worth a lot to Lincoln to be restored to its rightful place on the Western league map, along with the most progressive cities in this region of the middle west, but its Western league membership would have a much greater value if Nebraska's capital city, regardless of the position of its team in the pennant race, is known and esteemed as one of the live ball towns of the Tearney circuit.

Preparing for Opening Day.

Directors of the local boosters' association, which holds title to Landis Field, will hold a special meeting some day this week to map out definite plans for the opening day ceremonies in Lincoln, dated for Tuesday, April 29. Civic organizations will be invited to join hands with the boosters in making the Lincoln inaugural worthy of Nebraska's capital city.

The general plan provides for a parade through the business section to the ball park. Invitations already have been extended and accepted whereby Governor Bryan and Mayor Zehrung are to officiate as the batterymen in pitching and catching the first ball. League President A. R. Tearney and a party of his Chicago friend, will be present at the Lincoln inaugural.

Youngest Manager In Major Circles

S. J. HARRIS

Stanley J. ("Buckey") Harris is the youngest manager in the two major leagues. He was chosen by Clarke Griffith to pilot the Washington Americans in the 1924 race in addition to holding down his regular birth in the infield.

St. Paul Welter Coming to Clash With Black Boy

Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, Minn., in his day a super fighting man in the glove pastime and a developer of mitten-whirlers during recent years, has come to the rescue of Billy Hale, matchmaker for the Company I National Guard club of Lincoln, which is standing sponsor for the fistic program dated for next Tuesday night at the City auditorium.

Matchmaker Hale has been deeply immersed in trouble as a result of the tactics of would-be scrappers in Sioux City, who, after contracting to meet Charlie Long in Tuesday's semi-windup, proceeded to stage a run-out. First Ray Carter ducked away from the Omaha negro's game; then Ted Zanfres did a sidestep. Hale was in despair until last night, when his wire appeal to Gibbons brought a positive announcement from the St. Paul man that he would send one of his best welters—Larry Coleman—to Lincoln to exchanges punches with the aggressive Omaha dusky in the eight-round bout next to last on the card.

Gibbons Boosts Coleman.

"I informed Gibbons in my wire that any man he might send would have to lug real goods; that Long is a bearcat and worthy to meet any of the high-graders in the welter brigade," Hale said last night.

"Mike came back with the statement that Coleman is o. k and in prime condition to battle with Long or any other welter in the west, so I am looking forward to a semi-windup and a full card of fighting, for that matter, that will please the fans better than at any other glove program staged in Lincoln this season.

"The preliminary bouts look good, the Long-Coleman scrap should be a hummer, while the Bat Strayer-Buddy Chambers main event of ten rounds will give the bugs all they might desire in the way of action.

"Jack Zolice, a top class lightweight from Boston, recently performing in Des Moines, had wired a challenge to the winner of the Tuesday main event. Zolice gave Roscoe Hall, lightweight champion of Iowa, a neat trouncing a few weeks ago and I may put him on in Lincoln in a subsequent Kuard club main event, although the Boston boy demands a stiff guarantee."

LINCOLN COURSE IN FANCY SHAPE

Country Club Links In Ideal Trim For Tournament By Nebraska Golfers.

New Traps and Hazards Added and Course Second to None In the Mid-West.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

The Lincoln Country club course, which will be the scene of the 1924 Nebraska golf tournament, June 9-14, is one of the most beautiful golf links in this section of the country. With hills and valleys, such as to delight the golfer's heart, followers of the Scotch pastime who journey to Lincoln next June are in for a pleasant week.

The course should be in wonderful shape, for the state tourney, says Norman H. Sommers, club professional. The local "pro" is busy putting the finishing touches on the greens and fairways, after a winter season at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The greens weathered the winter in great shape and will be far better than last year. The fairways also are improved since last fall's seeding and fertilizing. A number of hazards and traps have been added and the links need bow to none in this section.

Par Is Seventy-Two.

Par forthe 6,337 yard course is seventy-two. Norman Sommers, professional, holds the course record, having made the eighteen holes in a par seventy-two. The amateur record of 75 is held by Phil Aitken, Lincoln golfer and former member of the University of Nebraska golf team.

A description of the course follows:

No. 1—300 yards with par four: A blind hole. The player tees off down hill with the green well hidden.

No. 2—290 yards with par four: One of the sporty short holes of the course. The player is forced to shoot up hill with the green well trapped.

No. 3—400 yards with par four: One of the hardest to make considering the length. Sloping fairway to the left. A slight hook lands you in bad in the traps or ravine, while a bad slice means out of bounds over the fence.

Plenty of Water Hazards.

No. 4—398 yards for a par four: Water hazard with plenty of it. The golfer must clear the water with the drive. The green is not hidden, but the fairway rolls to the right with a slice more dangerous than a hook. The fourth green is well trapped.

No. 5—141 yards w th a par three: A pitch hole which takes an accurate shot to reach the green. The green is well trapped in front and back, with a pond waiting to receive a vicious hook. A slice is out of bounds to the right.

No. 6—332 yards for a par four: Water hazard. Not much trouble after crossing the pond, which is in front of the tee. No hazards around the green.

No. 7—440 yards for a par four: Dog-leg hole. One of the sportiest on the course. A two-shot hole before the green is reached. No trouble to the man who keeps his ball straight.

No. 8—525 yards for a par five: An uphill grind all the way. A marathan with no traps.

Well-Trapped Greens.

No. 9—315 yards for a par four: Down hill for the drive. Well trapped in front of tee, with the green fairly open on the opposite hill.

No. 10—135 yards for par three: Pitch hole into the bull ring. Takes accurate shot. Traps surround the green and all are well sanded.

No. 11—555 yards for a par five: Up and down hill with a hidden green.

No. 12—225 yards for par three: One shot hole but hard green to reach as it lies on the hillside. A slice finds the ball in trouble on the dip below the green.

No. 13—466 yards for par five: Dog-leg hole. Very sporty. Two wood shots and a pitch. Green banked and a slice is dangerous.

No. 14—113 yards for par three: Plenty of water to worry the best. Accurate shot required. If the drive is topped the ball lands in the lake, while too much drive sends the ball in the road out of bounds. Ball played right will get good results.

No. 15—422 yards for par four: For its length this is one of the hardest on the course. First drive is over the lake. Uphill work all the way. Slice dangerous for out of bounds while there is plenty of bad rough to take care of a hook.

No. 16—335 yards for par four: Fairly easy.

No. 17 Is Long Tour.

No. 17—595 yards for par five: Longest hole on course. Number of traps, and owing to length requires good golf to obtain a par score. Slice sails toward fence, while hook brings hte golfer into the rough.

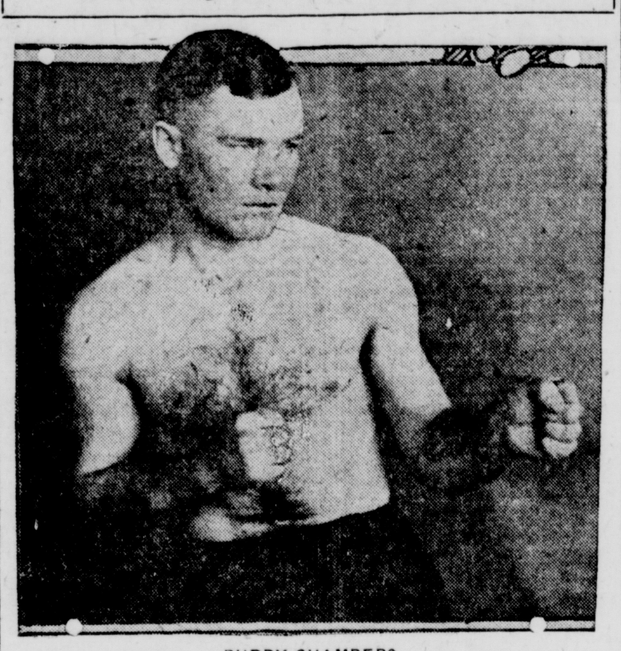

No. 18—350 yards for par four: Dog-leg hole, with the green practically hidden from the tee. Out of bounds awaits a hook, while bad rough waiting for a slice. Green is well trapped.

St. Paul Bids For Wills and Fulton

ST. PAUL, April 12. — Jack Reddy, manager of the St. Paul boxing club, has offered Paddy Mullins of New York $10,000 for Harry Wills to fight Fred Fulton here May 6.

Reddy telegraphed his offer tonight and specified that Mullins must accept his offer by Monday night or another fighter will be sought for Fulton.

"Bat" Strayer's Opponent In Tuesday's Main Glove Event

BUDDY CHAMBERS.

Down in the Oklahoma and Texas country, Buddy Chambers is hailed as the lightweight champion boxer of the southwest. Since establishing headquarters in Omaha, Buddy has been itching for a whirl at Bat Strayer or Ace Hudkins in a Lincoln main event, thereby hoping to qualify for the lightweight glove title of Nebraska. Recent suspension of Hudkins was a bar against matching the Oklahoma boy against Ace, so Buddy's manager, Jack Lewis, has booked his protege to battle ten rounds with Strayer. Buddy and "Bat" are to mix for ten rounds in the main event of the next Tuesday night's mitten carnival at the City auditorium.

Ball Clubs In Action Sunday At Landis Yard

Baseball bugs of Lincoln, longing for a nibble at the national pastime, may view the athletes in action this afternoon at Landis Filed. An exhibition game, in which the Lawlor Sports, including a string of professional performers of local reputation, will clash with the Munson City leaguers is on the card for 2:30 p. m.

The Lawlor lineup lists Albert Bool, ex-State league catcher; Bill Lellvelt, team secretary of Wakefield's Links and former Detroit and Minneapolis pitcher; and several ex-Nebraska leaguers such as Scott Dye, Dewey Bondurant, Joe Gauhan and Lou Welch. The Lawlor pastimers have been working out at Landis yard nearly every day during the past two weeks and are reputed to be in physical trim to exhibit the real article in the diamond sport.

Construction of the grandstand annex at Landis Field has been in progress nearly two weeks and the enlarged plant, if inspected today, may open the eyes of local fans to the fact that Lincoln now has a ball yard of Western league class.

Lineups announced by the managers of the Lawlors and the Munsons follow:

Lawlors	Pos.	Munsons
Bool	c	Maser
Johnson, Lellvelt	p	Kaiser
Sconce	lb	Tibbets
Dye	2b	Muldor
Gaughan	3b	Wilson
Bondurant	ss	Brown
Bronson	lf	Cook
Hudson	cf	Little
Welch	rf	Oxenhardt

Big Leagues Set For Opening Gun

NEW YORK, April 12—With the usual predictions for tight competition increased interest and bigger business, the major leagues penant races will start the 1924 season next Tuesday afternoon.

The National League will get under way with Chicago at St. Louis; Pittsburgh at Cincinnati; Brooklyn at New York and Boston at Philadelphia.

Police Called To Halt Riot At Ball Park

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—Police answered a riot call here this evening following a melee between members of the San Francisco and Portland clubs of the Pacific Coast league and hundreds of spectators.

Manager Kenworthy of the Portland club was knocked out by Third Baseman Eddie Milligan of San Francisco in a fight at second base which started the general riot. Kenworthy has previously struck at Milligan, who bumped into him while rounding the second sack.

Baseball's Oldest Old-Timers.

George Wright, one of the greatest baseball players who ever lived, the "Babe Ruth" of his day, played with the Unions of Morrisania, N. Y., in 1868, and then went to the unbeatable Cincinnati Red Stockings, where in one year, he made 47 home runs, struck out only four times and made only four errors. Albro Akin was another star of the old Unions of Morrisania when they were champions in 1867-68. They are shown again after 55 years, on the Ormond Beach, Fla., diamond. Each is 77 years old. They did not wear gloves half a century ago, and they refused to wear them when they played again.

NEW BALL CLUB IN DES MOINES DUDS

BY "SEC" TAYLOR.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 12. — When the Des Moines team takes the field next Wednesday at Oklahoma City to face the Western league champions in the opening game of the season not more than five of the regulars, including the pitchers, will be holdovers from the Booster team that finished the 1923 pennant race. It will be a rebuilt organization that Manager Johnny Corriden will lead this year.

Gordon Jones and Jim House, pitchers; Barnard Hungling, catcher; "Polly" McLarry, first baseman, and Corriden, outfielder, are the only regulars on the team of last year. However, Helding Nelson, who played short in 1923, and Walter Genin, an outfielder, who was with the Boosters part of the 1922 and 1923 seasons, will remain with the club for a while at least and Genin may possibly make good.

New Bench of Pitchers.

Johnson, Brown, Lindberg, Boyd and Wilson have taken the places of Lynch, Olson and Davis of last year's hurling staff, Lynch and Olsen having been sold and Davis having been recalled by San Francisco. Wilson, who formerly played with Sioux City, and Lindberg, last year with St. Joseph, are southpaws, while Boyd, purchased from Independence, Kas., of the Southwestern league, Brown who was with Bridgeport, Conn., in the Eastern league in 1923, and Johnson, who hurled in the New York State league last year, are the right-handers who will help out Jones and House.

Johnson and Wilson came to the locals from the New York Yankees in the Olsen deal, and Brown came from Brooklyn in the deal for Klugman.

Hungling Regular Catcher.

Hungling will be the regular catcher this year, assisted by Anfinson, an experienced Pacific Coast league man. Anfinson displaces Wheat, who was recalled by Dallas.

"Polly" McLarry, with the Lincoln club in 1912, is the only regular from last season's infield and there is a possibility that he will not be able to start as he has not yet recovered all of his strength from a severe attack of pneumonia. If he is unable to play in the opening series, Hungling will be shifted to first. Knaupp, a veteran Southern and Texas league infielder, has displaced Klugman at second base; Chavez, under option from the Oakland club, has earned the shortstop berth, and Thompson, purchased from Tulsa, will hold down third in place of Koenig. This leaves Nelson and Haugen, a recruit, for reserve infielders.

Manager Corriden is again slated for left field but the man who will play the other two outer posts may not be known until about the time the team takes the field, for Corriden has not made up his mind about the new players. Ping Bodie, veteran outfielder, who was purchased from Vernon will fill one of the holes left by Horan and Murphy, provided he agrees to report here. For the other position there are Roseberry and Langford, both sent to the locals by the Yankees, and Genin, a holdover. Horan of last year's club was sold to Reading and Murphy was turned back to the Minneapolis club, to whom he belongs.

Roseberry, Langford and Genin have looked good in the spring training. The former played in the Tri-State league last season, while Langford was with Jack Coffey's Macon, Ga., aggregation. Genin is not a hard hitter, but is fast, a good waiter at the plate and gets on bases often.

Winning Trip In Texas.

The Boosters, playing without the services of McLarry, Corriden and Knaupp, three .300 hitters, won seven of the first nine games they played in Texas. They look strong this season and both manager and club-owners expect them to be in the running this year.

The pitching and catching staffs look especially good while the infield looks much better than last year. If there is any weakness it will be in the outfield, where it is possible there is not enough clouting ability. That remains to be seen, however, for Bodis, Langford and Roseberry may come through with the bat all right.

Select Tennis Squad To Play For Davis Cup

NEW YORK, April 12.—Fifteen ranking American tennis stars were named today as members of the Davis cup squad by the United States Lawn Tennis association.

From the fifteen candidates will be picked the team that will defend the cup late next summer.

Appointment of a squad of players is an innovation, the association made it known and it was done for the purpose of notifying the players that they were recognized as candidates for the team and that their form was to be watched closely by the committee which will pick the team.

The squad, named in order by the association, consisted of:

CHICAGO, April 12.—The White Sox, with Manager Frank Chance at the helm, pulled upon even terms with the Giants in the series, winning a ten-inning game today, 2 to 1. Hughie McQuillan, starting for the Giants, was injured sliding to third base in the fifth inning and was removed from the game, Dennis Gearin replacing him. Charlie Robinson, George Connally and Ted Lyons pitched for the Sox.

Two other players were injured besides McQuillan, Jackson being struck in the head by a bad bounce of the ball on a grounded, and Clyde Crouse being forced out with an injury to his right hand from a foul tip.

Seven thousand shivering fans welcomed home Frank Chance, now peerless leader of the Sox, and cheered his boys' defeat of the Giants. The series now stands five-all and the deciding game will be played Sunday. Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Giants	000 010 000	0—1	8	3

Dodgers Knock Off Yankees.

NEW YORK, April 12.—In a ninth inning rally, the Dodgers trimmed the Yankees today, 10 to 8. It was the first victory of the Dodgers in their spring games with the Yankees. Babe Ruth did not shine with the bat in his initial appearance before a "home crowd" today.

He fanned twice, got hit once and raised a puny foul in his last attempt. Scott and Pipp swatted out circuit clouts for the Yankees, while Fournier hit a home run for the Dodgers. Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Dodgers	000 310 1 0	5—10	11	5
Yankees	000 321 020	— 8	9	2

Batteries—Reuther, Vance, Dickerson and Deberry; Shawkey, Jones, Roettger and Schang, Hoffman, Autrey.

Browns Bump Cardinals.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—Before a record crowd of 25,000 fans, the two St Louis big league baseball teams staged their own season's opening here today in the city series, the Browns trimming the Cardinals, 4 to 1. The second and last game of the series will be played Sunday.

Triumphal return to the diamond of George Sisler as manager of the team, which he had to leave in 1922 because of eye trouble, was the feature. Sisler got a tremendous ovation each of his four times at bat and gave the spectators a triple and a single for their applause.

Rogers Hornsby furnished a home run, as did Kenny Williams. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Browns	4	8	1
Cardinals	1	6	1

Batteries — Pruett, Shocker and Severeid; Sherdell and Holm.

Athletics Trim Phililes.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 12.—The Athletics got back into their stride at Shibe park this afternoon and took the Phillies into camp, 5 to 1. The game was played before 15,000 fans who jammed the park to see the final game of the series before the opening of the league season Tuesday, when the Phils will entertain the Boston Braves and the Athletics play in Washington. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Phillies	1	8	3
Athletics	5	13	1

Batteries—Glazner and Henline; Hart and Keenan.

Cubs Wallop Blues.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12. — Hammering the Blues slab staff, the Chicago Cubs trounced Kansas City, 13 to 6, in the fourth of a five-game series here today. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Cubs	002 251 021	—13	15	2
Kansas City	010 003 110	— 6	11	5

Batteries—Alexander, Pierce and Hartnett; Thormahlen, Ahman and McCarty.

Reds Defeat Indians.

CINCINNATI, O., April 12.—Timely hitting by the Reds defeated the Cleveland Indians here today, 4 to 3. With two down in the ninth, Burns doubled, scoring Carl Mays with the winning run. Cleveland made fourteen hits to the Reds' eight. Uhle pitched the entire game for the Indians.

Nebraska Home Course Relays Close Monday

Competition in the second annual interscholastic home course relays will close Monday. Schools competing in the relay event will telegraph their results to Henry F. Schulte, track coach at the University of Nebraska, Monday evening.

The winning high school team will be sent to the Kansas relay carnival according to present plans. Some difficulty is being experienced in entering the Nebraska interscholastic champion in the Kansas event, the Jayhawker authorities insisting the team being entered Saturday while the winner will not be determined until early this week. Coach Schulte announced Saturda yevening that should the Nebraska champions be unable to compete in the Kansas relays, they would be sent to the Drake relay carnival at Des Moines later in the month.

Erwin Rival Of Paddock At Drake Relays

MANHATTEN, Kans., April 12. — Captain L. E. Erwin, fiery topped sprinter who won the 100-yard dash in the Drake relays last year in 09 4-5 seconds, is burning up the Kansas Aggie straightaway this spring and rounding into great shape for his attempt to again win the sprint special at the Drake meet at Des Moines on April 25 and 26.

Erwin has a special design in wanting to win the 100-yard dash at Drake. Deep in his heart he has long harbored the desire to meet Charley Paddock, world's record holder.

This will not take place at Drake, but the next best thing will be available. Paddock will run at the Drake meet, but he will compete in a special handicap dash, while Erwin will run in the collegiate 100-yard dash.

Comparison of Speed.

However, Erwin is determined that he will run the hundred at least as fast as Paddock. The Kansas Aggie star will have a chance to compare his speed with that of the "fastest human" on the same track and under similar conditions.

Erwin, in addition to winning the hundred in the Drake meet last year, too kfirst in the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the Missouri Valley conference meet. He won the 50-yard dash at both the K. C. A. C. and Missouri Valley indoor meets this year and took third in the 75-yard dash at the Illinois relays.

New Shark in Discus.

Gartner, a big weight man who has perfected Coach Charley Bachman's form in the discus, hopes to place high in this even in the Drake meet. His best mark in practice this spring is 138 feet 8 inches, which is better than the Drake relay record.

Final selection of men to compete at Des Moines will be made on Wednesday, April 23.

Washington Crew Beats California

SEATTLE, Wash., April 12.—University of Washington crew men today flashed in victories here over the University of California shell in the annual dual regatta.

Washington finished ten lengths ahead of the entirely outclassed Californians. The winners' time was 16:24 3-5 over the three mile course at Lake Washington.

Today's victory of the Purple and Gold crew, the eighteenth since 1903 over the California shell men, gave it the right to represent the far west in the annual collegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, where Washington last year finised in first place. Loss of Rogers, California stroke, because of an injured back, handicapped the Bears, Coach Ky Ebright said tonight.

"Farmer" Burns 64 Years Young

"Farmer" Burns, famous old-time wrestler and trainer, although 64, is still active in athletics in Omaha. He trained many of the present crop of wrestlers, including Earl Caddock, John Pesek and Charlie Hansen. Years ago he took Frank Dotch from behind a plow and made him world's champion. Burns says he has never been sick a day in his life and has never had to visit a dentist. No drinking or smoking and chewing, regular living and regular hours will let any man live to be 100, he declares.

GOVERNOR SILZER SAYS CORRUPTION IN ALL BRANCHES

Predicts Victory For "Clean Democracy" In Jefferson Day Banquet Address.

Asserts Graft Permeating Practically Every Government Department.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Victory for "clean democracy" and a campaign to "restore government to the hands of the honest people" were keynote sounded here tonight at the annual Jefferson day banquet of the National Democratic club, held at the Hotel Commodore.

"With corruption permeating almost every branch of our national government, it is imperative that our party should set itself to the task of purification so that we may be rid of those who would not hesitate to destroy our republic," Governor George S. Silzer of New Jersey, declared in a speech in which he advocated "calling a spade a spade."

"To me it is very clear indeed that those who are profiting at the expense of others; that those who are enjoying special privileges; that those who are being over-protected; that those who are grafting upon the country, are thoroughly content with the present administration and government and do not want any change.

Want House Cleaning.

"It is equally clear to me that the great masses want house cleaning. They do not want government by the 'best minds;' they want government by honest minds.

"No one objects to big business and lots of it. We do, however object to crooked business, which in all its various ramifications, reaches its crooked hands to almost every department of the national government.

"It is not a grand old party made up of millions of honest folks, that is the subject of criticism. It is the management of that party, beyond the control of those millions, which has made 'G. O. P.' read 'Graft, Oil and Politics.'"

After declaring that the American people are at the threshold of a great struggle to preserve American ideals and institutions, Governor Albert Ritchie of Maryland, plunged into an indictment of "incompetent centralized government" in the course of which he introduced prohibition as a campaign issue.

Claims An Unfairness.

"Thirty-six states can impose their will in constitutional questions on the other twelve," he said, "and not the people of those states, mind you, but just a majority of the legislatures. You can have that majority if you can get 2,316 votes.

"Laws have been enacted and constitutional amendments adopted which are eating into the ver yheart of the American nation, because they are breaking down sovereignty of the American state and substituting for that sacred thing an incompetent, extravagant, un-American control radiating from Washington.

"This is resulting in federal invasion of the pocketbooks of the taxpayers throng hthe maintenance of an enormous and growing overhead of federal bureaus and commissions.

"Prohibition, costing $38,000,000 a year to enforce, and then failing, is only one example among many."

MELLON FLAYS INVESTIGATORS

Blames Discharged Employes for Running to Couzens With Stories.

(International News Service.)

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—"It's real purpose seems to be a personal attack upon me or an effort to develop scandal," declared Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon here tonight, referring to the attempted investigation of the internal revenue bureau in a speech before the chamber of commerce at a dinner given in his honor.

"Unless some end is brought to this unnecessary interference, the government will largely cease to function," Mr Mellon said. "Public service is now a large part public abuse, not an honor."

In speaking of the coming probe, he said:

"A month ago a select committee of the senate was appointed to investigate the bureau of internal revenue. What have been the effects in one month in the income tax unit? Production, that is determination of disputed tax liability, has dropped 50 per cent. In the natural resources division where values are obtained work has practically ceased and the time of the division is devoted to furnishing information to the senate committee."

Mr. Mellon declared that through his burden all employes neglect their work because they are more interested in reading about the "investigations."

"No one," Mellon said, "knows when a prosecutor, under government authority and private pay, may haul him before a committee and pillory him on the stand. The morale of the whole organizatio nis destroyed."

Mellon declared that "every discharged employe has rushed to present his suspicion to Senator Couzens," though the investigation has shown no fraud.

ALL OF EUROPE TURNS TOWARD DAWES REPORT

American business men—and money—seem to be coming in.

The first step will be informal and probably confidential conferences between business men of England and the United States, and possibly France, as to how the loan is to be raised. With these conferences the wheels start turning—all in the one direction, for once.

Reservations Are Probable.

(International News Service.)

BERLIN, April 12.—"We accept with reservations," in most likelihood will be Germany's official answer to the Dawes reparations report, according to all indications tonight.

Germany's reply is to be formulated following a meeting Monday of the cabinet and thep remiers of the German states.

The chief resolution, it is predicted, will be a demand that the allies fix the total amount of reparations that Germany must pay so that the German nation may know when it is accomplishing the vast task set before it.

It is beginning to dawn upon officials here that the allied reparations commission's clever manoeuver in provisionally accepting the Dawes plan has placed Germany in a position where she can scarcely avoid acceptance.

Feeling in official circles is that the allied reparations commission has shrewdly placed the onus of any delay or failure of the plan upon Germany. Realizing this, German officials are making feverish efforts to evolve a diplomatic campaign to prevent the eventuality of the whole world throwing up its hands in disgust and saying:

"Now, when we have at last worked out a plan to help Germany she refuses to be helped."

Officials See Both Sides.

But, officials also wish to avoid committing Germany unconditionally to burdens which they regard as tantamount to "economic slavery" without knowing exactly how much must be paid.

The German fear is this: France, it is claimed, would welcome nothing more than some German diplomatic blunder which might be construed as obstructing or defeating the success of the experts' plan.

In such event, France would be in position to say to the world: "You see it is not France, but Germany that prevents a solution."

According to present views, it is doubtful whether the result of the forthcoming German election will make a workable reichstag majority possible. The election, according to the present forecast, will likely result in a sharp swing to the reactionary right, but perhaps it will not be strong enough to enable the right to govern without the support of parliament.

Dictatorship Is Possible.

It is generally believed that if the new government is unable to have its way the reichstag will be sent home and a dictatorship proclaimed.

Such a dictatorship would undoubtedly take radical action, perhaps rejecting the Dawes plan and declaring the Versailles treaty null and void so far as Germany is concerned.

The whole situation might be summed up as follows:

A final, definite decision upon the Dawes plan is not possible until after the German election on May 4. Its chances after that date are slender.

German financiers and industrialists want clarification upon several points, chiefly the total sum that Germany will be expected to pay; whether French and Belgian troops in the Ruhr will be permitted to interfere in economic affairs, and whether Germany's sovereignty will be impaired.

W. H. THOMPSON IS MADE JUDGE

May Remain on Commission.

The governor was asked whether Thompson's appointment as supreme judge would involve his retirement from the state capitol commission. He replied:

"Since membership on the capitol commission is not a salaried office and does not require any stipulated amount of time, the fact that Mr. Thompson is to become a member of the supreme court does not necessarily call for his resignation from the commission. That is left entirely to his own decision and will, I suppose, depend on his personal inclination and whether he feels that he could spare any time for the additional duties."

Answering another query, Governor Bryan said that it is customary for the democratic national committeeman to serve out his term up to and during the presidential nominating convention, and he knew of no reason why Mr. Thompson should not continue in that capacity until his term expires in the regular way, particularly as the Nebraska supreme court will not be in session at the time the convention meets, June 24. However, that, too, is up to Thompson alone, he declared.

The appointment as supreme judge runs until the November election and until the official canvass is made and the results are declared. Mr. Thompson continues as one of the candidates for election to the supreme court in the Fifth district, his opponent being J. L. McPheeley of Minden

As it happens, Mr. Thompson is the only democrat among six candidates for the high bench who were nominated in the non-political primarys, in the First, Third and Fifth districts. The two First district candidates are already members of the supreme court. One of them will be displaced in November, and his successor will be elected from the Third district. After Thompson takes his seat on the high tribunal, it will comprise four republicans and three democrats.

Date Fixed For Walker Cup Match

PINEVALLEY, N. J., April 12.—September 12 and 13 were accepted by the executive committee of the United States golf association today as dates for competition between American and British teams in the Walker cup contest.

Robert Gardner, Chicago, was appointed by the committee as captain of the American team.

served in the legislature, was president of the constitutional convention in 1920, and has been favorably mentioned at different times for his party nomination as governor and as United States senator, but has refused to be a candidate for either. Mr. Hitchcock served sixteen years in congress, where he attained a dominant position in the work of the legislation, occupying the important position as chairman of the committee on foreign affairs during the world war.

Delegations May Meet.

It is expected that the newly elected delegates to the democratic and republican national conventions will get together some time during the month of May, or early in June, to elect their chairmen and pick the members who will represent Nebraska on important committees at the two big gatherings, and also to decide on the railroad routes they will travel in going thereto and returning.

Hotel reservations have already been made at New York by National Committeeman W. H. Thompson for the democratic delegates, and the same function has been performed for the republican delegates by Gould Dietz of Omaha, acting under authority of Senator R. B. Howel, the national committeeman, who stopped at Cleveland on a recent trip east and picked out a suite of rooms at one of the hotels there.

Chairman T. S. Allen of the democratic state committee thinks it probable that after the state convention May 1 the new state committee selected at that time may be called together and meet with the national delegates. Allen himself is one of the four delegates at large. The state committee and the national delegates he believes, would do well to talk over plans for the campaign in advance of the national convention, which is scheduled for June 24, so as to get the state organization into shape for the campaign ready to begin work as soon as the lines of battle are drawn.

Attitude On Presidential Candidates.

As all the republican delegates from Nebraska were elected as Coolidge supporters, and as the president himself received the preferential vote of the party in this state, there is no doubt about the delegation being solidly lined up for him at the convention.

With the democratic delegation, things are entirely different. There was not a single filing for the presidential preference on that side of the fence, and the thin sprinkling of votes cast by writing in names is not a sufficient expression of sentiment by the rank and file to furnish any index. The delegates will, without doubt, disregard this vote, which amounts to less than 5 per cent of the total cast in the primaries. They will go to Cleveland with entire freedom of action, either to support Governor Bryan as the state's favorite son or to help nominate someone else. A resolution stating the delegation's attitude in this regard may be adopted when its members get together.

Distribution of Honors.

Besides being honored with the chairmanship of the democratic state convention, Senator Hitchcock may be chosen as the Nebraska member of the platform committee at the national convention. It is likely that either he or Dan V. Stephens of Fremont, former Third district congressman, will be picked for that place at Cleveland, and the other may be made chairman.

Former Congressman C. F. Reavis is likely to be chosen by the republican delegates to help write the platform at Cleveland. The delegation contains several women, and there is some sentiment in favor of electing Mrs. J. A. Doremus of Aurora, who was formerly Caalvin Coolidge's instructor at an academy in Massachusetts, as its chairman.

DOANE NOTES

Supt. T. F. Tyler '18, Valparaiso, has been elected to the superintendency of the Benedict schools for the coming year. He reports that Benedict is putting up a new modern building.

Principal C. V. Hobson '18, Schuyler, has been elected superintendent of the schools at Orleans for 1924-25.

Supt. W. H. Haylett of Clay Center visited in Crete last Saturday, spending the day with his brother, A. E. Haylett

Miss Mary Fuhrer of Lincoln returned to Doane last Saturday, missing part of a week of college on account of illness.

Prof. C. O. Carlson, head of the biology department of Doane, has been granted a year's leave of absence to take place next year. He will take up some research work in cytology which he began several years ago. Professor Carlson has been appointed substitute for Dr. George R. La Rue, Doane '07, assistant professor of zoology in the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, Mich. To take charge of the work in biology during his absence the college has appointed Miss Frances Hole '22, who was Prof. Carlson's assistant in biology for two years, and who has spent two summers in study at the Marine biological Laboratories, at Woods Hole, Mas. Miss Hole has been teaching in the high school at Ord for the past two years.

Beta Lambda Sigma, honorary biology society, held a special meeting April 3, to hear M. W. Binger '21, a former member of the club, give a talk on his work since graduation. Mr. Binger is in his fourth year as a student of the university school of medicine in Omaha.

Rev. C. W. Dunn of Lincoln addressed the students in chapel, Monday morning.

The bureau of appointments under the direction of Dean A. G. Heyhoe, is busy attending to the many applications that come from schools within and without the state, for Doane teachers for next year. Doane will grant an unusually large number of two-year first grade state certificates this year, as well as the four year certificates.

Miss Mabel McNary, instructor in piano of the Doane school of music, who has bene suffering from a broken ankle, has been able during the past week to give lessons in her private studio.

Dr. George N. Mendenhall, who was unable to meet his classes last week owing to illness, is much better and is able to resume his work at the college.

REED LAUNCHES BITTER ATTACK ON PRESIDENT

ter, which was transmitted to the senate by the president, condemned "government by investigation" and severely criticized the course of the internal revenue inquiry.

Stirs Up Hostility.

Instead of cooling the investigation by his warm defense of Secretary Mellon and his sharp rebuke to the whole senate, it developed tonight that the president had stirred up a veritable conflagration.

The attack in the senate was led by Reed, Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, and Kenneth McKellar, democrat of Tennessee, after Senator James E. Watson, republican of Indiana, had delivered a stirring defense of the president and Mellon and repeated the president's charge that Senator James Couzens, republican of Michigan, was actuated by a personal grievance in his investigation of the treasury department.

Reed charged that the president had made a false statement in his message when he stated the treasury department was under attack.

Senator Walsh said the president's message was "the most arrogant since the days of the Tudors and Stuarts."

"It seems," said Walsh, "that the president is denouncing the senate because it exposed Albert Fall, the horrible administration of the veterans' bureau, and now is exposing corruption in the department of justice."

Senator McKellar, who has introduced a resolution challenging Mellon's right to hold office because of his large business holdings, charged that Mellon was one of the biggest distillers of whiskey in the United States, and that this accounted for "no real effort at prohibition enforcement."

In his criticism of the Coolidge message, Senator Reed said that "it should never have been given the courtesy of a reception by the senate" and that it should be ignored.

As to the inquiry of the Couzens committee, he said:

"The committee had a special reason for wanting to look into the books of the Mellon companies. If evidence of favors had been adduced, there would have been cause for ousting Mellon from office.

"If business is straight, if business is honest, men will welcome an investigation."

In his defense of the president's attitude, Senator Watson told the senate that Senator Couzens employed Francis J. Henry, a California attorney, as an investigator at the suggestion of Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, long on the "outs" with Mellon and that Pinchot had "injected himself" into the investigation.

Says Aimed at Coolidge.

"The internal revenue investigation and all these other investigations are aimed at President Coolidge.

"The whole thing is an assault on the president. These arrows have all been aimed at his (Coolidge's) breast, but today they lie broken at his feet. They have found no flaw in his armor—and they will find none."

While this debate was in progress, the real issue over which the president and the senate fell out was held in abeyance, that is, the employment of Henry by Couzens at his own expense.

The resolution of Senator Watson dissolving the investigating committee was held over because of the serious illness of Couzens, while a resolution by Senator Jones, democrat of New Mexico, authorizing the employment of Henry was sent to the committee on audit and control where an effort will be made to pigeon-hole it

TRACK TEAM USES STADIUM CINDERS

Coach Henry F. Schulte and his university of Nebraska track proteges took their first fling at the outdoor cinders Saturday afternoon in an exhibition workout on the new Memorial Stadium oval.

The stadium track was in miserable condition, due to the fact that fresh cinders had just been spread around the circuit and had not yet been packed down. Time made in most of the events, however, was good, considering the conditions under which the athletes were competing.

"Red" Laton won the 440-yard dash in 53 seconds. The strawberry thatched Husker set the pace throughout the race, although Crites was close on his heels. Whipperman finished third.

Hein on Relay Team.

Bill Hein of Wilber will be the fourth member of the Nebraska mile relay team at the Kansas relays. Hein won a special match race in 54 1-5 seconds, beating Scherick and Bloodgood by a brilliant finish.

Higgins, veteran distance man, won the 880-yard run, with Captain "Mud" Gardner finishing second and Lewis third. Gardner gave Higgins a real battle, but lacked the gasoline at the finish, due more or less to the fact that illness had kept the Husker captain out of early training. Higgins' time was 2 minutes 7 seconds.

Ted Siemmons, letter man and Omaha medic, won the mile run in 4 minutes 53 seconds. The grind was one of the best races of the afternoon. Zimmerman set the pace for two laps, but yielded the lead to Cohen, who was inturn displaced by Siemmons and Dickson. The quartet finished in close order as follows—Siemmons, Dickson, Cohen, Zimmerman.

Battle in Sprints.

The century sprint developed into a battle between Locke and Hein. A handicap 100-yard race was won by Hein. The Wilber flash has just finished running a quarter mile and was given a three-yard handicap. He broke the tape in 10 4-5 seconds. Rhodes, with a 7-yard handicap, was second, while Locke, starting from scratch, finished third.

Schulte staged another century sprint later in the afternoon and, with both starting from scratch, Locke beat out Hein. The North Platte speedster made 10 2-5 seconds in spite of the bad track.

Ed Weir, football captain, had little trouble winning the hurdles. Weir won the 60-yard highs in 8 2-5 seconds and the 110-yard lows in 12 seconds. Timm, Osceola boy, who is ineligible this spring, gave Weir a warm scrap in the high sticks. Beerkle finished third in the high hurdles and second in the lows.

Competition in the field events was put over until next Tuesday.

PALATIAL PARK IN SOONER CITY

Holland's Club to Dedicate $100,000 Playing Field In Opening Game.

BY CHARLES J. BRILL.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 12.—Celebrating the winning of its first Western league pennant, the completion of its new $100,000 park and the opening of a new championship race, a new first-day attendance record for the Western league is expected to be established here next Wednesday when Des Moines comes to raise the curtain on the 1924 campaign.

A half holiday is to be declared. A parade will be staged before the game and Governor Trapp and Mayor Cargill will serve as the opening battery for the Indians.

Workmen were busy splashing the last coat of paint over the new stands erected at a cost of $60,000, built and owned by the Oklahoma City Baseball association, an organization of 500 of the city's leading fans. The site for the plant was purchased by Jack Holland for $20,000 and by the time all improvements are completed, the layout will represent an expenditure of $100,000.

Seats for Seven Thousands.

Ten of those who helped Oklahoma City win its first Western league pennant are back for the new campaign. These are Manager Fred Luderus; Chili McDaniel, first base; Glenn McNally, second base; Joe Tato, third base; Oscar Felber, right field; James Sweeney, center field; Roy Allen, Don Songer, and Joe Brown, pitchers, and Butch Krueger, utility.

New Slugger in Left.

In place of Eddie Hock in left field the Indians will have George Haas, who comes to the tribe from Pittsburgh in the deal which took Emil Yde to the Pirates. He is a fast fielder and baserunner, a much better hitter than Hock and one who promises to lead the club in extra base hits.

Plugging up the gap at short through which so many games have escaped during the last three years, will be found Robert Brown, last year with St. Joseph.

Replacing Jack Roche behind the bat is Edward "Tub" Spencer, veteran major leaguer, who sizes up as the best backstop Oklahoma City ever has had. Jack Fitzpatrick, a semi-pro discovered in Rhinelander, Wis., by Manager Luderus, is Spencer's understudy.

Luderus Has Weak Ankle.

Until Manager Luderus has a chance to prove that his ankle, broken during the closing days of last season is as good as ever, Chili McDaniels will take care of first. He was recalled for the last three weeks of the season last year from Enid in the Western association, a circuit which he leads in home runs.

With Tate and McNally showing marked improvement over their work of previous years, Brown strengthening shortstop and first taken care of as well as it was last year, the Oklahoma City infield today is stronger than that which won a pennant last year. Felber and Sweeney are both set for better years in the outfield and with Haas a better man than Hock, the tribal outfield is stronger than that of 1923. The same is true of the catching department.

Pitching Strength Uncertain.

The big question mark presented by the champions this season is their pitching staff. Two of the best pitchers in the league are lost to them in Yde, who went to the Pirates, and George Payne, who went to Los Angeles. Between them they won more than half of Oklahoma City victories last season.

Of last year's staff, Roy Allen, Don Songer and Joe Brown remain. The last two named are the men Manager Luderus is grooming to fill the shoes of Yde and Payne. He hopes to see them account for fifty games between them. Songer is the only lefthander on the staff. Allen is expected to be used mostly for relief duty.

Rookie Wins a Place.

Chester Howard, a graduate of the Clinton, Oklahoma State legue club, already has won his feathers and will be a fourth member of the staff. The others will be chosen from Walter Tauscher, a promising rookie; Roy Johnson, just returned to good standing after having jumped Kansas City two years ago; Kemner, a former Muskogee Southwestern league heaver who won twenty-two games while losing twelve in 1921, and Jewell Campbell, last year with Enid.

In addition to these, Oklahoma City has been promised an experienced pitcher by Pittsburgh under the terms of the Yde deal.

HAVELOCK NOTES

Evangelist Rader is conducting meetings in the tabernacle recently erected at Fifteenth and O streets. There has been an average attendance of more than 1,200 every night.

Mrs. W. F. Ackerman, Mrs. George Petley, and Mrs. H. Prentiss entertained the B. V. club Friday at the Ackerman home

The annual meeting of the Lancaster Farmers' club will be held Wednesday noon at the farm home of Arthur Stockton.

Miss Marie V. Howell of McCook has been elected instructor in English at the high school for next year.

The Men's club of the Congregational church met Saturday night. F. W. Paschall was the speaker. The ladies were guests.

The Doladek club held its last meeting of the season Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Easton. At five hundred Mrs Maude Gregg won first prize. Lunch was served by Mrs. Easton and Mrs. Seymour Black. Spring flowers were used in the decorations.

Miss Eleanor Ackerman returned this week from Omaha where she was a guest at the home of her brother, W. F. Ackerman. While in Omaha she gave a radio program from the W. O. W. station.

Mrs. Lou Myers of Columbus was a guest this week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Theresa Holmes.

Miss Milda Vesta Summers has accepted a position as head of the art department of Wesleyan university. Miss Summer graduated this year from the School of Fine Arts of the University of Nebraska.

BY RAY OSBORNE.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 12—Things look great here for the opening day of the Western league pennant race of 1924. The St. Joseph club opens at home next Wednesday with Barney Burch's Omaha aggregation.

The day will be celebrated in a pretentious manner here and will be featured by a parade which is expected to be more than five miles long.

Opening day of the 1923 season found the Saint park filled with 7,500 fans. That was the largest crowd in the Western league on opening day. This year Eddie Tracy, new owner of the club, has set his goal for 10,000 and present indications point to a crowd which will fil lthe park and over-run the outer gardens.

Saints In Race For Flag.

The team is in excellent shape and promises to put up a real fight for the pennant. Few members of the last season Saint aggregation are with the club this year. Old players of last year have been changed for men who have hitting and fielding ability.

The new manager, Joe Mathes formerly of the Texas league, has one worry on his hands. That is to decide which of the ten pitchers he will keep. Mathes declares he wil have to release four hurlers who might come back to St. Joseph with another team and whip the locals. At present, however, the six who are likely to stick are:

Alex McColl, with the Saints last season.

Claude Davenport, last year with Syracuse.

Harold Haid, Saint of 1923.

Razor Ledbetter, another carryover.

The catching staff has picked up in the last week and Fred Fisher, giant receiver, who was going rather slow during the first few weeks of practice, has taken off weight and is slugging against the best pitchers encountered by the team, now working back from Port Arthur, Tex., the Saint's training camp.

The other member of the catching department will be Clarence Brooks, a former Beaumont receiver. He will be in charge of the catching department.

Infield Has The Goods.

The infield looks great and will be in excellent shape by the time the season opens. Manager Mathes will be on first, Stevenson at second and Wally Gilbert will hang his hat on third. "Yatz" Corrigan will be at the short position. These are all heavy hitters.

The outer gardens will be populated with three men who look good this year. Miller and Lewan are last season Saints and have been going brilliantly in the exhibition games. The third man in the outfield is Nick Demaggio, former Beaumont player for whom the Saints paid a good price.

Utility man will be Nufer, who was with the Saints part of the last season and the rest of it with Minneapolis.

NEBRASKA SCHOOL OF BUSINESS.

Miss Darice Bowman has completed her course and has accepted a position in a bank at Broken Bow, Neb.

Cecil Struthers, Ralph Wilde, Fred Hageman, and Otto Jonscher assisted in counting the primary ballots at the county clerk's office, Tuesday night, Wednesday, and Wednesday night.

Hartley W. Blakeslee, who was a student at N. S. B. in 1915 and 1916, arrived from Eddyville, Neb., Saturday, and will make his home with his uncle, T. A. Blakeslee, while pursuing a course in auto mechanics in Lincoln.

Gertrude Allen, of the class of 1919, was a visitor at the college Monday, while enroute to her father's home in Wisconsin. Ever since her graduation from N. S. B., Miss Allen has been employed as a stenographer in the law office of Thomas, Vail, and Stoner, at Seward.

Miss Antonina Coniglio of the class of 1924, N. S. B., rendered an interesting vocal program at the convocation hour Wednesday morning. Two of the numbers, "O Sole Mio," and "Il Bacio," were sung in Italian, and "The Lilac Tree," in English. Miss Coniglio was accompanied on the piano by Miss Alma Wagner.

Miss Evelyn Gardner, sister of Miss Trilla Gardner of the N. S. B. faculty, has been transferred from the Iquique English college, Iquique, Chile, to a girls' school in Santiago, Chile, where she will teach shorthand and typewriting. Miss Gardner took her normal training at Nebraska School of Business in 1917-18.

President Blakeslee and Mr. Bryant returned Saturday from the convention of commercial school teachers and managers at Des Moines. Mr. Blakeslee was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Vocational Schools, which organization also had a conference during the same week. Other officers elected were George LaMunyon, Denver, president; Frank C. Steward, Washington, D. C., director eastern district; A. T. Scovill, Sterling, Ill., director central district; W. C. Stephens, St. Paul, Minn., director northern district; J. R. Humphreys, Stockton, Calif., director western district; L. S. Augustin, New Orleans, La., director southern district.

PRESENT PLAY.

(Special to The Star.)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., April 12 — The comedy drama "Mother Mine" was presented before a full house here Friday evening, by the junior class. The entire cast showed the results of fine skill and training. Miss Lela Gross directed the play. The leading parts were very ably carried by Miss Aline Norris as "Mother Mine," and Durward G. Hayek as Jerry MacConnel, the stray. The proceeds, amounting to over $60, will be used to defray the expenses of the junior-senior banquet.

WOULD AVENGE DEATH OF SON

Father Asks Permission to Spring Trap Which Will End Prisoner's Life.

MIAMI, Ariz., April 12. — William Ward, convicted negro slayer of Theodore Wilbur Grosh, youthful University of Arizona student, may be sent to his death by the hand of his victim's father.

W. H. Grosh, gray haired father of the young student, has asked permission to spring the trap and Sheriff Alf Edwards, Gila county who captured Ward has forwarded the request to authorities at the state penitentiary with the recommendation that it be granted.

Sheriff Edwards, who has never witnessed an execution, wants to place the noose about the negro's head, but he is willing to give the old man the bit of revenge that will come from pulling the trigger.

On the Apache trail near here he boarded an automobile December 26 last in which young Grosh and Miss Maxine Menelly, student at the state normal school and daughter of a leading cattleman of the state, fere riding home from a Christmas dance.

Forcing Grosh at the point of a gun to drive to a lonely spot on the trail, he stabbed the young man to death and assaulted the girl.

He was captured the next day, his bloody clothing betraying him.

Farmers of Gage Want Stock Tested

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 12.—According to County Agent Rist, over 1,700 farmers in Gage county have signed petitions requesting the state and federal officials to again start testing of cattle in this county. The petitions of the cattle owners represent considerable more than the 51 per cent necessary to start testing under the Nebraska tuberculosis eradication law.

Golf Czars O. K. Steel In Shafts

PINE VALLEY, N. J., April 12. Steel-shafted golf clubs may be used in national championship matches and association tournaments, the executive committee of the United States Golf association announced today.

Secretary McMahon announced the appointment of Robert A. Gardner as captain of the American team for the Walker international cup contest.

ARGENTINE HUSKY KEEN TO GET COIN

Firpo All Set For Another Assault On Money Bags In U. S. Box Offices.

BUENOS AIRES, April 12.—Luis Angel Firpo, South American champion, who returned today from a short trip to Montevideo, has booked passage for the United States on the Southern Cross, which is to sail April 24, it was reported here today.

From a source close to Firpo it was understood that he has not decided upon the exact date of his departure for the United States, but that he is certain to leave within a few weeks.

Reports cabled to the United States that Firpo had decided to retire from the ring never were taken seriously here and it was considered certain that he would seek more big money matches in the United States by all who have been in intimate touch with him.

Firpo, it is understood, gave Hugh Gartland, who sailed a few days ago for the United States, the authority to accept tentatively any good offers that were made to him by American promoters.

Firpo apparently is chagrined at his failure to outpoint Tex Rickard in the battle of wits that they have waged for several months and he feels humiliated that Rickard ignored him by sending transportation money to Quintin Romero and Ermino Spalla, two fighters whom Firpo regards as being very much below his class.

GOVERNOR SILZER SAYS CORRUPTION IN ALL BRANCHES

Predicts Victory For "Clean Democracy" In Jefferson Day Banquet Address.

Asserts Graft Permeating Practically Every Government Department.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Victory for "clean democracy" and a campaign to "restore government to the hands of the honest people" were keynote sounded here tonight at the annual Jefferson day banquet of the National Democratic club, held at the Hotel Commodore.

"With corruption permeating almost every branch of our national government, it is imperative that our party should set itself to the task of purification so that we may be rid of those who would not hesitate to destroy our republic,' Governor George S. Silzer of New Jersey, declared in a speech in which he advocated "calling a spade a spade."

"To me it is very clear indeed that those who are profiting at the expense of others; that those who are enjoying special privileges; that those who are being over-protected; that those who are grafting upon the country, are thoroughly content with the present administration and government and do not want any change

Want House Cleaning.

"It is equally clear to me that the great masses want house cleaning. They do not want government by the 'best minds;' they want government by honest minds.

"No one objects to big business and lots of it. We do, however object to crooked business, which in all its various ramifications, reaches its crooked hands to almost every department of the national government.

"It is not a grand old party made up of millions of honest folks, that is the subject of criticism. It is the management of that party, beyond the control of those millions, which has made 'G. O. P.' read 'Graft, Oil and Politics.'"

After declaring that the American people are at the threshold of a great struggle to preserve American ideals and institutions, Governor Albert Ritchie of Maryland, plunged into an indictment of "incompetent centralized government" in the course of which he introduced prohibition as a campaign issue.

Claims An Unfairness.

"Thirty-six states can impose their will in constitutional questions on the other twelve," he said, "and not the people of those states, mind you, but just a majority of the legislatures. You can have that majority if you can get 2,316 votes.

"Laws have been enacted and constitutional amendments adopted which are eating into the ver yheart of the American nation, because they are breaking down sovereignty of the American state and substituting for that sacred thing an incompetent, extravagant, un-American control radiating from Washington.

"This is resulting in federal invasion of the pocketbooks of the taxpayers throug hthe maintenance of an enormous and growing overhead of federal bureaus and commissions.

"Prohibition, costing $38,000,000 a year to enforce, and then failing, is only one example among many."

MELLON FLAYS INVESTIGATORS

Blames Discharged Employes for Running to Couzens With Stories.

(International News Service.)

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—"It's real purpose seems to be a personal attack upon me or an effort to develop scandal," declared Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon here tonight, referring to the attempted investigation of the internal revenue bureau in a speech before the chamber of commerce at a dinner given in his honor.

"Unless some end is brought to this unnecessary interference, the government will largely cease to function," Mr. Mellon said. "Public service is now a large part public abuse, not an honor."

In speaking of the coming probe, he said:

"Amonth ago a select committee of the senate was appointed to investigate the bureau of internal revenue. What have been the effects in one month in the income tax unit? Production, that is determination of disputed tax liability, has dropped 50 per cent. In the natural resources division where values are obtained work has practically ceased and the time of the division is devoted to furnishing information to the senate committee."

Mr. Mellon declared that through his burden all employes neglect their work because they are more interested in reading about the "investigations."

"No one," Mellon said, "knows when a prosecutor, under government authority and private pay, may haul him before a committee and pillory him on the stand. The morale of the whole organizatio nis destroyed."

Mellon declared that "every discharged employe has rushed to present his suspicion to Senator Couzens," though the investigation has shown no fraud.

ALL OF EUROPE TURNS TOWARD DAWES REPORT

American business men—and money—seem to be coming in.

The first step will be informal and probably confidential conferences between business men of England and the United States, and possibly France, as to how the loan is to be raised. With these conferences the wheels start turning—all in the one direction, for once.

Reservations Are Probable.

(International News Service.)

BERLIN, April 12.—"We accept with reservations," in most likelihood will be Germany's official answer to the Dawes reparations report, according to all indications tonight.

Germany's reply is to be formulated following a meeting Monday of the cabinet and thep remiers of the German states.

The chief resolution, it is predicted, will be a demand that the allies fix the total amount of reparations that Germany must pay so that the German nation may know when it is accomplishing the vast task set before it.

It is beginning to dawn upon officials here that the allied reparations commission's clever manoeuver in provisionally accepting the Dawes plan has placed Germany in a position where she can scarcely avoid acceptance.

Feeling in official circles is that the allied reparations commission has shrewdly placed the onus of any delay or failure of the plan upon Germany. Realizing this, German officials are making feverish efforts to evolve a diplomatic campaign to prevent the eventuality of the whole world throwing up its hands in disgust and saying:

"Now, when we have at last worked out a plan to help Germany she refuses to be helped."

Officials See Both Sides.

But, officials also wish to avoid committing Germany unconditionally to burdens which they regard as tantamount to "economic slavery" without knowing exactly how much must be paid.

The German fear is this: France, it is claimed, would welcome nothing more than some German diplomatic blunder which might be construed as obstructing or defeating the success of the experts' plan.

In such event, France would be in position to say to the world: "You see it is not France, but Germany that prevents a solution."

According to present views, it is doubtful whether the result of the forthcoming German election will make a workable reichstag majority possible. The election, according to the present forecast, will likely result in a sharp swing to the reactionary right, but perhaps it will not be strong enough to enable the right to govern without the support of parliament.

Dictatorship Is Possible.

It is generally believed that if the new government is unable to have its way the reichstag will be sent home and a dictatorship proclaimed.

Such a dictatorship would undoubtedly take radical action, perhaps rejecting the Dawes plan and declaring the Versailles treaty null and void so far as Germany is concerned.

The whole situation might be summed up as follows:

A final, definite decision upon the Dawes plan is not possible until after the German election on May 4. Its chances after that date are slender.

German financiers and industrialists want clarification upon several points, chiefly the total sum that Germany will be expected to pay; whether French and Belgian troops in the Ruhr will be permitted to interfere in economic affairs, and whether Germany's sovereignty will be impaired.

W. H. THOMPSON IS MADE JUDGE

May Remain on Commission.

The governor was asked whether Thompson's appointment as supreme judge would involve his retirement from the state capitol commission. He replied:

"Since membership on the capitol commission is not a salaried office and does not require any stipulated amount of time, the fact that Mr. Thompson is to become a member of the supreme court does not necessarily call for his resignation from the commission. That is left entirely to his own decision and will, I suppose, depend on his personal inclination and whether he feels that he could spare any time for the additional duties."

Answering another query, Governor Bryan said that it is customary for the democratic national committeeman to serve out his term up to and during the presidential nominating convention, and he knew of no reason why Mr. Thompson should not continue in that capacity until his term expires in the regular way, particularly as the Nebraska supreme court will not be in session at the time the convention meets, June 24. However, that, too, is up to Thompson alone, he declared.

The appointment as supreme judge runs until the November election and until the official canvass is made and the results are declared. Mr. Thompson continues as one of the candidates for election to the supreme court in the Fifth district, his opponent being J. L. McPheeley of Minden.

As it happens, Mr. Thompson is the only democrat among six candidates for the high bench who were nominated in the non-political primarys, in the First, Third and Fifth districts. The two First district candidates are already members of the supreme court. One of them will be displaced in November, and his successor will be elected from the Third district. After Thompson takes his seat on the high tribunal, it will comprise four republicans and three democrats.

Date Fixed For Walker Cup Match

PINEVALLEY, N. J., April 12.—September 12 and 13 were accepted by the executive committee of the United States golf association today as dates for competition between American and British teams in the Walker cup contest.

Robert Gardner, Chicago, was appointed by the committee as captain of the American team.

served in the legislature, was president of the constitutional convention in 1920, and has been favorably mentioned at different times for his party nomination as governor and as United States senator, but has refused to be a candidate for either. Mr. Hitchcock served sixteen years in congress, where he attained a dominant position in the work of the legislation, occupying the important position as chairman of the committee on foreign affairs during the world war.

Delegations May Meet.

It is expected that the newly elected delegates to the democratic and republican national conventions will get together some time during the month of May, or early in June, to elect their chairmen and pick the members who will represent Nebraska on important committees at the two big gatherings, and also to decide on the railroad routes they will travel in going thereto and returning.

Hotel reservations have already been made at New York by National Committeeman W. H. Thompson for the democratic delegates, and the same function has been performed for the republican delegates by Gould Dietz of Omaha, acting under authority of Senator R. B. Howel, the national committeeman, who stopped at Cleveland on a recent trip east and picked out a suite of rooms at one of the hotels there.

Chairman T. S. Allen of the democratic state committee thinks it probable that after the state convention May 1 the new state committee selected at that time may be called together and meet with the national delegates. Allen himself is one of the four delegates at large. The state committee and the national delegates he believes, would do well to talk over plans for the campaign in advance of the national convention, which is scheduled for June 24, so as to get the state organization into shape for the campaign ready to begin work as soon as the lines of battle are drawn.

Attitude On Presidential Candidates.

As all the republican delegates from Nebraska were elected as Coolidge supporters, and as the president himself received the preferential vote of the party in this state, there is no doubt about the delegation being solidly lined up for him at the convention.

With the democratic delegation, things are entirely different. There was not a single filing for the presidential preference on that side of the fence, and the thin sprinkling of votes cast by writing in names is not a sufficient expression of sentiment by the rank and file to furnish any index. The delegates will, without doubt, disregard this vote, which amounts to less than 5 per cent of the total cast in the primaries. They will go to Cleveland with entire freedom of action, either to support Governor Bryan as the state's favorite son or to help nominate someone else. A resolution stating the delegation's attitude in this regard may be adopted when its members get together.

Distribution of Honors.

Besides being honored with the chairmanship of the democratic state convention, Senator Hitchcock may be chosen as the Nebraska member of the platform committee at the national convention. It is likely that either he or Dan V. Stephens of Fremont, former Third district congressman, will be picked for that place at Cleveland, and the other may be made chairman.

Former Congressman C. F. Reavis is likely to be chosen by the republican delegates to help write the platform at Cleveland. The delegation contains several women, and there is some sentiment in favor of electing Mrs. J. A. Doremus of Aurora, who was formerly Caalvin Coolidge's instructor at an academy in Massachusetts, as its chairman.

DOANE NOTES

Supt. T. F. Tyler '18, Valparaiso, has been elected to the superintendency of the Benedict schools for the coming year. He reports that Benedict is putting up a new modern building.

Principal C. V. Hobson '18, Schuyler, has been elected superintendent of the schools at Orleans for 1924-25.

Supt. W. H. Haylett of Clay Center visited in Crete last Saturday, spending the day with his brother, A. E. Haylett

Miss Mary Fuhrer of Lincoln returned to Doane last Saturday, missing part of a week of college on account of illness.

Prof. C. O. Carlson, head of the biology department of Doane, has been granted a year's leave of absence to take place next year. He will take up some research work in cytology which he began several years ago. Professor Carlson has been appointed substitute for Dr. George R. La Rue, Doane '07, assistant professor of zoology in the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, Mich. To take charge of the work in biology during his absence the college has appointed Miss Frances Hole '22, who was Prof. Carlson's assistant in biology for two years, and who has spent two summers in study at the Marine biological Laboratories, at Woods Hole, Mas. Miss Hole has been teaching in the high school at Ord for the past two years.

Beta Lambda Sigma, honorary biology society, held a special meeting April 3, to hear M. W. Binger '21, a former member of the club, give a talk on his work since graduation. Mr. Binger is in his fourth year as a student of the university school of medicine in Omaha.

Rev. C. W. Dunn of Lincoln addressed the students in chapel, Monday morning.

Mrs. G. N. Vendick of Omaha, a former student of the conservatory, with her son and daughter, spent the first part of the week in Crete.

The bureau of appointments under the direction of Dean A. G. Heyhoe, is busy attending to the many applications that come from schools within and without the state, for Doane teachers for next year. Doane will grant an unusually large number of two-year first grade state certificates this year, as well as the four year certificates.

Miss Mabel McNary, instructor in piano of the Doane school of mu sic, who has bene suffering from a broken ankle, has been able during the past week to give lessons in her private studio.

Dr. George N. Mendenhall, who was unable to meet his classes last week owing to illness, is much better and is able to resume his work at the college.

REED LAUNCHES BITTER ATTACK ON PRESIDENT

ter, which was transmitted to the senate by the president, condemned "government by investigation" and severely criticized the course of the internal revenue inquiry.

Stirs Up Hostility.

Instead of cooling the investigation by his warm defense of Secretary Mellon and his sharp rebuke to the whole senate, it developed tonight that the president had stirred up a veritable conflagration.

The attack in the senate was led by Reed, Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, and Kenneth McKellar, democrat of Tennessee, after Senator James E. Watson, republican of Indiana, had delivered a stirring defense of the president and Mellon and repeated the president's charge that Senator James Couzens, republican of Michigan, was actuated by a personal grievance in his investigation of the treasury department.

Reed charged that the president had made a false statement in his message when he stated the treasury department was under attack.

Senator Walsh said the president's message was "the most arrogant since the days of the Tudors and Stuarts."

"It seems," said Walsh, "that the president is denouncing the senate because it exposed Albert Fall, the horrible administration of the veterans' bureau, and now is exposing corruption in the department of justice."

Senator McKellar, who has introduced a resolution challenging Mellon's right to hold office because of his large business holdings, charged that Mellon was one of the biggest distillers of whiskey in the United States, and that this accounted for "no real effort at prohibition enforcement."

In his criticism of the Coolidge message, Senator Reed said that "it should never have been given the courtesy of a reception by the senate" and that it should be ignored.

As to the inquiry of the Couzens committee, he said:

"The committee had a special reason for wanting to look into the books of the Mellon companies. If evidence of favors had been adduced, there would have been cause for ousting Mellon from office.

"If business is straight, if business is honest, men will welcome an investigation."

In his defense of the president's attitude, Senator Watson told the senate that Senator Couzens employed Francis J. Henry, a California attorney, as an investigator at the suggestion of Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, long on the "outs" with Mellon and that Pinchot had "injected himself" into the investigation.

Says Aimed at Coolidge.

"The internal revenue investigation and all these other investigations are aimed at President Coolidge.

"The whole thing is an assault on the president. These arrows have all been aimed at his (Coolidge's) breast, but today they lie broken at his feet. They have found no flaw in his armor—and they will find none."

While this debate was in progress, the real issue over which the president and the senate fell out was held in abeyance, that is, the employment of Henry by Couzens at his own expense.

The resolution of Senator Watson dissolving the investigating committee was held over because of the serious illness of Couzens, while a resolution by Senator Jones, democrat of New Mexico, authorizing the employment of Henry was sent to the committee on audit and control where an effort will be made to pigeon-hole it.

TRACK TEAM USES STADIUM CINDERS

Coach Henry F. Schulte and his university of Nebraska track proteges took their first fling at the outdoor cinders Saturday afternoon in an exhibition workout on the new Memorial Stadium oval.

The stadium track was in miserable condition, due to the fact that fresh cinders had just been spread around the circuit and had not yet been packed down. Time made in most of the events, however, was good, considering the conditions under which the athletes were competing.

"Red" Laton won the 440-yard dash in 53 seconds. The strawberry thatched Husker set the pace throughout the race, althuogh Crites was close on his heels. Whipperman finished third.

Hein on Relay Team.

Bill Hein of Wilber will be the fourth member of the Nebraska mile relay team at the Kansas relays. Hein won a special match race in 54 1-5 seconds, beating Scherick and Bloodgood by a brilliant finish.

Higgins, veteran distance man, won the 880-yard run, with Captain "Mud" Gardner finishing second and Lewis third. Gardner gave Higgins a real battle, but lacked the gasoline at the finish, due more or less to the fact that illness had kept the Husker captain out of early training. Higgins' time was 2 minutes 7 seconds.

Ted Slemmons, letter man and Omaha medic, won the mile run in 4 minutes 53 seconds. The grind was one of the best races of the afternoon. Zimmerman set the pace for two laps, but yielded the lead to Cohen, who was inturn displaced by Slemmons and Dickson. The quartet finished in close order as follows—Slemmons, Dickson, Cohen, Zimmerman.

Battle in Sprints.

The century sprint developed into a battle between Locke and Hein. A handicap 100-yard race was won by Hein. The Wilber flash has just finished running a quarter mile and was given a three-yard handicap. He broke the tape in 10 4-5 seconds. Rhodes, with a 7-yard handicap, was second, while Locke, starting from scratch, finished third.

Schulte staged another century sprint later in the afternoon and, with both starting from scratch, Locke beat out Hein. The North Platte speedster made 10 2-5 seconds in spite of the bad track.

Ed Weir, football captain, had little trouble winning the hurdles. Weir won the 60-yard highs in 8 2-5 seconds and the 110-yard lows in 12 seconds. Timm, Osceola boy, who is ineligible this spring, gave Weir a warm scrap in the high sticks. Beerkle finished third in the high hurdles and second in the lows.

Competition in the field events was put over until next Tuesday.

PALATIAL PARK IN SOONER CITY

Holland's Club to Dedicate $100,000 Playing Field In Opening Game.

BY CHARLES J. BRILL.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 12. — Clebrating the winning of its first Western league pennant, the completion of its new $100,000 park and the opening of a new championship race, a new first-day attendance record for the Western league is expected to be established here next Wednsday when Des Moines comes to raise the curtain on the 1924 campaign.

A half holiday is to be declared. A parade will be staged before the game and Governor Trapp and Mayor Cargill will serve as the opening battery for the Indians.

Workmen were busy splashing the last coat of paint over the new stands erected at a cost of $60,000, built and owned by the Oklahoma City Baseball association, an organization of 500 of the city's leading fans. The site for the plant was purchased by Jack Holland for $20,000 and by the time all improvements are completed, the layout will represent an expenditure of $100,000.

Seats for Seven Thousands.

Ten of those who helped Oklahoma City win its first Western league pennant are back for the new campaign. These are Manager Fred Luderus; Chili McDaniel, first base; Glenn McNally, second base; Joe Tate, third base; Oscar Felber, right field; James Sweeney, center field; Roy Allen, Don Songer and Joe Brown, pitchers, and Butch Krueger, utility.

New Slugger in Left.

In place of Eddie Hock in left field the Indians will have George Haas, who comes to the tribe from Pittsburgh in the deal which took Emil Yde to the Pirates. He is a fast fielder and baserunner, a much better hitter than Hock and one who promises to lead the club in extra base hits.

Plugging up the gap at short through which so many games have escaped during the last three years, will be found Robert Brown, last year with St. Joseph.

Replacing Jack Roche behind the bat is Edward "Tub" Spencer, veteran major leaguer, who sizes up as the best backstop Oklahoma City ever has had. Jack Fitzpatrick, a semi-pro discovered in Rhinelander, Wis., by Manager Luderus, is Spencer's understudy.

Luderus Has Weak Ankle.

Until Manager Luderus has a chance to prove that his ankle, broken during the closing days of last season is as good as ever, Chili McDaniels will take care of first. He was recalled for the last three weeks of the season last year from Enid in the Western association, a circuit which he leads in home runs.

With Tate and McNally showing marked improvement over their work of previous years, Brown strengthening shortstop and first taken care of as well as it was last year, the Oklahoma City infield today is stronger than that which won a pennant last year. Felber and Sweeney are both set for better years in the outfield and with Haas a better man than Hock, the tribal outfield is stronger than that of 1923. The same is true of the catching department.

Pitching Strength Uncertain.

The big question mark presented by the champions this season is their pitching staff. Two of the best pitchers in the league are lost to them in Yde, who went to the Pirates, and George Payne, who went to Los Angeles. Between them they won more than half of Oklahoma City victories last season.

Of last year's staff, Roy Allen, Don Songer and Joe Brown remain. The last two named are the men Manager Luderus is grooming to fill the shoes of Yde and Payne. He hopes to see them account for fifty games between them. Songer is the only lefthander on the staff. Allen is expected to be used mostly for relief duty.

Rookie Wins a Place.

Chester Howard, a graduate of the Clinton, Oklahoma State legue club, already has won his feathers and will be a fourth member of the staff. The others will be chosen from Walter Tauscher, a promising rookie; Roy Johnson, just returned to good standing after having jumped Kansas City two years ago; Kemner, a former Muskogee Southwestern league heaver who won twenty-two games while losing twelve in 1921, and Jewell Campbell, last year with Enid.

In addition to these, Oklahoma City has been promised an experienced pitcher by Pittsburgh under the terms of the Yde deal.

HAVELOCK NOTES

Evangelist Rader is conducting meetings in the tabernacle recently erected at Fifteenth and O streets. There has been an average attendance of more than 1,200 every night.

Mrs. W. F. Ackerman, Mrs. George Petley, and Mrs. H. Prentiss entertained the B. V. club Friday at the Ackerman home

The annual meeting of the Lancaster Farmers' club will be held Wednesday noon at the farm home of Arthur Stockton.

Miss Marie V. Howell of McCook has been elected instructor in English at the high school for next year.

The Men's club of the Congregational church met Saturday night. F. W. Paschall was the speaker. The ladies were guests.

The Deladek club held its last meeting of the season Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Easton. At five hundred Mrs. Maude Gregg won first prize. Lunch was served by Mrs. Easton and Mrs. Seymour Black. Spring flowers were used in the decorations.

Miss Eleanor Ackerman returned this week from Omaha where she was a guest at the home of her brother, W. F. Ackerman. While in Omaha she gave a radio program from the W. O. W. station.

Mrs. Lou Myers of Columbus was a guest this week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Theresa Holmes.

Miss Mida Vesta Summers has accepted a position as head of the art department of Wesleyan university. Miss Summer graduated this year from the School of Fine Arts of the University of Nebraska.

BY RAY OSBORNE.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 12—Things look great here for the opening day of the Western league pennant race of 1924. The St. Joseph club opens at home next Wednesday with Barney Burch's Omaha aggregation.

The day will be celebrated in a pretentious manner here and will be featured by a parade which is expected to be more than five miles long.

Opening day of the 1923 season found the Saint park filled with 7,500 fans. That was the largest crowd in the Western league on opening day. This year Eddie Tracy, new owner of the club, has set his goal for 10,000 and present indications point to a crowd which will fil ithe park and over-run the outer gardens.

Saints In Race For Flag.

The team is in excellent shape and promises to put up a real fight for the pennant. Few members of the last season Saint aggregation are with the club this year. Old players of last year have been changed for men who have hitting and fielding ability.

The new manager, Joe Mathes formerly of the Texas league, has one worry on his hands. That is to decide which of the ten pitchers he will keep. Mathes declares he wil have to release four hurlers who might come back to St. Joseph with another team and whip the locals. At present, however, the six who are likely to stick are:

Alex McColl, with the Saints last season.

Claude Davenport, last year with Syracuse.

Harold Haid, Saint of 1923.

Razor Ledbetter, another carryover.

The catching staff has picked up in the last week and Fred Fisher, giant receiver, who was going rather slow during the first few weeks of practice, has taken off weight and is slugging against the best pitchers encountered by the team, now working back from Port Arthur, Tex., the Saint's training camp.

The other member of the catching department will be Clarence Brooks, a former Beaumont receiver. He will be in charge of the catching department.

Infield Has The Goods.

The infield looks great and will be in excellent shape by the time the season opens. Manager Mathes will be on first, Stevenson at second and Wally Gilbert will hang his hat on third. "Yatz" Corrigan will be at the short position. These are all heavy hitters.

The outer gardens will be populated with three men who look good this year. Miller and Lewan are last season Saints and have been going brilliantly in the exhibition games. The third man in the outfield is Nick Demaggio, former Beaumont player for whom the Saints paid a good price.

Utility man will be Nufer, who was with the Saints part of the last season and the rest of it with Minneapolis.

NEBRASKA SCHOOL OF BUSINESS.

Miss Darice Bowman has completed her course and has accepted a position in a bank at Broken Bow, Neb.

Cecil Struthers, Ralph Wilde, Fred Hageman, and Otto Jonscher assisted in counting the primary ballots at the county clerk's office, Tuesday night, Wednesday, and Wednesday night.

Hartley W. Blakeslee, who was a student at N. S. B. in 1915 and 1916, arrived from Eddyville, Neb., Saturday, and will make his home with his uncle, T. A. Blakeslee, while pursuing a course in auto mechanics in Lincoln.

Gertrude Allen, of the class of 1919, was a visitor at the college Monday, while enroute to her father's home in Wisconsin. Ever since her graduation from N. S. B., Miss Allen has been employed as a stenographer in the law office of Thomas, Vail, and Stoner, at Seward.

Miss Antonine Coniglio of the class of 1924, N. S. B., rendered an interesting vocal program at the convocation hour Wednesday morning. Two of the numbers, "O Sole Mio," and "Il Bacio," were sung in Italian, and "The Lilac Tree," in English. Miss Coniglio was accompanied on the piano by Miss Alma Wagner.

Miss Evelyn Gardner, sister of Miss Trilla Gardner of the N. S. B. faculty, has been transferred from the Iquique English college, Iquique, Chile, to a girls' school in Santiago, Chile, where she will teach shorthand and typewriting. Miss Gardner took her normal training at Nebraska School of Business in 1917-18.

President Blakeslee and Mr. Bryant returned Saturday from the convention of commercial school teachers and managers at Des Moines. Mr. Blakeslee was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Vocational Schools, which organization also had a conference during the same week. Other officers elected were George LaMunyon, Denver, president; Frank C. Steward, Washington, D. C., director eastern district; A. T. Scovill, Sterling, Ill., director central district; W. C. Stephens, St. Paul, Minn., director northern district; J. R. Humphreys, Stockton, Calif., director western district; L. S. Augustin, New Orleans, La., director southern district.

PRESENT PLAY.

(Special to The Star.)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., April 12. — The comedy drama "Mother Mine" was presented before a full house here Friday evening, by the junior class. The entire cast showed the results of fine skill and training. Miss Lela Gross directed the play. The leading parts were very ably carried by Miss Aline Norris as "Mother Mine," and Durward G. Hayek as Jerry MacConnel, the stray. The proceeds, amounting to over $60, will be used to defray the expenses of the junior-senior banquet.

WOULD AVENGE DEATH OF SON

Father Asks Permission to Spring Trap Which Will End Prisoner's Life.

MIAMI, Ariz., April 12. — William Ward, convicted negro slayer of Theodore Wilbur Grosh, youthful University of Arizona student, may be sent to his death by the hand of his victim's father.

W. H. Grosh, gray haired father of the young student, has asked permission to spring the trap and Sheriff Alf Edwards, Gila county who captured Ward has forwarded the request to authorities at the state penitentiary with the recommendation that it be granted.

Sheriff Edwards, who has never witnessed an execution, wants to place the noose about the negro's head, but he is willing to give the old man the bit of revenge that will come from pulling the trigger.

On the Apache trail near here he boarded an automobile December 26 last in which young Grosh and Miss Maxine Menelly, student at the state normal school and daughter of a leading cattleman of the state, fere riding home from a Christmas dance.

Forcing Grosh at the point of a gun to drive to a lonely spot on the trail, he stabbed the young man to death and assaulted the girl.

He was captured the next day, his bloody clothing betraying him.

Farmers of Gage Want Stock Tested

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 12.—According to County Agent Rist, over 1,700 farmers in Gage county have signed petitions requesting the state and federal officials to again start testing of cattle in this county. The petitions of the cattle owners represent considerable more than the 51 per cent necessary to start testing under the Nebraska tuberculosis eradication law.

Golf Czars O. K. Steel In Shafts

PINE VALLEY, N. J., April 12.—Steel-shafted golf clubs may be used in national championship matches and association tournaments, the executive committee of the United States Golf association announced today.

Secretary McMahon announced the appointment of Robert A. Gardner as captain of the American team for the Walker international cup contest.

ARGENTINE HUSKY KEEN TO GET COIN

BUENOS AIRES, April 12.—Luis Angel Firpo, South American champion, who returned today from a short trip to Montevideo, has booked passage for the United States on the Southern Cross, which is to sail April 24, it was reported here today.

From a source close to Firpo it was understood that he has not decided upon the exact date of his departure for the United States, but that he is certain to leave within a few weeks.

Reports cabled to the United States that Firpo had decided to retire from the ring never were taken seriously here and it was considered certain that he would seek more big money matches in the United States by all who have been in intimate touch with him.

Firpo, it is understood, gave Hugh Gartland, who sailed a few days ago for the United States, the authority to accept tentatively any good offers that were made to him by American promoters.

Firpo apparently is chagrined at his failure to outpoint Tex Rickard in the battle of wits that they have waged for several months and he feels humiliated that Rickard ignored him by sending transportation money to Quintin Romero and Ermino Spalla, two fighters whom Firpo regards as being very much below his class.

Matson Says Ballot Tampering Case May Not Be Prosecuted

Probably no action will be taken in regard to the alleged tampering with ballots at the Grand hotel polling place in the primary election, County Attorney Charles E. Matson stated Saturday. After an investigation, the authorities are convinced that the person responsible for the markings on the ballots did not do so with intent to change the election result, he was said. The person believed to be responsible for the changes is thought not to have understood just what the significance of the changes was.
"The ballots were marked with a black pencil when they had been previously marked by the voter with a blue pencil," Sheriff Claude P. Hensel said. "They had already been counted and recorded so no harm could have been done."
When the ballots were looked over by the election board, it was found that the name of one candidate had been marked with a black pencil on seven ballots. The ballots had already been marked with the voter's blue pencil for another candidate for the same office. The candidate in question was called and insisted that the ballots be counted as originally marked and not rejected, as would ordinarily be done.
No attempt had been made by the persons marking the ballots to erase or change the original marking.

PI KAPPA ALPHA CHARTER GRANTED

Bushnell Guild Will Be Installed in National Organization Saturday.

Nebraska Chapter of College Fraternity Will Be the Sixty-fourth.

Bushnell Guild fraternity has been granted a national charter as Gamma-Beta chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and will be installed Saturday, April 19. Official announcement of the action of the Supreme Council was made yesterday by Robert A. Smythe, Atlanta, Ga., Grand Treasurer of Pi Kappa Alpha.
John R. Perez, New Orleans, grand princeps of Pi Kappa Alpha, visited the University of Nebraska Thursday. Mr. Perez conferred with university officials and was guest of honor of the Bushnell Guild fraternity at luncheon that noon.
Pi Kappa Alpha was founded on March 1, 1868 at the University of Virginia. Today the fraternity has sixty-three active chapters located throughout the United States. For administrative purposes these are divided into fourteen districts, of which Gamma-Beta, the Nebraska chapter, will become active in district 10 with the following chapters:
Alpha-Zeta, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark.
Alpha-Kappa, Missouri School of Mines, Rolla, Mo.
Alpha-Nu, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.
Alpha-Omega, K. S. A. C., Manhattan, Kas.
Beta-Gamma, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kas.
Beta-Lambda, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.
District Princeps, Laurence M. Hyde, Alpha-Nu, Princeton, Mo., will direct the installation of Gamma-Beta chapter here.
Bushnell Guild was founded as a local fraternity at the University of Nebraska on Sept. 21, 1910. In 1922 the fraternity purchased the chapter house at 1141 D St. in which it is now living.
Negotiations with Pi Kappa Alpha for a national charter have been carried on by Bushnell Guild for two years.

Nebraska Road Conditions

Following is the weekly road report of the Lincoln Automobile club, issued Saturday afternoon, giving the condition of all Nebraska highways:
D-L-D to Omaha, excellent. We are recommending the road four miles north out of Gretna, then east into Millard.
D-L-D to Hastings, light showers reported; roads in good condition. Fair to good to Oxford; good to Denver.
C. H. slightly muddy to Beatrice. Will be good for Sunday travel if no more rain.
C. H. to Fremont, good. Fremont to Sioux City, fair, rough in spots.
L-C-D good to Crete. Meridian highway good through Nebraska. Bridge not completed at Yankton.
L-S fair, to good to Sterling.
R-Y good to Valparaiso, was slippery Saturday morning.
Golden Rod fair to good across Nebraska.
East O good to Union. O-T was muddy around Syracuse and Nebraska City Saturday. Should be fair to good today.
Kansas roads are fair to good. Dodge City reports light rains Saturday.
Missouri roads just fair. Very rough generally.
Iowa roads are a little improved. White Way No. 7 is rough in places to Des Moines. Lincoln highway is poor from Denison to Carroll but passable. Gravelling out of Denison for two miles. Blue Grass trail; fair; rough in places.

MUST GROW INTO DAIRY BUSINESS

Richahrdhson County People Advised As to Method to Pursue.

(Special to The Star.)
HUMBOLDT, Neb., April 12. — The third of a series of public meetings in the interest of better dairying in Richardson county, was held at the city hall on Friday evening with a fair attendance. The weather conditions prevented the farmers coming out as expected. The meeting was arranged by County Agent Worrall and the chamber of this city.
The speaker of the evening was M. M. Lauretson of the agricultural college, who delivered an excellent address on the selection, care and testing of the dairy herd, whether it be large or small. He stressed the idea of "growing" into the dairy business rather than "going" into it on the more expensive scale. He declared that the average cow in Richardson county, at present produces 2300 pounds of milk and 94 pounds of butter fat per annum and that, by proper selection, breeding and care, three to four times that amount should be realized.
Frank Porr, favored the company with several musical selections. Mrs. Claude Linn, jr., presiding at the piano. Mr. Lauretson will return to this county at an early day to assist in establishing co-operative organizations on this subject.

Plain Frocks For Graduating Girls

(Special to The Star.)
BEATRICE, Neb., April 12. — Sixty-two girls in the class of '24, Beatrice high school, held a meeting and adopted a resolution which ushers in a new era as to the dresses to be worn at the graduation exercises. White cotton frocks, none of them to cost over $10, were selected as costumes by the girl graduates. The resolution in part is as follows: "That we make our exercises simple, and in harmony with a serious and dignified occasion, that our dresses be of white cotton material—first, because it would be more suitable, and second, because it will be within the means of every girl in the class."

TO MANAGE ELEVATOR.
(Special to The Star.)
BEATRICE, Neb., April 12.—Ray Williams, farmer living near Holmesville, has been named manager of the Farmers' elevator at that place to succeed George Hunkel, who has purchased a filling station in West Beatrice. Mr. Williams will hold a public sale at his farm and move to Holmesville.

CARTER DEPARTS.
SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 12.—Howard Carter, famous antiquarian, who departed for the United States for a lecture tour said that it was improbable that the mummy of Tut-Ankh-Amen would be visible when the third coffin is opened. "Our record conclusively ponits to the probability that it is completely enshrouded in gold," said Carter.

Denies Charge of Breaking Into Shop

Ira W. Beachel, 22, 419 West Eighteenth street, University Place, was arrested by police Saturday afternoon on a charge of breaking and entering. Saturday night he was released by Justice W. A. Hawes on a $500 bond. His case was set for Tuesday.
Beachell is alleged to have broken into a shop belonging to Robert W. Maine, at Nineteenth and Vine streets, and to have stolen a set of license plates and some paint. Beachell denied the charges and said he did not break into the shop, according to Captain Anderson.

PI KAPPA ALPHA CHARTER GRANTED

Bushnell Guild Will Be Installed in National Organization Saturday.

Nebraska Chapter of College Fraternity Will Be the Sixty-fourth.

Bushnell Guild fraternity has been granted a national charter as Gamma-Beta chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and will be installed Saturday, April 19. Official announcement of the action of the Supreme Council was made yesterday by Robert A. Smythe, Atlanta, Ga., Grand Treasurer of Pi Kappa Alpha.

John R. Perez, New Orleans, grand princeps of Pi Kappa Alpha, visited the University of Nebraska Thursday. Mr. Perez conferred with university officials and was guest of honor of the Bushnell Guild fraternity at luncheon that noon.

Pi Kappa Alpha was founded on March 1, 1868 at the University of Virginia. Today the fraternity has sixty-three active chapters located throughout the United States. For administrative purposes these are divided into fourteen districts, of which Gamma-Beta, the Nebraska chapter, will become active in district 10 with the following chapters:

Alpha-Zeta, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark.

Alpha-Nu, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.

Alpha-Omega, K. S. A. C., Manhattan, Kas.

Beta-Gamma, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kas.

Beta-Lambda, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

Bushnell Guild was founded as a local fraternity at the University of Nebraska on Sept. 21, 1910. In 1922 the fraternity purchased the chapter house at 1141 D St. in which it is now living.

Negotiations with Pi Kappa Alpha for a national charter have been carried on by Bushnell Guild for two years.

Nebraska Road Conditions

Following is the weekly road report of the Lincoln Automobile club, issued Saturday afternoon, giving the condition of all Nebraska highways:

D-L-D to Omaha, excellent. We are recommending the road four miles north out of Gretna, then east into Millard.

C. H. slightly muddy to Beatrice. Will be good for Sunday travel if no more rain.

C. H. to Fremont, good. Fremont to Sioux City, fair, rough in spots.

L-C-D good to Crete. Meridian highway good through Nebraska. Bridge not completed at Yankton.

L-S fair to good to Sterling.

R-V good to Valparaiso, was slippery Saturday morning.

Golden Rod fair to good across Nebraska.

East O good to Union. O-T was muddy around Syracuse and Nebraska City Saturday. Should be fair to good today.

Missouri roads just fair. Very rough generally.

Iowa roads are a little improved. White Way No. 7 is rough in places to Des Moines. Lincoln highway is poor from Denison to Carroll but passable. Gravelling out of Denison for two miles. Blue Grass trail; fair; rough in places.

Matson Says Ballot Tampering Case May Not Be Prosecuted

Probably no action will be taken in regard to the alleged tampering with ballots at the Grand hotel polling place in the primary election, County Attorney Charles E. Matson stated Saturday. After an investigation, the authorities are convinced that the person responsible for the markings on the ballots did not do so with intent to change the election result, it was said. The person believed to be responsible for the changes is thought not to have understood just what the significance of the changes was.

"The ballots were marked with a black pencil when they had been previously marked by the voter with a blue pencil," Sheriff Claude P. Hensel said. "They had already been counted and recorded so no harm could have been done."

When the ballots were looked over by the election board, it was found that the name of one candidate had been marked with a black pencil on seven ballots. The ballots had already been marked with the voter's blue pencil for another candidate for the same office. The candidate in question was called and insisted that the ballots be counted as originally marked and not rejected, as would ordinarily be done.

No attempt had been made by the persons marking the ballots to erase or change the original marking.

MUST GROW INTO DAIRY BUSINESS

Richahrdhson County People Advised As to Method to Pursue.

(Special to The Star.)

HUMBOLDT, Neb., April 12. — The third of a series of public meetings in the interest of better dairying in Richardson county, was held at the city hall on Friday evening with a fair attendance. The weather conditions prevented the farmers coming out as expected. The meeting was arranged by County Agent Worrall and the chamber of this city.

The speaker of the evening was M. M. Lauretson of the agricultural college, who delivered an excellent address on the selection, care and testing of the dairy herd, whether it be large or small. He stressed the idea of "growing" into the dairy business rather than "going" into it on the more expensive scale. He declared that the average cow in Richardson county, at present produces 2300 pounds of milk and 94 pounds of butter fat per annum and that, by proper selection, breeding and care, three to four times that amount should be realized.

Frank Porr, favored the company with several musical selections, Mrs. Claude Linn, jr., presiding at the piano. Mr. Lauretson will return to this county at an early day to assist in establishing co-operative organizations on this subject.

Rev. Grauenhorst to Confirm Two Classes

The Rev. L. Grauenhorst will confirm the following people at the Grace Lutheran church at Havelock next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Minnie Walter, Marie Bauer, Marie Vogel, and Henry Bauer. Because of the delayed return of the Rev. R. Kuehne, who is now in Germany as a representative of the American relief society, the Rev. Mr. Grauenhorst will officiate at the Sunday afternoon confirmation service, to be held Palm Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the Friedens church, Sixth and D streets. The following members will be confirmed: Marie Steinmuller, Freda Kaufman, Amelia George, Mollie Pfeif, Charlotte Steinmuller, Rachel Rohrig, Mollie Rohrig, Olinda Brown, Rachel Reider, Olinda Lebsack, Jennie Kehm, Esther Kehm, Esther Helzer, Marie Amend, Marguerite Maul, Elmer Stroh, Carl Leonhardt, Theodore Sitzman, John Bastron, Harold Bauer, George Wilmann, Reuben Gettman, John Stroh, Edward Yost, William Schieck, Daniel Schwartzkupk, Carl Floth, Harold Gerlock, Adam Helzer, Jacob Walter and Herman Rippe.

Girls' Reserve Corner

The Student club of Lincoln high school met on Tuesday afternoon Ruth Clendenin, president of the club presided. Inez Coffman accompanied by Miss Carolyn Reed gave two vocal solos. The election of officers for the coming year took place and the following officers and committee chairmen were chosen for the year of 1924-25:

President, Julia Rider; vice president, Clara Olson; secretary, Katherine Mayhew; treasurer, Eleanor Berge; program chairman, Beth Wilson; conference chairman, A. Louise Trester; social, Della Byrd Estham; service chairman, Bernice Cozad; publicity chairman, Viola Oberlies.

The retiring cabinet of Student club will entertain the ne cabinet at supper Monday evening April 14 at the home of Gertrude Brownell.

Wreshman girls club of Lincoln high school met Friday afternoon in room 330. Merle Richeson, president of the club presided. This was a talent meeting in which members of the club took part. The following program was given, violin solo, Mary Rankin; reading, Harriette Willis, and Jean Hartley; violin solo, Velma Chapelow, accompanied by Madelin Elwood; reading, sarah Vance; violin solo, Hazel Buechner. Following the program games were played.

Grace Coppock triangle of Whittier school went on a hare and hound hike to Antelope park on Thursday afternoon after their regular club meeting. They made a camp fire and roasted weiners and marshmallows. Miss Evelyn Schlack their adviser, was in charge of the hike.

Louisa Alcott Triangle met Friday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. Mary Ann Mitchell was in charge of the program. Songs and stories were given by members of the triangle. The girls learned an original girl reserve song written by Alta Husted.

Miss Grace Stuff, girl reserve secretary spent Friday and Saturday in Omaha at a girl reserve conference. Miss Esther Daymen, a national girl reserve secretary was the main speaker on the program.

At the girl reserve meeting at the University Place high school on Friday afternoon April 4, the following girl reserves took part in the program: Bernice Nelson, Nellie Hayes, Vera Way, Helen Campbell and Lucile Waddell.

The Girls' club elected officers for the ensuing year. The officers elected were Marion Marsh, '27, Brownville, president; Helen Miller, '27, Seward, vice presdient; Lucile Meek, '27, Peru, secretary; and Wilma Coatney, '26, Falls City, treasurer. Miss Alice Robinson is sponsor to the club.

Plain Frocks For Graduating Girls

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 12. — Sixty-two girls in the class of '24, Beatrice high school, held a meeting and adopted a resolution which ushers in a new era as to the dresses to be worn at the graduation exercises. White cotton frocks, none of them to cost over $10, were selected as costumes by the girl graduates. The resolution in part is as follows: "That we make our exercises simple, and in harmony with a serious and dignified occasion, that our dresses be of white cotton material—first, because it would be more suitable, and second, because it will be within the means of every girl in the class."

TO MANAGE ELEVATOR.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 12.—Ray Williams, farmer living near Holmesville, has been named manager of the Farmers' elevator at that place to succeed George Hunkel, who has purchased a filling station in West Beatrice. Mr. Williams will hold a public sale at his farm and move to Holmesville.

CARTER DEPARTS.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 12.—Howard Carter, famous antiquarian, who departed for the United States for a lecture tour said that it was improbable that the mummy of Tut-Ankh-Amen would be visible when the third coffin is opened. "Our record conclusively points to the probability that it is completely enshrouded in gold," said Carter.

Denies Charge of Breaking Into Shop

Ira W. Beachel, 22, 419 West Eighteenth street, University Place, was arrested by police Saturday afternoon on a charge of breaking and entering. Saturday night he was released by Justice W. A. Hawes on a $500 bond. His case was set for Tuesday.

Beachell is alleged to have broken into a shop belonging to Robert W. Maine, at Nineteenth and Vine streets, and to have stolen a set of license plates and some paint. Beachell denied the charges and said he did not break into the shop, according to Captain Anderson.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

People born on this date come under the government of the sign of Aries, the sign of the Ram, and the last sign of the Fire Triplicity. It governs the hands and face and the Grand Man, and the higher attributes are intuition and reason. The governing planet is Mars and the birthstone is a diamond. The astral colors are rose pink and white.

The Aries people who are tall and broad-shouldered are more silent with a deep spiritual nature, and great occult power if they choose to develop it. They are very generous, and distinguished for their good works but are not so fortunate in worldly affairs as those of their neighbors. Real estate is going at bargain prices this month, especially summer homes, so watch The Star Want Ads carefully for the next week.

YOUNG'S HYLAND PARK ADDITION

SOUTH OF "O" STREET
AND
EAST OF 33RD STREET.

For many years the people of Lincoln have looked forward to the time when the Hal Young farm would be made over into a residence district. The beautiful contour of the land long ago attracted attention. At last this natural farm has become one of the most inviting residence districts of the city.

The winding drives, the rolling gorund, the spreading shade trees, the location, add to its destirability.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

People born on this date come under the government of the sign of Aries, the sign of the Ram, and the last sign of the Fire Triplicity. It governs the hands and face of the Grand Man, and the higher attributes are intuition and reason. The governing planet is Mars and the birthstone is a diamond. The astral colors are rose pink and white.

The Aries people who are tall and broad-shouldered are more silent with a deep spiritual nature, and great occult power if they choose to develop it. They are very generous, and distinguished for their good works but are not so fortunate in worldly affairs as those of their neighbors. Real estate is going at bargain prices this month, especially summer homes, so watch The Star Want Ads carefully for the next week.

AN "OUT-OF-THE-ORDINARY" "SQUARE" HOUSE

A square house is often desirable, and need not be ugly. But as it is handicapped in this respect to start with—for few of us would call a cube the most pleasing shape for a house—special care needs to be taken in the design of a square house.

This out-of-the-ordinary house combines all the convince of the popular 24 by 26 floor plan with a distinctive exterior. At the same time, it is a house which may suitably be built in a row of ordinary square houses and not be considered freakish. Batten shutters and a half-timbered second story with bracketed overhang give a different touch to the exterior, and the overhang also one foot space each way to the rooms on the second floor.

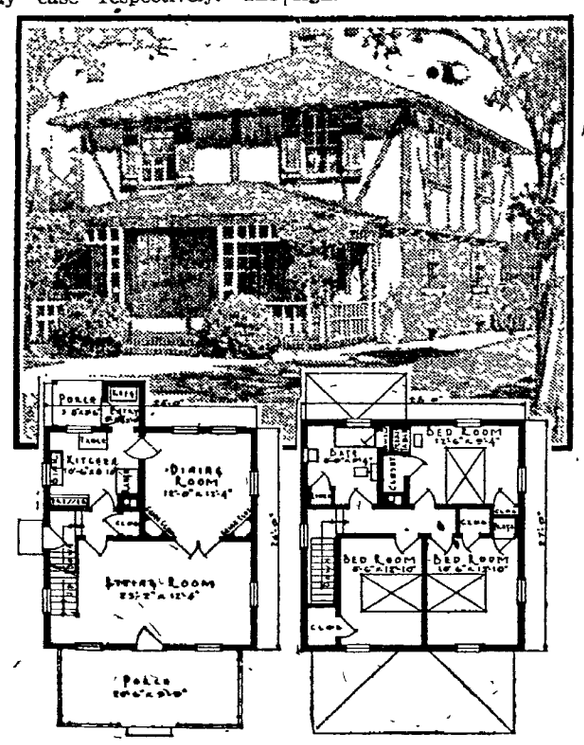

The absence of heavy columns on the front porch, or stubby posts a-top of squat piles of masonry is a great improvement, don't you agree? The open cornice is to be commended from the artistic standpoint, also.

A single central chimney provides for hot-air heating system and for the kitchen range. The front door opens directly into the living room which extends across the front of the house, with an open stair at the left. It has one fault—the lack of a fireplace. There is a door at the rear of the living room which leads to the kitchen and to the grade entrance and basement. The kitchen is a small room with a built-in dresser and worktable, and windows on two sides to keep it pleasantly light and airy.

French doors lead from the living room to the dining room. A pair of new-old-fashioned corner china closets is pleasing as well as practical.

Upstars there are three bedrooms, each with at least one generous clothes closet, and two of them provided with a built-in dressing table and a tray case respectively. The bathroom is unusualy large, and includes a towel cabinet, and a full-sized linen case.

If you are looking for a six-room "square" house, modern and unusually convenient in plan, and in good taste architecturally, you cannot make a mistake in choosing this design.

For New Work Refinishing Remodeling

One concern responsible for both quality of shingles and stain

IF YOU USE

"CREO-DIPT"

STAINED SHINGLES

This material—for side walls as well as roofs—is preserved against time and weather by a special process of creosoting and staining in fast colors. Creosote oil drives the colors deep into the wood fibre so that they do not wash or fade out in streaks. The soft tones give charm to your home "Creo-Dipt" shingles on side walls cost less than most other building materials especially when you consider the saving in painting and repairing. "Creo-Dipt" shingles on roofs do not curl, split or pull out because the wood is preserved and does not rot around nail holes.

Prominent architects throughout the country use "Creo-Dipt" stained shingles for economy and for building effects.

AN "OUT-OF-THE-ORDINARY" "SQUARE" HOUSE

A square house is often desirable, and need not be ugly. But as it is handicapped in this respect to start with—for few of us would call a cube the most pleasing shape for a house — special care needs to be taken in the design of a square house.

This out-of-the-ordinary house combines all the convince of the popular 24 by 26 floor plan with a distinctive exterior. At the same time, it is a house which may suitably be built in a row of ordinary square houses and not be considered freakish. Batten shutters and a half-timbered second story with bracketed overhang give a different touch to the exterior, and the overhang also one foot space each way to the rooms on the second floor.

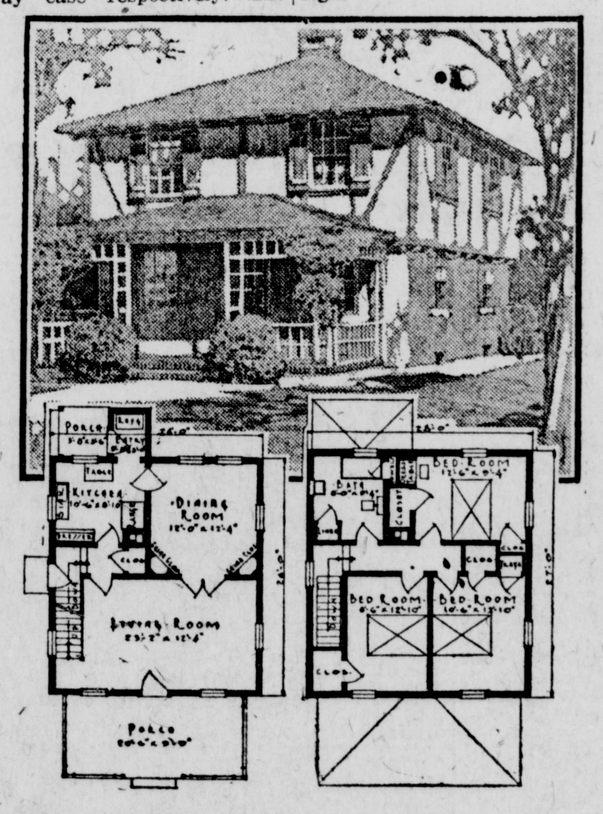

The absence of heavy columns on the front porch, or stubby posts a-top of squat piles of masonry is a great improvement, don't you agree? The open cornice is to be commended from the artistic standpoint, also.

A single central chimney provides for hot-air heating system and for the kitchen range. The front door opens directly into the living room which extends across the front of the house, with an open stair at the left. It has one fault—the lack of a fireplace. There is a door at the rear of the living room which leads to the kitchen and to the grade entrance and basement. The kitchen is a small room with a built-in dresser and worktable, and windows on two sides to keep it pleasantly light and airy.

French doors lead from the living room to the dining room. A pair of new-old-fashioned corner china closets is pleasing as well as practical.

Upstars there are three bedrooms, each with at least one generous clothes closet, and two of them provided with a built-in dressing table and a tray case respectively. The bathroom is unusualy large, and includes a towel cabinet, and a full-sized linen case.

If you are looking for a six-room "square" house, modern and unusually convenient in plan, and in good taste architecturally, you cannot make a mistake in choosing this design.

"CREO-DIPT" STAINED SHINGLES

This material—for side walls as well as roofs—is preserved against time and weather by a special process of creosoting and staining in fast colors. Creosote oil drives the colors deep into the wood fibre so that they do not wash or fade out in streaks. The soft tones give charm to your home. "Creo-Dipt" shingles on side walls cost less than most other building materials especially when you consider the saving in painting and repairing. "Creo-Dipt" shingles on roofs do not curl, split or pull out because the wood is preserved and does not rot around nail holes.

Prominent architects throughout the country use "Creo-Dipt" stained shingles for economy and for building effects.

Musicians of Nebraska High Schools Compete In Lincoln for State Musical Title Next Month

BY LYNNELLE GREER.

It has been many years since the old singing teacher and his pitch pipe delighted the hearts of the young people who congregated so many times each month at the country school houses in Nebraska.

The pitch pipe was the musical instrument of its day. It was a thing of beauty and a joy forever, so the young people thought. It brought them the little they had in the way of music, and for that little they were very grateful.

There was no piano in the country school house. Not even an organ. There may have been a fiddler in the community, but his art was confined entirely to the square dance and he ventured no further.

In the school proper, outside of the special singing schools, the children sang occasionally. How they learned the songs they sang, no one knows. Songs, for the most part in the early days, were learned, by the simple process of hearing someone else sing them, and no doubt that was the way the school children learned them.

There may have been many a Galli Curci, or a Ponselle, a Kreisler or a Rachmaninoff attending the schools in Nebraska many years ago, but no one knew anything about them. One good voice in the school caused no excitement whatever, there was nothing that could be done about it, so why make a fuss.

"Violins" Were Unknown.

A violin, was unknown, but for the country fiddler. Nine cases out of ten he did not know how he learned the few old tunes he knew, and could not possibly teach them to anyone else.

So there was little chance for the young boy or girl who had the possibilities of a musical genius back in Nebraska's early days. Their talents were stifled, but they have gloried in the idea that their children and their children's children have been given opportunities they were denied.

Those same country schools which existed in Nebraska many years ago have developed into some of the finest high schools in the state, and and these high schools have been doing some wonderful work along cultural lines.

Besides the regular routine of high school bands, glee clubs and choruses, there are orchestras and training along the musical lines for which each child is best adapted.

And now comes the biggest thing of all. A musical contest in which the majority of the high schools in Nebraska are taking part, will be held in Lincoln May 2 and 3.

Interscholastic Music Contest.

This is the first high school music contest to be held in the state, and the idea was suggested and promoted at the Nebraska Teachers' association meeting which was held in Lincoln last month.

It is to be to the musical talent in the various schools, what the track meets and tournaments are to the young athletes. It is to promote and encourage the best there is in the way of music, and it was organized primarily to give every boy and girl an opportunity to develop.

The schools participating in this contest are to be divided into two groups. Class A will consist of schools enrolling three hundred pupils or more in the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, while class B will consist of schools of less than three hundred enrollment in those grades.

The eligibility rules are just the same as those governing the Nebraska High School Athletic association.

There are twelve events which are listed as follows: mixed chorus, boys' glee club, girls' glee club, orchestra, mixed quartet, band, piano solo, violin solo, soprano solo, contralto solo, tenor solo, bas or baritone solo. Each high school may have a contestant in six events, but it is not necessary that they enter six. A high school may offer one contestant and still be in the contest. One high school may not contest in more than four group events.

Points of judging are tone, including quality, accuracy of pitch and balance in concerted numbers, technique, including memory, enunciation in vocal numbers; interpretation, including tempo, phrasing and general expression.

The accompanist must be a high school student or the music supervisor or director, or else he may be chosen from the official board of accompanists appointed by the committee. Groups may sing with or without a director, and the directors are not permitted to give any vocal assistance to their groups.

This music contest is to be conducted as far as trophies are concerned as all other high school contests. To the school winning the greatest number of points, the "All-Nebraska Music Championship" trophy will be awarded. This may be retained by the school for one year. To the school winning it three times, not necessarily in succession the trophy will become the permanent property. Cups will be awarded those winning first and second place in each event, and honorable mention will be given the third place winners.

The most important part of the contest is the scholarship idea which will give a high school boy and girl a chance to further their talents.

Scholarships to the amount of one-half of the full tuition for one year will be given to the winner in each individual event. These scholarships are offered by many of the leading institutions and private studios of the state. The winner will be allowed to choose his teacher from a list which will be given out at a later date. The contestant winning a scholarship is expected to avail himself of this upon the completion of his high school course. If this is not possible, special arrangement will be made to have the time extended.

All of the solo events will be held on Friday, May 2 and the group events will be held on Saturday.

It is not known at thep resent time just how many bands or choruses will be entered, although practically every one of the medium or larger high schools have signified their desire to enter the contest. It is the intention of the committee to combine the bands and choruses for at least one concert each. The bands may give a concert some place besides the high school auditorium but where it will be given has not yet been decided.

The committee has chosen the numbers which will be offered by the various contestants except the band. Each band will play one selection, and the committee has asked that this selection be one in which contrast may be found. The orchestras also may choose their own selections, but a copy of the band and orchestra numbers must be provided for each of the three judges.

Group and Solo Work.

The group and solo numbers which are to be offered are as follows:

Contralto solo, "The Dawn," D'Hardelot, key of D flat.

Tenor solo, "All For You," Martin, medium key of C.

Baritone solo, "Duna," McGill, key of B flat.

Piano solo, (a) Bach Two Part Invention, any one of the following numbers 8, 1, 3, 4, or 14.

(b) One composition either of the Romantic school as a Chopin prelude, or "The Butterfly" by Grieg.

Mixed chorus, (a) "Miller's Wooing," Faning.

(b) "Love Greetings," Elgar.

"We meet Again Tonight."

Girls' glee club, "June Rhapsody," Daniels.

"To a Wild Rose," MacDowell.

Mixed quartet, "A Hope Carol."

Soprano solo, "April Ecstasy," Speaks.

The judges will be three in number and will be from out of the state.

According to the members of the committee and the music directors of various Nebraska high schools, the high school students are looking forward to the first music contest as eagerly as they do to the better established athletic contests.

Create Musical Desire.

The object, or one of the objects of the contest, is to create a desire for music that is worth while, to educate the boys and girls of high school age in better music.

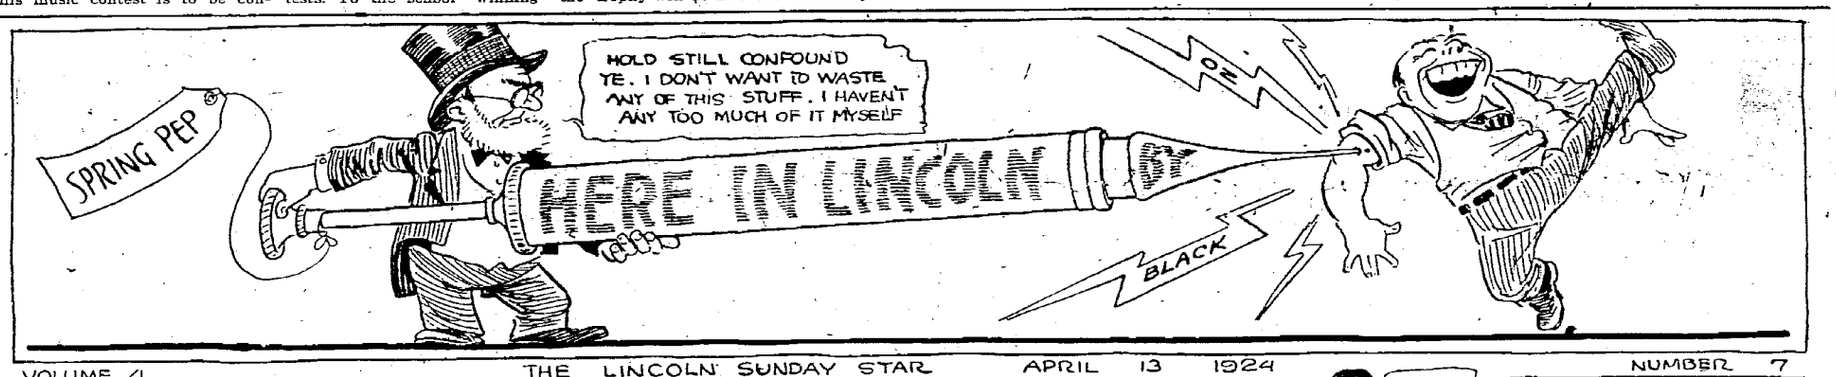

Then, too, it is through contests of this sort that real talent is discovered and aided.

In the schools of many years ago there may have been many boys and girls who would have given the world the best to be had in musical talent, but no one realized that the talent was there, and for that reason it was never cultivated.

Even the poorest child of today has an opportunity to learn music, and many times it is the child whose parents are of but moderate means who excels in voice, piano or violin, and it is because of this fact that scholarships rather than cash prizes have been offered.

"So many times," said one member of the committee," when cash is given for ap rize, it goes to buy clothes or something that builds nothing for the future. In offering scholarships from some of the very best teachers in Nebraska, we feel that we are giving the boy or girl who wins them, something that will help them along the road to success. It will give them a start and interest and ambition will do the rest."

The committee in charge of this state high school music contest consists of H. O. Ferguson, Lincoln, chairman; Miss Cora Conaway, York, secretary; Victor H. Jindra, Peru, treasurer; Miss Carol Pitts, Omaha Central high school, and B. P. Osbon, Beatrice.

Lower right—Brick and cement engine room of the Sinclair Oil company's pumping station at Washington, Kas. The building is modern in every respect and houses two large engines and the telegraph office.

WYMORE, Neb., April 12.—Crude oil in the recently completed Sinclair Oil company's pipe line has now crossed the Nebraska-Kansas line forty miles west of Wymore, and arrived from the Deshler, Neb., pumping plant at the Washington, Kansas, plant, on its way from Teapot Dome, Wyo., to the refineries at Freeman, Mo., and on into the Texas-Chicago pipe lines.

The line constructed of ten inch cast iron pipes on the levels, and split into two six inch pipes on grades, to lessen pressure and friction, was built by a gang of 700 men, in less than 2 years, is 792 miles long, and cost a total approximating $20,000,000. The pipe lays just below plow line as it crosses fields.

Oil now moves at the rate of 2 miles an hour, or from one pumping station to the next, a distance of 44 miles, in 24 hours, but when the line is thoroughly tested out and gets in full operation the flow will be about six miles an hour, and will pump 40,000 barrels, or an equivalent of 120 railway tank cars full daily.

Air is forced out of the pipe line ahead of the oil by pressure and safety valve. There are 17 pumping stations located an average of 44 miles apart, each a complete small city in itself, and each costing an average of $100,000. At these stations a brick and cement engine room with two huge oil burning engines is located. The engines are cooled by water stored in four outside cement pools, or vats, each 40x40 feet and 8 feet deep, and connected by pipes so that they act virtually the same to the engines as does a radiator to an automobile. Telegraph offices are maintained with operators on duty continually. Each station is in charge of a superintendent, has a repair shop, two storage oil tanks, of 55,000 barrels each, and a row of modern bungalows for employes to occupy. From 20 to 25 employes are kept at each station. In pumping oil the storage tanks are filled first, taking about three days to fill them, and then run out on the line as needed. H. A. Bell is superintendent of the Washington, Kas., plant, which covers 20 acres.

The pumping stations, in order, are located at: Teapot Dome, Welch, Glendo, and Ft. Laramie, Wyo., Mitchell, Northport, Oshkosh, Keystone, North Platte, Cozad, Kearney, Ayr and Deshler, Neb, and Washington, Baline, Elmont and Eudora, Kas. In its course the pipe line makes 33 railway crossings, and crosses the Platte, Blue and Kaw rivers.

COTNER NOTES

The regular monthly dinner of the faculty of Cotner college was held in the church dining room ednesday night. The arrangements for the dinner were in the hands of Mrs. Faythe Leavitt and Mrs. Evabelle Long Fuller. The musical program consisted of a group of Irish songs in costume given by a double trio from the fine artsdopartment. Prof. Earnest . Lundeen presided and introduced Prof. J. A. Moss, speaker of the evening. Prof. Moss told of the contribution of chemistry in the past twelve months.

Teh Woman's Educational Council met in the Woman's building on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Raymond G. Aylsworth presiding. After a short business session the following program was given by Cotner students:

Miss Lillian Schlentz will visit Trumbull on invitation of the school board of that place.

Miss Mildred Miller has been elected in the schools of Arcadia.

C. A. Fulmer, vocational, director for Nebraska, occupied the chapel platform Wednesday morning. Mr. Fulmer hsa compiled a bulletin of interesting statistics giving the choice of vocations of nearly 25,000 high school students.

The seniors of the high schools of Havelock, Bethany and Lincoln affiliated with the Christian church were the guests of Cotner students for dinner Friday evening and attended the "C" club Variety show later.

Cotner's state championship debating team defeated the team from the State college of Bozman, Montana Thursday morning at the college chapel. The questions "Resolved that the United States should enter the League of Nations was affirmed by the Cotner team; Richard McCann, Henry Harmon and Lawrence Berry. The Boreman team composed of Virgil Wilson, Edward Bell and William Moore had the negative. The judges for this debate were: I. H. Linder, superintendent of Havelock schools, Dr. Mills Hayes, of state university ,and Arthur W. Richardson, attorney, Lincoln. The decision was unanimous in favor of Cotner. Both teams were the guests of the college at luncheon and the visiting team were entertained at a banquet Thursday night in the dining room o fthe Woman's building. The Bozeman team will meet the Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan, Kansas Friday night.

Miss Esther Nason '27 of Alliance won first ulace in the championship class in the district typist contest which was held last Saturday. Miss Nason's record was 76 words net for 15 minutes. Ralph Rowland, '26 of Bethany won first in the junior class with a spee dof 65 words net over the same length of time. Miss Nason and Mr. Rowland will enter the state contest to be held in Omaha the latter part of April.

The annual forensic banquet was held in the dining room o fthe Woman's building on Thursday night, April 10. Dean J. K. Shellenberger, coach of the Cotner team acted as toastmaster, and called for the following responses:

The Y. W. C. A. held its regular fortnightly meeting in the parlors of the Woman's Building Monday night. Miss Agnes Kessler, Pres. of the Y. W. C. A. of the state university was the speaker of the evening and talked to the association on "Girl and Industry." Miss Kessler spent six weeks of the past summer in factories in Denver and told of her experiences. Edythe Harris and Marjorie Pursell gave a vocal duet.

Dr. G. E. Condra gave his scenic lecture "Nebraska, the Beautiful" before a crowded house in the gymnasium Saturday evening. The proceeds will go toward the piano fund.

The debating team of the Denver university has challenged the Cotner team to a debate to be held in Cotner college, April 23 and Cotner has accepted. This debate will be open to the public.

Pres. C. E. Cobbey is conducting a series of meetings for the Tabernacle Christian church, the series being a part of the pre-Easter program.

Eleanor Crownover, a student of last year, who is teaching school at Unadilla, was a campus visitor over the week-end.

Wesleyan Affairs

The general library at Nebraska Wesleyan was being moved Friday afternoon. A corps of students worked all day Saturday and will continue through the coming Monday. The new library building has already been used for some student gatherings. The formal dedication will take place in connection with the June commencement. The Wesleyan authorities have not yet announced the plans for the use of the old quarters on the third floor of the main building. The librarian, Miss Ethel Langdon, directed the transfer of material to the new quarters.

The faculty recently passed favorably upon two candidates for honorary degrees to appear at the June commencement. According to custom these names are withheld until commencement time. Alumni and others are chosen for such honors because of excellent and proficient service.

Prof. Rose B. Clark of the teachers college went to Norfolk for the meeting of the third district state teachers association Friday, April 11. he delivered addresses upon these "How Geography Functions in Society" and "Teaching Geography Better."

Radio Broadcasters Are Fast Developing New Type of Singer

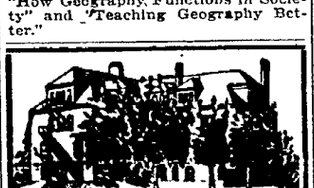

A new type of vocal artists, with voices surpassing in quality those of the concert and stage stars, is being developed by radio, according to Miss Eleanor Poehler, musical education leader in the northwest.

For some time Miss Poehler, who is director of a large station in Minneapolis, has been experimenting and trying to develop these "radio voices."

Persons with this type of voice are available for radio work, and yet cannot sing in a big hall because they do not have a sufficient amount of sound volume to fill a large space.

But the system of sound amplification which has made possible the present system of broadcasting can easily supply the volume necessary to sweet singers.

Now voices are also popularizing new melodies, Miss Poehler declares Favorites develop as they do from the stage.

TO PUT IN RADIO ON MAIL PLANES

First Transcontinental Flight With Equipped Plane Successfully Made.

Mail planes of the United States government will no longer have to go blindly into the fog on their dangerous flights if experiments with radio which now seems successful do not go wrong.

Installation of one-man sets in all transcontinental planes of the department is expected to be completed in the near future.

Most of the accidents which have happened to the air mail men could probably have been prevented, or perhaps the men might have been saved, had wireless service been available before. Although guided by powerful searchlights at night along the entire route, it is not unusual for a pilot to loose his bearings when flying at nights especially in a fog.

Pilot Jack Knight made the first coast to coast flight in a radio equipped machine recently, and was in almost continuous communication all along the route with landing stations.

Not only can the pilot ascertain his course by the use of the wireless, but he can be warned of storms or other unusual conditions that he must meet.

Knight used a 220 meter wave length. He flew at an average height of 2,000 feet. By the use of a devise to shut off the sound of the motor, his voice was heard without difficulty at landing stations almost 300 miles away.

Simplicity is necessarily the key note of the special apparatus developed for the planes by the General Electric company. Since but one man operates all the mechanism of the plane, so that space may be conserved for the use of mail bags, this element is paramount.

To talk, the pilot merely throws the switch beneath his seat, and turns one large knob until the ammeter mounted on the board in front of him shows a maximum reading. He then locks the knob in position, and it is only necessary to throw the handle from "transmit" to "receive" as desired.

The receiver is of the "super-hetrodyne" type, selected for its extreme sensitiveness and its ability to reduce engine noises and other interference to a minimum.

The antenna consists only of a two hundred foot trailing wire. A counter-poise, made of the engine, gas tank and all struts and wires of the plane, connected by binding straps, is used for a ground.

Members of the Areo club of America are confident that before long, all government planes will be equipped with wireless apparatus.

SONG MEN DEFIED BY BROADCASTERS

Refuse to Pay License Fees For Use of Copyright Compositions.

Theatre and Dancing Interests Declare Similar Sentiments.

Theatre and hotel men have joined the Radio Broadcasters association in their fight against the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers which demands that the radio interests pay a fee for privileges of using songs.

Representatives of 10,000 motion picture theatre owners, 800 dancing and music teachers, and 2,000 hotel owners joined delegates of the broadcasters in a meeting recently held at the La Salle hotel in Chicago.

Accusations against the song publishers that big stick methods are used, were made at the meeting, and the delegates refused to negotiate with them.

Two song publishers have resigned from their society as a result of they are not in sympathy with the purposes of the organization in this matter. These two companies, Watterson, Berlin and Snyder, and Will Rossiter, laugh at rumored efforts to force them back into the society. There are no grounds for a suit, they claim, as a member of the organization cannot sue another member without his permission.

Walter H. Newton, it was reported at the La Salle hotel meeting, has introduced a bill in congress revising the copyright laws so that there will be no doubt but that songs may be freely broadcast or played at public houses.

The society of composers attempts to apply the old copyright law passed before broadcasting stations came into existence to the present situation. Representative Newton claims that performances of all kinds in public are often made without remuneration to the artists, and that the increased value of the songs by popularization is sufficient remuneration.

Many prominent theatre and hotel men addressed the meeting, favoring the stand which was taken there, and favoring the bill which Representative Newton proposed.

WESLEYAN NOTES.

The campus is being put into condition for the summer.

Paul Copeland, freshman, from Holdrege is among the high grade record men on the campus in University Place. For the first quarter he made 6 5 honor points and for the winter quarter 6.7. Mr. Copeland is a member of the Delta Omega Phi fraternity, the Oxford club and is deputation chairman of the new Y. M. C. A. cabinet. He holds the preaching charge in the Methodist church of West Lincoln. He was graduated with honors from the Holdrege high school and was offered a full time scholarship at De Pauw. His father is C. HEALTH IMPROVED BY USE OF RADIO

Head of Chicago Department Orges That Every Family Get a Set.

"Radio brings a new outlook on life, which makes for happier family life and less domestic discord. Children are less likely to get into mischief when their attention is focused on messages or music coming in over the receiver. They soon learn that quiet is essential to the enjoyment of the pleasure that radio affords."

This is a statement made by Dr. H. N. Bundesen, Chicago commissioner of public health, in a weekly bulletin published by the department of health by that city. He declares that with wireless all over the world, happiness is spreading with it. His article states, in partff

"The radio, through the recreation it affords, is beneficial to the normal body and mind. It stimulates the activity of the digestive, respiratory and other organs. It gives relaxation, comfort and happiness and relief to persons suffering from nervousness, tress of overwork, worry or mental exhaustion. It is a large factor in maintaining normal equilibrium, in breaking the monotony of daily routine and counteracting the excessive tionsion of life today.

"The radio has becoma a ready medium for bringing contentment into the home.

"All classes of individuals derive benefit from it.

"While it is true that the radio is occupying a great part of our daily interest, it need not displace other interests. On the contrary, the pleasure afforded by the radio stimulates interest in other activities, stimulates desire for further development along cultural lines, and induces a thirst for knowledge.

"The health department advises that every family procure a radio set. When it is installed in the home, the husband will find a happier and more contented wife; the wife will find an eager and less irritable husband. Parents will find their children developing mentally and better satisfied to remain at home."

RADIO NOTES.

Denmark now has 3,109 licensed private radio receiving sets, according to official reports. School children rank first, with 473.

More and more churches are installing radio broadcasting sets. The latest list put out by the bureau of navigation of the department of commerce includes twenty.

Ninety-five broadcasting stations connected with colleges and other schools, and forty under the control of newspapers or publishing houses now operate, according to a report by the department of commerce.

Mobilization of the 132nd infantry, national guard, of Chicago, was greatly facilitated recently by the help of a radio broadcasting. It is estimated that fifty per cent of the soldiers either heard the message themselves or were informed of it.

One receiving set has already been installed in a San Francisco school, and others are to be put in as quickly as possible.

About 35,000 stockholders of the Commonwealth Edison company, listened to proceedings at the annual meeting. KYW broadcast the proceedings.

S. L. Rothafel, the impressario of the Capital theatre, New York, declares in a interview that radio advertising will prove a great benefit to theatrical enterprises.

Exhibit of Radio is Held at Washington

Special government displays never before exhibited were included with the features which have been shown at big shows held over the country.

Army and navy were represented with exhibits of historical value.

C. Francis Jenkins, noted Washington inventor, was present to reveal some of the secrets of his little known laboratory.

Jen Lau Kao, librarian of the national association for the advancement of education at Peking, China has written for copies of the annual catalog.

Lower right—Brick and cement engine room of the Sinclair Oil company's pumping station at Washington, Kas. The building is modern in every respect and houses two large engines and the telegraph office.

WYMORE, Neb., April 12.—Crude oil in the recently completed Sinclair Oil company's pipe line has now crossed the Nebraska-Kansas line forty miles west of Wymore, and arrived from the Deshler, Neb., pumping plant at the Washington, Kansas, plant, on its way from Teapot Dome, Wyo., to the refineries at Freeman, Mo., and on into the Texas-Chicago pipe lines.

The line constructed of ten inch cast iron pipes on the levels, and split into two six inch pipes on grades, to lessen pressure and friction, was built by a gang of 700 men, in less than 2 years, is 792 miles long, and cost a total approximating $20,000,000. The pipe lays just below plow line as it crosses fields.

Oil now moves at the rate of 2 miles an hour, or from one pumping station to the next, a distance of 44 miles, in 24 hours, but when the line is thoroughly tested out and gets in full operation the flow will be about six miles an hour, and will pump 40,000 barrels, or an equivalent of 120 railway tank cars full daily.

Air is forced out of the pipe line ahead of the oil by pressure and safety valve. There are 17 pumping stations located an average of 44 miles apart, each a complete small city in itself, and each costing an average of $100,000. At these stations a brick and cement engine room with two huge oil burning engines is located. The engines are cooled by water stored in four outside cement pools, or vats, each 40x40 feet and 8 feet deep, and connected by pipes so that they act virtually the same to the engines as does a radiator to an automobile. Telegraph offices are maintained with operators on duty continually. Each station is in charge of a superintendent, has a repair shop, two storage oil tanks, of 55,000 barrels each, and a row of modern bungalows for employes to occupy. From 20 to 25 employes are kept at each station. In pumping oil the storage tanks are filled first, taking about three days to fill them, and then run out on the line as needed. H. A. Bell is superintendent of the Washington, Kas., plant, which covers 20 acres.

The pumping stations, in order, are located at: Teapot Dome, Welch, Glendo, and Ft. Laramie, Wyo., Mitchell, Northport, Oshkosh, Keystone, North Platte, Cozad, Kearney, Ayr and Deshler, Neb., and Washington, Baline, Elmont and Eudora, Kas. In its course the pipe line makes 33 railway crossings, and crosses the Platte, Blue and Kaw rivers.

Radio Broadcasters Are Fast Developing New Type of Singer

A new type of vocal artists, with voices surpassing in quality those of the concert and stage stars, is being developed by radio, according to Miss Eleanor Poehler, musical education leader in the northwest.

For some time Miss Poehler, who is director of a large station in Minneapolis, has been experimenting and trying to develop these "radio voices."

Persons with this type of voice are available for radio work, and yet cannot sing in a big hall because they do not have a sufficient amount of sound volume to fill a large space.

But the system of sound amplification which has made possible the present system of broadcasting can easily supply the volume necessary to sweet singers.

New voices are also popularizing new melodies, Miss Poehler declares. Favorites develop as they do from the stage.

Lincoln Women Favor Carrie Chapman Catt In Magazine Award for Valuable Service

BY LULU MAE COE.

Five thousand dollars!

A goodly sum—

Five thousand dollars equals three hundred dollars per year in solid six per cent investments—

Or a nice shiny car with an expensive name—

Ora modest home with a pocket handkerchief bit of a garden—

Or a year or so of comfortable European travel—

And some time in the not far distant future some American woman is to have that five thousand dollars presented to her—for a car or travel or a home.

Considering the type of woman to whom the money is to be awarded, it isn't probable the money will be used for such luxurious purposes.

It is to be hers to have and to hold from that day forward to use in any manner she wishes, however.

An American woman, who is as yet unchosen, is to receive the award.

Contributor to Civilization.

The announcement of the gift was made recently in one of the women's magazines. The woman must have made the "greatest contribution to American civilization" during the past year. Ida Clyde Clarke, the associate editor of the magazine, who suggested the award, decided that men's lapel buttonholes and shirt fronts had been the repositories of too many ribbons and buttons of honor and that the time had come when the women should have a little recognition.

So, this unknown, but very well-known woman, is to have five thousand dollars presented to her in due time.

It isn't payment for service rendered.

All the gold of a Midas could not pay her for the labor and thought expended, for the sacrifices and rebuffs and mockeries suffered, for the hours of worry and doubt and indecision.

The money is only a recognition of the services she has rendered, a tribute to the benefits she has conferred upon others.

Suggest Great Humantarian.

In an informal discussion on the subject, the other day, a number of names were idly tossed back and forth as possible recipients of the honor. One of the women suggested Miss Anna Goodrich, who has been given a chair at Yale for public health and social work as a humanitarian as suitable for the award. Another mentioned Jane Cowl, although she was rather violently disagreed with, as the others felt the stage was not a force for civilization. "I felt I had received a lovely mental gift," after hearing her, her supporter replied.

Mrs. Cora Stuart of the mountain schools of Kentucky is an educator who might stand high in the list of awards, according to one of the women at the party where the discussion waxed more than eloquent. A prominent club woman mentioned Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minneapolis, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, who is a leader in culture and education.

None of those names were concurred in with such fervor, however, as the name that was not mentioned. Asking some of the prominent local women for their opinion of the most worthy recipient of theh five thousand dollar award, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt led all the rest. By three she was mentioned as the one most fitting and by another she was mentioned as one of three.

Miss Alice Howell chose Mrs. Catt because she has awakened women. Of her, she said:

"Mrs. Catt has aroused women to think and has aroused them to a realization of their responsibilities and their opportunities.

"Her influence is wider than American, it is of the world."

Mrs. Carl Newlon, who is active in the League of Womeen Voters, also mentioned Mrs. Catt first, because her accomplishments are so evident. She left it difficult to choose, as it would depend so much upon the way one would rate different accomplishments.

Promotion of Peace.

"Mrs. Catt," Mrs. Newlon said, "has been so active in the promotion of peace and there could be no greater achievement than bringing about world peace."

The choice of Dr. Laura Pfeiffer of the European history department of the university was also Mrs. Catt.

"To me," she explained, "Mrs. Catt is the most outstanding woman in the United States today. No woman has accomplished so much politically as Mrs. Catt.

"A single year is a limited time for achievement, as the women who are accomplishing things do not limit their activities to years but each year are accomplishing things already begun.

"I do think Mrs. Catt is the leader of all women, however. She was instrumental in gaining suffrage for women and that is the foundation upon which all other women's activities are builded."

Mrs. Annis Chaiken Sorenson, who chose Mrs. Catt as one of three possible winners, said of her choice:

Instrumental in Suffrage.

"I would suggest Mrs. Catt, who visited Lincoln in December, because she has spent the past year visiting South American and Europe, as president of the International Suffrage alliance, which she founded. She met the women in all those countries arousing their interest in establishing world peace."

One woman, who did not wish her name used, suggested Judge Florence Allen, who has been elected a member of the supreme court of Ohio, the only woman to attain this distinction. While the one who offered her name did not feel her contribution had been so great, she had showed what 'women can do and that the self made woman stands as large a show before the bar of public opinion as the self made man.

Mrs. Sorenson made her first choice as the recepient of the magazine award. Mrs. Maud Wood Park. She gave as her reason the following:

"I would choose Mrs. Maud Wood Park because of her work in arousing every woman to a knowledge of her duties as a conscientious citizen. She was instrumental in bringing thousands of younger women into the organization of which she has been the head since 1920 and she is only retiring this year because of physicians' orders.

Taught Real Citizenship.

"Because she is very beautiful and because she has had all the advantages of education and culture, and gave up her work in all other activities to build up the National League of Women Voters, I would suggest her.

"My next choice would be a native Nebraskan, Miss Grace Abbott, who is chief of the Federal Children's bureau and a leader in securing a constitutional amendment concerning child labor.

"Within the past year she was appointed by the late President Harding as a representative of the United States to the League of Nations Committee on International Traffic in Women and Children and she is now president of the National Association of Social Workers, the first woman to be elected to that honor."

Miss Emily Griffiths, head of Denver's Opportunity school, would be a most suitable woman to receive the money in the opinion of Miss Harriet Towne, head of the child welfare department of the schools. This school is one of the finest Americanization projects in the country, for it opens the door to every one to learn any trade he wishes. Miss Griffiths is the founder of the school, supported it when it was a doubtful project, and has remained by it since it has proved itself. There one may go, for an hour, two hours, part of a lunch hour, and receive instruction in almost every branch of known and unknown learning.

"There is nothing in the United States like the opportunity school," Miss Towne said," and there is no such concrete, so real an Americanization influence anywhere.

"I know of no woman who gives so great an amount of personal work to anything and who contributes as much to American civilization as Miss Griffiths.

"She goes into the livees of these hundreds who come to the school and makes America a very real and vital thing to them. Her influence doesn't stop in Denver, but it is nation wide and it doesn't stop with the people who come there, but it goes out to their friends and neighbors and into the next generation, which will learn the principles she teaches."

Jane Addams Named.

Mrs. E. L. Marty, who was recently elected president of the Lincoln Woman's club, chose Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago.

"Jane Addams is our foremost woman, standing out above all others. She has been the means of opening up opportunities to women with whom she has worked and has given real human service to mankind."

Mrs. Newlon has a choice of candidates, and for her last choice she also mentions Jane Addams, who has saved many homes and has promoted national peace. Her other choice is Miss Florence Kelley, of whom she says:

"I would give as one of my candidates Florence Kelley, head of the Consumers' league, who has fought for protective legislation for women and has accomplished many fine things in that line. It was necessary legislation, too, for in many states women have been seriously exploited."

"What India Wants" is the title of a twenty-three page discussion of outstanding political and economic factors in India published in the April issue of The Yale Review by Dean Philo M. Buck of the college of arts and sciences. This article is based on observations made last year by Dean Buck when he spent six months at the University of Bombay as exchange professor of the Carnegie Institute of International Education and from previous residence in the country. Opposing the stolid ignorance of the peasants—their petty economies and indifferences to political progress, is the sweeping and immediate autonomy demanded by the intellectual classes. Dean Buck prophesies that sympathy, trust and understanding will do more to settle the differences of India and English than constant concessions by the administration to assuage Indian pride.

"What India Wants" is to be one of the chapters of a book on India written by Dean Buck which is to be published under the auspices of the Carnegie Institute.

Open only to undergraduates who expect to receive degrees from the American college of liberal arts in June, $1,000 competitive scholarship is announced by the Engineering School of Harvard university. Award will be based on the complete academic record of the applicant submitted to the dean of the School and upon a special three-hour examination covering general physics and mathematics through differential and integral calculus. These examinations will be held May 16 on the home campuses of the applicants, and the papers will be forwarded to Harvard for grading by members of the faculty of the School. Applications should state college record age, and complete plans for future work. This scholarship offers an opportunity for study in nine related departments of Harvard university.

Members of Sigma Xi society of the university and all others interested will be given opportunity to see how liquid air is made and hear of its application in metallurgy, at the regular meeting of the Nebraska chapter in 205 Mechanical Engineering building, Tuesday evening at 8. F. W. Davis, metallurgist of the United States Bureau of Mines, will speak on "Oxygen in Metallurgy," and Prof. W. L. DeBaufre, chairman of the department of mechanical engineering, will demonstrate the process of making liquid air. Mr. Davis, who was detailed from the Bureau of Mines to assist Professor DeBaufre in experimentation on heat transfers at low temperatures, will discuss proposed utilization of oxygen in metallurgical processes. A theoretical analysis has been made by the Bureau showing the effects to be expected from such practices. Minor phases of this study will be discussed by Mr. Davis. Prof. Emma N. Anderson, secretary of the society, announces that the public is invited.

WOMEN AND THE BALLOT

Charles Edward Russell, a veteran political writer, in an article in the March Century, concludes that if woman suffrage has not proved a failure, the results, at least could not justify a claim that it has been successful.

Mr. Russel's article, which is reviewed in the current issue of The Literary Digest, is substantiated in the February Atlantic by George Madden Martin, a woman writer, who asserts that "among American women in general, the country over, there is a lack of interest in public affairs, an apathy, an absence of concern, not so much in the issue at hand as in the principle behind it.

The indictment brought by Mr. Russell is more sweeping in its charges. He writes:

Not one of the disasters has come to pass that four years ago glowered so fearsomely upon the politician's trade. Not a boss has been unseated, not a reactionary committee wrested from the old-time control, not a convention has broken away from its familiar towage. Nothing has been changed, except that the number of docile ballot-droppers has approximately been doubled.

There are no women governors of states, and not the least promise that there will be. No woman has placed in the nation's cabinet, or within miles of it. After four years of woman suffrage the congress of the United States contains one woman member, and she was elected as a tribute of respect to her late husband, a representative who had been suddenly stricken with death after years of public service.

In the congressional election of 1922, only twenty-eight women were candidates for seats. Of the twenty-two that sought places in the house of representatives, one was elected to fill out her late father's unexpired term of a few weeks, but defeated for the long term. All the rest, and the six candidates for the senate, missed election by astonishing margins.

One thing was demonstrated: women would not vote for women.

For the state offices to be filled at this election, totaling many thousands, there were nominated all told 225 women of whom 153 were candidates of the two major parties that alone had a chance to win. The only conspicuous achievement from this was the election in Ohio of an eminent and capable woman lawyer to a place on the supreme court bench of the state. But she had been for years a judge in a lower court. In the forty-eight states nearly five thousand members of legislatures were chosen, and of these only sixty-three were women. Two of the states reported no women elected to anything; two others reported that there were no women candidates for any office. In twenty-six state legislatures not a woman sits after four years of woman suffrage.

Instead of forming half of the effective electorate in the presidential election of 1920, it is to be doubted if women composed anything like their normal share of it. Only 49 per cent of the qualified electors went to the polls that year, anyway, and by common report the greater number of absentees were women. Apparently these did not care enough about any public duty to vote. When the election returns were analyzed, they seemed to show that the heaviest balloting by women was for men who had most vigorously opposed their political emancipation.

• • •

It would be futile to attempt to controvert Mr. Russell's facts.

They are a part of the record.

His conclusion that the absence of women from official life is an indication that suffrage has failed, is illogical. Not even the most ardent advocate of equal suffrage ever ventured to suggest that the halls of congress, or the offices in the capitols of the various states, should be filled with women. If women have failed to rally behind their own sex in the contests for political office, it has been largely due to a realization that the newly enfranchised citizens very generally have not had the experience in public affairs which is essential to successful administration, and the performance of legislative responsibilities.

The greatest force back of the demand that women be enfranchised was the belief that their ballot would add a moral influence to politics, which was lacking when only men cast the vote. Suffrage was given to the women because it was thought that they could introduce a moral and spiritual regeneration in the political life of the country. Home life itself was undergoing serious transformation. Since 1880, the drift of population from rural communities to cities; the sudden transition throughout the entire nation of thousands of families from moderate circumstances to positions of comparative wealth and ease—the problems which these conditions raised were of such consequence that woman's voice was desired in the political measures designed to present needed reforms.

The disappointment, which has very naturally arisen as a result of the enfranchisement of woman, and her very general failure to avail herself of the ballot, is due to the fact that she has failed to show independence of action.

In Nebraska, at least, she has voted in a large measure as her husband, father or brother advised her. She has not pretended to give serious thought and consideration to the issues. Her conclusions are arrived at by her husband; she votes his sentiments. Instead of casting one ballot, he has voted two. The registration in this state is ample evidence of this fact. Since the suffrage amendment has been effective, the republican vote in Nebraska has been about doubled and the same thing holds true of the democratic party. She cannot pose as an independent. She has accepted both of the old political parties as they were. She has made no effort to make her influence felt within or without their ranks She has had no political convictions of her own

On the supreme moral issue before this nation since the suffrage amendment was approved—the effort to avert war—she has shown herself subject to the same blinding prejudices which cloud the judgment of men.

It is not a dismal picture at that. The woman voter has not shown a greater degree of ignorance than man; she has not shirked her responsibilities at the polls to any greater degree than man; she is, as the New York Times remarks "still as gentle, as feminine, and as lovable as ever."

She has failed only because those who fought for her cause led America to expect too much. We are still old-fashioned enough to confess that if her political education must be accomplished at the secrifice of those things which have always caused American men to revere and cherish her, we hope she will always fail to fulfill the expectations of some of those who would cast her in a different role.

OVERCOMING NATURE.

Announcement ofthe completion of the tunnel through Scotts Bluff mountain, the last link in an irrigation ditch which is expected to place water on 15,000 acres of land in that part of western Nebraska, again directs attention to what is being done to overcome nature in numerous reclamation projects throughout America.

The tunnel is 6,600 feet long, 10 feet high and 16 feet across. No statement relative to its actual cost has been made public. It is a part of one of the government's reclamation projects and falls within the Fort Laramie district, though all of the land to be irrigated lies within the state of Nebraska.

The obstacles which had to be overcome in order to bring water to these arid acres raises the question whether the project can be made to be a profitable venture.

In the same issue of the paper in which announcement was made of the completion of the irrigation tunnel, the long-expected report of Secretary Work of the interior department, with reference to reclamation matters, appeared. Three of the fifteen irrigation projects in western states have failed, Mr. Work said, in commenting on the findings of the special commission which had been appointed to investigate. The total expenditure of governmental funds in these fifteen projects is given at $143,000,000. Of this amount, the government should not charge off $18,361,146 as a total loss, he says. There is also a probable loss of $8,830,000 on other projects which give little promise of proving successful. In all of its reclamation work the government will probably sustain a loss of $27,391,146. That is by far too high a percentage.

These figures are cited in support of the contention that in a number of instances reclamation work has been undertaken without due examination of the probable results. Ditches have been constructed at enormous expense to water land, which is of little value, and which, because of the peculiar elements of the soil, will not produce sufficient crops to defray the cost of the work.

It is of interest to note that Nebraska does not appear in the list of states, where reclamation projects are likely to result in loss. The report of the experts to Secretary Work, which he in turn has made public, indicates that all of the irrigation projects in this state, have proved successful.

Modification of the terms of payment for the project by the settlers on the land is practically certain to result. Many of those, who own irrigated lands in the western part of this state, will need more time to complete their payments. Unquestionably the government will be content to spread the payment over a longer period of time. It owes this much to the settlers for the estimates of costs by the engineers were far from correct. There are certain changes in the matter of penalties for payment on the specified date which must also be materially altered. These changes will not cost the government anything, however. They will make it possible for all of the settlers to meet their obligations.

Possibly the Scotts Bluff's project, which entailed tunneling under the mountain in order to bring water to 15,000 acres of land, may pay out. It, at least, is the only project in Nebraska where any question may be raised as to its practicability. It is one of those projects, however, where it must be admitted, there is a considerable doubt as to whether the government is warranted in making the huge expenditure required.

Reclamation is sound in principle and the policy of reclaiming lands, which will be needed to even a greater degree when all of the remaining unsettled tracts are taken up, should not be jeopardized by the unfortunate results in some instances.

THE RAILROADS.

No other single industry has been the football of politics to a greater degree than the railroads. Two proposals of far-reaching importance are now pending with reference to the carriers.

One is the policy which has been formulated by the interstate commerce commission, looking toward a consolidation of the railroads, and the grouping of "weak" and "strong" lines. The net result would be to place a heavy burden on such well-managed and profitable properties as the Burlington and the Union Pacific. It strikes directly at the policy of individualism. This linking of interests is a doubtful step, and certainly detrimental to the interests of the middle western states, where the carriers would be forced to assume the burdens of less prosperous lines in other parts of the country.

The other is the demand for regulatory rate legislation of a drastic nature. Unquestionably there is urgent need for a reduction in freight rates on certain commodities. The cost of grain shipments is out of all proportion, and the carriers should voluntarily make substantial reductions in these schedules. The demand has crystalized in a movement for the repeal of the Esch-Cummins transportation act. Modification and amendment of the law are sure to come, and are highly desirable. Complete repeal of it may result in serious injury.

If it had not been for the vast programs of improvement undertaken by the American railroads a year ago, conditions in this country would have been much more serious. The carriers have contributed in a large way to the prosperity of this country. Their value to a community is well known, but the extent to which they enter the industrial life of this nation is not generally appreciated.

The railroads employ 1,900,000 people, and the compensation of employes in 1923 aggregated $3,064,000,000. They paid over $336,000,000 in taxes in 1923. The improvement programs which they carried out in the twelve month period called for an expenditure of $1,075,000,000. They represent a property investment of $22,000,000,000—including nearly 400,000 miles of single track, 65,000 locomotives, 2,400,000 freight cars, and 55,000 passenger cars. They used over 111,000,000 tons of coal and 1,921,000,000 gallons of oil, and 9,000,000 tons of steel.

In 1923, they placed into service 197,575 freight cars and 4,037 locomotives. The 1924 program already arranged for calls for 510 locomotives and 25,619 freight cars. The purchase of supplies and materials for the single year aggregated $1,800,000,000.

It was an unrivalled year in the history of American transportation. In the twelve months, 988,000,000 passengers were carried over the lines, and 2,400,000,000 tons of freight transported.

Anything touching upon the welfare and continued progress of an industry of this magnitude calls for calm, sound judgment instead of the destructive prejudices and passions engendered in the heat of political campaigns.

WHY THE "FOURTH OF MARCH."

The proposition now before congress to change the date of inauguration of the president from March 4, to the third Monday in January, inspired the Trade Record of the National City bank of New York city to conduct an investigation as to why the former date happened to be fixed for the inaugural ceremonies.

The final session of the old Congress of the Confederacy was held in New York city. It had held sessions in no less than eight different cities and towns. During its last session in July 1788, it received notice that enough of the states had ratified the new constitution and it immediately adopted a resolution that the selection of presidential electors by the various states should occur on "the first Wednesday of January, 1789," and these electors should cast their ballots for president on the "first Wednesday of February," and the president thus elected should be inaugurated on the "first Wednesday in March."

It so happened that the first Wednesday in March of that year fell on the "Fourth of March."

The date for the inauguration fixed by the expiring Confederacy has endured although the conditions which dictated it have long since disappeared.

Dispatches state that "precautions have been taken to assure ample light at the republican national convention." Some one has been misinformed. Those shady deals were not pulled off on the convention floor.

It seems that the titled Europeans who have lost their fortunes are willing to do almost anything that doesn't make it necessary for them to work.

Curiosity is the thing which may cause the world to slap you on the back or the individual to slap you in the face.

STEPHEN LEACOCK

Wild Indian Life In The Canvas Woods.

Where the Historical Drama Reaches Its Zenith. Out-Shakespearing Shakespeare.

After all there is nothing like the Historical Drama! Say what you will about moving pictures or high-speed vaudeville, they never have the same air and class to them. For me, as soon as I see upon the program "A tucket sounds!" I am all attention, and when it says "Enter Queen Elizabeth to the sound of Hoboes, I am thrilled.

What does it matter if the queen's attendants seem to speak as if they came from Yonkers? There is dignity about it all the same. When you have, moving in front of you on the stage, people of the class of Louis Quatorze, Henry Quinze, Oliver Cromwell and Mary Queen of Scots, you feel somehow as if they were distinctly superior to such characters as Big-hearted Jim, and Shifty Pete and Meg of the Bowery and Inspector Corcoran. Perhaps they are.

• • •

But we must not suppose for a minute that history has any monopoly of dramatic interest. We have recently discovered that right here on the North American continent there is material teeming with dramatic interest. Any quantity of it. In fact it begins right at the start of our history and goes right on.

Seventeen First Class Entries.

Consider the aborignal Indian: what a figure for tragedy. Few people perhaps realize that no less than seventeen first-class tragedies, each as good as Shakespeare's, and all in blank verse, have been written about the Indians. They have to be in blank verse. There was something about the primitive Indian that invited it. It was the real way to express him.

Unfortunately these Indian tragedies are ahead of the age. Most of the managers to whom they have been submitted say that as yet there is no stage really suitable for them, and no actors capable of acting them, and no spectators capable of sitting for them. Here is a sample of such a tragedy.

METTAWAMKEAG.

An Indian Tragedy.

Th scene is laid on the shore of Lake Mettawamkeag near the junction of the Peticodiac, and the Passamoquidiac rivers. The sun is rising.
Enter Areopagitica, an Indian chief.
With The Encyclopedia—a brave of the Appendixes.
And Pilaffe de Volaille, a French Coureur des bois.

• • •

Arcopagitica:
Hail, vernal sun, that thus with trailing beam
Illuminates with gold the flaming east,
Hail, too, cerulean sky that touched with fire
Expels th' acumulate cloud of vanished night.
The Encyclopedia: Hail Oh Hail.
Pilaffe de Volaille: Hele! Oh hele.
Areopagitica:
All nature seems to leap with morn to song.
Tempting to gladness the awakening bird,
E'en the dark cedar feels the gladsome hour
And the light larch pulsates on every frond.
Who art thou? Whence? And whither goes thou?
Pilaffe de Volaille:
Thrice three revolving suns have waxed and waned
Since first I wended hither from afar,
Nor knowing not, nor caring aught, if here or there,
Who am I? One that is. Whence come I? From beyond.
The restless main whose hyper boreal tide
Leaves const and climes unknown,
Oh Chief, to thy sagacity.
From France I came.
Areopagitica: Hail!

(What Pilaffe de Volaille means is that he has been out here for nine years and lives near Mettawamkeag. But there is such a size and feeling about this other way of saying it, that it seems a shame that dramas of this kind can't be acted.))

After they have all said "Oh Hail!" and "Oh Hele," as many times as is necessary. Areopagitica and The Encyclopedia take Pilaffe de Volaille to the Lodge of the Appendixes.

There he is entertained on hot dog. And there he meets Sparkling Soda Water, the daughter of Areopagitica.

After the feast the two wander out into the moonlight together beside the waterfall. Love steals into their hearts. Pilaffe de Volaille invokes the moon.

"Thou silver orb whose incandescent face,
Smiles on the bosom of the turgid flood
Look deep into mine heart and search if aught
Less pure than thy white beam inspires its love,
Soda, be mine!"
Soda Water speaks:
Alas! What words are these! What thought is this!
Thy meaning what? Unskilled to know,
My simple woods can find no answer to the hearts appeal.
Where am I at?
Pilaffe de volaille: Flee with me.
Soda Water: Alas!
Pilaffe: Flée.
Soda Water (invoking the constellations of the Zodiac):
Ye glimmering lights that from the Milky Way
To the tall zenith of the utmost pole
Illume the vault of heaven and indicate
The inclination of the axis of the earth
Showing sidereal time and the mean measurement
Of the earth's parallax,
Help me.
Pilaffe de Volaille (in despair):
"Oh hele!"

Both the lovers know that their tragic love is hopeless. For them, marriage is out of the question. De Volaille is sprung from an old French family, with eight quarters of noble birth, a high average even at a time when most people were well born. He cannot ally himself with anything less white than himself On the other hand, Sparkling Soda knows that, after the customs of her time, her father has pledged her hand to the Enoyclopedia. She cannot marry a pale face.

Thus, what might have been a happy marriage, is queered from the start. Each is too well born to stoop to the other. This often happens.

Standing thus in the moonlight beside the waterfall, the lovers are surprised by Areopagitica and The Encyclopedia. In despair Sparkling Soda leaps into the flood. The noble Encyclopedia plunges headlong after her into the boiling water and is boiled. De Volaille flees.

Areopagitica vows vengeance. Staining himself with grape juice, he declares war of extermination against the white race. The camp of the French are surprised in a night attack. Pilaffe de Volaille, fighting with the courage of his race, is pierced with an Indian arrow. He expires on the spot, leaving just time before he dies to prophesy in blank verse the future greatness of the United States.

Areopagitical standing among the charred ruins of the stockade fort and gazing upon the faces of the dead, invokes the nebular Hypothesis and prophesies clearly the League of Nations.

The Nebraska Press

Sound Reading Habits.

(Fremont Tribune.)

One librarian, in a community of more than 300,000 population, has a good deal of confidence in the soundness of the reading habits of his fellow citizens. He bases his faith on the number of books of certain kinds that are issued to patrons. In 1923, he finds, citizens borrowed from the library five times as many books on religious subjects as in 1913, seventeen times as many books on useful arts, six times as many volumes of fiction and poetry, five times as many books on sociology and political science, economics and education, nine times as many books on the fine arts, four times as many books each of travel, biography and the natural sciences, and three times as many books on philosophy.

Fiction, compared with the other topics individually, is holding its own; but fiction as part of the whole mass seems to hold a rather lowly place in the public reading list. Instead of reading a lot of fiction and a smattering of scientific and other works, people are reading only a normal amount of fiction and a large assortment of other things.

Pessimists maintain that such fiction as is being read is all of the trashy sort. But that, too, isn't true. Trash is read, of course, but good fiction—current and of earlier periods—is not neglected.

No one will be surprised at these figures except the busybodies who have been making a big fuss about the frivolity of the times and the hopelessness of public taste.

Thurston Reduced Taxes.

(Central City Nonpareil.)

A special advance release of a story to appear in the April issue of Farm and Fireside reached our desk last week-end, containing an account of the manner in which Thurston county clarified their tax situation. While it is not possible for us to publish the story in full, nevertheless we feel that the gist of it would well be worth the time of the Nonpareil readers.

Thurston county is in northwestern Nebraska. Following the war depression, citizens complained about taxes, grew suspicious and later radical. The situation was bad, and getting daily worse. The farm bureau and a few citizens investigated the matter.

First they published a statement of taxes, showing where each cent of taxes came from, that is, what per centage was taken for state, city, county and school purposes, together with an explanation of general totals. This served to let people know where their money was being spent.

Next they posted in public places a copy of the tax schedules for each man in the county. The public had juicy reading for weeks, and many people were kidded for listing a $200 diamond ring at $25 or a $150 hunting outfit at $20, etc. The result was that the following yearly schedules included practically every article of value listed at a fair value. In this way, assessments were actually reduced on those who had previously rendered a fair return.

The third action was in regard to bridges. Thurston had lost scores of bridges by floods, and warrants for over $100,000 had been issued without funds to satisfy them, alarming the people. Investigation committees involved the material, planks, nails, bolts, etc., in each bridge. These figures were set before the bridge contractors and allowances were made by the contractors.

Aside from the actual savings, the increased public interest and understanding was worth much.

Woman's Place of Power.

(Fremont Tribune.)

Galli-Curci, the famous singer, despite her successful "career," is not at all impressed with women's demand for sex equality." She thinks that in this frenzied quest of careers and all that goes with them, women are losing power; not gaining it. She says woman is undermining man's chivalry and is losing her natural superiority in her own sphere by invading man's sphere

"I think the effort is due," says the singer, in a New York Times interview, "to the old superstition that man had the best of the bargain in life. As a matter of fact, God was far more generous to woman than to man, but you cannot expect her to believe that without finding out. This experiment in modernism was inevitable. Nothing can be gained except through experience. But I am afraid that woman will not see what she is losing until too late.

"To become a bad imitation of a man is neither original nor clever. To do the things men do just for the sake of showing them we can do them—how foolish, when we have a job of our own that no one but women can possibly do! Yet she runs after other things; she cries that she wants some 'real work' in the world.

"Perhaps she can do things in the outside world superlatively well. All right. But the home is still her kingdom, and if she doesn't occupy herself with it, who is capable of taking her place? Men need the home, children need it, the woman herself needs it. The whole world today needs it and is beginning to suffer from the lack of it. Besides, it offers to woman far more power than she could acquire anywhere else."

Many women today do not seem to know this, or do not care. It is good to have so successful a woman as Galli-Curci come out so plainly with this simple, old-fashioned truth.

What A Tree Means.

(Johnson County Journal.)

To some folks a tree is just a tree, a stick of wood carrying foliage. If it is slightly in the way, they remorselessly cut it down, as if it had no value other than firewood.

To others a tree is a spot of refreshment in the heats of summer, a touch of beauty out of the hands of God in the towns that man has made. Many of the older trees are associated with people now gone who planted them years ago, and left this noble monument to their love for their home towns. The older places have famous trees that go back in early history, like the Washington elm recently removed in Cambridge, Mass., which dated back to days when this country consisted only of a few scattered colonies.

The trese of Tecumseh are one of this community's most valuable possessions. They transform the scenes of daily life into homey neighborhoods, and give the touch of affection to streets that otherwise might seem prosaic. Our people should watch carefully over these trees, and see that they get the best protection that can be given against the insect enemies that raise so much havoc.

Life Imprisonment.

(Nebraska City Press.)

The iniquity of the criminal law as it has been so often applied in Nebraska was demonstrated in Omaha the other day when the murderer of a policeman, a muderer who struck viciously and without warning, was sentenced to serve a life term instead of having been sent to the electric chair, the fate the evidence indicated he deserved. The operation of the criminal law in Omaha makes out-state folks wonder sometimes. It seems to be difficult to adequately punish denizens of the underworld who defy constituted authority and on occasion, ruthlessly slaughter policemen who are doing their duty. It is increasingly difficult for a police officer to do his duty with an open mind as long as the slayers of his pals escape so easily. Life imprisonment in Nebraska means service of from 13 to 17 years in the penitentiary; then there is an opportunity to go right out and do it all over again.

What's the Difference.

What difference is there in a Fall, Denby or a Daugherty securing their share of plunder and loot through oil, booze and prize fight film manipulations, if they so did, and a Mellon, who receives a million dollars if his ideas in taxation matters prevail? And what's the difference between Fall's grab and the big tariff barons' grab when they can boost their income a couple of billion dollars a year via a high protective tariff? If the grabbing is good for one fellow, why isn't it good for the other? But they tell us what is the difference between a legalized grab and any other when they both come from the pockets of the people.

Politics.

(Bennet Sun)

Politics is rotten. We hear that statement often. But the condition of politics is just what the voters allow it to be. This Nebraska soil is fairly filled with weed seeds too, and a man's farm will produce chiefly weeds if he permits it. Who grows the most weeds? The sick man who is not able to work and the man of energy will not work and the man of energy who uses it at something else. This is the people's government. Who allows politics to be rotten Let's elect men big enough and square enough to be unswerved by the men around them when they are away from home.

Sometimes you are morally certain a man is guilty but you can't prove it. He is sharp enough to keep out of the clutches of the law. Catching some of these oil besmirched politicians is a strenuous task—like catching a greased pig.

HOME AND MOTHER.

How oft I sit and ponder,
In the shadow of waning day,
And the thoughts of home and mother,
Of sweet meadows far away,
Fill my heart with tender yearning,
And I bow my head and pray,
That some day I'll be returning,
To my home of yesterday.

To that house among the flowers,
With my dear mother by the door,
Just to spend a sunny hour,
As I did in days of yore,
Just to hear the wild birds singing,
Their plaintive song of sweet refrain,
Just to hear the school bell ringing,
To see the fields of waving grain.

Just to hear the brook a singing,
As it flows upon its way,
When I with hickory pole and hook,
Had naught to do but play.
Just for the starlit heavens,
For the rock, the hills and trees,
For the perfume of sweet flowers,
Wafted to me on the breeze.

Just to hear the song at twilight,
That my mother sang to me,
As she pressed me to her loving breast,
And caressed me tenderly,
All the riches in this land of ours,
Would mean but naught to me,
I fbut for one fleeting hour,
I could sit at mother's knee.

Is Unconstitutional?

CHICAGO, Ill., April 10.—To the editor of The Star: I have read your editorial of April 3, concerning the McNary-Haugen bill and its sanity is refreshing.

My opinion may not be of any particular interest to you but it does seem to me that a sufficient answer to the proponents of this bill is, that while the farmer may be in rather an unfavorable situation at the present time any improvement of his condition can hardly be justified at the expense of a violation of every principle upon which this government is founded. The proposition appeals to most people who have carefully considered this bill as entirely unconstitutional, but this fact seems to be wholly disregarded by many who feel that its passage will immediately bring to them a sudden pecuniary advantage

Yours very truly,
G. P. ARNDT.

Women and Jury Duty.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 10.—To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: The editorial written responsible for the "Jury Service for Women" editorial in Sunday's Star has a protection complex which would have been more appreciated in the past than in this day of women lawyers and women judges—and so why not women jurors? He would save us from a duty which we do not wish to shirk. It has long been conceded that the virtues and the vices are not confined to one sex, so why should sex be made one of the qualifications for any of the duties of citizenship? Nebraska women want full equality and all of the duties and responsibility that go with citizenship.

"If you haven's women juror's law in your state, work for one. If you are entitled to jury duty, exercise the right."

That is the advice of Miss Belle Sherwin, of Cleveland, vice president of the National League of Women Voters, to women voters of the country. From her own experiences of two weeks on jury service in criminal and civil cases in Cleveland, Miss Sherwin says jury duty is an educational experience which should not be denied to any woman.

"Women take their jury service seriously," Miss Sherwin says, and adds:

"They show a desire to administer strict justice. I have seen no evidence of undue emotionalism, one way or the other, swaying women jurors. The sensible woman shows precisely the same desire to unearth the facts that sensible men do. Neither sex has a monopoly of the virtues. I do not believe men reach decisions only after a due process of reasoning. On that score I believe women are quite as well qualified as men to serve

"The women I served with seemed to wish above all things to do the fair and just thing to all concerned. Most emphatically they are not failures, and I urge women to seize the opportunity of jury service for its great educational value, if for no other reason. The whole question of women's jury service is really one step toward universal justice, one of the highest of American ideals."

FREDA M. DAVIS,
Pres. Neb., League of Women Voters.

Here and There

A Mauna Loa At Home.

(R. W. Limbert in National Geographic Magazine.)

In the West the term "Lava Beds of Idaho" has always signified a region to be shunned by even the most venturesome travelers—a land supposedly barren of vegetation, destitute of water, devoid of animal life and lacking in scenic interest.

In reality the region has slight resemblance to its imagined aspect Its vegetation is mostly hidden in pockets, but when found consists of pines, cedars, junipers and sage brush. Its water is hidden deep in tanks or holes at the bottom of large "blowouts" and is found only by following old Indian or mountain sheep trails or by watching the flight of birds as they drop into these places to quench their thirst. The animal life consists principally of migrant birds, rock rabbits, woodchucks, black and grizzly bears. Its scenery is impressive in its grandeur.

A glance at a map of Idaho shows that the southern part of the state, lying betwen Arco and Carey and north of Minidoka, is a vast region labeled desert or rolling plateau.

Although almost totally unknown at present, this region is destined some day to attract tourists from all America, for its lava flows are as interesting as those of Vesuvius, Mauna Loa or Kilauea.

The district consists of some sixty-three volcanic craters, lava and cinder cones, all at present extinct or dormant. The largest and most conspicuous is 600 feet high, rising in the midst of a belt of craters two or three miles wide and thirty miles long. The craters or cones are close together in the north and west; in the south they are miles apart.

That a region of such size and scenic peculiarity, in the heart of the great Northwest could have remained practically unknown and unexplored is extraordinary.

That Marriage Problem Solved.

(From "A Guide for the Greedy," by A Greedy Woman.)

"Today women, as a rule, think all too little of the art of eating. They neglect the bond of union love of eating weaves between man and wife. A wedded pair with this taste in common have once a day at least a pleasant opportunity of meeting. Sport has been pronounced a closer tie than religion, but what of food? Let men and women look to it that at table delicious sympathy makes them one, and marriage will cease to be a failure. If they agree upon their sauces and salads, what matter if they disagree upon mere questions of conduct and finance?"

Daylight Saving in a Nutshell

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.
Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

Every year about this time breaks out the conflict of interests between those who want to "save daylight" the state legislature standing for Joshua)—and those wro prefer to save it, when they need to, or want to, by simply getting up earlier in Summer than in Winter, in accordance with the regular habit of the day-making sun.

I have my opinion, but I wish only to present some fundamental facts which will enable anyone to make up his own mind on the subject.

To begin with, it must be understood that clocking is, at best, a compromise with the sun, being based upon the theory of a "mean sun," which is assumed never to vary in its apparent movement. This requires certain sacrifices of accordance between clocking and true time, which, fortunately are never very great, only about a quarter of an hour in the extreme. But, then, comes another averaging adpustment which is more serious in its departures from the truth, but nevertheless is so very convenient that all are glad to disregard its shotcoming.

This is the system of standard time, a necessary compromise imposed by the fact that in our age every man is virtually an inhabitant of the whole globe, and not simply of a fixed spot upon it.

Nobody would think of abolishing clocktime or standard time; but "daylight saving time" presents a different proposition, for it does not stand upon the same broad, incontestable basis of unvarying necessity and convenience that the others sity and convenience that the others occupy, but is a measure of admittedly temporary usefulness, by no means equally applicable to the interests or desires of the whole people.

What "daylight saving" really does, as all must know, is by law to change the hour of rising in the morning, and to compel all business, all occupations and all pleasures to adjust themselves to the consequences of this arbitrary enactment. Perhaps the most striking statement summing up the effect of this system is that it so far falsifies the true relation of the sun—the only begetter of daylight—to the day that the assumed time of noon is pushed an hour ahead of real noon, and the afternoon is stretched to a length two hours greater than the forenoon.

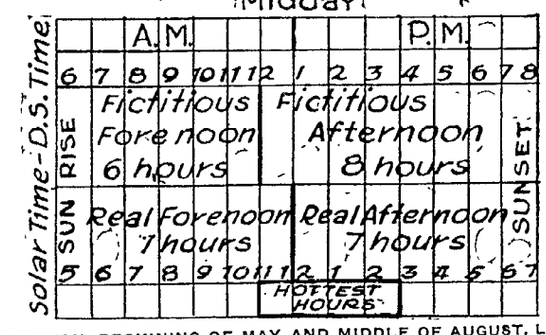

I disregard the fact that when added to the extreme error introduced by standard time "daylight saving" may misplace the sun as much as an hour and a half, and so make the afternoon three hours longer than the forenoon.

The accompanying diagram will aid in understanding the effect By the very nature of the case, real afternoon and forenoon are of equal length, noon dividing daylight into two corresponding parts But when an hour is subtracted from the morning, and added to the afternoon as the diagram shows, an inequality of two hours is created.

I have not space for the many effects of this distortion upon the needs and enjoyments of life and I simply call attention to one other thing brought out by the diagram viz the distribution of the hottest hours of the day. These may be included between 11 a. m., and 3 p. m, solar time.

Now observe how, by solar time, one of these hot hours is finished before the midday cessation of labor, a second passes by during the customary hour of non rest; and only two remain to be dealt with in the afternoon.

Then look at the distribution of the hottest hours by the "daylight-saving" plan. All four fall after noon, and three remain after the noon rest-hour has passed.

WOMEN AND THE BALLOT

Charles Edward Russell, a veteran political writer, in an article in the March Century, concludes that if woman suffrage has not proved a failure, the results, at least could not justify a claim that it has been successful.

Mr. Russel's article, which is reviewed in the current issue of The Literary Digest, is substantiated in the February Atlantic by George Madden Martin, a woman writer, who asserts that "among American women in general, the country over, there is a lack of interest in public affairs, an apathy, an absence of concern, not so much in the issue at hand as in the principle behind it.

The indictment brought by Mr. Russell is more sweeping in its charges. He writes:

Not one of the disasters has come to pass that four years ago glowered so fearsomely upon the politician's trade. Not a boss has been unseated, not a reactionary committee wrested from the old-time control, not a convention has broken away from its familiar towage. Nothing has been changed, except that the number of docile ballot-droppers has approximately been doubled.

There are no women governors of states, and not the least promise that there will be. No woman has placed in the nation's cabinet, or within miles of it. After four years of woman suffrage the congress of the United States contains one woman member, and she was elected as a tribute of respect to her late husband, a representative who had been suddenly stricken with death after years of public service.

In the congressional election of 1922, only twenty-eight women were candidates for seats. Of the twenty-two that sought places in the house of representatives, one was elected to fill out her late father's unexpired term of a few weeks, but defeated for the long term. All the rest, and the six candidates for the senate, missed election by astonishing margins.

One thing was demonstrated: women would not vote for women.

For the state offices to be filled at this election, totaling many thousands, there were nominated all told 225 women of whom 153 were candidates of the two major parties that alone had a chance to win. The only conspicuous achievement from this was the election in Ohio of an eminent and capable woman lawyer to a place on the supreme court bench of the state. But she had been for years a judge in a lower court. In the forty-eight states nearly five thousand members of legislatures were chosen, and of these only sixty-three were women. Two of the states reported no women elected to anything; two others reported that there were no women candidates for any office. In twenty-six state legislatures not a woman sits after four years of woman suffrage.

Instead of forming half of the effective electorate in the presidential election of 1920, it is to be doubted if women composed anything like their normal share of it. Only 49 per cent of the qualified electors went to the polls that year, anyway, and by common report the greater number of absentees were women. Apparently these did not care enough about any public duty to vote. When the election returns were analyzed, they seemed to show that the heaviest balloting by women was for men who had most vigorously opposed their political emancipation.

• • •

It would be futile to attempt to controvert Mr. Russell's facts.

They are a part of the record.

His conclusion that the absence of women from official life is an indication that suffrage has failed, is illogical. Not even the most ardent advocate of equal suffrage ever ventured to suggest that the halls of congress, or the offices in the capitols of the various states, should be filled with women. If women have failed to rally behind their own sex in the contests for political office, it has been largely due to a realization that the newly enfranchised citizens very generally have not had the experience in public affairs which is essential to successful administration, and the performance of legislative responsibilities.

The greatest force back of the demand that women be enfranchised was the belief that their ballot would add a moral influence to politics, which was lacking when only men cast the vote. Suffrage was given to the women because it was thought that they could introduce a moral and spiritual regeneration in the political life of the country. Home life itself was undergoing serious transformation. Since 1880, the drift of population from rural communities to cities; the sudden transition throughout the entire nation of thousands of families from moderate circumstances to positions of comparative wealth and ease—the problems which these conditions raised were of such consequence that woman's voice was desired in the political measures designed to present needed reforms.

The disappointment, which has very naturally arisen as a result of the enfranchisement of woman, and her very general failure to avail herself of the ballot, is due to the fact that she has failed to show independence of action.

In Nebraska, at least, she has voted in a large measure as her husband, father or brother advised her. She has not pretended to give serious thought and consideration to the issues. Her conclusions are arrived at by her husband; she votes his sentiments. Instead of casting one ballot, he has voted two. The registration in this state is ample evidence of this fact. Since the suffrage amendment has been effective, the republican vote in Nebraska has been about doubled and the same thing holds true of the democratic party. She cannot pose as an independent. She has accepted both of the old political parties as they were. She has made no effort to make her influence felt within or without their ranks She has had no political convictions of her own

On the supreme moral issue before this nation since the suffrage amendment was approved—the effort to avert war—she has shown herself subject to the same blinding prejudices which cloud the judgment of men.

It is not a dismal picture at that. The woman voter has not shown a greater degree of ignorance than man; she has not shirked her responsibilities at the polls to any greater degree than man; she is, as the New York Times remarks "still as gentle, as feminine, and as lovable as ever."

She has failed only because those who fought for her cause led America to expect too much. We are still old-fashioned enough to confess that if her political education must be accomplished at the secrifice of those things which have always caused American men to revere and cherish her, we hope she will always fail to fulfil the expectations of some of those who would cast her in a different role.

OVERCOMING NATURE.

Announcement ofthe completion of the tunnel through Scotts Bluff mountain, the last link in an irrigation ditch which is expected to place water on 15,000 acres of land in that part of western Nebraska, again directs attention to what is being done to overcome nature in numerous reclamation projects throughout America.

The tunnel is 6,600 feet long, 10 feet high and 16 feet across. No statement relative to its actual cost has been made public. It is a part of one of the government's reclamation projects and falls within the Fort Laramie district, though all of the land to be irrigated lies within the state of Nebraska.

The obstacles which had to be overcome in order to bring water to these arid acres raises the question whether the project can be made to be a profitable venture.

In the same issue of the paper in which announcement was made of the completion of the irrigation tunnel, the long-expected report of Secretary Work of the interior department, with reference to reclamation matters, appeared. Three of the fifteen irrigation projects in western states have failed, Mr. Work said, in commenting on the findings of the special commission which had been appointed to investigate. The total expenditure of governmental funds in these fifteen projects is given at $143,000,000. Of this amount, the government should not charge off $18,361,146 as a total loss, he says. There is also a probable loss of $8,830,000 on other projects which give little promise of proving successful. In all of its reclamation work the government will probably sustain a loss of $27,391,146. That is by far too high a percentage.

These figures are cited in support of the contention that in a number of instances reclamation work has been undertaken without due examination of the probable results. Ditches have been constructed at enormous expense to water land, which is of little value, and which, because of the peculiar elements of the soil, will not produce sufficient crops to defray the cost of the work.

It is of interest to note that Nebraska does not appear in the list of states, where reclamation projects are likely to result in loss. The report of the experts to Secretary Work, which he in turn has made public, indicates that all of the irrigation projects in this state, have proved successful.

Modification of the terms of payment for the project by the settlers on the land is practically certain to result. Many of those, who own irrigated lands in the western part of this state, will need more time to complete their payments. Unquestionably the government will be content to spread the payment over a longer period of time. It owes this much to the settlers for the estimates of costs by the engineers were far from correct. There are certain changes in the matter of penalties for payment on the specified date which must also be materially altered. These changes will not cost the government anything, however. They will make it possible for all of the settlers to meet their obligations.

Possibly the Scotts Bluff's project, which entailed tunneling under the mountain in order to bring water to 15,000 acres of land, may pay out. It, at least, is the only project in Nebraska where any question may be raised as to its practicability. It is one of those projects, however, where it must be admitted, there is a considerable doubt as to whether the government is warranted in making the huge expenditure required.

Reclamation is sound in principle and the policy of reclaiming lands, which will be needed to even a greater degree when all of the remaining unsettled tracts are taken up, should not be jeopardized by the unfortunate results in some instances.

THE RAILROADS.

No other single industry has been the football of politics to a greater degree than the railroads. Two proposals of far-reaching importance are now pending with reference to the carriers.

One is the policy which has been formulated by the interstate commerce commission, looking toward a consolidation of the railroads, and the grouping of "weak" and "strong" lines. The net result would be to place a heavy burden on such well-managed and profitable properties as the Burlington and the Union Pacific. It strikes directly at the policy of individualism. This linking of interests is a doubtful step, and certainly detrimental to the interests of the middle western states, where the carriers would be forced to assume the burdens of less prosperous lines in other parts of the country.

The other is the demand for regulatory rate legislation of a drastic nature. Unquestionably there is urgent need for a reduction in freight rates on certain commodities. The cost of grain shipments is out of all proportion, and the carriers should voluntarily make substantial reductions in these schedules. The demand has crystalized in a movement for the repeal of the Esch-Cummins transportation act. Modification and amendment of the law are sure to come, and are highly desirable. Complete repeal of it may result in serious injury.

If it had not been for the vast programs of improvement undertaken by the American railroads a year ago conditions in this country would have been much more serious. The carriers have contributed in a large way to the prosperity of this country. Their value to a community is well known, but the extent to which they enter the industrial life of this nation is not generally appreciated.

The railroads employ 1,900,000 people, and the compensation of employes in 1923 aggregated $3,064,000,000. They paid over $336,000,000 in taxes in 1923. The improvement programs which they carried out in the twelve month period called for an expenditure of $1,075,000,000. They represent a property investment of $22,000,000,000—including nearly 400,000 miles of single track, 65,000 locomotives, 2,400,000 freight cars, and 55,000 passenger cars. They used over 111,000,000 tons of coal and 1,921,000,000 gallons of oil, and 9,000,000 tons of steel.

In 1923, they placed into service 197,575 freight cars and 4,037 locomotives. The 1924 program already arranged for calls for 510 locomotives and 25,619 freight cars. The purchase of supplies and materials for the single year aggregated $1,800,000,000.

It was an unrivalled year in the history of American transportation. In the twelve months, 988,000,000 passengers were carried over the lines, and 2,400,000,000 tons of freight transported.

Anything touching upon the welfare and continued progress of an industry of this magnitude calls for calm, sound judgment instead of the destructive prejudices and passions engendered in the heat of political campaigns.

WHY THE "FOURTH OF MARCH."

The proposition now before congress to change the date of inauguration of the president from March 4, to the third Monday in January, inspired the Trade Record of the National City bank of New York city to conduct an investigation as to way the former date happened to be fixed for the inaugural ceremonies.

The final session of the old Congress of the Confederacy was held in New York city. It had held sessions in no less than eight different cities and towns. During its last session in July 1788, it received notice that enough of the states had ratified the new constitution and it immediately adopted a resolution that the selection of presidential electors by the various states should occur on "the first Wednesday of January, 1789," and these electors should cast their ballots for president on the "first Wednesday of February," and the president thus elected should be inaugurated on the "first Wednesday in March."

It so happened that the first Wednesday in March of that year fell on the "Fourth of March."

The date for the inauguration fixed by the expiring Confederacy has endured although the conditions which dictated it have long since disappeared.

Dispatches state that "precautions have been taken to assure ample light at the republican national convention." Some one has been misinformed. Those shady deals were not pulled off on the convention floor.

It seems that the titled Europeans who have lost their fortunes are willing to do almost anything that doesn't make it necessary for them to work.

Curiosity is the thing which may cause the world to slap you on the back or the individual to slap you in the face.

After all there is nothing like the Historical Drama! Say what you will about moving pictures or high-speed vaudeville, they never have the same air and class to them. For me, as soon as I see upon the program "A tucket sounds!" I am all attention, and when it says "Enter Queen Elizabeth to the sound of Hoboes, I am thrilled.

What does it matter if the queen's attendants seem to speak as if they came from Yonkers? There is dignity about it all the same. When you have, moving in front of you on the stage, people of the class of Louis Quatorze, Henry Quinze, Oliver Cromwell and Mary Queen of Scots, you feel somehow as if they were distinctly superior to such characters as Big-hearted Jim, and Shifty Pete and Meg of the Bowery and Inspector Corcoran. Perhaps they are.

But we must not suppose for a minute that history has any monopoly of dramatic interest. We have recently discovered that right here on the North American continent there is material teeming with dramatic interest. Any quantity of it. In fact it begins right at the start of our history and goes right on.

Seventeen First Class Entries.

Consider the aborignal Indian: what a figure for tragedy. Few people perhaps realize that no less than seventeen first-class tragedies, each as good as Shakespeare's, and all in blank verse, have been written about the Indians. They have to be in blank verse. There was something about the primitive Indian that invited it. It was the real way to express him.

Unfortunately these Indian tragedies are ahead of the age. Most of the managers to whom they have been submitted say that as yet there is no stage really suitable for them, and no actors capable of acting them, and no spectators capable of sitting for them. Here is a sample of such a tragedy.

Enter Areopagitica, an Indian chief.

With The Encyclopedia—a brave of the Appendixes.

* * *

Arcopagitica:
Hail, vernal sun, that thus with trailing beam
Illuminates with gold the flaming east,
Hail, too, cerulean sky that touched with fire
Expels th' acumulate cloud of vanished night.
The Encyclopedia: Hail Oh Hail.
Pilaffe de Volaille: Hele! Oh hele.
Areopagitica:
All nature seems to leap with morn to song.
Tempting to gladness the awakening bird,
E'en the dark cedar feels the gladsome hour
And the light larch pulsates on every frond.
Who art thou? Whence? And whither goes thou?
Pilaffe de Volaille:
Thrice three revolving suns have waxed and waned
Since first I wended hither from afar,
Nor knowing not, nor caring aught, if here or there,
Who am I? One that is. Whence come I? From beyond.
The restless main whose hyper boreal tide
Leaves coast and climes unknown,
Oh Chief, to thy sagacity.
From France I came.
Areopagitica: Hail!

(What Pilaffe de Volaille means is that he has been out here for nine years and lives near Mettawamkeag. But there is such a size and feeling about this other way of saying it, that it seems a shame that dramas of this kind can't be acted.))

After they have all said "Oh Hail!" and "Oh Hele," as many times as is necessary. Areopagitica and The Encyclopedia take Pilaffe de Volaille to the Lodge of the Appendixes.

There he is entertained on hot dog. And there he meets Sparkling Soda Water, the daughter of Areopagitica.

After the feast the two wander out into the moonlight together beside the waterfall. Love steals into their hearts. Pilaffe de Volaille invokes the moon.

"Thou silver orb whose incandescent face
Smiles on the bosom of the turgid flood
Look deep into mine heart and search if aught
Less pure than thy white beam inspires its love,
Soda, be mine!"
Soda Water speaks:
Alas! What words are these! What thought is this!
Thy meaning what? Unskilled to know,
My simple woods can find no answer to the hearts appeal.
Where am I at?
Pilaffe de volaille: Flee with me.
Soda Water: Alas!
Pilaffe: Flee.
Soda Water (invoking the constellations of the Zodiac):
Ye glimmering lights that from the Milky Way
To the tall zenith of the utmost pole
Illume the vault of heaven and indicate
The inclination of the axis of the earth
Showing sidereal time and the mean measurement
Of the earth's parallax,
Help me.
Pilaffe de Volaille (in despair):
"Oh hele!"

Both the lovers know that their tragic love is hopeless. For them, marriage is out of the question. De Volaille is sprung from an old French family, with eight quarters of noble birth, a high average even at a time when most people were well born. He cannot ally himself with anything less white than himself. On the other hand, Sparkling Soda knows that, after the customs of her time, her father has pledged her hand to the Encyclopedia. She cannot marry a pale face.

Thus, what might have been a happy marriage, is queered from the start. Each is too well born to stoop to the other. This often happens.

Standing thus in the moonlight beside the waterfall, the lovers are surprised by Areopagitica and The Encyclopedia. In despair Sparkling Soda leaps into the flood. The noble Encyclopedia plunges headlong after her into the boiling water and is boiled. De Volaille flees.

Areopagitica vows vengeance. Staining himself with grape juice, he declares war of extermination against the white race. The camp of the French are surprised in a night attack. Pilaffe de Volaille, fighting with the courage of his race, is pierced with an Indian arrow. He expires on the spot, leaving just time before he dies to prophesy in blank verse the future greatness of the United States.

Areopagitical standing among the charred ruins of the stockade fort and gazing upon the faces of the dead, invokes the nebular Hypothesis and prophesies clearly the League of Nations.

SODA WATER (invoking the constellations of the Zodiac)
Ye glimmering lights that from the Milky Way....Illume the vault of heaven....help me.

Sound Reading Habits.
(Fremont Tribune.)

One librarian, in a community of more than 300,000 population, has a good deal of confidence in the soundness of the reading habits of his fellow citizens. He bases his faith on the number of books of certain kinds that are issued to patrons. In 1923, he finds, citizens borrowed from the library five times as many books on religious subjects as in 1913, seventeen times as many books on useful arts, six times as many volumes of fiction and poetry, five times as many books on sociology and political science, economics and education, nine times as many books on the fine arts, four times as many books each of travel, biography and the natural sciences, and three times as many books on philosophy.

Fiction, compared with the other topics individually, is holding its own; but fiction as part of the whole mass seems to hold a rather lowly place in the public reading list. Instead of reading a lot of fiction and a smattering of scientific and other works, people are reading only a normal amount of fiction and a large assortment of other things.

Pessimists maintain that such fiction as is being read is all of the trashy sort. But that, too, isn't true. Trash is read, of course, but good fiction—current and of earlier periods—is not neglected.

No one will be surprised at these figures except the busybodies who have been making a big fuss about the frivolity of the times and the hopelessness of public taste.

Thurston Reduced Taxes.
(Central City Nonpareil.)

A special advance release of a story to appear in the April issue of Farm and Fireside reached our desk last week-end, containing an account of the manner in which Thurston county clarified their tax situation. While it is not possible for us to publish the story in full, nevertheless we feel that the gist of it would well be worth the time of the Nonpareil readers.

Thurston county is in northwestern Nebraska. Following the war depression, citizens complained about taxes, grew suspicious and later radical. The situation was bad, and getting daily worse. The farm bureau and a few citizens investigated the matter.

First they published a statement of taxes, showing where each cent of taxes came from, that is, what per centage was taken for state, city, county and school purposes, together with an explanation of general totals. This served to let people know where their money was being spent.

Next they posted in public places a copy of the tax schedules for each man in the county. The public had juicy reading for weeks, and many people were kidded for listing a $200 diamond ring at $25 or a $150 hunting outfit at $20, etc. The result was that the following yearly schedules included practically every article of value listed at a fair value. In this way, assessments were actually reduced on those who had previously rendered a fair return.

The third action was in regard to bridges. Thurston had lost scores of bridges by floods, and warrants for over $100,000 had been issued without funds to satisfy them, alarming the people. Investigation committees invoiced the material, planks, nails, bolts, etc., in each bridge. These figures were set before the bridge contractors and allowances were made by the contractors.

Aside from the actual savings, the increased public interest and understanding was worth much.

Woman's Place of Power.
(Fremont Tribune.)

Galli-Curci, the famous singer, despite her successful "career," is not at all impressed with women's demand for sex equality." She thinks that in this frenzied quest of careers and all that goes with them, women are losing power; not gaining it. She says woman is undermining man's chivalry and is losing her natural superiority in her own sphere by invading man's sphere.

"I think the effort is due,' says the singer, in a New York Times interview, "to the old superstition that man had the best of the bargain in life. As a matter of fact, God was far more generous to woman than to man, but you cannot expect her to believe that without finding out. This experiment in modernism was inevitable. Nothing can be gained except through experience. But I am afraid that woman will not see what she is losing until too late.

"To become a bad imitation of a man is neither original nor clever. To do the things men do just for the sake of showing them we can do them—how foolish, when we have a job of our own that no one but women can possibly do! Yet she runs after other things; she cries that she wants some 'real work' in the world.

"Perhaps she can do things in the outside world superlatively well. All right. But the home is still her kingdom, and if she doesn't occupy herself with it, who is capable of taking her place? Men need the home, children need it, the woman herself needs it. The whole world today needs it and is beginning to suffer from the lack of it. Besides, it offers to woman far more power than she could acquire anywhere else."

Many women today do not seem to know this, or do not care. It is good to have so successful a woman as Galli-Curci come out so plainly with this simple, old-fashioned truth.

What A Tree Means.
(Johnson County Journal.)

To some folks a tree is just a tree, a stick of wood carrying foliage. If it is slightly in the way, they remorselessly cut it down, as if it had no value other than firewood.

To others a tree is a spot of refreshment in the heats of summer, a touch of beauty out of the hands of God in the towns that man has made. Many of the older trees are associated with people now gone who planted them years ago, and left this noble monument to their love for their home towns. The older places have famous trees that go back in early history, like the Washington elm recently removed in Cambridge, Mass., which dated back to days when this country consisted only of a few scattered colonies.

The trese of Tecumseh are one of this community's most valuable possessions. They transform the scenes of daily life into homey neighborhoods, and give the touch of affection to streets that otherwise might seem prosaic. Our people should watch carefully over these trees, and see that they get the best protection that can be given against the insect enemies that raise so much havoc.

Life Imprisonment.
(Nebraska City Press.)

The iniquity of the criminal law as it has been so often applied in Nebraska was demonstrated in Omaha the other day when the murderer of a policeman, a muderer who struck viciously and without warning, was sentenced to serve a life term instead of having been sent to the electric chair, the fate the evidence indicated he deserved. The operation of the criminal law in Omaha makes out-state folks wonder sometimes. It seems to be difficult to adequately punish denizens of the underworld who defy constituted authority and on occasion, ruthlessly slaughter policemen who are doing their duty. It is increasingly difficult for a police officer to do his duty with an open mind as long as the slayers of his pals escape so easily. Life imprisonment in Nebraska means service of from 13 to 17 years in the penitentiary; then there is an opportunity to go right out and do it all over again.

What's the Difference.

What difference is there in a Fall, Denby or a Daugherty securing their share of plunder and loot through oil, booze and prize fight film manipulations, if they so did, and a Mellon, who receives a million dollars if his ideas in taxation matters prevail? And what's the difference between Fall's grab and the big tariff barons' grab when they can boost their income a couple of billion dollars a year via a high protective tariff? If the grabbing is good for one fellow, why isn't it good for the other? But they tell us what is the difference between a legalized grab and any other when they both come from the pockets of the people.

Politics.
(Bennet Sun)

Politics is rotten. We hear that statement often. But the condition of politics is just what the voters allow it to be. This Nebraska soil is fairly filled with weed seeds too, and a man's farm will produce chiefly weeds if he permits it. Who grows the most weeds? The sick man who is not able to work and the man of energy will not work and the man of energy who uses it at something else. This is the people's government. Who allows politics to be rotten Let's elect men big enough and square enough to be unswerved by the men around them when they are away from home.

Sometimes you are morally certain a man is guilty but you can't prove it. He is sharp enough to keep out of the clutches of the law. Catching some of these oil besmirched politicians is a strenuous task—like catching a greased pig.

HOME AND MOTHER.

How oft I sit and ponder,
In the shadow of waning day,
And the thoughts of home and mother,
Of sweet meadows far away,
Fill my heart with tender yearning,
And I bow my head and pray,
That some day I'll be returning,
To my home of yesterday.

To that house among the flowers,
With my dear mother by the door,
Just to spend a sunny hour,
As I did in days of yore,
Just to hear the wild birds singing,
Their plaintive song of sweet refrain,
Just to hear the school bell ringing,
To see the fields of waving grain.

Just to hear the brook a singing,
As it flows upon its way,
When I with hickory pole and hook,
Had naught to do but play.
Just for the starlit heavens,
For the rock, the hills and trees,
For the perfume of sweet flowers,
Wafted to me on the breeze.

Just to hear the song at twilight,
That my mother sang to me,
As she pressed me to her loving breast,
And caressed me tenderly,
All the riches in this land of ours,
Would mean but naught to me,
I fbut for one fleeting hour,
I could sit at mother's knee.

Is Unconstitutional?

CHICAGO, Ill., April 10.—To the editor of The Star: I have read your editorial of April 3, concerning the McNary-Haugen bill and its sanity is refreshing.

My opinion may not be of any particular interest to you but it does seem to me that a sufficient answer to the proponents of this bill is, that while the farmer may be in rather an unfavorable situation at the present time any improvement of his condition can hardly be justified at the expense of a violation of every principle upon which this government is founded. The proposition appeals to most people who have carefully considered this bill as entirely unconstitutional, but this fact seems to be wholly disregarded by many who feel that its passage will immediately bring to them a sudden pecuniary advantage.

Yours very truly,
G. P. ARNDT.

Women and Jury Duty.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 10.—To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: The editorial written responsible for the "Jury Service for Women" editorial in Sunday's Star has a protection complex which would have been more appreciated in the past than in this day of women lawyers and women judges—and so why not women jurors? He would save us from a duty which we do not wish to shirk. It has long been conceded that the virtues and the vices are not confined to one sex, so why should sex be made one of the qualifications for any of the duties of citizenship? Nebraska women want full equality and all of the duties and responsibility that go with citizenship.

"If you haven's women juror's law in your state, work for one. If you are entitled to jury duty, exercise the right."

That is the advice of Miss Belle Sherwin, of Cleveland, vice president of the National League of Women Voters, to women voters of the country. From her own experiences of two weeks on jury service in criminal and civil cases in Cleveland, Miss Sherwin says jury duty is an educational experience which should not be denied to any woman.

"Women take their jury service seriously," Miss Sherwin says, and adds:

"They show a desire to administer strict justice. I have seen no evidence of undue emotionalism, one way or the other, swaying women jurors. The sensible woman shows precisely the same desire to unearth the facts that sensible men do. Neither sex has a monopoly of the virtues. I do not believe men reach decisions only after a due process of reasoning. On that score I believe women are quite as well qualified as men to serve.

"The women I served with seemed to wish above all things to do the fair and just thing to all concerned. Most emphatically they are not failures, and I urge women to seize the opportunity of jury service for its great educational value, if for no other reason. The whole question of women's jury service is really one step toward universal justice, one of the highest of American ideals."

FREDA M. DAVIS,
Pres. Neb., League of Women Voters.

Here and There

A Mauna Loa At Home.
(R. W. Limbert in National Geographic Magazine.)

In the West the term "Lava Beds of Idaho" has always signified a region to be shunned by even the most venturesome travelers—a land supposedly barren of vegetation, destitute of water, devoid of animal life and lacking in scenic interest.

In reality the region has slight resemblance to its imagined aspect. Its vegetation is mostly hidden in pockets, but when found consists of pines, cedars, junipers and sage brush. Its water is hidden deep in tanks or holes at the bottom of large "blowouts" and is found only by following old Indian or mountain sheep trails or by watching the flight of birds as they drop into these places to quench their thirst. The animal life consists principally of migrant birds, rock rabbits, woodchucks, black and grizzly bears. Its scenery is impressive in its grandeur.

A glance at a map of Idaho shows that the southern part of the state, lying betwen Arco and Carey and north of Minidoka, is a vast region labeled desert or rolling plateau.

Although almost totally unknown at present, this region is destined some day to attract tourists from all America, for its lava flows are as interesting as those of Vesuvius, Mauna Loa or Kilauea.

The district consists of some sixty-three volcanic craters, lava and cinder cones, all at present extinct or dormant. The largest and most conspicuous is 600 feet high, rising in the midst of a belt of craters two or three miles wide and thirty miles long. The craters or cones are close together in the north and west; in the south they are miles apart.

That a region of such size and scenic peculiarity, in the heart of the great Northwest could have remained practically unknown and unexplored is extraordinary.

That Marriage Problem Solved.
(From "A Guide for the Greedy," by A Greedy Woman.)

"Today women, as a rule, think all too little of the art of eating. They neglect the bond of union love of eating weaves between man and wife. A wedded pair with this taste in common have once a day at least a pleasant opportunity of meeting. Sport has been pronounced a closer tie than religion, but what of food? Let men and women look to it that at table delicious sympathy makes them one, and marriage will cease to be a failure. If they agree upon their sauces and salads, what matter if they disagree upon mere questions of conduct and finance?"

Daylight Saving in a Nutshell

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.
Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

Every year about this time breaks out the conflict of interests between those who want to "save daylight" the state legislature standing for Joshua)—and those wro prefer to save it, when they need to, or want to, by simply getting up earlier in Summer than in Winter, in accordance with the regular habit of the day-making sun.

I have my opinion, but I wish only to present some fundamental facts which will enable anyone to make up his own mind on the subject.

To begin with, it must be understood that clocking is, at best, a compromise with the sun, being based upon the theory of a "mean sun," which is assumed never to vary in its apparent movement. This requires certain sacrifices of accordance between clocking and true time, which, fortunately are never very great, only about a quarter of an hour in the extreme. But, then, comes another averaging adpustment which is more serious in its departures from the truth, but nevertheless is so very convenient that all are glad to disregard its shotcoming.

This is the system of standard time, a necessary compromise imposed by the fact that in our age every man is virtually an inhabitant of the whole globe, and not simply of a fixed spot upon it.

Nobody would think of abolishing clocktime or standard time; but "daylight saving time" presents a different proposition, for it does not stand upon the same broad, incontestable basis of unvarying necessity and convenience that the others occupy, but is a measure of admittedly temporary usefulness, by no means equally applicable to the interests or desires of the whole people.

What "daylight saving" really does, as al must know, is by law to change the hour of rising in the morning, and to compel all business, all occupations and all pleasures to adjust themselves to the consequences of this arbitrary enactment. Perhaps the most striking statement summing up the effect of this system is that it so far falsifies the true relation of the sun—the only begetter of daylight—to the day that the assumed time of noon is pushed an hour ahead of real noon, and the afternoon is stretched to a length two hours greater than the forenoon.

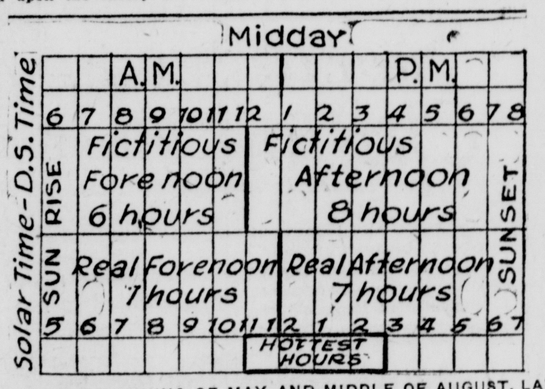

I disregard the fact that when added to the extreme error introduced by standard time "daylight saving" may misplace the sun as much as an hour and a half, and so make the afternoon three hours longer than the forenoon.

The accompanying diagram will aid in understanding the effect. By the very nature of the case, real afternoon and forenoon are of equal length, noon dividing daylight into two corresponding parts. But when an hour is subtracted from the morning, and added to the afternoon as the diagram shows, an inequality of two hours is created.

I have not space for the many effects of this distortion upon the needs and enjoyments of life and I simply call attention to one other thing brought out by the diagram viz the distribution of the hottest hours of the day. These may be included between 11 a. m., and 3 p. m., solar time.

Now observe how, by solar time, one of these hot hours is finished before the midday cessation of labor; a second passes by during the customary hour of non rest; and only two remain to be dealt with in the afternoon.

Then look at the distribution of the hottest hours by the "daylight-saving" plan. All four fall after noon, and three remain after the noon rest-hour has passed.

Norfolk Minister Uses Science To Carry Sermons To Invalid Members of His Church

"God wove a web of loveliness
Of clouds, and stars, and birds,
But made not anything at all
So beautiful as words."

Common little things—words—used endlessly from dawn to dark and into another dawn. They fly about so carelessly, so thoughtlessly weighed with their heavy meanings, fraught with grave import.

Just letters, really—words—that we have put together to make sounds—sounds that we have interpreted into meanings.

Such lovely little things, though.

They can tell of love and friendship and laughter and peace

Strength and Beauty.

They can tell of mountains with the pink morning sun on them, of lakes with the opal moonlight dancing on the waves and of winter snows that fall so softly on upturned faces.

They tell of home and shelter and comfort and sanctity and safety.

They tell of sorrow, sadness, heartache, indifference and failure, chastening.

And there are the little vagrant words, each one that makes an individual picture for each of us—"Chapel" and "Mother" and "Goodbye" and "Indian summer."

They tell all of mortal life

Words of Description.

For those who depend upon them to describe that country beyond the stars and of the roads which lead there, some particular words are very beautiful. They depend upon these words for daily guidance and, if the words are missing, they way seems dark and rough and the uncertain path of daily existence harder to climb and more treacherous for the unguided.

When they can not hear the warm, vital words, but can only read the colder, indifferent words in a book, the words do not seem so helpful. They lose their poignant force in black and white; they lose their virility when the human voice does not give them radiance and strength and power.

Without the explanation of the human voice, they seem obscure, doubtful, contradictory. They are words, words, words, not delicate, attuned instruments of light and help, but heavy, burdensome weights of letters and symbols. The aid in them is gone, and only the heaviness and anarchroisms, and incongruities stand out.

For those who depend upon these words of immortal life, there is healing in them for the sick, there is strength for the weak, and light in darkness for the doubtful. For those who believe in them there is quiet for the weary, peace for the disturbed, and comfort for the heartbroken. For those who need them, there is answer to every prayer, response to every petition, and reply to every plea.

Ways of Divine Providence.

The ways of the divine providence are mysterious and trouble falls on those who have been His most faithful followers with as unsparing a hand and as bitter a blow as on those who have scorned and scoffed throughout the years. Faithfulness can not save them from physical ills, but those who have believed find that they are lighter and easier to bear, if they are not denied the hearing of His word.

Denial may come because they are too weak to attend the services, and none can interprete the Bible quite so well as His ministers. Denial may come because one stands before "the closed door," through which the sweet and beautiful noises of the world can not penetrate. And such denial is heart breaking to to those who care, for it keeps those whom illness has set apart out of the church activities and out of its spiritual life.

Many churches have parishoners whose names are on the rolls of membership, but who can not come. Illness keeps them at home and keeps others, so that they may have attention. The spoken word can not be heard by others, and without hearing a service is but a mockery, from which it is much easier to stay away than to go and strain for the sounds that never come.

The pastor of the Grace Lutheran church of Norfolk has taken the church to those parishoners, who through illness or deafness, were prevented from enjoying the services. On the upper eft is a woman who had been an invalid for many years and for whom the pastor had a wire strung to her home, ending in an ear phone, so that she could attend services spiritually if not personally. In the center is a woman who is hearing her first sermon in nearly a quarter of a century, through the ear phone installed in a pew. In the right is the pastor, delivering his sermon in an ordinary voice, and before him is the small transmitter which carries his words to the unhearing members of the congregations.

Grace Lutheran church at Norfolk is rather a young church but it has a progressive minister. Grace Lutheran church, in spite of having a new congregation, has some members who are old in the faith and who have for some time "stood before the closed door" and who have been prevented for long periods from attending church services.

Uses Modern Inventions.

The congregation has been organized only four years but during that time the increase in membership has been a little more than 600 per cent. Beginning with eleven families, it now numbers 133 families. Rev. F. C. Brandhorst is pastor of the church and is a believer in offering his flock the most modern inventions to help them to enjoy the services, as long as he is allowed to preach the old fashioned religion of Christ.

As in many congregations, there are older people in the congregation who can not bear the services. There are others who have been ill for many years and have been deprived of church. Reverend Brandhorst, who came from Fort Wayne, Ind., had seen a device in use in some eastern churches which enabled the deaf to hear and he determined to install it in his church.

Two years and one-half ago, or in October, 1921, Reverend Brandhorst had an ear phone installed for the benefit of two women whose hearing was impaired to such an extent as to make it utterly impossible for them to hear any of the Sunday services, or any of the church services. Since then the number of people using it has increased considerably, although Reverend Brandhorst does not know the exact number of users. He finds that a number of visitors try the phone each Sunday to satisfy themselves of its efficacy and so far none has been disappointed.

The phone. Reverend Brandhorst explains, consists of a delicate transmitter, resembling a little desk light, which is placed on the pulpit. The transmitter is connected with wires leading under the floor to pews in different parts of the church, where they end in a little plug. The listener is provided with a little receiver held by a head band, which is put on at home or in the church, and then attached to the plug in front of the pew. Dry cell batteries furnish the current.

First Sermon in 23 Years.

Two of the women, who knew that the pastor intended to order the phone, and who were a little doubtful as to the assistance it would bring them, have long since lost their doubts. Only the other day, one of them remarked that she would not care to trade her church phone for all the radios in the world.

Reverend Brandhorst does not believe that these women have been absent one Sunday since the installation of the phone more than two years ago. They hear the sermon with perfect ease, and also the other parts of the service which lend atmosphere to a church meeting, choir selections, offertory, recessional, and processional.

One of the women, for whom the ear phone was originally intended, had not heard a sermon for twenty-three years, and the first Sunday after its installation she heard every word distinctly. During the service, the pastor pays no attention to the phone at all, and for the first month or so the majority of the congregation believed it to be a new desk light and paid no attention to it.

To make the deaf to near and to offer them the services which they may have craved for so many years, is but a part of the home missionary work which Grace Lutheran church of Norfolk is doing. The church may do much for those in foreign lands, but it is also caring for those within its own fold who need its care and attention.

For three long years one woman had not left her home, being a confirmed invalid. She, too, had missed the help and guidance of the church services, but it was impossible for her to attend. Another member of the congregation had suffered for seventeen years from rheumatism, and had been unable to be a church attendant.

Science Missionary Agent.

To bring the church to them, since they could not go to the church, Reverend Brandhorst had a wire strung to the homes, one of them three blocks away, so that the sufferers could hear the sermons and music. The one who has rheumatism has normal hearing and she need not hold the receiver directly to her ear, but hangs it on the chair in which she sits. Many times, she has a "church party" Sunday evening, when six or eight friends spend the time with her and all of them hear the complete service within a radius of ten to fifteen feet.

The ear phone has even been more of a missionary agent, for, when one can not hear, one drifts away from the church. Other interests which require only sight take the place of the Sunday attendance at church. And, when one can not hear at church, other interests absorb the attention that had been given to the exterior activities of the congregation, guild meetings, young people's meeting, and parish meetings. The church suffers, for these outside activities are a part o fits life, but it does take the united interest of all the members of the congregation to keep them alive and vitally functioning.

Accordingly, Reverend Brandhorst devised a method whereby those who had become careless and indifferent, through inability to be otherwise, have been brought back to more active service in the church. The basement of the church has been wired at a small cost, so that the same plan can be carried out for meetings as is carried out for the services. The transmitter is placed on the desk of the president of the organization and, with the ear phone, even those who can not hear can take part in the discussions upon church finance and church policy.

University Notes

Dean Warren A. Seavey of the college of law returns today from Chicago where he attended a week-end conference of the committee on agency appointed recently by the American law institute. The institute, composed of leading American law scholars, is planning a series of publications dealing with specific subjects in the field of law. In recognition of his standing as an authority on agency, Dean Seavey was appointed to serve with Professor Moody of the University of Pennsylvania and Prof. Floyd R. Meecham of the University of Chicago, chairman. The projected study is expected to take several years.

Three free trips to Washington are the major awards offered in the national prize-essay contest sponsored by the Women's Overseas Service league to arouse interest in the citizens' military training camps. Only girls between thirteen and nineteen are eligible to compete on the subject "Why a Young Man I Know Should Attend a Citizens' Military Training Camp." Midnight, Monday, May 5, will be the closing hour for submitting essays. Three hundred words is the limit; essays will be judged by local boards, yet to be announced, on the basis of originality, expression, and sincerity. Arrangements are being made through the corps-area headquarters for the award of appropriate prizes for winning essays in each town, county, city and state. Winners of county prizes compete for state prizes and from the winning state and District of Columbia essays the three national winners will be chosen to take the trips and additional prizes of silver and jewelry. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge will present these other prizes. During the stay in Washington the winners will be guests of the Women's Overseas Service league. Places of interest will be visited and appropriate ceremonies will be held in honor of the essay winners.

Four students of the senior division of the military department of the university will take examinations tomorrow at the Seventh corps area headquarters in Omaha for second-lieutenant commissions in the regular army. The following will be examined: Howard Engler, '25, Omaha; Carl Peterson, '24, Omaha; Leo Scherer, '24, Spencer and C. F. Cronley, '24, Omaha. The results will be published by the war department in June. At a recent examination covering physical fitness and military training before a committee composed of Major Sidney Erickson, Captain J. H. Hagen, and Captain Floyd C. Harding, the four candidates passed their preliminary tests.

Twenty-one junior and senior students of the department of geology returned last week from the annual inspection trip of the department. Under the supervision of Prof. E. F. Schramm studies were made of the shale and rock formations and earth strata in the oil and coal fields near Newcastle, Wyo. From Newcastle, inspection trips were made to surrounding towns—the coal regions near Cambria were studied and the ground structure mapped; at Osage the inspection party visited the new oil refinery and examined its mechanical equipment and processes. On the return Professor Schramm stopped at Chadron to speak on the results of the Newcastle inspection.

Dean W. E. Sealock of teachers' college left Thursday to visit the University of Chicago high school and the Horace Mann School at Columbia university.

C. A. Sjogren of the department of mechanical engineering, has been appointed editor of "The Pyramid," official publication of Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity, which was founded at the university in 1904. This magazine appears every other month. Mr. Sjogren is faculty adviser of Alpha chapter in Sigma Tau and is assisting in laying plans for the twentieth conclave of the fraternity to be held in Lincoln, October 2, 3, and 4. From the chapter at Nebraska Sigma Tau has expanded until there are about twenty-one chapters. For the special twentieth anniversary number of The Pyramid, Mr. Sjogren plans to include contributions from twelve of the original founders. An alumnus of the University, W. J. Wohlenberg, B. Sc. M. E. '10, professor in the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale university, is president of the national organization.

"Some Phases of Human Life," a description of living matter and processes, was given Monday afternoon to the orientation class of the freshman class of the college of engineering by Dr. R. H. Wolcott, chairman of the department of zoology.

How I Regained Strength to do My Work

MRS. C. M. MARUKO
221 CENTRAL PARK, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

GIRLS work in mills, offices, factories, stores and kitchens all over this land, often far beyond their strength.

Frequently such a girl is the only bread winner of the family, and she must toil on, even though her back aches, she throbs with pain, has headaches, dizzy spells, is all dragged out and utterly unfit for work.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound builds health and strength for such women, as is evidenced by the many grateful letters which are received, attesting to the value of this old fashioned root and herb medicine.

How This Young Woman Got Relief

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and a displacement. This troubled me a lot when I walked and when I was sitting down and I had to stay away from work a great deal. It made me weak and nervous too. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound from one of your booklets and read about how it had helped so many. It has done so much for me I now recommend it to others. I am able to work in the factory now and can walk back and forth to work and enjoy it. I am very glad to have you use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. M. MARUKO, 221 Central Park, Rochester, N. Y.

Another Woman's Experience

LUDINGTON, MICH.—"I suffered every month and was very irregular, had headaches all the time, was thin and pale, with no appetite. I had taken all kinds of medicines and every doctor told me I would have to face an operation before I would be well again. I was only a working-girl, doing factory work, and I had to stay at home so much that I was getting rather discouraged. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I did so with good results. I am now feeling fine. I have started to be more regular and gaining in strength and weight also. I have advised all my girl friends to take your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. THERESSA MCDOLE, 426 S. Rath Avenue, Ludington, Michigan.

The pastor of the Grace Lutheran church of Norfolk has taken the church to those parishoners, who through illness or deafness, were prevented from enjoying the services. On the upper eft is a woman who had been an invalid for many years and for whom the pastor had a wire strung to her home, ending in an ear phone, so that she could attend services spiritually if not personally. In the center is a woman who is hearing her first sermon in nearly a quarter of a century, through the ear phone installed in a pew. In the right is the pastor, delivering his sermon in an ordinary voice, and before him is the small transmitter which carries his words to the unhearing members of the congregations.

"God wove a web of loveliness
Of clouds, and stars, and birds,
But made not anything at all
So beautiful as words."

Common little things—words—used endlessly from dawn to dark and into another dawn. They fly about so carelessly, so thoughtlessly weighed with their heavy meanings, fraught with grave import.

Just letters, really—words—that we have put together to make sounds—sounds that we have interpreted into meanings.

Such lovely little things, though.

They can tell of love and friendship and laughter and peace.

Strength and Beauty.

They can tell of mountains with the pink morning sun on them; of lakes with the opal moonlight dancing on the waves and of winter snows that fall so softly on upturned faces.

They tell of home and shelter and comfort and sanctity and safety.

They tell of sorrow, sadness, heartache, indifference and failure, chastening.

And there are the little vagrant words, each one that makes an individual picture for each of us—"Chapel" and "Mother" and "Goodbye" and "Indian summer."

They tell all of mortal life.

Words of Description.

For those who depend upon them to describe that country beyond the stars and of the roads which lead there, some particular words are very beautiful. They depend upon these words for daily guidance and, if the words are missing, they way seems dark and rough and the uncertain path of daily existence harder to climb and more treacherous for the unguided.

When they can not hear the warm, vital words, but can only read the colder, indifferent words in a book, the words do not seem so helpful. They lose their poignant force in black and white; they lose their virility when the human voice does not give them radiance and strength and power.

Without the explanation of the human voice, they seem obscure, doubtful, contradictory. They are words, words, words, not delicate, attuned instruments of light and help, but heavy, burdensome weights of letters and symbols. The aid in them is gone, and only the heaviness and anarchroisms, and incongruitities stand out.

For those who depend upon these words of immortal life, there is healing in them for the sick, there is strength for the weak, and light in darkness for the doubtful. For those who believe in them there is quiet for the weary; peace for the disturbed, and comfort for the heartbroken. For those who need them, there is answer to every prayer, response to every petition, and reply to every plea.

Ways of Divine Providence.

The ways of the divine providence are mysterious and trouble falls on those who have been His most faithful followers with as unsparing a hand and as bitter a blow as on those who have scorned and scoffed throughout the years. Faithfulness can not save them from physical ills, but those who have believed find that they are lighter and easier to bear, if they are not denied the hearing of His word.

Denial may come because they are too weak to attend the services, and none can interprete the Bible quite so well as His ministers. Denial may come because one stands before "the closed door," through which the sweet and beautiful noises of the world can not penetrate. And such denial is heart breaking to those who care, for it keeps those whom illness has set apart out of the church activities and out of its spiritual life.

Many churches have parishoners whose names are on the rolls of membership, but who can not come. Illness keeps them at home and keeps others, so that they may have attention. The spoken word can not be heard by others, and without hearing a service is but a mockery, from which it is much easier to stay away than to go and strain for the sounds that never come.

Grace Lutheran church at Norfolk is rather a young church but it has a progressive minister. Grace Lutheran church, in spite of having a new congregation, has some members who are old in the faith and who have for some time "stood before the closed door" and who have been prevented for long periods from attending church services.

Uses Modern Inventions.

The congregation has been organized only four years but during that time the increase in membership has been a little more than 600 per cent. Beginning with eleven families, it now numbers 133 families. Rev. F. C. Brandhorst is pastor of the church and is a believer in offering his flock the most modern inventions to help them to enjoy the services, as long as he is allowed to preach the old fashioned religion of Christ.

As in many congregations, there are older people in the congregation who can not bear the services. There are others who have been ill for many years and have been deprived of church. Reverend Brandhorst, who came from Fort Wayne, Ind., had seen a device in use in some eastern churches which enabled the deaf to hear and he determined to install it in his church.

Two years and one-half ago, or in October, 1921, Reverend Brandhorst had an ear phone installed for the benefit of two women whose hearing was impaired to such an extent as to make it utterly impossible for them to hear any of the Sunday services, or any of the church services. Since then the number of people using it has increased considerably, although Reverend Brandhorst does not know the exact number of users. He finds that a number of visitors try the phone each Sunday to satisfy themselves of its efficacy and so far none has been disappointed.

The phone, Reverend Brandhorst explains, consists of a delicate transmitter, resembling a little desk light, which is placed on the pulpit. The transmitter is connected with wires leading under the floor to pews in different parts of the church, where they end in a little plug. The listener is provided with a little receiver held by a head band, which is put on at home or in the church, and then attached to the plug in front of the pew. Dry cell batteries furnish the current.

First Sermon in 23 Years.

Two of the women, who knew that the pastor intended to order the phone, and who were a little doubtful as to the assistance it would bring them, have long since lost their doubts. Only the other day, one of them remarked that she would not care to trade her church phone for all the radios in the world.

Reverend Brandhorst does not believe that these women have been absent one Sunday since the installation of the phone more than two years ago. They hear the sermon with perfect ease, and also the other parts of the service which lend atmosphere to a church meeting, choir selections, offertory, recessional, and processional.

One of the women, for whom the ear phone was originally intended, had not heard a sermon for twenty-three years, and the first Sunday after its installation she heard every word distinctly. During the service, the pastor pays no attention to the phone at all, and for the first month or so the majority of the congregation believed it to be a new desk light and paid no attention to it.

To make the deaf to hear and to offer them the services which they may have craved for so many years, is but a part of the home missionary work which Grace Lutheran church of Norfolk is doing. The church may do much for those in foreign lands, but it is also caring for those within its own fold who need its care and attention.

For three long years one woman had not left her home, being a confirmed invalid. She, too, had missed the help and guidance of the church services, but it was impossible for her to attend. Another member of the congregation had suffered for seventeen years from rheumatism, and had been unable to be a church attendant.

Science Missionary Agent.

To bring the church to them, since they could not go to the church, Reverend Brandhorst had a wire strung to the homes, one of them three blocks away, so that the sufferers could hear the sermons and music. The one who has rheumatism has normal hearing and she need not hold the receiver directly to her ear, but hangs it on the chair in which she sits. Many times, she has a "church party" Sunday evening, when six or eight friends spend the time with her and all of them hear the complete service within a radius of ten to fifteen feet.

The ear phone has even been more of a missionary agent, for, when one can not hear, one drifts away from the church. Other interests which require only sight take the place of the Sunday attendance at church. And, when one can not hear at church, other interests absorb the attention that had been given to the exterior activities of the congregation, guild meetings, young people's meeting, and parish meetings. The church suffers, for these outside activities are a part o fits life, but it does take the united interest of all the members of the congregation to keep them alive and vitally functioning.

Accordingly, Reverend Brandhorst devised a method whereby those who had become careless and indifferent, through inability to be otherwise, have been brought back to more active service in the church. The basement of the church has been wired at a small cost, so that the same plan can be carried out for meetings as is carried out for the services. The transmitter is placed on the desk of the president of the organization and, with the ear phone, even those who can not hear can take part in the discussions upon church finance and church policy.

University Notes

Dean Warren A. Seavey of the college of law returns today from Chicago where he attended a week-end conference of the committee on agency appointed recently by the American law institute. The institute, composed of leading American law scholars, is planning a series of publications dealing with specific subjects in the field of law. In recognition of his standing as an authority on agency, Dean Seavey was appointed to serve with Professor Moody of the University of Pennsylvania and Prof. Floyd R. Meecham of the University of Chicago, chairman. The projected study is expected to take several years.

Three free trips to Washington are the major awards offered in the national prize-essay contest sponsored by the Women's Overseas Service league to arouse interest in the citizens' military training camps. Only girls between thirteen and nineteen are eligible to compete on the subject "Why a Young Man I Know Should Attend a Citizens' Military Training Camp." Midnight, Monday, May 5, will be the closing hour for submitting essays. Three hundred world is the limit; essays will be judged by local boards, yet to be announced, on the basis of originality, expression, and sincerity. Arrangements are being made through the corps-area headquarters for the award of appropriate prizes for winning essays in each town, county, city and state. Winners of county prizes compete for state prizes and from the winning state and District of Columbia essays the three national winners will be chosen to take the trips and additional prizes of silver and jewelry. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge will present these other prizes. During the stay in Washington the winners will be guests of the Women's Overseas Service league. Places of interest will be visited and appropriate ceremonies will be held in honor of the essay winners.

Four students of the senior division of the military department of the university will take examinations tomorrow at the Seventh corps area headquarters in Omaha for second-lieutenant commissions in the regular army. The following will be examined: Howard Engler, '25, Omaha; Carl Peterson, '24, Omaha; Leo Scherer, '24, Spencer and C. F. Cronley, '24, Omaha. The results will be published by the war department in June. At a recent examination covering physical fitness and military training before a committee composed of Major Sidney Erickson, Captain J. H. Hagen, and Captain Floyd C. Harding, the four candidates passed their preliminary tests.

Twenty-one junior and senior students of the department of geology returned last week from the annual inspection trip of the department. Under the supervision of Prof. E. F. American Students Take College Life Too Lightly Says Young Russian Enrolled In Lincoln Schools

BY MARJORIE WYMAN.

It has been six months since he landed at Ellis Island, the gateway to the United States; half a year since he arrived here, after leaving his home in Snovsk, in the Ukraine, to come to the promised land, America, lauded, here perhaps more than there, as "the Land of the Free."

Yet now he speaks English — or United States—with an accent to be sure, and a difficulty as he gropes now and then for the word with the exact meaning he wants. But he thinks in the language of his adopted country, and the difficulty is that of a child not yet acquainted with the means of self-expression, not of an adult translating his thoughts into a foreign tongue.

Tall, dark, and with the expression of the pioneer in his dark eyes, Josef Sorkin has come here from his own land, because of the anomalous conditions at home, which make America a safer place for the son of the manager who worked directly under the count, Musin Pushkin, of the territory where he lived.

Enrolled Early For School.

He landed in this country September 14, and came immediately to Lincoln, to the home of an aunt, Mrs. David Zolat. October 5 was the memorable first day of school in this country, but since then he has attended regularly the continuation school in McKinley building, where Mrs. Esther Myers is the teacher.

Mr. Sorkin is not, however, the uneducated immigrant we are so fond of imagining as coming here for greater opportunities. Instead he is a graduate of a high school in his own country, and needs only to apply his knowledge to other things. Engineering is the vocation he intends to follow, when he shall have learned enough English to be able to enroll in an engineering school and have completed his course. For mathematics he has a penchant and the creation of great things is his dream for the future.

But in Russia, under the new rule, it is impossible for any but the "workers," which is translated there as those who toil at manual labor, to receive any of the benefits of a civilized society. None but those who are properly classed as horny-handed sons of toil can receive education. And, being born the son of a farm overseer who took his authority directly from a member of the nobility, Mr. Sorkin could not qualify.

Likes American Education.

America, however, has an educational system which includes everyone, and the young Ukrainian is here to acquire that information which he so desires.

The soviet of the commissars is the principal government there, and is made up of an elected body, governed by an executive, who is called their president. Ten delegates are chosen from each state, and they, meeting in a central conference, elect the governmental form. The chief difficulty, however, is the fact that the government changes every six months, and the new ruler may have slightly different governmental ideas from those of his predecessor.

But chaos seems to reign in the land For religious ideals are being denied, and young people particularly are deliberately and publicly boasting their atheism. With the overthrow of capital and the outlawing of any of its posessors, there can be no real business activity on a large scale, and the economic situation for those who are accustomed to the executive or the better-salaried positions is becoming serious.

When Josef was asked about the customs of the people, he found difficulty in explaining the differences between the people here and those there. The principal thing, however, seems to be our American desire or material goods — money-madness. The students of the newer continent are not so serious as those of Russia, even in the high schools and before the tragedy of the world war.

"Here it is how you got by the examinations, and when you had a date last," Mr. Sorkin says. "But over there, our students know our great men of writing, like Corvienco, and Lumitchursky, and Demyan Bedny. We know the painters of our period, and because our people are interested, we can make contributions to the world."

"But in America, you are not serious You have a good time. Underneath, perhaps, you are thinking, but you do not talk about your thoughts."

War Changed Russia.

The Romanoff regime was a most prosperous one for Russia, it is admitted, but one where the serfs would be on their own land, and would also do some of the work for the noble nearby. It was a nearly feudal state of society. Siberia was used only for a land of exile, and the only income was that made by trappers from the furs of the animals there

Then came the world war.

And Trotzky, whom Mr. Sorkin describes as a "mountain of energy" transformed the Russian government, the Russian ideas, and the Russian people. For they were governed on a communistic basis for a time, and then went into Soviett Russia.Siberia is being developed, due partly to the Siberian railroad, a comparatively new project, and partly to the fact that exile is not now the only punishment meted out, nor the most humane.

The position of women, too, has changed for the better. Substantiation may be found in tht fact that the costumes, the skirts of which, about five times as wide as the modern American girl wears, fell almost if not quite to the floor, have been discarded for ordinary dress—as we see it. The bobbed hair rage has come there, too.—

Women of Great Power.

But more important than their dress are the minds of the people. For woma nis able to do her share not only in government, but also in other lines of work. Private secretaries are in some of the governmental offices, "powers behind the throne," and the girl in the outer room is often the one who has decisions in her power.

Russia, however, is not the exotic country we are prone to believe it, Mr. Sorkin insists. We have seen only the unusual features and have not been told of the smoothly-running machinry which forms the background for all the vagaries of forms.

The large land is recovering from the wartime depression, and is coming into its own. Laws which last are placed on the statute books, and industrial life goes on much as it did before the great war and the succeeding revolution. Money is holding a somewhat constant value.

"Russia is a great country, Mr. Sorkin says, "She was great under the Romanoffs, and under a democratic rule, she will be better. Sometime, and not so far in the future, Russia will take a leading place among the nations."

University Engineers Spend Week Inspecting Big Chicago Plants

Manufacturers, chambers of commerce and city authorities along the route of the annual inspection trip of the college of engineering offered every facility at their command to insure the success of the trip, report faculty members and students who made the investigation, March 31 to April 5.

In accordance with the pre-arranged program the week was spent in Burlington, and Keokuk, Ia., Chicago, and outlying points of interest. This trip is a requirement which must be met by all upper-class engineers before they can be graduated. It is taken under direction of a faculty committee and must be completely reported to the chairmen of the various departments of the college before credit is assigned. This year about an equal number of juniors and seniors formed the inspection party.

"The value of a trip of this sort is very great," stated Dean O. J. Ferguson of the college. "Students are given a conception of the magnitude of engineering projects as well as the methods by which engineering objectives are attained. Factory production, the handling of materials, transportation, structural features of bridges and large buildings, chamical processes—all serve to enliven the subjects which are being pursued in University work and acquaint the student with opportunities open to him after he has finished the prescribed studies of his group." Similar inspection trips are required by all of the large college of engineering.

One day was spent at the plant of the Western Electric company where the party was broken up into sections and routed through the great plant on a definite schedule. A complimentary luncheon was served by the company. In Chicago the city authorities furnished boats for trips to inspect the water front, the pumping cribs and other engineering accomplishments. The plant of the International Harvester company provided material for another day's study. After an inspection of the Murray Iron Works the Nebraska engineers were guests of the Burlington chamber of commerce at luncheon.

Other points of interest included the big Chicago Commercial Edison power plant, the Keokuk water power development, the Inland Steel company plant, the Universal Portland Cement company, the Illinois Miniature Lamp Works, the Sherwin-Williams Paint Manufacturing company, the Northwestern railroad terminal and Field Museum.

Nebraska High School Students Write Essays On Constitution

All regularly registered high school students in Nebraska are eligible to compete in the state-wide essay contest on "What are the Distinguishing Features of our National Government as Provided by Its Constitution?" This competition will be held under the joint auspices of the Nebraska State Bar association and the American Bar association. It is part of a national campaign to awaken loyal adherence to American institutions and ideals.

A gold medal will be awarded by the state committee to the student submitting the best essya and a silk American flag to the school which the student represents; a silver medal for the second best essay, and a bronze medal for the third best essay. In addition to these state prizes from each of the eighteen judicial districts gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to district winners if present plans of the state committee mature. A committee of three—Judge W. G. Hastings of Omaha, State Superintendent John M. Matzen of Lincoln, and N. P. McDonald of Kearney has been selected to judge the essays of the state. Chairmen of the several districts will select judges for their districts.

To assist the contestants Prof. A. A. Reed and Flora Bullock of the university extension division have edited and published a seventy-eight page compilation of ten essays on different phases of the constitution by leading educators, judges and members of the bar of Kansas and Nebraska. These booklets are being mailed to high school libraries in the state.

The university extension division has also published a bulletin giving complete information on the contest—the names of district chairmen and committee members, a reference list of text-books, and the rules of the contest. The membership of the state committee follows: Chas. E. Matson ,chairman, Lincoln; Fred Wright, vice-chairman, Omaha; R. A. Van Orsdel, vice-chairman ,Omaha; Anan Raymond, secretary, Omaha; J. A. C. Kennedy, Omaha; W. H. Pitzer, Nebraska City; L. H. Cheney, McCook; J. G. Mothersead, Scottsbluff, and Fred S. Berry, Wayne.

Peru Normal

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet with Miss Gockley, the advisor, attended the training conference at Lincoln. The following girls made up the party: Winnie Brown '27, Auburn; Dorothy Nicholas, '26, Nebraska City; Vivia Marshall, '27, Panama; Alice Lindgren, '17, Wahoo; Edna L. Hall, '27, Nemaha City; Ethel Lindahl, '26, Omaha; Frances Eskew, 27, Shenandoah, Ia.; Mrs. Hazel Catlson, '24, York.

Myrl Emrick of Fairbury, has recently accepted a position in the grammar grades of the Syracuse schools Miss Emrick will join Superintendent Caswell's force in the fall.

The Y. M. C. A. elected officers for the ensuing year at the last meeting. The officers are president, Charles Madden, '27, Pawnee City vice president, Roy Dahlstrom, '26, Peru; secretary, Harlan Taylor, '26, Shubert; treasurer, Roy Chamberlain, '27, Brownville.

The faculty advisors of this organization are Professors Crago and Clayburn.

Orafino hired two Peru teachers the past week: Dorwin Carter, Hebron, and Opal Jackson, Rulo. Mr. Carter will have charge of the schools. Miss Jackson teaches in the high school.

The tennis courts are being used constantly. The officers of the tennis club are outlining the spring tournament plans. The officers include Prof. E. C. Beck, advisor; David Costello, '25, Julian, president; Helyn Humbert, '25, Omaha, secretary-treasurer.

The Peru Prep debating team lost its last debate of the season to Pawnee City high school. The members of the Peru team were Fulton Davenport, Frank Bogle, and Clifford Roberts. This is practically the same team that defeated Beatrice a few weeks ago. The team has also debated Humboldt and Brock. Miss Marie Faulhaber has coached the team.

Marion Overholt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Overholt, was the guest of Miss Florence Wittwer at a sorority party at University of Nebraska. Miss Wittwer is from Salem.

Hollywood Barber At Mayer Bros., Gives Latest Cut to Milady's Hair.

To be really smart looking, one's hair must be bobbed, and it must be the latest bob at that. We can tell you right where to get it. At Mayer Bros., Lawrence E. O'Conner, formerly of Lincoln but late of Hollywood, has taken up his abode, and he is giving all of the fashionable, movie-star cuts to Milady's hair. The next time your hair needs cutting let Mr. O'Conner do it for you and you'll be delighted with the result.

When you Say "Buick"— That's All There Is. There Isn't Anymore.

It has rained, a little, just enough to settle the dust and make it nice for motoring out on the country road. Good motoring demands a good car, and a good car means a Buick. What could be nicer than a good looking, spick and span Buick roadster purring along the road. The Buick is a combination of everything desirable in motors—comfort, practicability, the luxurious feeling of knowing your car is as smart looking as any on the road. It takes all of these things to really make a motor trip enjoyable. The Buick people have had years of experience in knowing just what is best in a car, and they devote time, money and energy in giving the public the finest there is for as little as possible.

Summer Frocks in Voile.

Summer afternoon frocks of light colored voile are being displayed. hemstitching, embroidered material, ruffles of lace and picot edging being among the outstanding decorative features. Simplicity of line is especially stressed, nothing being allowed to detract from the straight silhouette which is adhered to throughout the collection.

Soft shades of blue, green, yellow and lavender are sponsored, pastel color range being varied occasionally by a street tone such as navy blue, or one of the high shades, such as orange. Although black is noticed as a contrast in several of these models white is more important because of the frequency with which it appears. The use of another color in contrast is also effective, dull blue stitching on a corn colored dress being noted.

Panels, vestees, collars, cuffs and pockets are often made of a novelty material with white embroidery in star patterns or eyelet effects on fabric the same color as dress. Bands of hemstitching are punctuated with dot designs, ecru net ruffles are employed around the neck and sleeves and in a double line down the front, giving a jabot effect, picot edging, is used on scallops and bands of organdie, often trimmed with Irish lace and medallions, add dainty touches.

An orango dotted Swiss is ornamented with an embroidered net collar which fastens in the front with long ends of black ribbon. The skirt gains interest by means of three very scant flounces placed at each side.

Applique And Insets Are Good.

Insets and applique designs generally in a white fabric add interest because of the unusual way in which they are applied to the apron.

Tabs of finely tucked organdie are bound in color and placed about collars and cuffs in a petal design, and about the waistline forming loops through which the belt may pass. Yoke-like insets of batiste are embroidered with small black stars, side tabs of the same material being posed at the waistline and laced together with black ribbon Large flowers are the only ornament on several severe chambray models.

Black Stitching.

Black stitching, ribbons and buttons give emphasis to light colored apron dresses, sashes of white checked dimity define the waistline of other styles and pleats, tucks and rows of lace add formal notes to the entire collection

The same firm offers an interesting group of summer dresses, sleeveless models or styles with very short sleeves being particularly sponsored Necks and armholes outlined in embroidered insertion or with rows of lace, coat dresses having the front-opening banded with striped fabric on the reverse, cuffs formed of a group of pleats which stand out stiffly from the sleeve, and organdie petals edged with picot are important features.

Millinery is very sober so far this season, compared to the usual ebullition of bright red, green and other colors Black and browns are by far the leading note Few hats in the natural colored straw, such as were so much worn last spring, have yet appeared.

New Model Hat Bags at Wirick's.

The day has passed when members of the fair sex are satisfied with a mere Easter bonnet The times demand a hat for each occasion and that means that one must have something to carry them in when one travels, even if it is just for the week end. At Wirick's there are some lovely new styles in leather, enamel and fibre cloth, ranging in prices from $5 to $25. The latest feature in hat bags is the "carry-all," which is a sort of a secret pocket in the lid where one may conceal—well, go and look at them yourself.

Embroidery Used.

Embroidery is introduced as a trimming in several instances and a polka dot effect as well as cut out designs in conservatively interpreted color interest plays an important part in this type of ornamentation, and henna on yellow and jade green with orchid are two combinations that are very smart.

Printed silk and figured georgette are both used in cape costumes of strictly summer ttype. The latter is given a "dressy" appearance by the use of fine beads to outline the motif. Deep bands of plain crepe de Chine are a contrast and ornament on the printed silk models.

Dresses With Tiered Skirts.

Very smart dresses of all black crepe Roma are made in straight lines, some with two-tiered skirt and very long bodice, having little trimming other than a small jet band at the front of bodice and skirt joining. Pointed panels from shoulders finished with long tassels of silk and jet is another form of garniture. One model shows small handkerchief pleatings set in at the side under crescents of black and white pearl beads. A frock chosen by a young girl has the crescents of jet and coral beads.

Chantilly lace and Roma are favored for the all black dresses, and trimmings of fine pleatings, spangle edgings, looped ribbon and narrow fringe are effectively employed.

As the smart hats appear they are chosen in goodly numbers by the customer, sometimes as many as five being purchased at one time. Prices are quite as high as last season, though little trimming is used and many models are of fabric combined with straw. The costume matching hat is not seriously considered, as the popular shades of cocoa, rust and the tans harmonize with all costumes. Many red hats are selected often entirely of ribbon or flower trimmed. Scarfs and veils are so closely related that they serve for hat as well as throat. At the moment they are both purchased in large numbers.

Collars Moderate In Size.

Collars are small—that is, they are of moderate size. The early reports gave the impression that collars would be very small, but this collection shows them of medium size The long Tuxedo collar is presented and a new form of chin type is shown in a Bechoff model, which is bolster in effect, but made in three distinct parts which are padded.

Cording is exploited as a trimming treatment, and borders of fur are shown headed with a heavy cord, or a border effect is produced by two rows of cording. Cording is also used at the wrist, and in one case heads the flare cuff, and also at the hemline. Many models show the garment finished at the bottom with a heavy cording.

Embroidered batiste, wide bands of contrasting color, and hand drawn material are used for collars and cuffs. Short sleeves with narrow turnback cuffs or wide three-quarter sleeves with a slight flare are used. Peterf Pan collars, deep V necks, tuxedo styles and fancy yokes offer a variety of neck treatment.

Fur Trims Silk Coats.

When it is not a suit that is worn, it is a light silk coat, straight and molding, finished with a straight collar of fur. For these, artificial black satin or black broadcloth are favorites, and the fur is most generally contrasting in a light coloring.

There is no sign of large hats being worn. Small shapes of felt or straw, brown or black, trimmed with a gros grain ribbon, or velvet, or bunches of tiny flowers, massed in cocades or other motifs, are worn with all styles of dresses. The newest notes in hats was given by shapes made of China straw, black and white, simply banded with black gros grain ribbon. There were also a few red hats, usually worn with red costumes or with all black ensembles, and for these felt or buckskin seem to be more effective than straw.

Buttons, groups of tiny galons in two or several colors, and stitching in checked or plaided patterns, are extensively used as trimmings. Some plain woolens are also relieved with narrow ribbons patterned in plaid designs.

Crepe Georgette With Drawnwork.

Crepe georgette trimmed with drawnwork, and taffeta remain the two preferred fabrics for formal wear. Crepe satin is also being used, but only for younger girls. These frocks are usually straight and untrimmed at the back, with flounces gathers and tiers placed in the front

Mauve is a favored shade for formal wear, while the woolen frocks are often in brighter colorings such as cerise, jade, citron and tango.

A number of coats feature the scarf collar. English mixtures are utilized for the straight, tailored styles and tricotine or ribbed woolens for the more elaborate models. In coats, the predominant colors include cerise, blue, yellow and brown

Tailored and smart are the white overblouses that are combined with black. White silk braid with a fancy black finish is sponsored for one model, while that with the much worn jabot of pleated crepe de Chine has a novelty braid finish of black and white. Embroidery of bold design in black gives variation to the group of white spring models.

Boyish Collars Scarce.

A detail that is significant of the apparent trend toward more feminine styles is the scarcity of boyish or stand collars. Lower necklines and deep V and square effects are numerous in street models and the usual wide variety in evening decolletage continues with little effort toward more extreme lines.

American Students Take College Life Too Lightly Says Young Russian Enrolled In Lincoln Schools

BY MARJORIE WYMAN.

It has been six months since he landed at Ellis Island, the gateway to the United States; half a year since he arrived here, after leaving his home in Snovsk, in the Ukraine, to come to the promised land, America, lauded, here perhaps more than there, as "the Land of the Free."

Yet now he speaks English — or United States—with an accent to be sure, and a difficulty as he gropes now and then for the word with the exact meaning he wants. But he thinks in the language of his adopted country, and the difficulty is that of a child not yet acquainted with the means of self-expression, not of an adult translating his thoughts into a foreign tongue.

Tall, dark, and with the expression of the pioneer in his dark eyes, Josef Sorkin has come here from his own land, because of the anomalous conditions at home, which make America a safer place for the son of the manager who worked directly under the count, Musin Pushkin, of the territory where he lived.

Enrolled Early For School.

He landed in this country September 14, and came immediately to Lincoln, to the home of an aunt, Mrs. David Zolat. October 5 was the memorable first day of school in this country, but since then he has attended regularly the continuation school in McKinley building, where Mrs. Esther Myers is the teacher.

Mr. Sorkin is not, however, the uneducated immigrant we are so fond of imagining as coming here for greater opportunities. Instead he is a graduate of a high school in his own country, and needs only to apply his knowledge to other things. Engineering is the vocation he intends to follow, when he shall have learned enough English to be able to enroll in an engineering school and have completed his course. For mathematics he has a penchant and the creation of great things is his dream for the future.

But in Russia, under the new rule, it is impossible for any but the "workers," which is translated there as those who toil at manual labor, to receive any of the benefits of a civilized society. None but those who are properly classed as horny-handed sons of toil can receive education. And, being born the son of a farm overseer who took his authority directly from a member of the nobility, Mr. Sorkin could not qualify.

Likes American Education.

America, however, has an educational system which includes everyone, and the young Ukrainian is here to acquire that information which he so desires.

The soviet of the commissars is the principal government there, and is made up of an elected body, governed by an executive, who is called their president. Ten delegates are chosen from each state, and they, meeting in a central conference, elect the governmental form. The chief difficulty, however, is the fact that the government changes every six months, and the new ruler may have slightly different governmental ideas from those of his predecessor.

But chaos seems to reign in the land. For religious ideals are being denied, and young people particularly are deliberately and publicly boasting their atheism. With the overthrow of capital and the outlawing of any of its posessors, there can be no real business activity on a large scale, and the economic situation for those who are accustomed to the executive or the better-salaried positions is becoming serious.

When Josef was asked about the customs of the people, he found difficulty in explaining the differences between the people here and those there. The principal thing, however, seems to be our American desire or material goods — money-madness. The students of the newer continent are not so serious as those of Russia, even in the high schools and before the tragedy of the world war.

"Here it is how you got by the examinations, and when you had a date last," Mr. Sorkin says. "But over there, our students know our great men of writing, like Corvienco, and Lumitchursky, and Demyan Bedny. We know the painters of our period, and because our people are interested, we can make contributions to the world."

"But in America, you are not serious. You have a good time. Underneath, perhaps, you are thinking, but you do not talk about your thoughts."

War Changed Russia.

The Romanoff regime was a most prosperous one for Russia, it is admitted, but one where the serfs would be on their own land, and would also do some of the work for the noble nearby. It was a nearly feudal state of society. Siberia was used only for a land of exile, and the only income was that made by trappers from the furs of the animals there.

Then came the world war.

And Trotzky, whom Mr. Sorkin describes as a "mountain of energy" transformed the Russian government, the Russian ideas, and the Russian people. For they were governed on a communistic basis for a time, and then went into Soviett Russia.Siberia is being developed, due partly to the Siberian railroad, a comparatively new project, and partly to the fact that exile is not now the only punishment meted out, nor the most humane.

The position of women, too, has changed for the better. Substantiation may be found in tht fact that the costumes, the skirts of which, about five times as wide as the modern American girl wears, fell almost if not quite to the floor, have been discarded for ordinary dress—as we see it. The bobbed hair rage has come there, too.

Women of Great Power.

But more important than their dress are the minds of the people. For woma nis able to do her share not only in government, but also in other lines of work. Private secretaries are in some of the governmental offices, "powers behind the throne," and the girl in the outer room is often the one who has decisions in her power.

The large land is recovering from the wartime depression, and is coming into its own. Laws which last are placed on the statute books, and industrial life goes on much as it did before the great war and the succeeding revolution. Money is holding a somewhat constant value.

"Russia is a great country, Mr. Sorkin says, "She was great under the Romanoffs, and under a democratic rule, she will be better. Sometime, and not so far in the future, Russia will take a leading place among the nations."

Joseph Sorkin, lately of Ukrainia, but now a student here in Lincoln, arrived in this country in September. He is shown above as an American student, the photograph taken with Mrs. Esther Myers, his teacher in the McKinley continuation school; and below with a group of students in his high school in the "old country." Mr. Sorkin is seated at the left.

To be really smart looking, one's hair must be bobbed, and it must be the latest bob at that. We can tell you right where to get it. At Mayer Bros., Lawrence E. O'Conner, formerly of Lincoln but late of Hollywood, has taken up his abode, and he is giving all of the fashionable, movie-star cuts to Milady's hair. The next time your hair needs cutting let Mr. O'Conner do it for you and you'll be delighted with the result.

Through the Shops WITH Patricia Ann

When you Say "Buick"— That's All There Is. There Isn't Anymore.

It has rained, a little, just enough to settle the dust and make it nice for motoring out on the country road. Good motoring demands a good car, and a good car means a Buick. What could be nicer than a good looking, spick and span Buick roadster purring along the road. The Buick is a combination of everything desirable in motors—comfort, practicability, the luxurious feeling of knowing your car is as smart looking as any on the road. It takes all of these things to really make a motor trip enjoyable. The Buick people have had years of experience in knowing just what is best in a car, and they devote time, money and energy in giving the public the finest there is for as little as possible.

Summer Frocks in Voile.

Summer afternoon frocks of light colored voile are being displayed, hemstitching, embroidered material, ruffles of lace and picot edging being among the outstanding decorative features. Simplicity of line is especially stressed, nothing being allowed to detract from the straight silhouette which is adhered to throughout the collection.

Soft shades of blue, green, yellow and lavender are sponsored, pastel color range being varied occasionally by a street tone such as navy blue, or one of the high shades, such as orange. Although black is noticed as a contrast in several of these models white is more important because of the frequency with which it appears. The use of another color in contrast is also effective, dull blue stitching on a corn colored dress being noted.

Panels, vestees, collars, cuffs and pockets are often made of a novelty material with white embroidery in star patterns or eyelet effects on fabric the same color as dress. Bands of hemstitching are punctuated with dot designs, ecru net ruffles are employed around the neck and sleeves and in a double line down the front, giving a jabot effect, picot edging, is used on scallops and bands of organdie, often trimmed with Irish lace and medallions, add dainty touches.

An orange dotted Swiss is ornamented with an embroidered net collar which fastens in the front with long ends of black ribbon. The skirt gains interest by means of three very scant flounces placed at each side.

Applique And Insets Are Good.

Insets and applique designs generally in a white fabric add interest because of the unusual way in which they are applied to the apron.

Tabs of finely tucked organdie are bound in color and placed about collars and cuffs in a petal design, and about the waistline forming loops through which the belt may pass. Yoke-like insets of batiste are embroidered with small black stars, side tabs of the same material being posed at the waistline and laced together with black ribbon. Large flowers are the only ornament on several severe chambray models.

Black Stitching.

Black stitching, ribbons and buttons give emphasis to light colored apron dresses, sashes of white checked dimity define the waistline of other styles and pleats, tucks and rows of lace add formal notes to the entire collection.

The same firm offers an interesting group of summer dresses, sleeveless models or styles with very short sleeves being particularly sponsored. Necks and armholes outlined in embroidered insertion or with rows of lace, coat dresses having the front opening banded with striped fabric on the reverse, cuffs formed of a group of pleats which stand out stiffly from the sleeve, and organdie petals edged with picot are important features.

Millinery is very sober so far this season, compared to the usual ebullition of bright red, green and other colors. Black and browns are by far the leading note. Few hats in the natural colored straw, such as were so much worn last spring, have yet appeared.

New Model Hat Bags at Wirick's.

The day has passed when members of the fair sex are satisfied with a mere Easter bonnet. The times demand a hat for each occasion and that means that one must have something to carry them in when one travels, even if it is just for the week end. At Wirick's there are some lovely new styles in leather, enamel and fibre cloth, ranging in prices from $5 to $25. The latest feature in hat bags is the "carry-all," which is a sort of a secret pocket in the lid where one may conceal—well, go and look at them yourself.

Embroidery Used.

Embroidery is introduced as a trimming in several instances and a polka dot effect as well as cut out designs in conservatively interpreted color interest plays an important part in this type of ornamentation, and henna on yellow and jade green with orchid are two combinations that are very smart.

Printed silk and figured georgette are both used in cape costumes of strictly summer ttype. The latter is given a "dressy" appearance by the use of fine beads to outline the motif. Deep bands of plain crepe de Chine are a contrast and ornament on the printed silk models.

Dresses With Tiered Skirts.

Very smart dresses of all black crepe Roma are made in straight lines, some with two-tiered skirt and very long bodice, having little trimming other than a small jet band at the front of bodice and skirt joining. Pointed panels from shoulders finished with long tassels of silk and jet is another form of garniture. One model shows small handkerchief pleatings set in at the side under crescents of black and white pearl beads. A frock chosen by a young girl has the crescents of jet and coral beads.

Chantilly lace and Roma are favored for the all black dresses, and trimmings of fine pleatings, spangle edgings, looped ribbon and narrow fringe are effectively employed.

As the smart hats appear they are chosen in goodly numbers by the customer, sometimes as many as five being purchased at one time. Prices are quite as high as last season, though little trimming is used and many models are of fabric combined with straw. The costume matching hat is not sriously considered, as the popular shades of cocoa, rust and the tans harmonize with all costumes. Many red hats are selected often entirely of ribbon or flower trimmed. Scarfs and veils are so closely related that they serve for hat as well as throat. At the moment they are both purchased in large numbers.

Collars Moderate In Size.

Collars are small—that is, they are of moderate size. The early reports gave the impression that collars would be very small, but this collection shows them of medium size. The long Toxedo collar is presented and a new form of chin type is shown in a Bechoff model, which is bolster in effect, but made in three distinct parts which are padded.

Cording is exploited as a trimming treatment, and borders of fur are shown headed with a heavy cord, or a border effect is produced by two rows of cording. Cording is also used at the wrist, and in one case heads the flare cuff, and also at the hemline. Many models show the garment finished at the bottom with a heavy cording.

Eggs, my dears! Perfectly lovely white, fresh eggs that no Easter could be entirely complete without. When the children color their Easter eggs, have them fresh—you used to eat them, too. At the Grand Grocery they have eggs right from the nest. Try them, you'll go back for more.

Embroidered batiste, wide bands of contrasting color, and hand drawn material are used for collars and cuffs. Short sleeves with narrow turnback cuffs or wide three-quarter sleeves with a slight flare are used. Peterf Pan collars, deep V necks, tuxedo styles and fancy yokes offer a variety of neck treatment.

Fur Trims Silk Coats.

When it is not a suit that is worn, it is a light silk coat, straight and molding, finished with a straight collar of fur. For these, artificial black satin or black broadcloth are favorites, and the fur is most generally contrasting in a light coloring.

There is no sign of large hats being worn. Small shapes of felt or straw, brown or black, trimmed with a gros grain ribbon, or velvet, or bunches of tiny flowers, massed in cocades or other motifs, are worn with all styles of dresses. The newest notes in hats was given by shapes made of China straw, black and white, simply banded with black gros grain ribbon. There were also a few red hats, usually worn with red costumes or with all black ensembles, and for these felt or buckskin seem to be more effective than straw.

Buttons, groups of tiny galons in two or several colors, and stitching in checked or plaided patterns, are extensively used as trimimngs. Some plain woolens are also relieved with narrow ribbons patterned in plaid designs.

Crepe Georgette With Drawnwork.

Crepe georgette trimmed with drawnwork, and taffeta remain the two preferred fabrics for formal wear. Crepe satin is also being used, but only for younger girls. These frocks are usually straight and untrimmed at the back, with flounces gathers and tiers placed in the front.

Mauve is a favored shade for formal wear, while the woolen frocks are often in brighter colorings such as cerise, jade, citron and tango.

A number of coats feature the scarf collar, English mixtures are utilized for the straight, tailored styles and tricotine or ribbed woolens for the more elaborate models. In coats, the predominant colors include cerise, blue, yellow and brown.

Tailored and smart are the white overblouses that are combined with black. White silk braid with a fancy black finish is sponsored for one model, while that with the much worn jabot of pleated crepe de Chine has a novelty braid finish of black and white. Embroidery of bold design in black gives variation to the group of white spring models.

Boyish Collars Scarce.

A detail that is significant of the apparent trend toward more feminine styles is the scarcity of boyish or stand collars. Lower necklines and deep V and square effects are numerous in street models and the usual wide variety in evening decolletage contiuues with little effort toward more extreme lines.

Lovely Portrait Of Mrs. Faulkner Painted by Laune

Lincoln has a portrait painter whose initial work in portraiture predicts an interesting future for this young artist The artist is Paul S. Laune. The lovely portrait which he just recently completed is of Mrs Richard Faulkner and it was hung last Wednesday in the Faulkner home, where he has received much enthusiastic praise from the friends of Mr and Mrs Faulkner, who have been permitted a view of it.

It is a portrait in oil and its coloring is exquisite Mr. Laune has done in some unexplainable manner the most essential thing but an important detail which even the older and more experienced artists are prone to miss. He has painted a beautiful picture and at the same time one which is an excellent likeness of the subject Its subtle charm is in the personality of the sitter, which Mr. Laune has conveyed to canvas

The picture is painted on a canvas 18 by 24 but its narrow, plain frame of dull gold, a few inches wide, makes it appear larger. Mrs. Faulkner is seated in a straight back arm chair. She is wearing a blue-green evening gown of taffeta and draped over her shoulders and the arms of the chair—falling almost to the floor—is a beautiful fringed shawl in a brilliant red. A shadowy background suggests a table and lamp and the furnishings of a living room.

"I was very fortunate in having such a splendid subject," said Mr. Laune. "Mrs. Faulkner has poise and her lovely coloring is most attractive."

Mr. Laune is a young artist who is doing remarkable work. He is a member of the Lincoln Artists' guild and was awarded the silver medal in the graphic arts class for his work exhibited at the exhibition of midwestern artists in Kansas City in February.

LINCOLN GIRL IS BRIDE

Mrs. Carl N. Adams, who before her marriage Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock was Miss Mila Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Curran, 1113 H street The ceremony was performed in Sidney, Ia., at the home of the groom's grandparents, Judge and Mrs. A. B. Thornell, by the pastor of the Presbyterian chuch in the presence of twenty-five guests Mrs Adams wore a blue traveling dress for her marriage.

Mrs Adams, who has been making her home in Sidney, has been deputy county recorded. Mr. Adams is practicing law there. He graduated from the university in June, where he was affiliated with Phi Alpha Delta fraternity.

Summer Season At Country Club Will Open May 3

The formal opening of the summer season of the Lincoln Country club will be Saturday evening, May 3, when a dinner dance with a special program will start the festivities for the season. In years past the first of the summer dinner dances has been on the last Saturday in May but this year the management not wishing to resume the usual Saturday evening affairs during the Lenten season—the club was closed during the greater part of March while housecleaning was going on — has pushed the formal opening ahead about four weeks

Several small affairs were given at the club last week and several of the dancing clubs have arranged spring dinner dances at the club which will close their season but larger functions are planned to follow the opening. A gay season is predicted

WILKENS-BERGER

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening when Miss Ida May Wilkens became the bride of Lawrence Nelson Berger of Nehawka, at the home of her mother, Mrs Louis Wilkens, 3725 Holdrege street. The Rev Dr Walter Aitken, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, read the marriage lines in the presence of sixty relatives and close friends.

The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of palms and ferns, formed into a screen Preceding the ceremony, Mrs L A. Jones of Rochester, N. Y, a cousin of the bride sang, "Oh Promise Me" The bridal party entered to the strains of the Mendelissohn wedding march played by Miss Martha Damkroger of Clatonia, Neb. Mrs. Jones sang "I Love You Truly" after the marriage.

At 8 o'clock, Misses Allegra and Margaret Wilkins, sisters of the bride, and Miss Clede Berger and Mrs Marguerite Lopp, sisters of the groom, entered carrying white tulle, which marked the path for the members of the bridal party.

Mrs W. F. Damkroger of Clatonia, sister of the bride, was matron of honor She wore a gown of soft rose georgette and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses Little Norma Burr was flower girl, scattering rose petals, before the bride and Richard Burr carried the ring.

The bride's gown was of ivory crepe with trimmings of rhinestones and pearls. Her long tulle veil was held in place with a bandeau of pearls and rhinestones. She carried white roses with a shower of valley lilies

The appointments were carried out in yellow and white. Yellow candles in crystal holders, tied with fluffy bows of golden tulle, and Ophelia roses were used in the rooms.

Mr and Mrs. Berger are on a short wedding trip in St. Louis, after which they will be at home in Nehawka, where Mr. Berger is engaged in the livestock businesss.

The out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. M. Berger, Miss Clede Berger, Mrs. Marguerite Lopp, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin McReynolds, Miss Gladys August, Nehawka; Mrs. Henry Ost, Ashland; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Berger, Plattsmouth; Mrs. L. A. Jones, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs J E. Kirk and Mrs. Ed Evans, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Will F. Damkroger, Miss Martha Damkroger, Clatonia; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilkens, DeWitt.

CHURCHILL-CONDON

The marriage of Miss Bertha Churchill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs N. W Condon of Fairmont, took place Thursday at high noon at the home of the groom's aunt, Mrs. T I Condon, and Mr. Condon in Havelock The Rev. G. A. Randall of the Methodist church of Havelock performed the ceremony before a bower of roses and ferns

Mrs. Condon was attended by her sister, Miss Gretchen Churchill, and Clinton B. Condon, a cousin of the groom, was best man.

The bride's gown was of steel gray flat crepe. Miss Churchill was frocked in biege crepe de chine.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Condon will be at home in Havelock at 941 N street.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Goodale announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Arthur J Douglas of Palmyra. The marriage will take place in the near future.

Dr G. E. Hartman of Randolph announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Lois Margaret, to Allen McGowan Boggs, youngest son of the late J W. Boggs of Lincoln. The wedding will take place May 3 at 3 o'clock in the study of St Paul's M. E. church in the presence of close relatives

Numbered among the charming brides of the spring season is Mrs. Wilcox whose marriage to Albyn Adams Wilcox of Sheridan, Wyo., was an interesting event of last Monday. She was formerly Miss Evelyn Black, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs E. R. Black and the wedding which was attended by relatives and intimate friends took place at the Black home, 2025 South South Twenty-sixth street. Her gown of white brocaded satin was fashioned in simple style and she wore a short tulle veil with a becoming headdress of pleated tulle, pearls and rhinestones. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The groom is the son of Mrs. LeRoy Wilcox of Chicago who was present at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox are spending their honeymoon in Florida and Cuba and from there will go to Sheridan to make their home.

Miss Little was Mrs. Wilcox's matron of honor and only attendant. Her attractive gown was of orchid satin and she carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and violets.

Mrs Heim was Miss Gretchen Sprecher before her marriage, which was solemnized last Wednesday at 1 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs. G. T. Sprecher, 2337 Ryons street. A buffet luncheon was served after the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Heim are former students of the university. Mrs. Heim attended for three years and Mr. Heim was graduated with the class of 1922. They will make their home in Omaha.

An engagement of interest in university circles which is announced today is that of Miss Hartman, daughter of Dr. G. E. Hartman of Randolph, to Allen McCowan Boggs, youngest son of the late J. W. Boggs of Lincoln. The wedding will take place at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, May 3, in the study of St. Paul's church. Only a few guests will be present. Miss Hartman has attended the university for three years and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, Silver Serpent, Theta Sigma Phi and Chi Delta Phi. Mr. Boggs attended the university where he became a member of Phi Alpha Delta. He was graduated with the class of 1920 and since that time has been engaged in the practice of law in Lincoln.

Girl Cadets To Drill Outdoors

Forty young business women, who have been drilling for the past five months, will make their first public appearance Friday, April 25, in full regalia. New uniforms, including caps, belts, and even guns for the military maids are already on their way, and will be here within a fortnight. A grand ball, military in aspect, is being planned, to be held in the city auditorium, but the date and arrangements are as yet indefinite.

Parties of the Week

The alumnae of Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary musical sorority, met Saturday with Mrs. Dean C. Turley. Matters of business concerning the convention to be held in Decatur, Ill, the last of April were discussed A social hour followed and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Drennan entertained about forty members and friends of the ladies' Bible class and the business men's Bible class of St. Paul's Methodist church Friday evening at their home, 2613 Washington street. After music, games and stunts, light refreshments were served.

Mrs. E. E. Spake entertained Tuesday at her home, in honor of the eighty-ninth birthday of Mrs Lydia Horn. A three-course luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, when the hostess was assisted by Mrs. P. J. Allen. A birthday cake, with eighty-nine candles, formed the centerpiece, and pink roses in crystal baskets were used on the table. Mrs. Horn was given a jeweled comb.

Mrs. B. K. Bushee entertained at luncheon Thursday at 1 o'clock at the University club in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Linn of Kimball, Neb. Lavender sweet peas formed the centerpiece, and candles and place cards in the same color carried out the motif of decoration At bridge during the afternoon, Mrs William Ireland won first prize, Mrs. W. L. Bates the second, and a guest prize was awarded Mrs. Linn.

The initiation and banquet of Sigma Alpha Iota, Upsilon chapter of Nebraska Wesleyan university, were held Friday evening at the University club. Earlier in the afternoon, the formal initiation was given at the home of Mrs. Anna Bradley Witte, 511 East Fourteenth street, University Place, for the Misses Wanda Cook, Mildred Sellers, Sarah Marshall, Vera Ross, Georgia Swigart, and Wilma Clark. At the banquet, a large bowl of dark red roses, the sorority flower, formed the centerpiece, and red candles in crystal holders formed the decoration. Red roses were placed at the various covers. Pan pipes appeared in gold on the printed programs, on which were also the names of the guests. Mrs. Witte was toastmistress, and called on Miss Ethel van for "Salutation," Miss Hazel E. Ritchey, national president, for "Aims," and Miss Cook, the president of the pledges, for "Inspiration."

The members of the Westminster Women's society held a reception Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Pegler, 2043 South Twenty-sixth street, complimenting Mrs. Paul C. Payne of Pawnee City, wife of the Rev P. C. Payne, who has been conducting pre-Easter services at the Westminster Presbyterian church. Receiving with Mrs. Payne were Mrs. Pegler, Mrs. F. R. Hussong, and Mrs. Paul C. Johnston.

For the program of the afternoon, Mrs. Victor Y. Coulter gave a group of whistling solos and Mrs Stella Waggoner several readings. Mrs Clarence Hines and Mrs John Mason gave a piano duet and Mrs. Donald Bell sang a group of songs.

The guests were invited into the dining room by Mrs. Fred Webster Mrs. D. S. Douthett cut the ices and Mrs. Don Pegler and Mrs. Marion Gish assisted.

Mrs. Payne left Tuesday morning for her home in Pawnee City.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tucker entertained at cards Monday evening at their home, 3409 D street. The high and Joel Nissley and the low score by Mrs. Hugo Hall and Mark Hanna. Supper was served after the cards, Mrs. Tucker being assisted by Miss Evelyn Tucket.

The monthly dinner of the faculty of Cotner college was held in the dining room of the Christian church Wednesday evening. A double trio from the fine arts department gave a group of Irish songs in costume Prof. Ernest W. Lundeen presided and Prof. J. A. Moss told of the contributions of chemistry in the past year. Mrs. Faytho Leavitt and Mrs. Evabelle Long-Fuller arranged the dinner.

Invitations for a dinner dance April 18 in the Lincoln hotel ball room have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. A. E Bishop, Mr. and Mrs W. E. Hagerty, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hinman About 100 couples will be present.

Mrs. Victor Y. Coulter was hostess Saturday at 1 o'clock luncheon in the Garden room of the Lincoln hotel. The thirty guests were seated at one large table where the centerpiece was a gold basket of daffodils, tied with a double bow of lavender tulle. A circle of fern leaves surrounded the baskets. At either end of the table was a group of crystal candlesticks, each holding an orange candle, and all tied with lavender tulle. Lavender and orange were used throughout the decorations, with hand-painted place cards, representing spring flowers, and nut cups alternating the two colors. Satin, emery bags with rosebuds in ribbons in the pastel shades were the favors, hanging from silken cords The afternoon was spent at bridge, when prizes went to Mrs. Leo Schmittel, Mrs. Fred Aldrich, and Mrs Oscar Junge, with Mrs. Lee Martin receiving the consolation.

Mr. and Mrs Charles Stuart entertained the members of the Stuart-Talbot families at dinner Friday evening at the Country club in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Stuart's father, A. R. Talbot, and the seventh birthday anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart's son, Jimmie, which are on the same day. Spring flowers in lovely spring colors decorated the table where covers were laid for seventeen. Two large birthday cakes were in compliment to the two guests of honor.

Lincoln has a portrait painter whose initial work in portraiture predicts an interesting future for this young artist. The artist is Paul S. Laune. The lovely portrait which he just recently completed is of Mrs. Richard Faulkner and it was hung last Wednesday in the Faulkner home, where he has received much enthusiastic praise from the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner, who have been permitted a view of it.

It is a portrait in oil and its coloring is exquisite. Mr. Laune has done in some unexplainable manner the most essential thing but an important detail which even the older and more experienced artists are prone to miss. He has painted a beautiful picture and at the same time one which is an excellent likeness of the subject. Its subtle charm is in the personality of the sitter, which Mr. Laune has conveyed to canvas.

The picture is painted on a canvas 18 by 24 but its narrow, plain frame of dull gold, a few inches wide, makes it appear larger. Mrs. Faulkner is seated in a straight back arm chair. She is wearing a blue-green evening gown of taffeta and draped over her shoulders and the arms of the chair—falling almost to the floor—is a beautiful fringed shawl in a brilliant red. A shadowy background suggests a table and lamp and the furnishings of a living room.

"I was very fortunate in having such a splendid subject," said Mr. Laune. "Mrs. Faulkner has poise and her lovely coloring is most attractive."

Mr. Laune is a young artist who is doing remarkable work. He is a member of the Lincoln Artists' guild and was awarded the silver medal in the graphic arts class for his work exhibited at the exhibition of midwestern artists in Kansas City in February.

Summer Season At Country Club Will Open May 3

The formal opening of the summer season of the Lincoln Country club will be Saturday evening, May 3, when a dinner dance with a special program will start the festivities for the season. In years past the first of the summer dinner dances has been on the last Saturday in May but this year the management not wishing to resume the usual Saturday evening affairs during the Lenten season—the club was closed during the greater part of March while housecleaning was going on — has pushed the formal opening ahead about four weeks.

Several small affairs were given at the club last week and several of the dancing clubs have arranged spring dinner dances at the club which will close their season but larger functions are planned to follow the opening. A gay season is predicted.

Mrs. Carl N. Adams, who before her marriage Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock was Miss Mila Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Curran, 1113 H street. The ceremony was performed in Sidney, Ia., at the home of the groom's grandparents, Judge and Mrs. A. B. Thornell, by the pastor of the Presbyterian chuch in the presence of twenty-five guests. Mrs. Adams wore a blue traveling dress for her marriage.

Mrs. Adams, who has been making her home in Sidney, has been deputy county recorded. Mr. Adams is practicing law there. He graduated from the university in June, where he was affiliated with Phi Alpha Delta fraternity.

Weddings

WILKENS-BERGER

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening when Miss Ida May Wilkens became the bride of Lawrence Nelson Berger of Nehawka, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Louis Wilkens, 3725 Holdrege street. The Rev. Dr. Walter Aitken, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, read the marriage lines in the presence of sixty relatives and close friends.

The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of palms and ferns, formed into a screen. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. L. A. Jones of Rochester, N. Y., a cousin of the bride sang, "Oh Promise Me." The bridal party entered to the strains of the Mendellssohn wedding march, played by Miss Martha Damkroger of Clatonia, Neb. Mrs. Jones sang "I Love You Truly" after the marriage.

At 8 o'clock, Misses Allegra and Margaret Wilkins, sisters of the bride, and Miss Clede Berger and Mrs. Marguerite Lopp, sisters of the groom, entered carrying white tulle, which marked the path for the members of the bridal party.

Mrs. W. F. Damkroger of Clatonia, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of soft rose georgette and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Little Norma Burr was flower girl, scattering rose petals, before the bride and Richard Burr carried the ring.

The bride's gown was of ivory crepe with trimmings of rhinestones and pearls. Her long tulle veil was held in place with a bandeau of pearls and rhinestones. She carried white roses with a shower of valley lilies.

The appointments were carried out in yellow and white. Yellow candles in crystal holders, tied with fluffy bows of golden tulle, and Ophelia roses were used in the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Berger are on a short wedding trip in St. Louis, after which they will be at home in Nehawka, where Mr. Berger is engaged in the livestock businesss.

The out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. M. Berger, Miss Clede Berger, Mrs. Marguerite Lopp, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin McReynolds, Miss Gladys August, Nehawka; Mrs. Henry Ost, Ashland; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Berger, Plattsmouth; Mrs. L. A. Jones, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. J. E. Kirk and Mrs. Ed Evans, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Will F. Damkroger, Miss Martha Damkroger, Clatonia; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilkens, DeWitt.

CHURCHILL-CONDON

The marriage of Miss Bertha Churchill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Condon of Fairmont, took place Thursday at high noon at the home of the groom's aunt, Mrs. T. I. Condon, and Mr. Condon in Havelock. The Rev. G. A. Randall of the Methodist church of Havelock performed the ceremony before a bower of roses and ferns.

Mrs. Condon was attended by her sister, Miss Gretchen Churchill, and Clinton B. Condon, a cousin of the groom, was best man.

The bride's gown was of steel gray flat crepe. Miss Churchill was frocked in biege crepe de chine.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Condon will be at home in Havelock at 941 N street.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Goodale announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Arthur J. Douglas of Palmyra. The marriage will take place in the near future.

Dr. G. E. Hartman of Randolph announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Miss Margaret Lois Hartman, to Albyn Adams Wilcox of Sheridan, Wyo., which was solemnized last Wednesday at 1 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs. G. T. Sprecher, 2337 Ryons street. A buffet luncheon was served after the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Heim are former students of the university. Mrs. Heim attended for three years and Mr. Heim was graduated with the class of 1922. They will make their home in Omaha.

An engagement of interest in university circles which is announced today is that of Miss Hartman, daughter of Dr. G. E. Hartman of Randolph, to Allen McCowan Boggs, youngest son of the late J. W. Boggs of Lincoln. The wedding will take place at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, May 3, in the study of St. Paul's church. Only a few guests will be present. Miss Hartman has attended the university for three years and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, Silver Serpent, Theta Sigma Phi and Chi Delta Phi. Mr. Boggs attended the university where he became a member of Phi Alpha Delta. He was graduated with the class of 1920 and since that time has been engaged in the practice of law in Lincoln.

Numbered among the charming brides of the spring season is Mrs. Wilcox whose marriage to Albyn Adams Wilcox of Sheridan, Wyo., was an interesting event of last Monday. She was formerly Miss Evelyn Black, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Black and the wedding which was attended by relatives and intimate friends took place at the Black home, 2025 South South Twenty-sixth street. Her gown of white brocaded satin was fashioned in simple style and she wore a short tulle veil with a becoming headdress of pleated tulle, pearls and rhinestones. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The groom is the son of Mrs. LeRoy Wilcox of Chicago who was present at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox are spending their honeymoon in Florida and Cuba and from there will go to Sheridan to make their home.

Miss Little was Mrs. Wilcox's matron of honor and only attendant. Her attractive gown was of orchid satin and she carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and violets.

Girl Cadets To Drill Outdoors

Forty young business women, who have been drilling for the past five months, will make their first public appearance Friday, April 25, in full regalia. New uniforms, including caps, belts, and even guns for the military maids are already on their way, and will be here within a fortnight. A grand ball, military in aspect, is being planned, to be held in the city auditorium, but the date and arrangements are as yet indefinite.

Parties of the Week

The alumnae of Sigma Alpha Iota, natitonal honorary musical sorority, met Saturday with Mrs. Dean C. Turley. Matters of business concerning the convention to be held in Decatur, Ill., the last of April were discussed. A social hour followed and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Drennan entertained about forty members and friends of the ladies' Bible class and the business men's Bible class of St. Paul's Methodist church Friday evening at their home, 2613 Washington street. After music, games and stunts, light refreshments were served.

Mrs. E. E. Spake entertained Tuesday at her home, in honor of the eighty-ninth birthday of Mrs. Lydia Horn. A three-course luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, when the hostess was assisted by Mrs. P. J. Allen. A birthday cake, with eighty-nine candles, formed the centerpiece, and pink roses in crystal baskets were used on the table. Mrs. Horn was given a jeweled comb.

Mrs. B. K. Bushee entertained at luncheon Thursday at 1 o'clock at the University club in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Linn of Kimball, Neb. Lavender sweet peas formed the centerpiece, and candles and place cards in the same color carried out the motif of decoration. At bridge during the afternoon, Mrs. William Ireland won first prize, Mrs. W. L. Bates the second, and a guest prize was awarded Mrs. Linn.

The initiation and banquet of Sigma Alpha Iota, Upsilon chapter of Nebraska Wesleyan university, were held Friday evening at the University club. Earlier in the afternoon, the formal initiation was given at the home of Mrs. Anna Bradley Witte, 511 East Fourteenth street, University Place, for the Misses Wanda Cook, Mildred Sellers, Sarah Marshall, Vera Ross, Georgia Swiggart, and Wilma Clark. At the banquet, a large bowl of dark red roses, the sorority flower, formed the centerpiece, and red candles in crystal holders formed the decoration. Red roses were placed at the various covers. Pan pipes appeared in gold on the printed programs, on which were also the names of the guests. Mrs. Witte was toastmistress, and called on Miss Ethel van for "Salutation," Miss Hazel E. Ritchey, national president, for "Aims," and Miss Cook, the prseident of the pledges, for "Inspiration."

The members of the Westminster Women's society held a reception Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Pegler, 2043 South Twenty-sixth street, complimenting Mrs. Paul C. Payne of Pawnee City, wife of the Rev. P. C. Payne, who has been conducting pre-Easter services at the Westminster Presbyterian church. Receiving with Mrs. Payne were Mrs. Pegler, Mrs. F. R. Hussong, and Mrs. Paul C. Johnston.

For the program of the afternoon, Mrs. Victor Y. Coulter gave a group of whistling solos and Mrs. Stella Waggoner several readings. Mrs. Clarence Hines and Mrs. John Mason gave a piano duet and Mrs. Donald Bell sang a group of songs.

A double trio from the fine arts department gave a group of Irish songs in costume. Prof. Ernest W. Lundeen presided and Prof. J. A. Moss told of the contributions of chemistry in the past year. Mrs. Faythe Leavitt and Mrs. Evabelle Long-Fuller arranged the dinner.

Invitations for a dinner dance April 18 in the Lincoln hotel ball room have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hagenty, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hinman. About 100 couples will be present.

Mrs. Victor Y. Coulter was hostess Saturday at 1 o'clock luncheon in the Garden room of the Lincoln hotel. The thirty guests were seated at one large table, where the centerpiece was a gold basket of daffodils, tied with a double bow of lavender tulle. A circle of fern leaves surrounded the baskets. At either end of the table was a group of crystal candlesticks, each holding an orange candle, and all tied with lavender tulle. Lavender and orange were used throughout the decorations, with hand-painted place cards, representing spring flowers, and nut cups alternating the two colors. Satin, emery bags with rosebuds in ribbons in the pastel shades were the favors, hanging from silken cords. The afternoon was spent at bridge, when prizes went to Mrs. Leo Schmittel, Mrs. Fred Aldrich, and Mrs. Oscar Jungq, with Mrs. Lee Martin receiving the consolation.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart entertained the members of the Stuart-Talbot families at dinner Friday evening at the Country club in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Stuart's father, A. R. Talbot, and the seventh birthday anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart's son, Jimmie, which are on the same day. Spring flowers in lovely spring colors decorated the table where covers were laid for seventeen. Two large birthday cakes were in compliment to the two guests of honor.

SOCIETY

Mrs. T. F. A. Williams, the sorority sponsor. Covers were laid for twenty-five at one large table. Other guests were Dr. Winifred Hyde, Dr. Ruth Warner, Misses Gretchen Hockdofer, Lulu Runge, and Lila Sands. The table was centered with a bowl of jonquils and marguerites and the nut cups and place cards were in yellow. The color note of yellow and black was carried out further in the yellow tapers in crystal holders, tied with black tulle. Mrs. Max Westermann spoke informally on the new Lincoln general hospital and Miss Grace Montrose gave a group of piano numbers.

The Merrimyx dancing club will entertain at an Easter party as the last affair of the year at the Rosewilde Monday evening. Thirty-six couples, including a number of guests, will attend the party. On the committee in charge of arrangements are Messrs. and Mesdames C. L. Storer, Earl B. Anderson and A. O. Gronquist. Dr. H. H. Capek is president of the club for next year and Mrs. O. S. Copeland is the secretary.

Mrs. Harold Jungbluth entertained Friday evening at her home, 1222 G street, at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Hattie Brown of Raymond, whose marriage to Warren P. Shuck will take place in the near future. A mock wedding featured the evening. Fifteen guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. David Sell entertained the graduating class of the commercial department of Luther college, Wahoo, Friday evening at their home, 1015 South Sixth street. Their son, Prof. David Sell, is principal. After the dinner, Miss Effie Johngon of Luther college gave a group of vocal numbers and Miss Inez Wallin and Gladys Olson, members of the class, gave readings and piano selections. John Sell gave several banjo selections.

Miss Helen Van Doran, whose marriage to Flavel Funk takes place April 16, has been honored at a number of attractive affairs this past week. Miss Myra McGraw entertained at a theater party Thursday evening for members of La Joie De Vie, after which a handkerchief shower was given at the home of Miss McGraw, 1073 Washington street. Little Bobbie Becker gave a dance, and as an encore, presented Miss Van Doran with a basket of handkerchiefs. Appointments in the luncheon were in lavender and pink.

Mrs. Harry L. Hunt entertained for her sister at a party Friday evening at her home, 2421 South Eleventh street. Eleven girls were present, and the evening was spent informally at games. Yellow was used in decorations and in the light refreshments served late in the evening. A basket full of lilies, which the guest of honor searched and found held the gifts which transformed the party into a miscellaneous shower.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Verity entertained the staff of the Western Newspaper Union and their wives at a party Saturday evening for Miss Van Doran and Mr. Funk. A mock wedding in which J. D. Cole played the part of the bride; C. C. Pierce that of the groom, and A. W. Tank served as maid of honor with Mason Gilliland as best man; and R. L. Bowers as bridesmaid, E. L. Williamson as the minister performing the ceremony, furnished the entertainment. Another mock wedding commemorated the twenty-second wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Treadwell, when the bride appeared in the costume of two decades ago. Miss Sylvia Cole sang a group of songs. Flatirons, potato mashers, and rolling pins with yellow paper hearts were used in decoration. One red rose was also used, and afterward presented to Miss Van Doran, welcoming her into the official family. Light refreshments were heart ices, with red candies to form Cupid's arrows.

Honoring Mr. Berry's birthday anniversary, Mrs. Don Berry entertained a group of friends at supper Sunday evening in the English room of the Lincoln hotel. The appointments were suggestive of the Easter season. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Newens, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harrison, and Mr. and Mrs. John Rosborough. The evening was spent informally.

Social Clubs

Melba Five Hundred club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bintz, 1226 South Twenty-third street, Friday evening. At cards during the evening, prizes went to O. P. Jorgensen and Mrs. R. C. Kirker. The hostess served a luncheon at the close of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Drummer will entertain the club in three weeks at their home, 2207 South Fifteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Peterson, 2140 Holdrege street, entertained the members of the Kit-a-Whyle club last Thursday evening at their home. Mrs. Rex Woodring and Leo Dierks won high scores at five hundred, the game of the evening, and the hostess served light refreshments. The club meets in two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dierks, 225 North Thirty-third street.

Diller-Lincoln club members were entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. G. Limprecht, 2954 Ryons street. A musical program was given by the Misses Bernice Kerr and Lucile Osborne, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Ray Colman, with Mrs. Limprecht at the piano. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting of the club will be held May 9 at the home of Mrs William L. Wagel, 1612 Roseland terrace.

Mrs. George Hager, 1980 C street, entertained the members of Tri C club Friday afternoon at her home. Mrs. O. E. Kingery and Mrs. Ed Davis were assisting hostesses. Mrs. F. E. Abbott of Billings, Mont., was a guest of the club. The afternoon was spent informally, and Easter suggestions were carried out in the yellow and white decorations, and in the refreshments. The club meets May 9 at the home of Mrs. Clara Townsend, with Mesdames Philip Van Kuran and Thorn Brown assisting hostesses.

The C. L. K. club held its monthly business meeting and kensington Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. F. Hatcher, 2015 P street, University Place. Easter favors were given, carrying out the color scheme of yellow and white which was used in decorations and in table decorations for the two-course luncheon served by the hostess late in the afternoon. The club will meet May 8 in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. Heath, 737 Marshall avenue.

Mrs. W. A. Ozenbaugh entertained the members of the Jolly Eight club Friday afternoon at her home, 2119 R street. High five was the game of the afternoon, when Mrs. Martha Church won high score, and Mrs. Joe Watts took second. Consolation was awarded to Mrs. S. H. Pound. A two-course luncheon was served at small tables when Easter decorations were used on the tables and in the menu. The club will meet Friday afternoon, April 25, at the home of Mrs. Church, 2105 R street.

Was Ca Na club met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Oden, 622 South Twenty-sixth street. Three tables were placed for bridge, and Ira Crook and Mrs. Paul Ault won high scores. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Pepple were guests of the club. Late in the evening, the hostess served a two-course supper. The club's next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Johnson, 627 South Thirty-seventh street.

Members of the Busy club were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Gerlach, 410 D street. The afternoon was spent at fancy work, and after the business session, refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. A. Miller was the only guest of the club. The next meeting of the club will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. William Goldstein, 1958 Park avenue.

R. C. Club members met for 1 o'clock covered dish luncheon Friday at the home of Mrs. H. R. Norden, 937 A street, with Mrs. M. W. Frank as assisting hostess. Following the luncheon, a business meeting was held, after which the remainder of the afternoon was spent informally. In contests, prizes went to Mrs. H. C. Cunningham and Mrs. Charles Sherwood. Mrs. J. Mahon was a guest. The place and date of the next meeting are indefinite.

Members of the You-Go-I-Go club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. Hessheimer, 724 South street. Mrs. F. Thompson and Mrs. A. Hessheimer and Mrs. W. S. Molton were guests. The afternoon was spent informally. The club will meet April 25 at the home of Mrs. H. Ray Desch, 867 North Twenty-first street.

Axtell-Lincoln club members were entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Charles Schell, 3203 South Thirty-third street, at a covered dish luncheon at 1 o'clock. The afternoon was spent informally. The place and date of the next meeting of the club will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brigham entertained the Twilight Five Hundred club Wednesday evening at their home, 2320 R street. Mrs. Alden Olson and Ed Wood made the high scores. After the games, supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Miller, 611 South Thirtieth street, will entertain the club April 23.

Twelve members of the L. C. W. club met with Mrs. J. W. Simmons, Parker were present. After a business meeting, the afternoon was spent informally. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. E. Atkinson. Mrs. Gordon was elected a new member. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Fred Angelo, 2331 Orchard street.

T. N. T. club members were entertained at 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday by Mrs. C. R. Bigelow, 1045 South Thirty-fourth street. Table decorations were suggestive of the Easter season. At cards during the afternoon, high score went to Mrs. M. J. Blish. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Blish, 416 L street, University Place.

Ocho bridge club met Thursday for 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. D. Parks, 1401 G street. Decorations were in pink and green, with a bowl of pink roses as center piece, the color motif carried in green nut cups and pink and green cards. Mrs. Emerson Smith, Mrs. H. C. Potter, and Miss Jude Deyo were guests. At bridge during the afternoon, Mrs. Potter won high score. The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. A. N. Richards, 949 South Eleventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Tucker entertained the members of the Alpha bridge club and their husbands at 7 o'clock dinner Thursday evening at their home, 2212 Q street. Violets and daffodils were used in decoration on the four small tables at which dinner was served. Crysal baskets of flowers formed the centerpieces, and place cards in yellow and lavender carried out the color scheme. At cards during the evening Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Riordan won high scores. The club will meet in two weeks in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Sharp, 1112 Washington street.

Members of the Royal Five Hundred club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Whittington, 825 Washington street. Miss

LITERATURE DIVISION OF THE WOMAN'S CLUB

The literature department of the Woman's club, met Thursday afternoon in Faculty hall Miss Helen Palmer gave two piano solos, one an Indian melody, the other by Fritz Kreisler, which were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs W T Elmore was introduced by Mrs. Morse as the speaker of the afternoon Her subject was "Literature of India." The Hindu, which form the largest part of the nation, are strictly those who accept the Hindu religion or Brahmanism. This is the great religion of India.

Buddhism and Mohammedism also prevail Brahmanism dates back to about 1200 B c and its sacred books are called the Vedas and are the oldest literary documents known. they are mainly a collection of hymns. Brahmanism was originally a philosophical religion, mingled with the worships of the powers of nature, but in course of years, the religion of India became a system of idolatry, with cruel rites and hideous images. Then the caste system a part of the religion, was a sad burden.

She said, one way to greatly interest a Hindu, is to tell him one of his own religious stories. They are all very religious in their own way.

J Manley Phelps conducted the English Several poems from Browning were read At the close, ice cream and home-made cake were passed. The table was beautifully decorated with a basket of lavender and pink sweet peas and several candlesticks with lavender tulle bows Mrs Bricka and Mrs H M Settle served

PARLIAMENTARY LAW FOR WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY MRS. JOHN SLAKER.

Admonition.

We sometimes hear it said that as parliamentary law is not a desired end in itself but merely a means to an end, it is scarcely worth the effort required for its mastery. Would you say that a command of one's mother tongue is not sufficient reward for the arduous labor expended upon it. Yet it is only a means to an end, but that end is to adequately express the thoughts that may serve to ennoble the race. Through familiarity with the rules of correct procedure we are able to make ourselves effective and rally to the support of a worthy cause, influence that would otherwise be lost because disorganized.

There are rumors of parliamentary tricks that may be resorted to by those not socially minded, but we have no interest in them; like all shady practices they only serve to confuse and to destroy one's ability to think clearly and definitely.

Parliamentary law is above all an ethical question The letter of it enables one to dispatch business easily and efficiently; the spirit that gives it life is loyalty. A woman's club is a meeting ground for those of high ideals and generous impulses; there is no room in it for envy or criticism or pettiness. Each is bound to each byties that rise above self-seeking.

When differences arise, as they invariably will where there are many diverse human opinions, tastes and wills, they should never be spoken of outside the membership; the terms of our membership require that "each shall her neighbor's failing hide." In like manner officers and members of boards of directors and committees should not repeat (even to club members) matters that transpire at the meetings of their several groups; the board and the committee have their regular channel through which to communicate with the club, and indiscriminate reporting should not be tolerated.

The will of the majority is the recognized tribunal for all self-governing bodies and should be held inviolate Remember, it is the basic rock upon which is built the structure of popular government. Rules are the mere mechanical instruments through which this will may be registered It is our privilege—yea more, it is our duty, to strive mightily for any purpose or cause in which we are interested: we may use all fair means to accomplished our purpose, but when the vote is taken and the majority has declared itself, it is the part of loyalty and true wisdom to faithfully support the measure that was endorsed. Majorities are not always correct in their decisions, and if the thing that you are supporting is right, then its time will come, and if you have been magnanimous in defeat, you will the more readily rally support to your cause when it rises up again Above all things, do not permit any word or deed of yours to give the impression to those outside the organization that there is any shadow of discord in the club Whatever happens within the privacy of our own ranks, club loyalty and club pride demand that we present to the world at large a united front.

If these simple chapters have awakened a renewed interest in parliamentary law and have convinced even a few that it is not only worth while but easily understood, they will have served their purpose. Let us cherish and cultivate it as a beautiful plant, whose soil is common sense, whose root is justice and whose flower is courtesy.

Yet it is only a means to an end, but that end is to adequately express the thoughts that may serve to ennoble the race. Through familiarity with the rules of correct procedure we are able to make ourselves effective and rally to the support of a worthy cause, influence that would otherwise be lost because disorganized.

There are rumors of parliamentary tricks that may be resorted to by those not socially minded, but we have no interest in them; like all shady practices they only serve to confuse and to destroy one's ability to think clearly and definitely.

Parliamentary law is above all an ethical question. The letter of it enables one to dispatch business easily and efficiently; the spirit that gives it life is loyalty. A woman's club is a meeting ground for those of high ideals and generous impulses; there is no room in it for envy or criticism or pettiness. Each is bound to each byties that rise above self-seeking.

When differences arise, as they invariably will where there are many diverse human opinions, tastes and wills, they should never be spoken of outside the membership; the terms of our membership require that "each shall her neighbor's failing hide." In like manner officers and members of boards of directors and committees should not repeat (even to club members) matters that transpire at the meetings of their several groups; the board and the committee have their regular channel through which to communicate with the club, and indiscriminate reporting should not be tolerated.

The will of the majority is the recognized tribunal for all self-governing bodies and should be held inviolate. Remember, it is the basic rock upon which is built the structure of popular government. Rules are the mere mechanical instruments through which this will may be registered. It is our privilege—yea more, it is our duty, to strive mightily for any purpose or cause in which we are interested; we may use all fair means to accomplished our purpose, but when the vote is taken and the majority has declared itself, it is the part of loyalty and true wisdom to faithfully support the measure that was endorsed. Majorities are not always correct in their decisions, and if the thing that you are supporting is right, then its time will come, and if you have been magnanimous in defeat, you will the more readily rally support to your cause when it rises up again. Above all things, do not permit any word or deed of yours to give the impression to those outside the organization that there is any shadow of discord in the club. Whatever happens within the privacy of our own ranks, club loyalty and club pride demand that we present to the world at large a united front.

If these simple chapters have awakened a renewed interest in parliamentary law and have convinced even a few that it is not only worth while but easily understood, they will have served their purpose. Let us cherish and cultivate it as a beautiful plant, whose soil is common sense, whose root is justice and whose flower is courtesy.

The Reduced Prices of Cantilever Shoes Make Comfort an Economy

They were priced reasonably before the recent reduction. No change having been made in the quality. Cantilever Shoes today stand before the country as the greatest value ever offered in scientific shoe construction. They make comfort an economy not a luxury.

Thousands of men and women have discovered in the natural lines and flexible arch of the Cantilever Shoe a means of enjoying the most shoe comfort in a lifetime. Perfect harmony of action between foot and shoe has lifted their conception of ease in walking, tireless standing, foot health.

Thousands more are going to enjoy this comfort and "foot ability." That is one reason why prices were reduced, so that a large number of new wearers would begin to share the foot happiness available in the

Invites Holy Name Men to Washington

NEW YORK, April 12.—Archbishop Michael J. Curley, of the Baltimore archdiocese, officially invites the Holy Name men of the United States to attend the annual convention and rally of the Holy Name society, to be held in Washington, September 18 to 22.

The invitation was addressed to the Very Reverend Michael J. Ripple, O. F. P. C., national director of the society. It said "no body of men ever received a more warm hearted welcome than the Holy Name men will receive when they come to celebrate the anniversary of the founding of the Holy Name society."

Churches Will Hold Holy Week Services

Church members of Lincoln will generally observe holy week by attending special daily services which are to be held in practically all churches of the city. The noon meetings for men at the Y. M. C. A. and for women at the Y. W. C A., are arranged especially for business men and women who can find it convenient to devote part of their noon hour to worship services.

The attendance at the vacation school story tellers class Monday night is increasing. This is a regular part of the training course for prospective teachers, and next week work will be started on the stories to be used in the primary departments of the schools

The March edition of the Nebraska Wesleyan "Alumnus" came from the press Wednesday. This is a news number with a large number of personals concerning Wesleyan graduates and their present activities. The staff that prepared the issue was Gladys W. Coatman, editor; John M. Aikman, assistant editor; Ethel M. Langdon, faculty notes; Louisa Kennedy and Margaret Dafoe Aikman, class news.

Campus views and cuts of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. presidents, Beryl Snyder and Gladys Rising, appear in the edition. Prof. W. I. Ruyle, president of Phi Kappa Phi, has an article concerning that fraternity at Wesleyan. E. J. T. Connely has prepared for the issue a brief article on the new library building. James R Connely, '26, exhibits in the issue a report of the Indianapolis convention of the student volunteers. The Christian associations and their work are set forth in special articles. Dean B. E. McProud has an appreciation of Prof. R. W. Deal under the caption, "Roy Deal Makes Worthwhile Research." The article refers to Professor Deal's master's thesis on "The Measurement of Teacher Efficiency" presented by the writer to the University of Nebraska faculty in partial requirement for the degree.

The societies of the golden key and the golden chain will hold the annual banquet at the Lincoln hotel April 18.

The Greatest Egotist

Many people have been accused of being egotistical, but one of the Rameses probably is entitled to be called the greatest of them all. He was the one who had the names of previous rulers cut from the monuments they had erected in their own honor, and his own name substituted, you remember.

But he was found out. It usually happens that those who make pretentions of great scope find that truly "Pride goeth before a fall."

Invites Holy Name Men to Washington

NEW YORK, April 12.—Archbishop Michael J. Curley, of the Baltimore archdiocese, officially invites the Holy Name men of the United States to attend the annual convention and rally of the Holy Name society, to be held in Washington, September 18 to 22.

The invitation was addressed to the Very Reverend Michael J. Ripple, O. F. P. G., national director of the society. It said "no body of men ever received a more warm hearted welcome than the Holy Name men will receive when they come to celebrate the anniversary of the founding of the Holy Name society."

Churches Will Hold Holy Week Services

Church members of Lincoln will generally observe holy week by attending special daily services which are to be held in practically all churches of the city. The noon meetings for men at the Y. M. C. A. and for women at the Y. W. C. A., are arranged especially for business men and women who can find it convenient to devote part of their noon hour to worship services.

The attendance at the vacation school story tellers class Monday night is increasing. This is a regular part of the training course for prospective teachers, and next week work will be started on the stories to be used in the primary departments of the schools.

Wesleyan Affairs

The March edition of the Nebraska Wesleyan "Alumnus" came from the press Wednesday. This is a news number with a large number of personals concerning Wesleyan graduates and their present activities. The staff that prepared the issue was Gladys W. Coatman, editor; John M. Aikman, assistant editor; Ethol M. Langdon, faculty notes; Louisa Kennedy and Margaret Dafoe Aikman, class news.

Campus views and cuts of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. presidents, Beryl Snyder and Gladys Rising, appear in the edition. Prof. W. L. Ruyle, president of Phi Kappa Phi, has an article concerning that fraternity at Wesleyan. E. J. T. Connely has prepared for the issue a brief article on the new library building. James R. Connely, '26, exhibits in the issue a report of the Indianapolis convention of the student volunteers. The Christian associations and their work are set forth in special articles. Dean B. E. McProud has an appreciation of Prof. R. W. Deal under the caption, "Roy Deal Makes Worthwhile Research." The article refers to Professor Deal's master's thesis on "The Measurement of Teacher Efficiency" presented by the writer to the University of Nebraska faculty in partial requirement for the degree.

The societies of the golden key and the golden chain will hold the annual banquet at the Lincoln hotel April 18.

TWINS OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

Martin and Marvin Baltzell, sons of Mr and Mrs. Ed Baltzell of Burwell, formerly of Lincoln, who celebrated their third birthday April 2 at their home. The Greatest Egotist

Many people have been accused of being egotistical, but one of the Rameses probably is entitled to be called the greatest of them all. He was the one who had the names of previous rulers cut from the monuments they had erected in their own honor, and his own name substituted, you remember.

But he was found out. It usually happens that those who make pretentions of great scope find that truly "Pride goeth before a fall."

The Musical World

A musical service, arousing more than passing interest, is being prepared by the Redeemer choral society to be given at the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer Easter Sunday at 4 o'clock. For this annual vesper service, the choral society has chosen Charles Gounod's "The Redemption," an oratio or sacred trilogy, which is accepted as a standard work of that composer. In setting the fundamental facts of the Christian religion to music, the composer has produced a theme, which provides exceptional opportunity for expressive choral and solo work; the trilogy consists of descriptive lyrical setting-forth of the occurences on Calvary, at the Resurrection, and on Pentecost, and is introduced by a prologue, which touches upon the creation, the fall of man, and the promise of the redeemer. The oratorio is concluded by a final coda, presenting the glorification of the Most Holy Trinity throughout all generations.

The choral society, which is under the direction of J. M. Siedel, is remembered by many for the exceptionally meritorious presentation of the Christmas cantata, "Unto Us," and it is certain that its reputation will be greatly increased by the rendition of the difficult work which is to be presented Easter Sunday.

The fourth voice recital of the season by the pupils of Clemens Movius took place at the studio Friday evening. The following program was given:

The Lord is My Shepherd—Liddle.
Paul Thomas
The Rose Complained—Franz.

Paul Thomas, violin obligato.

WHEATLEY VOCAL STUDIOS

Walter Wheatley spent last week end in Chicago, where he sang as soloist with the Apollo club of 350 voices, and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The works given were Rossini's Stabat Mater and Hadley's Resurgam.

Herman Devries of the Chicago American said "Walter Wheatley's tenor is suavely sympathetic, employed with fine discretion and elegance. There could scarcely be a better execution of the 'Cujus Animam' than that afforded by Mr. Wheatley, who shaded it exquisitely, singing it in quite the grand manner, yet without ostentation or affectation."

Earl H. Watson, pupil of Clemens Movius, will be the soloist at a concert in Cambridge, Neb., Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the municipal band.

May Peterson, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera company, appears in recital Monday afternoon at the Temple theatre under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale. The club is just closing the thirtieth year of its organization and since it hasbeen the thirtieth anniversary a special effort has been made to have a little extra in the way of programs and social affairs and it is most fitting that the year should close with a recital by May Peterson who is one of the best known artists on the concert stage. Miss Peterson's voice is beautiful. It is a rich soprano and this voice plus rare personal charm captivates her hearers.

The active and executive members will meeting at 1:30 o'clock Monday for the annual meeting when officers will be elected and the reports will be heard.

Miss Peterson's program will be given as follows in the Temple theatre starting at 3:30 o'clock:

Robbins Voice Studio.

Edith Lucille Robbins will enlarge the activities of the Robbins Voice studio this coming summer and the following season, by combining a department of piano with the present voice studio. Floyd Robbins of Kansas City will direct the piano department. Mr. Robbins will spend two days a week in Lincoln to take care of the registration in piano. The new studios will be advertised as "The Robbins Studios-Voice and Piano." Mr. Robbins will conduct his long established studios in Kansas City, Mo., as usual, where two assistants will take charge of his studios during his days in Lincoln each week. Registration for the work under Mr. Robbins is now being received. The Robbins Studios will be located above the Walt Music store, 1215 O street.

The Bel Canto Men's chorus will furnish the special pre-Easter music at the Rialto in the evenings this week.

The Bel Canto club mixed quartette, composed of Marga Link, soprano, Margaret Gettys, contralto, Dr. G. L. Spencer, tenor, and Mark E Johnson, bass, will sing in Omaha, Tuesday evening, April 29th, over the radio. These singers will present Cadman's song-cycle, "The Morning of the Year."

The Women's club at Davey sponsored the program presented Saturday night by the Bel Canto men's chorus, at Davey.

Marga Link, Soprano, will assist Edith Lucille Robbins in voice this coming season. Miss Link is one of the most promising young artists in Nebraska, and has been heard in Lincoln in recital programs.

The A Cappella choir will give a concert in the Trinity Lutheran church auditorium Tuesday evening, April 22.

"The Seven Last Words," the Lenten festival music to be presented Good Friday night at St. Paul's M. E. church by a full vested choir of forty singers; is the most sublime music writen for Passion week. The festival was written by the distinguished French composer, the late Theodore Dubois. The musical setting makes a deep appeal to musicians, but above this appeal, the message of the cross breathes deep tenderness, solemnity, dramatic contrasts, and mystery in the music. The public is requested to be seated by 8 o'clock, that there may be no break in the festival.

The soloists of the evening will be Mrs. D. C. Turley, Walter Wheatley, and E. C. Boehmer.

The accompanists will be Mrs. Edith Burlingim Ross, piano, Dr. J. M. Mayhew, organ, Don Berry, trumpet, and Mrs. H. J. Kirschstein is the conductor.

Trinity quartette and chorus, with o professional orchestra, will presented Rossini's Stabat Mater this evening at 8 o'clock at Trinity M. E. church, Sixteenth and A streets. Rossini's work has always been styled theatrical, and indeed some of the solos and some of the quartet sections are of that soaring melodic type that we find in the Italian grand operas. The story unfolds with telling effect. Rossini made great demands on his singers, but at the same time gave them greatful music to sing. The Rossini score exacts the utmost of the soprano voice. It demands endurance, besides a range of Wagnerian scope.

Glenn Dillard Gunn of the Chicago Herald-Examiner said that last week the Apollo club of Chicago reached the greatest moment of its history in its rendition of Rossini's Stabat Mater. That during the twenty odd years that he has reported upon its achievements it has never reached a more thrilling climax than in this great cantata.

The Trinity quartette is composed of Walter Wheatley, tenor Lenore C. Burkett, soprano; Doris Cole Clapp, second soprano, and O. E. Johnson, bass. Members of the orchestra are Edward J. Walt, first violin; Ernest Harrison, second violin; William Quick, viola; Lillian Eche, cello; August Dietze, bass, and Floyd Wilson, trombone. Miss Hilda Chowins will be at the piano, Henry Kolling at the organ, and Miss Burkett is director of the chorus.

G. C. Menzendorf will present Irene Faulder, violinist, in her senior recital Tuesday evening at 8:15 at the Temple theater. Miss Helen Faulder will be at the piano. The following program will be given:

Sonata A Major—Handel.

FIFTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Sawyer, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Monday at their home, 1625 South street. Many friends called informally during the afternoon. Sunday evening, a family dinner was held at the home, when all of their children were present.

Miss Frances J. Devalon and Simeon Sawyer were married at Henry, Ill., April 7, 1874 and came to Nebraska April 14, where they settled on a farm near Fairmont. The Burlington railroad extended only a few miles beyond Fairmont and Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer experienced many pioneer trials.

Mr. Sawyer was elected county commissioner in 1888 and was appointed postmaster at Fairmont in Cleveland's first administration. In 1901, the family moved to Bartlett, and he was elected treasurer of Wheeler county, which office he held for five years. Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer came to Lincoln in 1917.

They have six children, Mrs. L. C. Searles, Fairmont; Mrs. Mary M. Brown, Norfolk; Mrs. L. W. Drumond, Frances E., Harlan L., and Russell D., Lincoln, fifteen grandchildren, and one great grandchild. One daughter, Jennie Gail, died in infancy.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. William Horley of Topeka, Kan., are th eguests of their daughter, Mrs. H. R. Williams, and Mr. Williams.

Mrs. S. J. Hyatt left Monday to visit her daughter, Mrs. L. E. Foster, in Philadelphia. She will attend the Methodist national convention and the national conference of the D. A. R. before she returns home in July. Mr. Foster was formerly pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, being here at the time of its erection.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Cozier of Grand Island are spending the weekend with Miss Helen Dayton. Mr. Cozier is connected with the Grand Island Daily Independent.

N. D. Updike, jr., motored from Omaha to attend one of the week-end university parties and is a guest at the E. C. Hardy home.

Florence Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baird, who has been on tour since last October with Shubert's "Lady in Ermine," closed her engagement the last Saturday in March and returned to her home in Beechurst on Long Island. The following Friday she left for New London to meet her husband, Capt. Jack Wrisht in command of the Commercial Pathfinder, who arrived in New London from Everett, Wash. The Commercial Pathfinder carried a cargo of lumber which was said to be the largest lumber cargo ever unloaded in New London. Mrs. Wright returned to her home Friday and Capt. Wright will join her there today. Mrs. Wright's brother, John E. Baird, jr., is in the east and makes his home with his sister.

Jack Alley and his mother, Mrs. Jessie Alley, stopped in Lincoln for a brief visit the latter part of the week enroute to Denver. Mr. Alley has his own troupe and is a headline attraction on the Orpheum circuit. He is meeting with unusual success. He was billed to appear in Lincoln and was greatly disappointed that because of theatrical conditions in Lincoln which is not on the regular Orpheum circuit, the act was cancelled. His mother will accompany him on his trip west.

Merle Alexander and Mrs. John Moore were guests of the club. At five hundred during the afternoon, Mrs. Fred Barribo won high score. The hostess served a two-course luncheon. The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Bert Barribo, 2100 O street.

Red tulips formed the decoration at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Faculty Women's club held at the Ellen Smith hall on the university campus, with Mesdames F. W. Upson, T. T. Smith, E. E. Brackett, F. M. Fling, P. H. Stewart, and T. A. Kisselbach as hostesses. Mrs. J. E. Hicks sang a group of songs, and light refreshments were served after the business session. The club's next meeting, to be held April 14, will be a picnic on the campus of the agricultural college.

The Musical World

A musical service, arousing more than passing interest, is being prepared by the Redeemer choral society to be given at the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer Easter Sunday at 4 o'clock. For this annual vesper service, the choral society has chosen Charles Gounod's "The Redemption," an oratio or sacred trilogy, which is accepted as a standard work of that composer. In setting the fundamental facts of the Christian religion to music, the composer has produced a theme, which provides exceptional opportunity for expressive choral and solo work. The trilogy consists of descriptive lyrical setting-forth of the occurences on Calvary, at the Resurrection, and on Pentecost, and is introduced by a prologue, which touches upon the creation, the fall of man, and the promise of the redeemer. The oratorio is concluded by a final coda, presenting the glorification of the Most Holy Trinity throughout all generations.

The choral society, which is under the direction of J. M. Siedel, is remembered by many for the exceptionally meritorious presentation of the Christmas cantata, "Unto Us," and it is certain that its reputation will be greatly increased by the rendition of the difficult work, which is to be presented Easter Sunday.

The fourth voice recital of the season by the pupils of Clemens Movius took place at the studio Friday evening. The following program was given:

The Lord is My Shepherd—Liddle.
Paul Thomas
The Rose Complained—Franz.

WHEATLEY VOCAL STUDIOS

Walter Wheatley spent last week end in Chicago, where he sang as soloist with the Apollo club of 350 voices, and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The works given were Rossini's Stabat Mater and Hadley's Resurgam.

Herman Devries of the Chicago American said "Walter Wheatley's tenor is suavely sympathetic, employed with fine discretion and elegance. There could scarcely be a better execution of the "Cujus Animam" than that afforded by Mr. Wheatley, who shaded it exquisitely, singing it in quite the grand manner, yet without ostentation or affectation."

Earl H. Watson, pupil of Clemens Movius, will be the soloist at a concert in Cambridge, Neb., Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the municipal band.

May Peterson, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera company, appears in recital Monday afternoon at the Temple theatre under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale. The club is just closing the thirtieth year of its organization and since it hasbeen the thirtieth anniversary a special effort has been made to have a little extra in the way of programs and social affairs and it is most fitting that the year should close with a recital by May Peterson who is one of the best known artists on the concert stage. Miss Peterson's voice is beautiful. It is a rich soprano and this voice plus rare personal charm captivates her hearers.

The active and executive members will meeting at 1:30 o'clock Monday for the annual meeting when officers will be elected and the reports will be heard.

Miss Peterson's program will be given as follows in the Temple theatre starting at 3:30 o'clock:

Robbins Voice Studio.

Edith Lucille Robbins will enlarge the activities of the Robbins Voice studio this coming summer and the following season, by combining a department of piano with the present voice studio. Floyd Robbins of Kansas City will direct the piano department. Mr. Robbins will spend two days a week in Lincoln to take care of the registration in piano. The new studios will be advertised as "The Robbins Studios-Voice and Piano." Mr. Robbins will conduct his long established studios in Kansas City, Mo., as usual, where two assistants will take charge of his studios during his days in Lincoln each week. Registration for the work under Mr. Robbins is now being received. The Robbins Studios will be located above the Walt Music store, 1215 O street.

The Bel Canto Men's chorus will furnish the special pre-Easter music at the Rialto in the evenings this week.

The Bel Canto club mixed quartette, composed of Marga Link, soprano, Margaret Gettys, contralto, Dr. G. L. Spencer, tenor, and Mark E Johnson, bass, will sing in Omaha, Tuesday evening, April 29th, over the radio. These singers will present Cadman's song-cycle, "The Morning of the Year."

The Woman's club at Davey sponsored the program presented Saturday night by the Bel Canto men's chorus, at Davey.

Marga Link, Soprano, will assist Edith Lucille Robbins in voice this coming season. Miss Link is one of the most promising young artists in Nebraska and has been heard in Lincoln in recital programs.

FIFTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Sawyer, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Monday at their home, 1625 South street. Many friends called informally during the afternoon. Sunday evening, a family dinner was held at the home, when all of their children were present.

Miss Frances J. Devalon and Simeon Sawyer were married at Henry, Ill., April 7, 1874 and came to Nebraska April 14, where they settled on a farm near Fairmont. The Burlington railroad extended only a few miles beyond Fairmont and Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer experienced many pioneer trials.

Mr. Sawyer was elected county commissioner in 1883 and was appointed postmaster at Fairmont in Cleveland's first administration. In 1901, the family moved to Bartlett, and he was elected treasurer of Wheeler county, which office he held for five years. Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer came to Lincoln in 1917.

They have six children, Mrs. L. C. Searles, Fairmont; Mrs. Mary M. Brown, Norfolk; Mrs. L. W. Drumond, Frances E., Harlan L., and Russell D., Lincoln, fifteen grandchildren, and one great grandchild. One daughter, Jennie Gail, died in infancy.

Lloyd A. Jones of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. W. C. Miller were the only guests. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. E. C. Marx in serving a two course luncheon, after prizes had been awarded Mrs. Ed Wood and Mrs. Miller. The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. F. E. Campbell, Fiftieth and Randolph streets.

Happy Hollow club met for 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. E. G. Maggi. A centerpiece of lavender and pink sweet peas formed the decoration at the luncheon table where the guests were seated for luncheon. At five hundred during the afternoon, Mrs. J. Steinberg won first prize, with Mrs. Arthur Paige taking consolation. Mrs. William Stone was given the guest prize. The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. D. G. Kavanaugh.

Thirty-three members were present at the meeting of the Plattsmouth club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. W. Hager, 2600 Q street, when Mrs. C. M Butler acted as assistant hostess. The afternoon was spent informally, and at the business meeting, plans were laid for a picnic in June for members and their families. The club will meet May 13 at the home of the Misses Lydia and Mary Weckbach, 1712 L street.

L. T. and T. club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Wheeler, 819 South Thirty-third street. The afternoon was spent in- where a centerpiece was formed by a large bowl of jonquils. At bridge during the evening, prizes for high scores were awarded to Mr. and Mrs J. C. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gronquist. This was the last meeting of the season, the club adjourning for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Belote, 1535 Lagrove avenue, entertained the members of the Palm club Thursday evening at their home Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Carlson and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brimble were guests. The evening was spent af Mah Jong, after which the hostess served a dainty two-course luncheon. She was assisted by Mrs. Carlson. The club will meet next Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ray Desch, 2826 Vine street in the evening.

The Everett fraternity of Nebraska Wesleyan entertained at the annual formal spring diner in the garden room of the Lincoln hotel Saturday evening. Covers were laid for eighty at smal ltables on which the fraternity colors of lemon and blue were in the appointments. The tables were centered with low bowls of spring blossoms. The tables were lighted with small electric lamps.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. William Horley of Topeka, Kan., are th eguests of their daughter, Mrs. H. R. Williams, and Mr. Williams.

Mrs. S. J. Hyatt left Monday to visit her daughter, Mrs. L. E. Foster, in Philadelphia. She will attend the Methodist national convention and the national conference of the D. A. R. before she returns home in July. Mr. Foster was formerly pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, being here at the time of its erection.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Cozier of Grand Island are spending the week-end with Miss Helen Dayton. Mr. Cozier is connected with the Grand Island Daily Independent.

N. D. Updike, jr., motored from Omaha to attend one of the week-end university parties and is a guest at the E. C. Hardy home.

Florence Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baird, who has been on tour since last October with Shubert's "Lady in Ermine," closed her engagement the last Saturday in March and returned to her home in Beechurst on Long Island. The following Friday she left for New London to meet her husband, Capt. Jack Wright in command of the Commercial Pathfinder, who arrived in New London from Everett, Wash. The Commercial Pathfinder carried a cargo of lumber which was said to be the largest lumber cargo ever unloaded in New London. Mrs. Wright returned to her home Friday and Capt. Wright will join her there today. Mrs. Wright's brother, John E. Baird, jr., is in the east and makes his home with his sister.

Jack Alley and his mother, Mrs. Jessie Alley, stopped in Lincoln for a brief visit the latter part of the week enroute to Denver. Mr. Alley has his own troupe and is a headline attraction on the Orpheum circuit. He is meeting with unusual success. He was billed to appear in Lincoln and was greatly disappointed that because of theatrical conditions in Lincoln which is not on the regular Orpheum circuit, the act was cancelled. His mother will accompany him on his trip west.

WINNING COTNER CLASS TEAM

The THEATERS

BY BRETT PAGE.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The circus usually brings spring to Broadway. But this year it hasn't played true. Still, "the greatest show on earth—the most mammoth aggregation of magical marvels ever gathered under one roof, be it canvas or stone." The Ringling shows brought us practically everything except spring.

Housed in Madison Square Garden as of yore, the circus is too "replete with royal revelations"—as the press agent loves to alliterate—for any one individual with only two eyes to record. It really is a bully good show this year. Perhaps, it is even better than ever before. It is one of those national institutions that neither you nor I, nor anyone else, can afford not to see. Here's to the circus even though it did not do as well as usual by spring.

"Paradise Alley."

Another national institution — the Casino theatre where first I sat in a Broadway show shop beholding "Floradora," so many years ago they now may be reckoned in decades—has a new offering Carle Carlton, who gave us "Irene" years ago, now offers "Paradise Alley" on the famous old stage.

A musical comedy in two acts and six scenes,—first Paradise Alley, New York, then five views of Piccadilly Theatre, London—is not very new plot despite the fact that Charles W. Bell and Edward Clark wrote the book, Howard Johnson the lyrics, and Carle Carlton, Harry Archer and A. Otvos colloborated on the music. The formula is tried and true. It recounts the rise of one Bonnie Brown from the dust of Paradise Alley to the heights of vast stage success in London, and how the prize-fighting gentleman who adored her in the Alley also rises—this time by way of inheritances—to the summits of a shiny high hat.

The night we witnessed the playing, Helen Shipman—who really sings very well indeed—seemed less the Paradise Alley type and no more the great prima donna than was to be expected. The greatest joy of the evening was Arthur West, short, fat, and externally humorous, who played trainer to Charles Derickson, who seemed too slight for the prize fighter and less the lover than Helen Shipman deserved. George Bickel of the old-time team of Bickel and Watson, fondly remembered by vaudeville and the best burlesque audiences, made a theatrical manager seem real indeed, though fr funnier than usual.

Real Beauty In Chorus.

It is the chorus, however, that lingers longest in memory. Five show girls, for instance, are perhaps the prettiest five we recall since "Floradora" days. My, how they can wear clothes! And then the dozen or more girls, who range in size all the way down to the pony type —wily, each is prettier and more verveful than the others. How they dance and how joyously they sing!

Yes, it is to show the girls and "the other ladies of the ensemble" that we must award the palms— heartily clapped together—as the best in "Paradise Alley."

The music is rather good. None of it is over the line where genius begins, but it tinkles pleasantly in memory, especially the number from which the show gets its name.

Harvard Prize Play.

Little Francine Larrimore, whose elf-like personality has carried several indifferent plays to popularity, has a considerable undertaking in the most recent Harvard prize play "Nancy-Ann" by Dorothy Heyward, produced by Richard J. Herndon at the 49th street theatre.

It is perhaps the best part that Miss Larrimore has had in years. We have known her as the gin-drinking brazen flapper; here she is the sweet shy unsophisticated but stage-struck chocolate-drop-nibbler of eighteen. Her charm and fascination in such a part must be experienced to be appreciated, and her gift of comedy never had as good a chance for expression.

Nancy Ann is revealed in the first act as the hen-pecked niece of four grenadier-like aunts. They are old New York, knickerbocker persons who inflict a debutante reception upon the unwilling youngster. Nancy Ann escapes the reception by going out through a window. Miss Heyward, the authoress, is so intent upon developing her characters in the first act that she forgets all about action, and the result is tedium.

The second act is set in a theatrical producer's office, an anteroom at the left where the job-hunting actresses cluster and the working office of the actor manager at the right. This act gets down to business and is as full of fun as a cake is full of raisins. Half-a-dozen amusing stage types appear and disappear.

Nancy Ann seeking a job gets in the line. Eventually she reaches the manager and terrifies him by the realism of a bit of acting she has been practicing which deals with a young girl stenographer locked up alone with a wicked business man.

After the second act the play rapidly descends in interest and the final curtain is inane. The play is galvanized by the genius of Miss Larrimore and is greatly aided by splendid performances by Tom Nesbit as the manager, Wallace Ford as the press agent, Claro Weldon, May Hopkins, Mary Terry as actress types, and Edith Shane, Marie Burke, Louise Randolph and Ada Neyille as the overpowering aunts.

Perhaps we ought to add, for the satisfaction of those who are really interested in Nancy Ann, that she is about to marry the matinee idol who is the hero of the play, when the final curtain ends it all.

"Vogues" at Shubert Theatre.

Upon the stage of the Shubert theatre where not long ago a rather risque, though frequently very beautiful offering entitled "Artists and Models" held sway, there now wanders a perfectly innocent, though not inocuous, production called "Vogues."

Presented by the Messrs. Shubert in association with George R. McLellan, "Vogues" owes its book and lyrics to Fred Thompson and Clifford Grey and its music to Fred Strothart. Obviously a very expensive production, "Vogues" carries on through all its scenes——they are so swiftly changing as the usual revue—beautifully if not excitingly.

The attention of the audience is held during the shifting of some full stage sets, by Fred Allen and Jimmy Savo working in "one." Behind them there always is some new and lovely curtain, and before them an appreciative audience, eager to roar at their comedy. But every audience wishes plenty of comedy full stage as well as in "one."

The featured personage is Odette Myrtil, who does her complete vaudeville turn, but cut into two parts. She is a fine performer and unquestionably is an artist, but somehow one wonders whether the entire production wouldn't be materially strengthened were Odette Myrtil not commanded to carry the prima donna role alone.

Irene Delroy and Annette Bade vie with each other for the ingenue honors, with Betty Compton tripping close upon their heels and May Boley romping along—a bit perplexed, she seemed — fast upon their trail.

J. Harold Murray was handicapped the first nights by a bad cold. Manly in appearance and possessing an exquisite voice, Murray labored under this handicap, but valiantly won his way into the hearts of nearly everyone that saw him. He sang and played the Spellman from "The Miracle" well indeed.

Combined Vaudeville Turns.

George Anderson, a bit removed from the love-making idol-roles of his more famous days, plays an engaging straight part through several legitimate skits, and does one admirable bit of vaudeville stuff with Savo.

Here, then are seven fine artists—each without more than one or two peers in his or her department— who carry all the fifteen scenes of the two acts of "Vogues." And they carry them to satisfactory conclusion, though not to enthusiasm-arousing heights. The chorus—like that of "Paradise Alley" is admirable. We vote for the chorus!

It should be remembered that the nights we reviewers are invited, if not commanded and otherwise coerced by reason of "the works to enjoy such gigantic offerings as "Paradise Alley" and "Vogues," that the players and the singers are then at their worst rather than their best. It is too bad that we cannot be permitted to witness them, say, the tenth night rather than the first performance. We would enjoy them more, for they would then be on their way to the best of their bestt, and our annouscements to the public would be more favorable each and every time.

Indeed, both "Paradise Alley" and "Vogues" are so much better promises than present performances that I envy you who are to see them later.

Kosmet Klub to Present Play at Orpheum, May 2.

Kosmet Kub of the University of Nebraska is presenting, "The Wishing Ring," by Cyril Coombs at the Orpheum on the evening of May 2. This is the thirteenth annual production of this dramatic organization. It will be shown on May 3 in Omaha. A cast of 20 and choruses of over 70 include the prettiest co-eds at the university and some of the cleverest actors and best singers on the Nebraska campus. "The Wishing Ring" is an all-University musical comedy —written and directed by Mr. Coombs who was graduated from the University last spring and is a member of the Kosmet Klub. All the musical hits were composed by him.

LINCOLN BOROUGH OF THE COLONIAL DAMES

The Lincoln Borough of the Colonial Dames residing in Nebraska entertained at luncheon at the Country club Friday in honor of Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith who is president of the Nebraska Society of Colonial Dames. Other guests from Omaha were: Mrs. Frederick W. Clarke, Mrs. C. W. Hamilton, Mrs. Robert R. Hollister, Mrs. Robert J. Kilpatrick, Beatrice. The committee in charge of the luncheon was composed of Mrs. T. E. Calvert, Mrs. C. B. Letton, Mrs. S. Mills Hayes and Mrs. Benjamin F Bailey. The meeting was presided over by Mrs Clarence S. Paine, chairman of the Lincoln Borough, who introduced Mrs. Smith. The subject of her address, which was quite informal, was "What it means to be a Colonial Dame."

The Lincoln Borough was organized November 8, 1923 and is a part of the Nebraska society. Borough is an Englis term and signifies a center and members residing within a convenient radius of Lincoln will be members of the Lincoln Borough. Mrs. Clarence S. Paine is chairman; Mrs. I M. Rymond, jr., treasurer: Miss Mabel Lindly, secretary.

The National Society of Colonial Dames in America is quite a small body of women, less than nine thousand, which has been organized for more than thirty years and now has a society in forty states in the union and one in the District of Columbia. The corporate societies are the societies of the thirteen colonial states, or the ancestral societies; the society of the District of Columbia, the domicile or charter society; and the societies of the non-colonial states, or the associate societies. Every member of every state society shall be a Dame of one of the thirteen ancestral societies. Membership is by invitation. All services which constitute a claim to membership must have been rendered before July 5, 1776, but this date shall be held to include all the signers of the declaration of independence.

The Nebraska Society of Colonial Dames was organized in Omaha in June of 1908 by Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith who has been chosen president each year. Her devotion to the society has been a potent factor in its upbuilding. The organization has many very definite aims but first of all it is an historical society designed to collect and preserve manuscripts, relics, and traditions of by gone days; to create a popular interest in our colonial history, and to stimulate a spirit of true patriotism and a genuine love of country, and to impress upon the young the sacred obligation of honoring the memory of those heroic ancestors whose ability, valor and achievements are beyond all praise. The Colonial Dames of Nebraska, realizing that the making of good Americans out of the foreign born is one of the most important tasks confronting the nation, has most heartily undertaken local measures of reaching the foreign element in Omaha and the results have been most gratifying. A permanent Americanization scholarship in the University of Omaha has been established.

The Colonial Dames have recently undertaken to secure an endowment for Sulgrave Maner and the $100,000 necessary to provide for the upkeep of the home of the Washingtons in Sulgrave has been raised. Nebraska was the first state to pay her quota.

Camp Fire Notes

The campfire office force has returned from the convention at Kansas City.

The Guardians' association will meet with Mrs. Eileen M. Harrison at the Clinton Community Center, 2902 Dudley street, April 15 at 8 p. m. Nominations for next years' officers will be made, reports on the convention will be given by those who attended and Mrs. Harrison will tell of her community center work, showing the guardians over the building and presenting a play by her dramatic class.

The Ten Point contest, which started January 15 will close April 15. Girls who have completed the required ten points must turn their records in at the camp fire office not later than Saturday, April 19, in order to be eligible for entertainment by the Kiwanis club at luncheon on Friday, May 2.

The campfire chorus began rehearsals again April 9. The members of the chorus who are Ten Point girls are going to sing some special numbers at the Kiwanis club luncheon, and the girls are also going to demonstrate the singing of campfire at the guardians' training course at the University of Nebraska, April 28th.

The Reporters' club met at the campfire office, Saturday, to issue the camp edition of the "Fagots."

The Bluebird rally will be held at the McKinley school auditorium, April 19. Each Bluebird nest is to present a stunt. Bluebird mothers are invited. Camp songs will be sung and a special Bluebird surprise is being kept a big secret for the finals of the program.

The regular Presidents' club meeting which would come April 18 will be postponed on account of Good Friday until April 25.

Miss Flossie Yeck, director of camp fire activities at the Trinity M. E., took fifty-two girls on an all-night hike to Epworth park, April 1. She was assisted by Miss Erma Killer, guardian, and the girls of her older campfire, Luta Lewa. Tinega camp got the camping place in order, for the party took over the whole Epworth hotel for the night. The rest of the girls arrived about 5 o'clock and cooked their supper at the roaring campfire.

Luta Lewa camp served a dinner to seventy-five men of Trinity church, April 4. The girls did all the planning, ordering, cooking and serving of the meal. Luta Lewa camp will be entertained at dinner at the home of the guardian, Miss Yeck.

Tahocha camp of University Place, Lola Duncan guardian, served dinner to the members of the board of campfire advisers of University Place, Wednesday.

Aileen Strubbe, Esther Peterson, Gladys Soukup, members of Luta Lewa camp and Grace Peterson and Regina Hauschild, walked to Milford April 13. The girls left Lincoln at 6 o'clock in the morning, and walking every step of the way arrived at Milford about the middle of the afternoon.

Witonohi camp had a party April 1. at the home of Georgian Backes. Pink and white colors were carried out even to the ice cream and cake. Easter baskets and eggs were hidden about the house and a hunt for them was one of the features of the program. This party took the place of the monthly dinner the girls have been having at Trinity church. The next meeting will be on April 14.

Siwihono camp held a meeting April 5 at the home of Sylvia Mosher. During the meeting plans were made for a hike to Robber's Cave.

Timega Camp Fire girls served a two course luncheon Tuesday to nine members of the camp.

The Lenten meetings for women will be held during the coming week in the parlors on the second floor of the association building at 12:10 to 12:40 under the leadership of Mrs. W. T. Elmore. These meetings will be held every day, except Saturday.

The Federation girls and the young men's department of the Y. M. C. A. held a dinner meeting in the Y. W. C A. club room last Thursday evening. Dean Fordyce of the university faculty talked on "Choosing a Vocation." Miss Viola Nagel sang two solos, accompanied by Miss Anmond.

The G. F. C. club visited Miller and Paine's candy factory last Thursday afternoon.

Chris Weber, who teaches psychology at the university began a four weeks course in applied psychology at the G. F. C. club last Friday evening.

Mrs. H. W. Caldwell will give an illustrated lecture on "Passion Week in Rome," at the Federation meeting next Thursday evening.

The Bible class luncheon held on Tuesday, April 8, was attended by nearly a hundred women who have been connected with the Bible classes of the association or the Woman's club. The program included a group of songs by Miss Vivian Bush, accompanied by Miss Wilda Wenver, reports from the neighborhood Bible classes by Mrs. Yelton, Mrs. Ed. Miller, and Miss Davis, from the Woman's club class by Mrs. W. T. Elmore and Mrs. C. DeVriendt, and from the Y. W. C. A. by Mrs. C. F. Warner and Miss Ruby Wilson. Mrs. W. W. Whitfield spoke also from the Woman's club. Mrs. H. C. Luckey, chairman of the Bible study department presided.

After the program the group adjourned to the gymnasium, where Mrs. Elmore conducted the last class of the season. Some of the women have become so interested that they are holding another class to continue for eight weeks, meeting every Wednesday at the association under Mrs. Elmore's leadership.

Mrs. Cora F. Warner, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. left Friday evening for a few days visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ray Kellenberger of Anselmo, Neb.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors was held Wednesday morning. Since this was the last regular meeting before the convention which meets in New York, April 30 to May 6, there was considerable routine business to dispose of. There will be a special meeting on Thursday, April 17, to discuss more fully the issues to come before the convention.

The travelers' aid committee met Thursday. Mrs. Fred Williams is the chairman. The various subjects discussed were the transportation agreement with the social agencies, the railroads, and other cities, matters of publicity and available information to be in the hands of the travelers' aid secretary, the interdependence of the various organizations, and their individual resources for the aid of the traveling public. Those present were H. P. Kauffman of the Burlington, and H. T. Wilson of the Missouri Pacific, W. A. Luke of the Y. M. C. A., C. E. Prevey of the Social Welfare, and representatives of the association. Others invited were unable to be present, but were interested in cooperating with all organizations for the best service to the traveling public. It is the intention of the association to bring together on occasion as seems necessary those agencies interested in travelers' aid work, so that it shall be better understood, and its services more available to all.

Miss Kate Field, the employment secretary and Miss Mildred Bryan, the physical director, attended the convention of the Business and Professional Women's clubs, which was held in Grand Island Saturday.

CAST OF 20—CHORUS OF 50
NEBRASKA'S PRETTIEST CO-EDS

The THEATERS

BY BRETT PAGE.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The circus usually brings spring to Broadway. But this year it hasn't played true. Still, "the greatest show on earth—the most mammoth aggregation of magical marvels ever gathered under one roof, be it canvas or stone." The Ringling shows brought us practically everything except spring.

Housed in Madison Square Garden as of yore, the circus is too "replete with royal revelations"—as the press agent loves to alliterate—for any one individual with only two eyes to record. It really is a bully good show this year. Perhaps, it is even better than ever before. It is one of those national institutions that neither you nor I, nor anyone else, can afford not to see. Here's to the circus even though it did not do as well as usual by spring.

"Paradise Alley."

Another national institution — the Casino theatre where first I sat in a Broadway show shop beholding "Floradora," so many years ago they now may be reckoned in decades—has a new offering Carle Carlton, who gave us "Irene" years ago, now offers "Paradise Alley" on the famous old stage.

A musical comedy in two acts and six scenes,—first Paradise Alley, New York, then five views of Piccadilly Theatre, London—is not very new plot despite the fact that Charles W. Bell and Edward Clark wrote the book, Howard Johnson the lyrics, and Carle Carlton, Harry Archer and A. Otvos colloborated on the music. The formula is tried and true. It recounts the rise of one Bonnie Brown from the dust of Paradise Alley to the heights of vast stage success in London, and how the prize-fighting gentleman who adored her in the Alley also rises—this time by way of inheritances—to the summits of a shiny high hat.

The night we witnessed the playing, Helen Shipman—who really sings very well indeed—seemed less the Paradise Alley type and no more the great prima donna than was to be expected. The greatest joy of the evening was Arthur West, short, fat, and externally humorous, who played trainer to Charles Derickson, who seemed too slight for the prize fighter and less the lover than Helen Shipman deserved. George Bickel of the old-time team of Bickel and Watson, fondly remembered by vaudeville and the best burlesque audiences, made a theatrical manager seem real indeed, though fr funnier than usual.

Real Beauty In Chorus.

It is the chorus, however, that lingers longest in memory. Five show girls, for instance, are perhaps the prettiest five we recall since "Floradora" days. My, how they can wear clothes! And then the dozen or more girls, who range in size all the way down to the pony type —why, each is prettier and more verveful than the others. How they dance and how joyously they sing'

Yes, it is to show the girls and "the other ladies of the ensemble" that we must award the palms— heartily clapped together—as the best in "Paradise Alley."

The music is rather good. None of it is over the line where genius begins, but it tinkles pleasantly in memory, especially the number from which the show gets its name.

Harvard Prize Play.

Little Francine Larrimore, whose elf-like personality has carried several indifferent plays to popularity, has a considerable undertaking in the most recent Harvard prize play "Nancy-Ann" by Dorothy Heyward, produced by Richard J. Herndon at the 49th street theatre.

It is perhaps the best part that Miss Larrimore has had in years. We have known her as the gin-drinking brazen flapper; here she is the sweet shy unsophisticated but stage-struck chocolate-drop-nibbler of eighteen. Her charm and fascination in such a part must be experienced to be appreciated, and her gift of comedy never had as good a chance for expression.

Nancy Ann is revealed in the first act as the hen-pecked niece of four grenadier-like aunts. They are old New York, knickerbocker persons who inflict a debutante reception upon the unwilling youngster. Nancy Ann escapes the reception by goinng out through a window. Miss Heyward, the authoress, is so intent upon developing her characters in the first act that she forgets all about action, and the result is tedium.

The second act is set in a theatrical producer's office, an anteroom at the left where the job-hunting actresses cluster and the working office of the actor manager at the right. This act gets down to business and is as full of fun as a cake is full of raisins. Half-a-dozen amusing stage types appear and disappear.

Nancy Ann seeking a job gets in the line. Eventually she reaches the manager and terrifies him by the realism of a bit of acting she has been practicing which deals with a young girl stenographer locked up alone with a wicked business man.

After the second act the play rapidly descends in interest and the final curtain is inane. The play is galvanized by the genius of Miss Larrimore and is greatly aided by splendid performances by Tom Nesbit as the manager, Wallace Ford as the press agent, Clare Weldon, May Hopkins, Mary Terry as actress types, and Edith Shane, Marie Burke, Louise Randolph and Ada Neville as the overpowering aunts.

Perhaps we ought to add, for the satisfaction of those who are really interested in Nancy Ann, that she is about to marry the matinee idol who is the hero of the play, when the final curtain ends it all.

"Vogues" at Shubert Theatre.

Upon the stage of the Shubert theatre where not long ago a rather risque, though frequently very beautiful offering entitled "Artists and Models" held sway, there now wanders a perfectly innocent, though not inocuous, production called "Vogues."

Presented by the Messrs. Shubert in association with George B. McLellan, "Vogues" owes its book and lyrics to Fred Thompson and Clifford Grey and its music to Fred Strothart. Obviously a very expensive production, "Vogues" carries on through all its scenes——they are so swiftly changing as the usual revue—beautifully if not excitingly.

The attention of the audience is held during the shifting of some full stage sets, by Fred Allen and Jimmy Savo working in "one." Behind them there always is some new and lovely curtain, and before them an appreciative audience, eager to roar at their comedy. But every audience wishes plenty of comedy full stage as well as in "one."

The featured personage is Odette Myrtil, who does her complete vaudeville turn, but cut into two parts. She is a fine performer and unquestionably is an artist, but somehow one wonders whether the entire production wouldn't be materially strengthened were Odette Myrtil not commanded to carry the prima donna role alone.

Irene Delroy and Annette Bade vie with each other for the ingenue honors, with Betty Compton tripping close upon their heels and May Boley romping along—a bit perplexed, she seemed — fast upon their trail.

J. Harold Murray was handicapped the first nights by a bad cold. Manly in appearance and possessing an exquisite voice, Murray labored under this handicap, but valiantly won his way into the hearts of nearly everyone that saw him. He sang and played the Speilman from "The Miracle" well indeed.

Combined Vaudeville Turns.

George Anderson, a bit removed from the love-making idol-roles of his more famous days, plays an engaging straight part through several legitimate skits, and does one admirable bit of vaudeville stuff with Savo.

Here, then are seven fine artists—each without more than one or two peers in his or her department— who carry all the fifteen scenes of the two acts of "Vogues." And they carry them to satisfactory conclusion, though not to enthusiasm-arousing heights. The chorus—like that of "Paradise Alley" is admirable. We vote for the chorus'

It should be remembered that the nights we reviewers are invited, if not commanded and otherwise coerced by reason of "the works to enjoy such gigantic offerings as "Paradise Alley" and "Vogues," that the players and the singers are then at their worst rather than their best. It is too bad that we cannot be permitted to witness them, say, the tenth night rather than the first performance. We would enjoy them more, for they would then be on their way to the best of their bestt, and our announcements to the public would be more favorable each and every time.

Indeed, both "Paradise Alley" and "Vogues" are so much better promises than present performances that I envy you who are to see them later.

Kosmet Klub to Present Play at Orpheum, May 2.

Kosmet Kub of the University of Nebraska is presenting, "The Wishing Ring," by Cyril Coombs at the Orpheum on the evening of May 2. This is the thirteenth annual productio nof this dramatic organization. It will be shown on May 3 in Omaha. A cast of 20 and choruses of over 70 include the prettiest co-eds at the university and some of the cleverest actors and best singers on the Nebraska campus. "The Wishing Ring" is an all-University musical comedy —written and directed by Mr. Coombs who was graduated from the University last spring and is a member of the Kosmet Klub. All the musical hits were composed by him.

LINCOLN BOROUGH OF THE COLONIAL DAMES

The Lincoln Borough of the Colonial Dames residing in Nebraska entertained at luncheon at the Country club Friday in honor of Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith who is president of the Nebraska Society of Colonial Dames. Other guests from Omaha were: Mrs. Frederick W. Clarke, Mrs. C. W. Hamilton, Mrs. Robert R. Hollister, Mrs. Robert J. Kilpatrick, Beatrice. The committee in charge of the luncheon was composed of Mrs. T. E. Calvert, Mrs. C. B. Letton, Mrs. S. Mills Hayes and Mrs. Benjamin F Bailey. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Clarence S. Paine, chairman of the Lincoln Borough, who introduced Mrs. Smith. The subject of her address, which was quite informal, was "What it means to be a Colonial Dame."

The Lincoln Borough was organized November 8, 1923 and is a part of the Nebraska society. Borough is an Englis term and signifies a center and members residing within a convenient radius of Lincoln will be members of the Lincoln Borough. Mrs. Clarence S. Paine is chairman; Mrs. I M. Rymond, jr., treasurer; Miss Mabel Lindly, secretary.

The National Society of Colonial Dames in America is quite a small body of women, less than nine thousand, which has been organized for more than thirty years and now has a society in forty states in the union and one in the District of Columbia. The corporate societies are the societies of the thirteen colonial states, or the ancestral societies; the society of the District of Columbia, the domicile or charter society; and the societies of the non-colonial states, or the associate societies. Every member of every state society shall be a Dame of one of the thirteen ancestral societies. Membership is by invitation. All services which constitute a claim to membership must have been rendered before July 5, 1776, but this date shall be held to include all the signers of the declaration of independence.

The Nebraska Society of Colonial Dames was organized in Omaha in June of 1908 by Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith who has been chosen president each year. Her devotion to the society has been a potent factor in its upbuilding. The organization has many very definite aims but first of all it is an historical society designed to collect and preserve manuscripts, relics, and traditions of by gone days; to create a popular interest in our colonial history, and to stimulate a spirit of true patriotism and a genuine love of country, and to impress upon the young the sacred obligation of honoring the memory of those heroic ancestors whose ability, valor and achievements are beyond all praise. The Colonial Dames of Nebraska, realizing that the making of good Americans out of the foreign born is one of the most important tasks confronting the nation, has most heartily undertaken local measures of reaching the foreign element in Omaha and the results have been most gratifying. A permanent Americanization scholarship in the University of Omaha has been established.

The Colonial Dames have recently undertaken to secure an endowment for Sulgrave Maner and the $100,000 necessary to provide for the upkeep of the home of the Washingtons in Sulgrave has been raised. Nebraska was the first state to pay her quota.

Miss Flossie Yeck, director of camp fire activities at the Trinity M. E., took fifty-two girls on an all-night hike to Epworth park, April 1. She was assisted by Miss Erma Killer, guardian, and the girls of her older campfire, Luta Lewa. Tinega camp got the camping place in order, for the party took over the whole Epworth hotel for the night. The rest of the girls arrived about 5 o'clock and cooked their supper at the roaring campfire.

Luta Lewa camp served a dinner to seventy-five men of Trinity church, April 4. The girls did all the planning, ordering, cooking and serving of the meal. Luta Lewa camp will be entertained at dinner at the home of the guardian, Miss Yeck.

Fahocha camp of University Place, Lola Duncan guardian, served dinner to the members of the board of campfire advisers of University Place, Wednesday.

Aileen Strubbe, Esther Peterson, Gladys Soukup, members of Luta Lewa camp and Grace Peterson and Regina Hauschild, walked to Milford April 13. The girls left Lincoln at 6 o'clock in the morning, and walking every step of the way arrived at Milford about the middle of the afternoon.

Witonohi camp had a party April 1 at the home of Georgian Backes. Pink and white colors were carried out even to the ice cream and cake. Easter baskets and eggs were hidden about the house and a hunt for them was one of the features of the program. This party took the place of the monthly dinner the girls have been having at Trinity church. The next meeting will be on April 14.

Siwihono camp held a meeting April 5 at the home of Sylvia Mosher. During the meeting plans were made for a hike to Robber's Cave.

Timega Camp Fire girls served a two course luncheon Tuesday to nine members of the camp.

The Lenten meetings for women will be held during the coming week in the parlors on the second floor of the association building at 12:10 to 12:40 under the leadership of Mrs. W. T. Elmore. These meetings will be held every day, except Saturday.

The Federation girls and the young men's department of the Y. M. C. A. held a dinner meeting in the Y. W. C. A. club room last Thursday evening. Dean Fordyce of the university faculty talked on "Choosing a Vocation." Miss Viola Nagel sang two solos, accompanied by Miss Animond.

The G. F. C. club visited Miller and Paine's candy factory last Thursday afternoon.

Chris Weber, who teaches psychology at the university began a four weeks course in applied psychology at the G. F. C. club last Friday evening.

Mrs. H. W. Caldwell will give an illustrated lecture on "Passion Week in Rome," at the Federation meeting next Thursday evening.

The Bible class luncheon held on Tuesday, April 8, was attended by nearly a hundred women who have been connected with the Bible classes of the association or the Woman's club. The program included a group of songs by Miss Vivian Bush, accompanied by Miss Wilda Weaver, reports from the neighborhood Bible classes by Mrs. Yelton, Mrs. Ed. Miller, and Miss Davis, from the Woman's club class by Mrs. W. T. Elmore and Mrs. C. DeVriendt, and from the Y. W. C. A. by Mrs. C. F. Warner and Miss Ruby Wilson. Mrs. W. W. Whitfield spoke also from the Woman's club. Mrs. H. C. Luckey, chairman of the Bible study department presided.

After the program the group adjourned to the gymnasium, where Mrs. Elmore conducted the last class of the season. Some of the women have become so interested that they are holding another class to continue for eight weeks, meeting every Wednesday at the association under Mrs. Elmore's leadership.

Mrs. Cora F. Warner, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. left Friday evening for a few days visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ray Kellenberger of Anselmo, Neb.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors was held Wednesday morning. Since this was the last regular meeting before the convention which meets in New York, April 30 to May 6, there was considerable routine business to dispose of. There will be a special meeting on Thursday, April 17, to discuss more fully the issues to come before the convention.

The travelers' aid committee met Thursday. Mrs. Fred Williams is the chairman. The various subjects discussed were the transportation agreement with the social agencies, the railroads, and other cities, matters of publicity and available information to be in the hands of the travelers' aid secretary, the interdependence of the various organizations, and their individual resources for the aid of the traveling public. Those present were H. P. Kauffman of the Burlington, and H. T. Wilson of the Missouri Pacific, W. A. Luke of the Y. M. C. A., C. E. Prevey of the Social Welfare, and representatives of the association. Others invited were unable to be present, but were interested in cooperating with all organizations for the best service to the traveling public. It is the intention of the association to bring together on occasion as seems necessary those agencies interested in travelers' aid work, so that it shall be better understood, and its services more available to all.

Miss Kate Field, the employment secretary and Miss Mildred Bryan, the physical director, attended the convention of the Business and Professional Women's clubs, which was held in Grand Island Saturday.

ANSWERS TO Movie Fans

Dear Movie Editor—I have been watching your column for my information, but haven't seen it there, yet, so thought perhaps I'd better write for it. Could you please tell me the name of the giant who played in 'Why Worry,' with Harold Lloyd? What nationality is he? Please tell me anything else that you can about him. I should think he could make a lot of money traveling with a circus as a giant. Many thanks in advance for any information you might be able to give me about him. Yours truly, LENA K.

John Aasson is the giant who played in "Why Worry." He is said to be the largest and tallest man in the world. He is eight feet and nine and one fourth inches tall and weighs 503 pounds. He was born in Numendahl, Norway 24 years ago and weighed 20 pounds at birth. His father and mother were both large, his mother being over six feet tall and his father seven and one-half feet tall. His grandfather was on exhibition at the World Fair in Chicago and was considered the tallest man in the world at that time.

It takes six times as much material to make John a suit as it does an ordinary man, and probably six times as much money to pay for the suits. His socks are as long as the ordinary woman's stockings. When he travels he occupies two upper berths, and when he says at the hotel, he sleeps with his feet hanging out of bed, because he can't find a bed long enough for him.

When it comes to eating Mr. Aasson does not live up to expectations of a giant because he is a very moderate eater. He does, however, drink an unusual amount of water.

Dear Movie Editor—I've missed one face from the screen lately that I used to like very much and that is Marguerite Clayton. Isn't she playing any more, and if she is what company is she working for, and do you know in what picture she will appear soon. I'd like to try to see her again.

Will you please tell me also, who will play opposite Constance Talmadge in "The Goldfish"? Is it true that Buster Keatons have another baby? If so, what is it a boy or a girl? What is Buster's latest picture called? I think he is some clever comedian. That face of his is enough to make anybody sit up and take notice. He is as unusual in his comedies as Charlie Chaplin is in his, and he has something that it's hard for anybody to duplicate while Charlie is suing somebody half the time for helping themselves to his make up.

I heard that James Cruze was going to marry Betty Compson. I thought he was married already to Margeurite Snow, so the report is evidently unfounded, or is the result of some newspaper's imagination because they happened to eat together or something of the sort. I've always liked Betty Compson so well and I don't like to see her name bandied about like that of some of the other movie stars is, without any cause.

I'll not take any more of your time today and I hope my letter will appear soon.—Thanks, JUST A FAN.

Marguerite Clayton is still making pictures although she doesn't seem to be featured as much as she formerly was. She is playing now under the Paramount banner in 'The Dawn of Tomorrow' in which Jacqueline Logan has the title role.

Jack Mulhall is the 'Sucker' in "The Goldfish."

Yes there is another hopeful in the Keaton family, a son named Buster's latest release is "Sherlock Jr."

James Cruze was married to Marguerite Snow, but he is divorced from her now and is to marry Miss Compson according to latest reports. The story is told that when Miss Snow and her former husband met recently to settle some business in regard to their young daughter Mr. Cruze told Miss Snow that he was to marry Miss Compson.

He said: 'She's a fine girl, Peggy and I hope sometime you will meet her. But don't tell her anything about me, will you?'"

To which Miss Snow replied: "Oh no, Jimmy, I'll just tell her I was an extra."

Dear Movie Editor—I don't know whether "The Silent Partner" has ever been here or not, but if it was I did see part of it in a town I happened to be staying a few weeks ago and I wondered if you would please give me the cast and a synopsis of the story? What I saw of it I liked, but I got in late, and it happened to be the last show, so I didn't get all of the first part, and I have a feeling that I missed a lot by not knowing what it was all about. Some pictures you can start about half way through and see enough to know just how it started, but that didn't happen to be the case in this picture. I like Leatrice Joy and could you please tell me whether or not she is married and if so who the lucky guy is. Trusting this is not asking too much of you please accept the thanks of—'TRAVELING DAN.'

The cast for 'The Silent Partner' is Lisa Coburn, Leatrice Joy; George Coburn, Owen Moore; Ralph Coombes, Robert Edeson; Harvey Dredge, Robert Schable; Cora Dredge, Patterson Dial; Jim Harker, E. H. Calvert; Gertie Page, Maude Wayne; Mrs. Nesbit, Bess Flowers; Mrs. Harker, Laura Anson; Owens, Bert Woodruff; Charles Nesbit, Robert Grey.

The story is of Lisa, the wife of a clerk in the Wall Street firm of Ralph Coombes who told her husband when he began speculating that she would remain with him as long as he made good, but when he lost his money he would lose her, too. They had always been content and happy without money and Lisa had helped saved their little nest egg, and she didn't want her future ruined as that of her neighbor Cora Dredge seemed to be. Cora's husband was another Wall Street speculator who usually speculated on the wrong thing, and Cora was left sick and penniless in a dirty tenement. George however was successful and Lisa was considered the best dressed woman in their circle, but instead of spending all the money that her husband gives her she is laying away some for the rainy day. Coombes the employer, is infatuated with Lisa, and when George is too busy to remember Lisa's birthday, the employer is not.

Coombes arranges a luncheon at which Lisa and Gertie a friend of Lisa's are the guests. Gertie neglects to put in an appearance and Coombes tells Lisa of his infatuation. Lisa spurns him but he is determined to win her and thinks he can do so by ruining her husband.

Lisa overhears Coombes plan to ruin George, so she has him give her $50,000 to buy a string of pearls and instead of getting the real pearls, she buys an imitation and puts the money in the bank. When George is looking for the check he gave her to save himself from disaster, he discovers the imitation pearls, and the bills that Lisa has raised to obtain more money from him, and insists upon her leaving, without receiving her explanation.

Lisa is badly hurt and accepts an invitation from Gertie to take a trip to Europe. The trip had been secretly planned by Coombes and Gertie and when Gertie congratu-Gertie and when Gertie congratu-and Lisa discovers his name on the arm chair next to hers, she runs to the gangplank and leaves the ship.

She finds her husband about to leave New York for a small position elsewhere. He refuses to see her at first because he thinks she loves Coombes and had plotted with him to ruin him but she proves her love for him and they are reunited.

Coombes sitting alone on the ship, shakes his head over the women in general and Lisa in particular.

In private life, Miss Joy is the wife of Jack Gilbert, the Fox star.

Dear Movie Editor—Apropos of the scenario writing question, I would like to say that two years ago I felt the desire within me to write, and I was sure I could write scenarios that would be better than some of the pictures I had been paying good money to see, so I got my little typewritter out, dusted it, and prepared to become famous. I worked night after night on my manuscript, and when I had it finished, it was a masterpiece so far as typography, orthography and technicality was considered. At least I considered it so. I had gone to the library and gotten all the books I could on scenario writing, and I had what I considered was a plot of unusual interest and originality. Well I sent it around to about a dozen different motion picture companies and spent enough money in stamps and return stamps to film a picture almost but without any luck. Some of the companies had the nerve to tell me that what they wanted was original stories of a 'different' character—something new. Others simply returned it without saying anything and still others said they did not accept material from outside writers.

My advice to those who get the spring fever and feel like they must write is to try short story writing or take up golf—anything but writing for the screen. Let them pay enormous royalties for books and plays if they want to but don't waste your money on stamps in trying to sell them a good movie plot.

Someday when I get real peppy and have nothing else to do, I'm going to get out my scenario and put it into short story form, because I still have faith in it and think I may be able to sell it. Then when they want it for a motion picture, I'll tell them they had first chance at it, and they can now pay me for my time in waiting for them to recognize its value.

That's out of my system, so I'll say "Adios"—ANOTHER WRITER.

Dear Movie Editor—Since it seems to be the customary thing for one to do, I'll admit that this is the first time I have ever written to you but I do read your page every Sunday, in fact I'll admit that it is the first department I turn to in the paper. So you will guess that I am quite a movie fan. I'm not a "flapper" though, as so many of the fans seem to be, but a woman of quite mature years. I used to think that mostly young people were fans, but I notice that the audience in our theatres made up of as many old people and middle aged people, as it is young people. The men too a great many of them, seem to enjoy the movies. I remember several years ago I asked my husband to take me to a show, and he laughed at me, and said he didn't feel like wasting his time on the movies, they were for "kids" but I finally got him started and now he is as much of a fan as I am.

We are especially fond of May McAvoy, and would like to have you tell us anything you can about her including her age, color of hair and eyes, height and weight. I expect this seems like a silly question for a woman to ask, but we always enjoy the stars better when we know all about them and can visualize them as to size and coloring.

May I sign myself, AN ADULT FAN.

I'm glad to add another new fan to my list of writers. I certainly do not think you are silly. I think we all enjoy the players more when we know just how they look in real life. I think the screen has a tendency to make the stars look larger than they really are, too. May is only a little thing four feet and eleven inches tall, and weighing 94 pounds. She has dark hair and blue eyes and is twenty-three years old. She was born in New York and educated at the State Normal because she expected to be a teacher. She happened to meet a friend, however, who had been admitted to the studios, and she gave May such a glowing description of the life of a motion picture extra that May decided to try her luck at it. She finally succeeded in getting the leading role in affilm advertising a brand of sugar. She later played in "The Perfect Lady" with Madge Kennedy. This was in 1918, when she was only seventeen years old. She has played sisters, nurses and wives in numerous pictures since that time. It was her role of "Grizel" in "Sentimental Tommy" that gave her her first real start. She starred in Realart pictures and has been a featured Paramount player since that company took over the Realart stars. She recently returned to Hollywood from the east, where she played with Glenn Hunter in "West of the Water Tower," and with Richard Barthelmess in "The Enchanted Cottage."

Screen Siftings

Begin New Picture—Richard Dix and Bebe Daniels play the leading roles in "Unguarded Women," which Alan Crosland has just started at the Paramount Long Island studio. The picture is an adaptation of the Saturday Evening Post story, 'Face,' by Lucy Stone Terrill. Mary Astor, Walter McGrail, and Frank Losee will also have important roles in the cast.

Hire Street Cars—To save time during the filming of First National's "The Sea Hawk," Frank Lloyd, the director, chartered special street cars to transport extra men from Los Angeles to the San Pedro docks, and makeup experts colored the bodies of the passengers and made up their faces en route.

Returns to Features—Edna Murphy, who has been playing in Pathe serials for the past year, is returning with "The White Moth" in which Barbara La Marr and Conway Tearle are featured. Miss Murphy plays the role of Gwen an unsophisticated American boy's sweetheart. Ben Lyon is the boy.

Third Girl Born—Pat O'Malley is receiving congratulations on the birth of a new daughter. This makes the third girl in the O'Malley family.

Have Scenario—Over 800,000 copies have already been sold of Harold Bell Wright's latest novel 'The Mine with the Iron Door.' The novel will be filmed soon by Principal Pictures Corporation, according to an announcement made by Sol Lesser, president of the company.

Jackie Coogan Play—"Little Robinson Crusoe is the title of Jackie Coogan's Metro picture which follows 'A Boy of Flanders.' It is a story of adventure, and was written directly for the screen by Willard Mack.

Has Two Directors—Leatrice Joy is to have two directors for her first starring picture for Paramount. They will be Frank Urson and Paul Iribe. The picture is an adaptation from Elizabeth Alexander's story 'Rolls' and will be called 'Changing Husbands.'

Buys Fight Films—Lew Cody has purchased the film fights to a one-act play of foreign origin and will produce it as a 'sideline' evenings after he finishes his work at the Goldwyn studio. There are only three people in the story and the whole action takes place within one set, so it can be produced for little cost.

Alimony and Trouble—Eric Von Stroheim noted director, was fined $50 for contempt of court recently, when he appeared to try to obtain a reduction of the $75 a week that he is compelled to pay his former wife for the support of their 7 year old son. The court happened to hear Mr. Von Stroheim whisper that he would like to "paste his wife's attorney in the nose."

"The Inside Story"—Malcolm MacGregor has been chosen to play opposite May McAvoy in William de Mille's next production "The Inside Story." This completes the cast, which includes Ricardo Cortez, Ethel Wales, Robert Edeson, George Fawcett and Charles Ogle. The story is an original by Clara Beranger.

Shirley Mason Signs—Shirley Mason has signed a new contract with Fox and is ready to begin work on "The Strange Woman," in which Elsie Ferguson starred for some time on Broadway. Theodore Von Eltz is the leading man and Harold Goodwin juvenile. Edmund Mortimer is directing.

Turpin Snow Blind—Ben Turpin, who is said to be the only screen player that has never known a 'klieg eye' has fallen victim to snow blindness. Mr. Turpin was forced to return to the studio from location at Truckee, Calif. because of the affliction. Ben is playing the role of a Royal Northwest Mounted Police officer in the new Sennett comedy, "Yukon Jake," with Natalie Kingston as the heroine of the story.

Horses' Snow Shoes—It is necessary that the heroes horse be able to walk on snowshoes for 'The Trouble Shooter,' which Tom Mix is making under Jack Conway's direction, therefore Tom is teaching Tony his famous cowboy pony the art of snowshoe walking. Tom, himself, will use skis in the picture.

Burns Is East—Edward Burns who played opposite Gloria Swanson in "The Humming Bird," has been cast as leading man with Agnes Ayres in 'The Guilty One.' The picture is adapted from the stage drama by Michael Morton and Peter Traill and is being produced under Joseph Henabery's direction.

Has New Role—Winifred Bryson one of the principals in 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame' has the role of Mrs. Trenton, the radical novelist and lecturer in "Broken Barriers" which Reginald Barker has started at the Mayer studios. Among the other stars in the cast will be found James Kirkwood, Norma Shearer, Adolphe Menjou, Mae Busch, George Fawcett, Robert Frazer, Ruth Stonehouse, Walter Hiers and Robert Agnew.

Magician Show—Eddie Phillips started his career as a magician, and he is to have a chance to display some of his talent to the public via the screen in a picture he plays opposite Viola Dana.

Feminine Roles—Wanda Hawley and Mae Busch have been signed for the important feminine roles in Brand," which Victor Schertzinger is directing for Metro.

Mrs. Mix Tours—Mrs. Tom Mix has gone on a European trip with some friends. She will be gone three months and expects to visit London, Paris and Rome.

Dog In Show—Bob the dog and Felix, the cat, play important roles in Jack Pickford's new picture 'The End of the World.' Norma Shearer is cast as feminine lead.

Daughter Born—Mr. and Mrs. Earle Williams are receiving the congratulations of their friends over the birth of a young daughter. This is the first child in the family, and she has been named Joan Constance—the Constance after Constance Talmadge.

ANSWERS TO Movie Fans

Dear Movie Editor—I have been watching your column for my information, but haven't seen it there, yet, so thought perhaps I'd better write for it. Could you please tell me the name of the giant who played in "Why Worry," with Harold Lloyd? What nationality is he? Please tell me anything else that you can about him. I should think he could make a lot of money traveling with a circus as a giant. Many thanks in advance for any information you might be able to give me about him. Yours truly, LENA K.

John Aason is the giant who played in "Why Worry." He is said to be the largest and tallest man in the world. He's eight feet and nine and one-fourth inches tall and weighs 503 pounds. He was born in Numendahl, Norway, 24 year born in Numendahl, Norway, 24 years ago and weighed 20 pounds at birth. His father and mother were both large, his mother being over six feet tall and his father seven and one-half feet tall. His grandfather was on exhibition at the World Fair in Chicago and was considered the tallest man in the world at that time.

It takes six times as much material to make John a suit as it does an ordinary man, and probably six times as much money to pay for the suits. His socks are as long as the ordinary woman's stockings. When he travels he occupies two upper berths, and when he says at the hotel, he sleeps with his feet hanging out of bed, because he can't find a bed long enough for him.

When it comes to eating, Mr. Aason does not live up to expectations of a giant, because he is a very moderate eater. He does, however, drink an unusual amount of water.

Dear Movie Editor—I've missed one face from the screen lately that I used to like very much, and that is Marguerite Clayton. Isn't she playing any more, and if she is, what company is she working for, and do you know in what picture she will appear soon. I'd like to try to see her again.

Will you please tell me also, who will play opposite Constance Talmadge in "The Goldfish?" Is it true that Buster Keatons have another baby? If so, what is it, a boy or a girl? What is Buster's latest picture called? I think he is some clever comedian. That face of his is enough to make anybody sit up and take notice. He is as unusual in his comedies as Charlie Chaplin is in his, and he has something that it's hard for anybody to duplicate, while Charlie is suing somebody half the time for helping themselves to his make-up.

I heard that James Cruze was going to marry Betty Compson. I thought he was married already to Margeuirite Snow, so the report is evidently unfounded, or is the result of some newspaper's imagination because they happened to eat together or something of the sort. I've always liked Betty Compson so well and I don't like to see her name bandied about like that of some of the other movie stars is, without any cause.

I'll not take any more of your time today and I hope my letter will appear soon.—Thanks, JUST A FAN.

Marguerite Clayton is still making pictures, although she doesn't seem to be featured as much as she formerly was, she is playing now under the Paramount banner in "The Dawn of Tomorrow" in which Jacqueline Logan has the title role.

Yes, there is another hopeful in the Keaton family, a son again. Buster's latest release is "Sherlock, Jr."

James Cruz was married to Marguerite Snow, but he is divorced from her now, and is to marry Miss Compson, according to latest reports. The story is told that when Miss Snow and her former husband met recently to settle some business in regard to their young daughter, Mr. Cruze told Miss Snow that he was to marry Miss Compson.

He said, "She's a fine girl, Peggy, and I hope sometime you will meet her. But don't tell her anything bad about me, will you?"

To which Miss Snow replied, "Oh no, Jimmy, I'll just tell her I was eccentric."

Dear Movie Editor—I don't know whether "The Silent Partner" has ever been here or not, but if it was [illegible] it, but I did see part of it in a town I happened to be staying in a few weeks ago, and I wondered if you would please give me the cast and a synopsis of the story? What I saw of it I liked, but I got in late, and it happened to be the last show, so I didn't get all of the first part, and I have a feeling that I missed a lot by not knowing what it was all about. Some pictures you can start about half way through and see enough to know just how it started, but that didn't happen to be the case in this picture. I like Leatrice Joy, and could you please tell me whether or not she is married, and if so who the lucky "guy" is. Trusting this is not asking too much of you, please accept the thanks of—"TRAVELING DAN."

The cast for "The Silent Partner" is: Lisa Coburn, Leatrice Joy; George Coburn, Owen Moore; Ralph Coombes, Robert Edeson; Harvey Dredge, Robert Schable; Cora Dredge, Patterson Dial; Jim Harker, E. H. Calvert; Gertie Page, Maude Wayne; Mrs. Nesbit, Bess Flowers; Mrs. Harker, Laura Anson; Owens, Bert Woodruff; Charles Nesbit, Robert Grey.

The story is of Lisa, the wife of a clerk in the Wall Street firm of Ralph Coombes, who told her husband, when he began speculating that she would remain with him as long as he made good, but when he lost his money he would lose her, too. They had always been content and happy without money, and Lisa had helped saved their little nest-egg, and she didn't want her future ruined as that of her neighbor, Cora Dredge, seemed to be. Coombes, the employer, is infatuated with Lisa, and when George is too busy to remember Lisa's birthday, the employer is not.

Coombes arranges a luncheon at which Lisa and Gertie, a friend of Lisa's are the guests. Gertie neglects to put in an appearance, and Coombes tells Lisa of his infatuation. Lisa spurns him, but he is determined to win her and thinks he can do so by ruining her husband.

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

It Takes a Lot of Time and Thought to Be the Sort of a Father of Whom the Children Will Say "Dad Is More Like a Friend Than a Parent."

"Solomon Would Never Have Got Such a Big Name Fer Smartness If He Hadn't Had So Many Wimmin Folks," Says One Reader In a Humor But Thought - Compelling Letter.

The Ideal Father.

Dear Minerva: I am the father of three boys, age eight, six and three. I have always desired to be the sort of a father who is pal to his sons But since the boys came I have been so busy earning the where withall to keep them housed, fed and clothed that I haven't given much time to them personally Suddenly I realize that they are growing fast and if I am to be this pal of my dreams, I'll have to hurry And frankly I don't know how to go about it.

The boys kid along with their mother and tell her all their hurts and jobs But they are more formal with me It is because I haven't been as close to them as their mother has, I presume.

How do some fathers achieve the happy results of being chums with their sons, while others equally well meaning, are clear out of touch with their sons?

Perhaps some of the fathers who read this Mail can tell us of their experiences in being pals to their sons.

AMBITIOUS FATHER.

A I wish some of the fathers would write us of their experiences; we would all be greatly interested. One of the best careers in the world is that of fatherhood. It gives wonderful returns too in solid satisfaction and much thought on your children to win a recommendation such as that, I'll tell you. This particular father commenced when his children were very young. He has always made a practice of spending his Saturday afternoons with them, as he has this time free from work Also he is with them the greater parts of his Sundays He reads to them, plays with them, works with them and talks with them Whether the Saturday afternoon be spent cleaning the garage, tramping in the country, planting a graden or gaming fishing, the youngsters are excited and eager for the plan For just to be with "dad" is all they ask for

He gives them all their share of responsibilities He doesn't do things for them, but with them. He doesn't talk to them but with them, as one friend to another. He treats the children as intelligent companions and this is what they become He is never too busy to explain, to answer their questions, to solve their childish puzzles.

He does not say "Go clean up the lawn," or "Go help mother shake the rugs" But he says "Come, let us clean up the yard," or "Come, let us help mother" "Tell dad" became a watchword with the children He showed his interest at breakfast and every night at dinner by questions and conversation about their activities, until it was natural that no matter what happened "Let's tell dad" came spontaneously and naturally

While the father was jolly and played like a chum, he laid down certain severe rules He emphasized the fact that Dad's pals must be honorable and truthful, no cheating, no shirking if they were to hold his respect. Each child must obey promptly, work cheerfully, act manfully Each child must respect, obey and work for mother, who dad said was queen of the home.

It takes thought and years of time to learn to be a father And I believe you have the fundamentals for a fatherhood foundataion, the ambition and desire to learn

WINS HONORS

Miss Alma Swanson, Waverly high school girl, who won the Sawyer cup in the declamatory contest, which was held in Lincoln Saturday, March 26 Miss Sawyer is fourteen years of age and is in the tenth grade Her appearance at the declamatory contest was her first one before the public

I have in mind a most successful father of a large family, two boys and three girls.

"Dad doesn't seem like a parent," one of his sons of high school age said to me. "He seems like a chum or a friend."

You have to spend a lot of time and easy for us. If we were provided automatically with all the wherewithals of life as for instance are the vegetables, well we would just simply vegetate, wouldn't we?

I know well that poignant longing for something new when the spring brightness approaches and the windows blossom out whic hof course they always do before the trees and flowers do, with alluring hats and frocks and shoes. Ah, there is my weakness—shoes. If I could just have al lthe shoes I crave—brown, sturdy ones for street wear, flat, jaunty ones for golf, high trig laced ones for hiking, trim white ones for wear with linen and sports dresses, white ones of graceful form and exquisite turn, a pair of blue ones of just the right shape and shade for just the right time of wearing, aristocratic black satins, feminine shoes of fawn kid with clever straps over the instep and so on without end

But most of us have to scheme and plan. We can't have this because we must pay for that, and it wouldn't do to buy that though it is becoming because it isn't practical Much of the time we feel abused But after all it is quite a game, to appear well dressed and attractive on a very little bit of money.

Sometimes I think, Oh, if I could only have one big spree of clothes buying, wouldn't I look—as the youngsters say—"pretty keen?"

Then I catch a glimpse of myself in my truly effective evening dress made of odds and ends, positively an accumulation of remnants, costing a mere trifle, and I covertly compare my gown with some expensive ones about me, and really I don't believe I could duplicate the self-satisfied thrill I experience, even if I spent a small fortune on such a dress.

I seem to have started at the wrong end in answering your letter, but your letter, but your last query was fresh in my mind and I was off.

As to your lack of interest and confidence in the boys, I think it is too bad for such a young girl to feel so cynical. But I am not worried about the situation for I am sure you will come out of it satisfactorily. It is really a relief to hear of one girl who is to a degree self sufficient and not boy-crazy. I am sorry your experiences have been of the disillusioning kind. My advice is not to permit yourself to become soured and cynical. That is such an unattractive and unpleasant state of mind. But to keep young and enthusiastic and always on the look-out for the man who is worthy of and appreciates the genuine friendship of a real girl.

The "Pajamas Ball"

Dear Minerva—I've just run across something so funny that I'd like to share it with your readers, particularly as it shows up some of the "high jinks" of the "uppety-ups" of modern life. Its rather rich and racy, but not more so than the "swell affair" it describes. I found it in the fun column of a nagricultural paper.

A Mighty Swell Affair.

Solomon had a big reputation fer bein' smart. He said there was'n nothin' new under the sun. He was a little mite old-fashioned coz he didn't know some things thats gettin' right up to date. The very latest is a "Pajamas Ball" Im proud to say it wasn't pulled off in our good old U. S. A. No it was in the real top-crust of old Vienna. They had 1,000 of them swellest high uppy-ups invited to go to a dance without bothering to dress up I spose they wanted to save the time of undressing when they got home You know time is a great thing to save Ben Franklin sed that we mustn't squader time coz its the stuff life's made of. I don't know what that fancy bunch thinks of. Mebbe they ain't got any time to waste Anyhow them dainty girls and wimmen had pajamas made of silk muskeeter bar, with plenty of rips and slits and holes in it. They was cut low at one end and high at the other, in good old Hottentot style. I spose thats all so they wouldn't get too hot and have plenty of fresh air while they was prancin' and huggin' round and round Well you know ventilated clothes is purty important. There was about 4000 other ones who tried to get in without invites to see the fine show, but the police stopped them. It wasn't no place for low-down folks to be. Folks that was there sed it was a big success, and there's goin' to be a lot more of them undressed affairs like it. I hope there won't be none of our rich aissiety folks with nothin' to do who will go to importin' any such apelike performances to this country. If they do I amy speak right out in meetin' and say I think of them sort of doin's.

MERELY ME.

P S—Carryin' this on a little farther in my own thoughts, I don't know but what this feller that rote this didn't know what he was talkin' about. How does he know Solomon never went to a Pajamas Ball? I'll be he did. Considerin' he had about 600 wives and 300 concubines, he could go to a Pajamas Ball whenever he wanted to, but of course the public wasn't invited, and so Solomon's society doin's never leaked out. Solomon wouldnever have go such a big name for smartness if he hadn't had so many wimmen folks. They probably put some of those fine ideas in his head and then he claimed the credit. Ain't that just like a man?

One of my bachelor neighbors heard they had at last imported the Pajamas Ball into Long Beach out in California, and he got so excited I had to put ice on his head to keep him cool. He wanted to start said he'd seen lots of snowballs and footballs andbaseballs but a Pajamas Ball was somethin' new, and he wanted to see it. But say, Wage said somethin' about Adam havin' a temptress wife, Adams wasn't in it With Solomon atall. Adam, you remember, didn't have backbone enough to do right and be the real he-man God expected him to be, but like a coward he showed the white feather and hid behind his wife's fig-leaf skirt and said "I'm not to blame, Lord, I'm a good little feller. The woman thou gavest me tempted me and I did eat," The sons of Adam have been chips off the old block, blaming' the wimmen ever since. But somehow I never heard of the Lord lettin' Adam off scot-free He's had to sweat fer it ever since. That's what comes of havin' a backbone of putty. But say,honest now, wasn't Solomon a lucky man to have so many wimmen to blame fer his sins? Think of havin' 900 temptresses to tempt him from the straight and narrow way. And I shouldn't wonder a mite if it wasn't havin' havin' too many Pajamas Balls that first srted Solomon on the downgrade

Has No Sympathizer.

Dear Minerva. Things just don't seems to go right. I have often read your very fine advice to others and I think perhaps you can help me. I have no one to really tell my troubles to. My father died two years ago and left me alone for my mother never could understand me. When I go to her she just laughs me aside and tells me I'm just a silly kid.

I am a girl eighteen years old. I have always carried a load of responsibility and really acted like I was twenty. Now Minerva to come to the point. I have two things to ask of you. The first and least in importance is why do I jnst hate the boys. I don't like the word "hate" but it just describes my feeling toward them. I have many boy friends that call me but I don't care to go with them. I could sometimes kick myself because I don't get more enthused over dates and the like. Is it because I have gone with boys so much? I started going with boys when I was thirteen and they are all alike to me. They just go with a girl for the loving they intend to get and it seems just vulgar to me.

What should I do to overcome this feeling. I know I should treat them just as a friend and I do until they ask for a date and then they get smart and it's just the same thing over again. Tell me, Minerva, should I just forget them altogether?

The second questionn pertains to financial matters. My mother works but does not make very much. I am a stenographer and make a fairly good salary. But it takes all that we earn for rent and food and clothing. My little brother two years old gets a big share of it. I have an insurance premium coming due next month and I want a few new clothes for spring but I can't see where I can get them.

Minerva is there any way for a stenographer to earn a little extra money outside of business hours, copying manuscripts and the like? I could surely use a little extra money and would appreciate it very much indeed if you could advise some kind of work I could do after work hours.

YOUNG BUT WORRIED.

A. If we could only bedeck and adorn ourselves for spring with a nice new coat of feathers as the birds do.

But then, if we could, what would we have to use our brains for? After all, life would be somewhat a bore if everything was made so simple

UNIVERSITY AIDS HIGHWAY CONTEST

Essays By Nebraska High Schools Reviewed By State Committee.

Four Year Scholarship For Best Paper On Better Road Building.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Co-operation in Nebraska of the university extension division University of Nebraska, in the fifth annual good roads essay contest was announced today by the highway education board.

Not only will the extension department assist in the promotion of the contest itself, but the best three essays from each high school in the state will be referred to it for review. Competent judges will choose the essay that is best of all those submitted, and forward to the board at Washington to represent Nebraska before the national judges.

In Nebraska last year the best essay was written by Walter G. Rundle of Orleans.

According to the rules of the contest, students have only until April 21 in which to complete their essays. The papers will then be handed to the high school principals or teachers, and these teachers are requested to forward to the University at Lincoln the best three of those submitted.

Students Show Interest.

According to a number of inquiries being received from students, parents and teachers, much interest is being shown in the contest this year, and it is believed virtually every high school in the state will offer an essay in the contest.

Illustrated posters and folders containing detailed information about the contest have been sent to each city and county superintendent of schools, and to all high school principals. The subject on which essays are to be written is "The Relation of Improved Highways to Home Life." Essays are not to exceed 700 words in length, and the closing date is Monday, April 21. Any high school student, actually in attendance, is eligible to compete.

Students from all sections of the country, including every state and territorial possession, are participating, all eager for the honors and material reward that go with the scholarship. Essays are received annually from Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone and the Philippines.

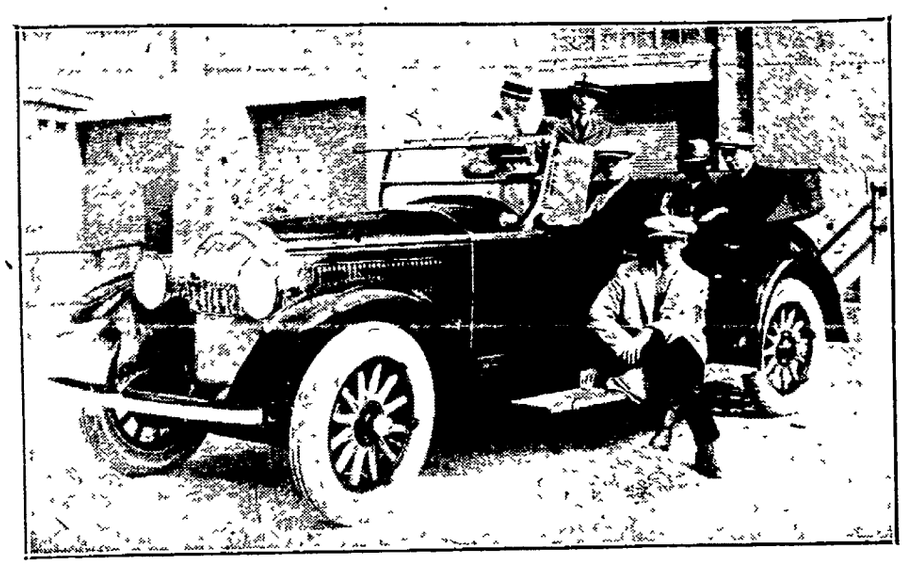

Scholarship Award.

The award is known as the H. S. Firestone four years university scholarship. It is given by H. S. Firestone, Akron, O., in order to stimulate interest in highway transportation and highway education generally. The prize is valued at approximately $1,000 annually for four years, or $4,000 altogether. It defrays tuition, room, board, books and special fees of the successful contestant at any college or university in the United States.

Four students are now in college on the fruits of their labor in these contests in recent years, the contest itself being considered the largest national educational competition in the country.

National judges will be named by Dr. John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, who also is chairman of the board. Requests for information should be addressed to the highway education board, Willard Building, Washington, D. C.

List of Enthusiastic Buick Owners Includes Entire Infield of World Champion Yankees

ONE-PIECE WINDSHIELD.

Reflecting public demand for greater vision, the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company has adopted a one-piece windshield for its Jewett open cars.

The windshield pushes out at the bottom and provides a maximum of ventilation as well as enhanced vision over the old type of two-piece construction. There being only one piece of glass there are consequently no cracks for the old night air to pour through.

About Spark Plugs

Irregular firing is often caused by the moisture which gathers on the exposed part of the spark plug. To remedy this trouble grease the porcelain with hard grease.

MOON BREAKS SALES RECORD

March was the biggest month in the seventeen years' history of the Moon Motor Car company. Its sales that month exceeded March 1923 by at least 55 per cent and were 30 per cent greater than Moon's previous record month which was April of the last year.

"There are several reasons why Moon sales are holding up in such splendid fashion," says F. H. Rengers, general sales manager of the company. "In the first place Moon cars have been growing steadily more popular each year, due to the growing preference for distinctiveness and individuality in automobiles. In the second place Moon is now in production on a very moderate priced six cylinder car, in their series 'A', finished in the new durable Duco finish and which is equipped with high standard of mechanical units such as the Continental motor, Borg & Beck clutch, Timken axels and other units that are nationally known.

Over 50 per cent of Moon's present production is on the series "A" special model retailing at $1295 and equipped with four wheel hydraulic brakes and full size balloon tires, standard.

General Motors Show Big Increase

General Motors in the first quarter of this year sold more than 210,000 cars and trucks compared with 176,258 sold in the first quarter of 1923.

Chrysler

From Capt. E. D. C. Horne, a man well qualified to speak regarding internal combustion engines, comes the accompanying enthusiastic letter about the Chrysler Six.

Capt. Horne, who has been associated with the automotive industry since its inception, is perhaps best known in America as the aviator who writes in the sky. His daring and skill in the air are well known throughout England and the Continent. He flew, of course, with the British air force during the war, and has since been continuously occupied in aviation and its development.

Walter P. Chrysler, Esq.
New York City.

Dear Mr. Chrysler:

After twenty years' experience with motor cars of all nationalities, during five of which I served my apprenticeship in the largest automobile factory in Europe; after many years flying on all types of aeroplanes in various parts of the world, before, during and since the War, it takes something very unusual in the way of internal combustion engines to arouse even the slightest degree of enthusiasm; so I am sure that you will pardon a complete stranger taking the liberty of addressing to you a few appreciative remarks concerning the Chrysler Car.

I happened to be strolling through the Commodore lounge yesterday afternoon, and noticing a crowd gathered around something, went to investigate. The attraction proved to be your chassis; and an immediately noticeable "cleanliness" of design caused me to look a little more closely, when I was surprised to see a certain very efficient type of cylinder head—which I had thought existed only in England—incorporated in your motor. I was now really interested, examined the chassis in detail and became more agreeably surprised every moment.

I had never before seen an engine of that piston displacement with a seven-bearing crankshaft; the water jacketing around the cylinders and valves was admirably carried out; the exhaust and inlet manifold arrangement were excellent; and all the accessories, such as generator, carburetor, ignition distributor, oil and air filters, etc., seemed extraordinarily well placed; and one certainly could not help being struck by the absence of all "annoyances" in the chassis, such as brake and torque rods, which, in the average car are never greased and are inclined to breed rattles. By this time one of your salesman began volunteering some startling information, the outstanding feature of which was the fact that the car would do seventy-five miles per hour.

Well, Mr. Chrysler, I know and you know what that means for an engine of two hundred one cubic inches displacement. Wind resistance has the unfortunate habit of increasing as the square of the speed, and seventy-five miles per hour with a touring car with the top and wind-screen up, means perfect balance of the motor and chassis as a whole, and it means power, with a capital P. Of course, I didn't believe him and told him so and he insisted that it would be only fair to him if I drove the car.

I drove it for an hour this morning, and all I can say is that it is astounding in every way.

It took Fort George Hill from a standing start in high gear with five passengers without a murmur and finished up at well over twenty-five miles per hour.

It then went up in second speed with the same load at a comfortable forty—riding magnificently over the cobblestones.

On the level it did approximately seventy-seven miles per hour—the speedometer only read to seventy-five and it was hard up against the needle for some time—whilst in second speed forty-seven miles per hour was obtained, all without the slightest vestige of vibration.

At over seventy I jammed the foot brake down hard, with my hands off the wheel, and the car stopped in an incredibly short space, without deviating an inch from its course, whilst, with the brakes hard on with full throttle, the car could be steered from one side of the road to the other with one finger.

At no time during this ride, of over an hour, did the thermometer on the dashboard register more than ninety-five degrees Fahrenheit and after coming down Fort George Hill several times to try the brakes, one could bear one's hand on them and they were all the same temperature.

The reason I am writing to you at such length is because I like motor cars and appreciate something out of the ordinary when I see it, and I really must congratulate you, Mr. Chrysler, and your designing staff on producing the finest car I have had the pleasure of driving during the past five years, regardless of price. As for that roadster of yours—it's more than an automobile—it's a work of art.

Yours faithfully,

From Modesto, California, comes the news of one of the most peculiar accidents on record. C. O. Glestead, a telephone company employe, had a narrow escape from death when a fast passenger train hit the Star coupe he was driving. Glestead attributes his escape from injury to the tubular backbone in the Star car, one of the special features of all Durant and Star automobiles.

Aside from breaking off the two rear wheels, the Star coupe was not even scratched, not a pane of glass being broken. The tubular backbone prevented the frame from buckling and consequently made damage to the body negligible. The car was brought to Modesto, where two new wheels were installed, after which the Star car ran merrily on its way again.

John O. Chapman, Lincoln dealer in Durant and Star automobiles, when questioned about the tubular backbone to which the safety of the above car is attributed, states that it is the foremost improvement in motor car design in several years and is used only on Durant-built cars, being protected by patents.

Frame Held Rigid.

"The frame of a motor car consists of long side members and shorter supporting cross members," he says. "The Durant tubular backbone is a hollow steel cylinder, securely rivited at both ends to the second and third frame cross members. It holds the whole frame rigid and prevents any distortion from uneven road surfaces. The springs are forced to perform their proper function, the frame and body remaining level while the springs completely absorb road shocks.

"Mounted on such a foundation, the body panels, joints and doors are free from twists and strains creaking and rattling are reduced to a minimum and the body is in good condition even after long use. Such construction also makes it possible to mount every mechanical unit independently, making a consequent ease of adjustment and disassembly.

Fulfills Double Purpose.

"The tubular backbone fills a double purpose. It not only braces the frame but also acts as a muffler, being hollow. The exhaust, going into the tube of steel is carried for so long a distance in the tube that no muffler plates are necessary. By the time the exhaust has traversed the tubular backbone interior and escaped from the outlet, the silencing process has been completed. By eliminating a number of hitherto necessary parts and doing away with muffler rattles and the chances of a noisy blown exhaust, the backbone is doubly welcomed by auto owners and traffic policemen.

"The question is asked as to exactly how the backbone prevented serious damage in such an accident as that described at Modesto. The train struck the rear wheels of Mr. Glestead's Star car. When this happened, from whatever point the first force of the engine's blow was felt, with the ordinary automobile frame, the compact would have been at once communicated through the frame to the body, with a consequent ripping of joints and upholstery and the smashing of the windows.

"In the Modesto incident, the force went to the frame, where it was braced back by the tubular backbone and taken up naturally by the springs, eliminating the strain or breakage."

New Filling Station Will Have Special Service for Women

The Okla Oil company's filling station at 1405 South street, now under construction, will be one of the most modern stations in the city when completed. The station will consist of three pumps with two fifty-five foot drives, one entering from Fourteenth street and the other from South street. In all there will be 50,000 yards of concrete driveway.

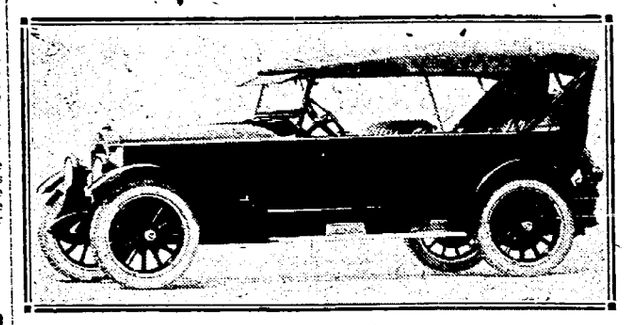

The Okla Oil company is a new firm recently incorporated under the laws of Nebraska. The main offices of the company will be built in as a part of the station. It is hoped that the station will be ready to give public service by April 20.

One of the features of the company will be to give special service to women drivers. The drives are unusually wide and are easily entered. A sufficient number of employes will be kept on hand so that special service can be given at any time.

The company will handle Glen-Rose gasoline, oils and greases on a wholesale and retail scale.

The Williams Oil-O-Matic furnace burners will be another feature of the company, and will be kept in stock at the station headquarters. This company is distributor for the Williams burner.

Solid Trainload Of Studebaker Cars

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 12.— A solid trainload of cars was forwarded today from the big Studebaker factories with Hartford, Conn., as their destination.

This is one of the biggest single shipments of automobiles made this year.

Leaving South Bend, this train consisted of fifty-two freight cars of light and special six models. It was routed by way of Detroit to pick up twelve more carloads of big-sixes.

This large shipment to the east indicates the insistent, heavy demand for Studebaker cars.

GREAT DEMAND FOR NASH CARS

Dealers Carrying More Unfilled Orders Than Ever Before In History.

Sales Manager Sees Heavy Business Continuing Throughout Year.

With spring close at hand, automobile dealers handling cars of standard make are facing a demand that from every indication will eclipse any previous shortage in the history of the automobile industry.

"Practically every spring finds the automobile dealer body unable to meet the demand for immediate delivery," said E. H. McCarty, general sales manager of The Nash Motors company. "The Nash retail selling organization, at this time, is carrying on its books more unfilled retail orders for spring delivery than at any time since this company was established. Many of our dealers, having passed through spring shortage periods of the past, anticipated their requirements this year and have on hand stocks of cars in quantities sufficient to carry them partly through the approaching 'rush season.'

Demand Will Continue.

"Those dealers who have failed to stock a sufficient number of cars this year are going to find it more difficult than ever before, because of the heavy demand, to take care of the orders that the opening of spring will bring forth. At the beginning of the year Mr. Nash expressed the belief that good business generally would prevail throughout the first half of the year with favorable indications for the latter half also.

"This conviction is being borne out by reports on many great industries aside from automobile manufacturing. Unfilled orders on the books of the Steel Corporation as of January 31 show an increase of 353,099 tons, the piano manufacturing industry is experiencing one of the heaviest demands in history, the hide and leather market is emerging from a lengthy period of liquidation. Shoe manufacturers are busy and a tabulation of building permits issued in a group of 252 major cities shows the largest January volume known.

Show Sales Heavier

"Sales of Nash cars at automobile shows held so far this season throughout the country are heavier by a wide margin than ever before in the history of the company. Reports received by the factory from distributors and dealers at points where shows have been held show in some instances of 200 and 300 per cent in show sales.

"Orders for immediate or spring delivery taken immediately following shows at all these points are a plain indication of the heavy spring demand that is bound to follow, it looks as though history will repeat again this year and that during the busy period so far as the standard makes are concerned, there will not be cars enough to go around.

Delco Equipment For Fords Now Placed on Market

The Dayton Engineering Laboratories company, manufacturers of Delco starting, lighting and ignition equipment, announces the production of special Delco ignition equipment for Fords.

The Delco distributor for Fords is of the standard Delco type and quality and has an automatic spark advance. It can be quickly and easily installed in place of the Ford timer.

The automatic spark advance mechanism of this distributor reduces to a minimum the necessity of using the hand spark advance lever, and has been worked out especially to give the finest results with the Ford engine at all speeds.

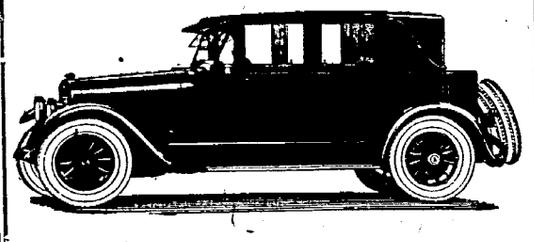

In addition to Delco distributor is provided with a hand advance that can be used in unusual conditions to supplement the work of the automatic advance. The hand is provided with definite stops in order to eliminate getting the engine out of time by any shift of the lever.

A special ignition coil for Fords is also put out by Delco to supplement the distributor and increase its efficiency for cold and rainy weather starting and driving, and better all-around engine performance.

Ford Steel Body Truck $490 f. o. b. Detroit

Why Commercial Users Prefer the Ford

There is much significance in the fact that more than 75% of all commercial cars of one-ton capacity or less in the United States are Fords.

This overwhelming preference for Ford haulage units has its basis in the low cost of Ford transportation, the rugged construction of the truck itself, and its unusual adaptability to every line of industry.

Mechanical excellence, simplicity of design and ample power are further factors that have contributed to the popularity of the Ford One-Ton Worm Drive Truck.

The Ford One-Ton Truck equipped with an all-steel body and cab is now available as a complete unit, priced at $490 f. o. b. Detroit. Screen sides and canopy roof that may be easily fitted to this unit are supplied at small additional cost.

JOURNEY REVEALS METALS AND FURS

Important Commercial Possibilities Developed by Asiatic Expedition.

Traders Already Following Leaders' Example by Using Dodge Motor Cars.

While science toys with the twenty-five dinosaur eggs brought back from the interior of Mongolia by the third Asiatic expedition, and wonders about their relationship to the dinosaur skeletons now and then unearthed in America, industrial leaders are giving deep and serious thought to the commercial phase of the expedition's many remarkable discoveries.

Numerous important mineral deposits were found, according to Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the expedition, and it is only a matter of time until modern transportation makes it accessible. The plains are also inhabited by millions of fur bering animals, and fur traders are already hot on the trail followed by the Andrews party in its search for fossils.

Dodge Does Impossible.

Mr. Andrews demonstrated that it was not necessary to rely on the plodding camel in order to penetrate the rich interior. His three Dodge Brothers motor cars did what the fur traders and others interested in the commercial development of Mongolia had considered impossible. The fur traders promptly bought up his three Dodge Brothers cars, proved to their satisfaction that it was in the car to do it—and not just luck—and are now operating fleets of the same American car in pursuit of the fortunes that roam aimlessly on the plains. Trips that formerly required months are now made in days. There are no roads, but that seems to make little difference when one is using a Dodge Brothers car.

Thus the fur trade already has been given a definite impetus by the Andrews expedition's revelations. Information regarding the geological discoveries, such as mineral deposits, was turned over to the Mongolian government. How soon active development of these resources will begin, depends largely on the condition of state affairs and the interest of outside capital.

The importance with which the results of the expedition are viewed by the press is reflected in the countless editorials which followed the travelers' return. Typical of the comments is the following, from the Dallas Journal:

"How many of us grubby folk know that dinosaurs laid eggs? Who among us could estimate the value of dinosaur eggs? Geologists working in the wilds of Mongolia under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History have discovered a whole nestful of dinosaur eggs, twenty-five of 'em, to be specific, and they say that the value of the eggs is priceless. Their evaluation will not be challenged. For these eggs are big as moons, compared to those of the industrious hen of our own time, and they are past the possibility of deterioration, since they are fossilized and are estimated to be 10,000,000 years old.

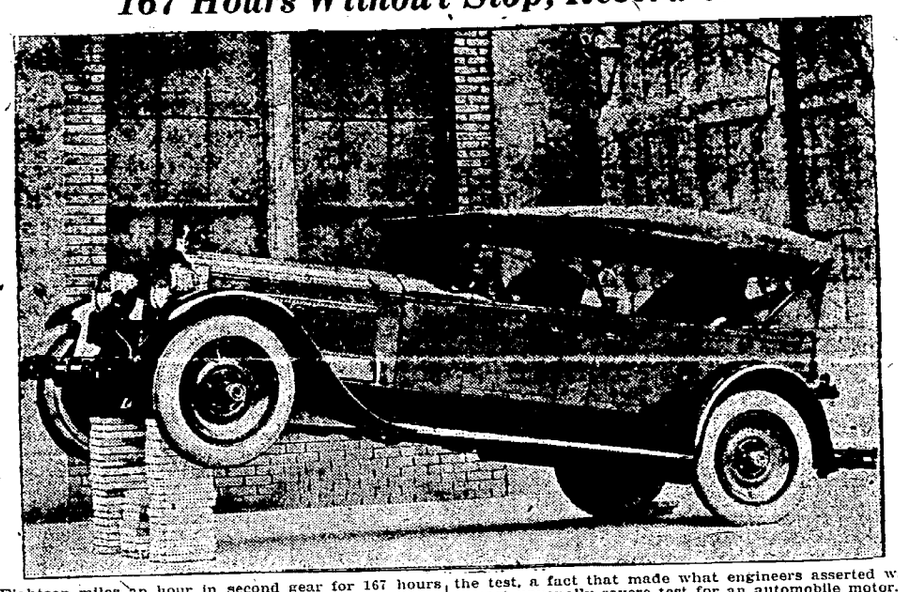

"Old King Tut, it will appear, has no sort of monoploy on relics of antiquity. This lay of the ancient dinosaur antedates the Pharaoh's time by ages and epochs. As an exhibit from a primeval past it will stand in a class to itself. The exhibit is made even more impressive by the addition of tons of other fossil remains which were found in the Asian desert.

Imposible Without Auto.

"That the discovery was due to the courage and determination of the men who comprised the scietific expedition need not be stated. But an interesting revelation is that it would not have been possible without the aid of that modern of moderns, the automobile. Motor cars penetrated hundreds and hundreds of miles into regions that had never scented the odor of gasoline, following with ease the trails which had been made by caravans of camels. The leader of the expedition, Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews, is quoted as having said that all of Mongolia is accessible by motor car, and that a new field for commercial exploration and development has been opened.

"From which is may be seen that great possibilities may be hatched from dinosaur eggs. Commerce is a follower of the flag, we have been told. But it may also be said that it follows the explorer in the name of science."

Eighteen Miles An Hour In Second Gear For 167 Hours Without Stop, Record of Packard

Eighteen miles an hour in second gear for 167 hours without a stop, up a continuous "grade" that would represent approximately a run from New York City to a point 420 miles into the clouds above San Francisco. This is the record of a test of transmission gears just completed by the Packard Motor Car company.

The transmission attached to a Packard eight motor was run on a dynamometer in the company's laboratories day and night for the period of the test. A heavy load was put on the machine to give the equivalent of an unbroken and heavy grade. The load was such that the motor had to be run on full throttle for the duration of the test, a fact that made what engineers asserted was a most unusually severe test for an automobile motor.

At the end of the test it was found that none of the terrific strain apparently had been felt by the motor or the gears.

The accompanying photograph gives a good idea of just how stiff a "grade" the transmission and engine "climbed." Engineers determined that the "grade" was the equivalent of 20 1-8 inches in the 143-inch wheel base of a Packard Eight car and the front end of the car shown in the illustration has been elevated just 20 1-8 inches. The transmission used in the test was a standard unit with which both Packard six and Packard eight cars are equipped.

Willard Battery Stands Hard Test

The "Blizzard," the Gardner sedan driven by Cannon Ball Baker in the phenomenal mid-winter, cross country run, from New York to Los Angeles was equipped with a Willard threaded rubber insulated storage battery.

No small amount of the success of this heart-breaking endurance run is due to the battery which encountered conditions never met in ordinary driving.

Dragged through snow drifts, icy water and mud, the Willard battery faithfully delivered the electrical energy necessary to give the spark of life to the sturdy motor at every piston stroke and light the high power lights that guided the driver over treacherous mountain passes in blinding snow storms at night.

Baker says, "The motor never faltered in mud, water, snow or desert sand." That means that the battery never faltered in spite of the great heat generated inside opposed to the zero weather outside.

JEWETT SIX

PAIGE BUILT

Mother—"Dear me, I wonder if it will be raining at the lake today?"
Father—"Never mind, dear, we can put up the windows in a jiffy."
Frank—"Yes, and we are sure to get through with a Jewett."

This Year-Round Jewett Pleases All the Family

Comfort That Defies Weather—Performance To Be Proud Of

Jewett Sedan is breezy and cool on hot days. All side windows lower, as illustrated. You enjoy all the "openness" of a touring car. In the dusty stretch or sudden storm, raise the windows and you are just as snug and clean as at home. Lock the doors and luggage is safe.

When Jack Frost comes, this Jewett Sedan is doubly prized by all the family. With windows closed tight—they do close tight—you are comfortable on the bitterest days. You will go out oftener, keep in closer touch with your friends, really use your car.

But Jewett Sedan gives more than weather comfort. With the longest springs of any car its size—and costly, deep seat cushions—it defies rough roads. Its rugged construction—Jewett is 200 pounds heavier than comparable cars—gives big car riding ease. It is finished, fitted and built to please and endure. Slam the doors. The sound bespeaks substantial worth.

Jewett Sedan is known as "the closed car with open car performance," due to the spirit of its 50-horsepower motor. Pass any car on any hill. Jewett Touring cars accelerate from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds in high gear. The Sedan does nearly the same. Drive it from 2 to 60 miles an hour on high. You rarely change gears. When you do, it means a bare 3-inch movement of the lever. Do it fast or slowly—there's never a "miss" nor a "clash." Women prise the Jewett for its easy handling.

Jewett's mechanism in every particular, stays good. Jewett is the only Sedan around $1500 made by a builder of finest quality cars. Paige-Timken axles front and rear. Paige-type clutch and transmission. Paige-built motor. Sturdy 6-inch frame. It is an economical car for long, hard, satisfactory service—a wonderful six at the price of a four. Arrange for a family demonstration in this year-round Jewett Sedan.

On This Light-Six Touring Car

By our matchless facilities—our enormous production

HERE is a car priced at $1,045. Built by ordinary methods it would cost you from $200 to $400 more.

It is in scores of ways the leader of its class. No rival car compares in the value that it offers.

Let us tell you how we give that value, then urge you to see this car.

A sensation

Sales have almost trebled in three years. Last year, 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

There are tremendous reasons for this rush to Studebaker cars. And every man who buys a car should know them.

72-year traditions

The Studebaker name has for 72 years stood for quality and class. To build an ordinary car under that name is unthinkable.

Our assets are $90,000,000—all at stake on serving you better than all others.

We have $50,000,000 in model plants, equipped with 12,500 up-to-date machines. We have 23,000 workers, under profit-sharing plans which lead them to stay and develop.

We spend on engineering $500,000 yearly. We employ 1,200 men to give 32,000 inspections to each Studebaker car in the making.

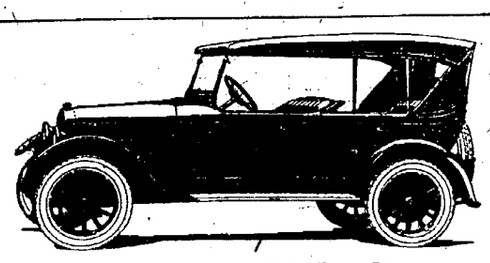

We are lavish

We are lavish in things that count.

We pay 15% bonus on some steels to get them exactly right. We use genuine leather in our cushions. We use curled hair.

We use more Timken bearings in this Light-Six than any competitive car within $1,500 of its price.

Our bodies are beautiful creations. The finish and coach work show the final touch. But we build them in $10,000,000 body plants of our own, and pay for these extras in savings.

Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car—$1,045

Same steels as we use in the costliest cars we build. More Timken bearings than in any competitive car within $1,500 of this price.

Genuine leather cushions, ten inches deep. Curled hair filling. All-steel body.

By far the greatest value in this class.

We machine all surfaces of our crankshafts and connecting rods, as was done in the Liberty Airplane motors. No other maker of cars at our prices does this. The result is that perfect motor balance, lack of vibration and long life.

Where we save

We save by enormous production—150,000 cars per year. Our major costs are all divided by that enormous output. It is utterly impossible for smaller makers to compete.

We save by modern plants, mostly built in the past five years. We save by up-to-date machines. By building our own parts and bodies.

JOURNEY REVEALS METALS AND FURS

Important Commercial Possibilities Developed by Asiatic Expedition.

Traders Already Following Leaders' Example by Using Dodge Motor Cars.

While science toys with the twenty-five dinosaur eggs brought back from the interior of Mongolia by the third Asiatic expedition, and wonders about their relationship to the dinosaur skeletons now and then unearthed in America, industrial leaders are giving deep and serious thought to the commercial phase of the expedition's many remarkable discoveries.

Numerous important mineral deposits were found, according to Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the expedition, and it is only a matter of time until modern transportation makes it accessible. The plains are also inhabited by millions of fur bering animals, and fur traders are already hot on the trail followed by the Andrews party in its search for fossils.

Dodge Does Impossible.

Mr. Andrews demonstrated that it was not necessary to rely on the plodding camel in order to penetrate the rich interior. His three Dodge Brothers motor cars did what the fur traders and others interested in the commercial development of Mongolia had considered impossible. The fur traders promptly bought up his three Dodge Brothers cars, proved to their satisfaction that it was in the car to do it—and not just luck—and are now operating fleets of the same American car in pursuit of the fortunes that roam aimlessly on the plains. Trips that formerly required months are now made in days. There are no roads, but that seems to make little difference when one is using a Dodge Brothers car.

Thus the fur trade already has been given a definite impetus by the Andrews expedition's revelations. Information regarding the geological discoveries, such as mineral deposits, was turned over to the Mongolian government. How soon active development of these resources will begin, depends largely on the condition of state affairs and the interest of outside capital.

The importance with which the results of the expedition are viewed by the press is reflected in the countless editorials which followed the travelers' return. Typical of the comments is the following, from the Dallas Journal:

"How many of us grubby folk know that dinosaurs laid eggs? Who among us could estimate the value of dinosaur eggs? Geologists working in the wilds of Mongolia under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History have discovered a whole nestful of dinosaur eggs, twenty-five of 'em, to be specific, and they say that the value of the eggs is priceless. Their evaluation will not be challenged. For these eggs are big as moons, compared to those of the industrious hen of our own time, and they are past the possibility of deterioration, since they are fossilized and are estimated to be 10,000,000 years old.

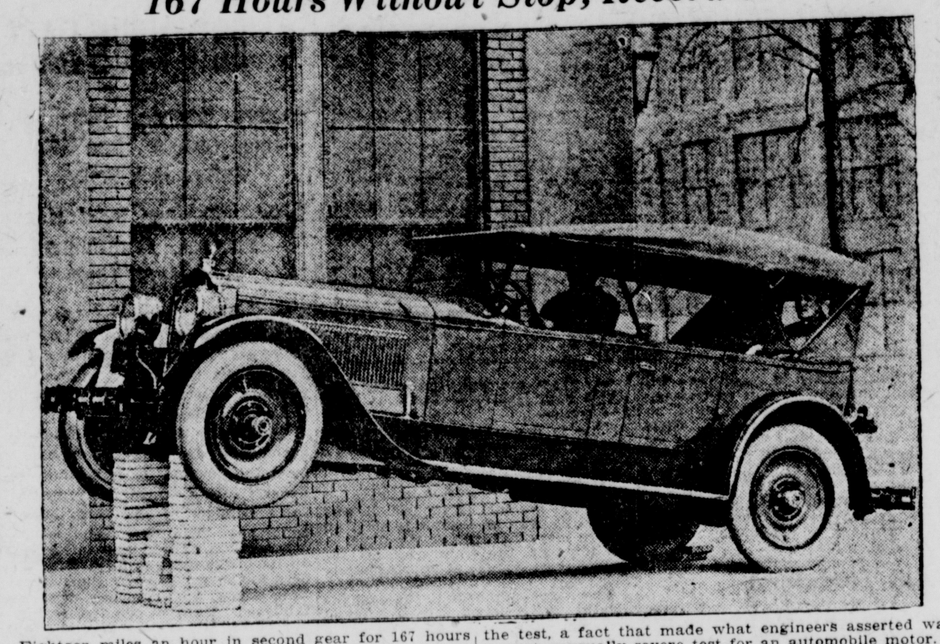

"Old King Tut, it will appear, has no sort of monoploy on relics of antiquity. This lay of the ancient dinosaur antedates the Pharaoh's time by ages and epochs. As an exhibit from a primeval past it will stand in a class to itself. The exhibit is made even more impressive by the addition of tons of other fossil remains which were found in the Asian desert.

Imposible Withoupt Auto.

"That the discovery was due to the courage and determination of the men who comprised the scietific expedition need not be stated. But an interesting revelation is that it would not have been possible without the aid of that modern of moderns, the automobile. Motor cars penetrated hundreds and hundreds of miles into regions that had never scented the odor of gasoline, following with ease the trails which had been made by caravans of camels. The leader of the expedition, Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews, is quoted as having said that all of Mongolia is accessible by motor car, and that a new field for commercial exploration and development has been opened.

"From which is may be seen that great possibilities may be hatched from dinosaur eggs. Commerce is a follower of the flag, we have been told. But it may also be said that it follows the explorer in the name of science."

Eighteen Miles An Hour In Second Gear For 167 Hours Without Stop, Record of Packard

Eighteen miles an hour in second gear for 167 hours without a stop, up a continuous "grade' 'that would represent approximately a run from New York City to a point 420 miles into the clouds above San Francisco. This is the record of a test of transmission gears just completed by the Packard Motor Car company.

The transmission attached to a Packard eight motor was run on a dynamometer in the company's laboratories day and night for the period of the test. A heavy load was put on the machine to give the equivalent of an unbroken and heavy grade. The load was such that the motor had to be run on full throttle for the duration of the test, a fact that made what engineers asserted was a most unusually severe test for an automobile motor.

At the end of the test it was found that none of the terrific strain apparently had been felt by the motor or the gears.

The accompanying photograph gives a good idea of just how stiff a "grade" the transmission and engine "climbed." Engineers determined that the "grade" was the equivalent of 20 1-8 inches in the 143-inch wheel base of a Packard Eight car and the front end of the car shown in the illustration has been elevated just 20 1-8 inches. The transmission used in the test was a standard unit with which both Packard six and Packard eight cars are equipped.

Willard Battery Stands Hard Test

The "Blizzard," the Gardner sedan driven by Cannon Ball Baker in the phenomenal mid-winter, cross country run, from New York to Los Angeles was equipped with a Willard threaded rubber insulated storage battery.

No small amount of the success of this heart-breaking endurance run is due to the battery which encountered conditions never met in ordinary driving.

Dragged through snow drifts, icy water and mud, the Willard battery faithfully delivered the electrical energy necessary to give the spark of life to the sturdy motor at every piston stroke and light the high power lights that guided the driver over treacherous mountain passes in blinding snow storms at night.

Baker says, "The motor never faltered in mud, water, snow or desert sand." That means that the battery never faltered in spite of the great heat generated inside opposed to the zero weather outside.

JEWETT SIX

PAIGE BUILT

Mother—"Dear me, I wonder if it will be raining at the lake today!"
Father—"Never mind, dear, we can put up the windows in a jiffy."
Frank—"Yes, and we are sure to get through with a Jewett."

This Year-Round Jewett Pleases All the Family

Comfort That Defies Weather—Performance To Be Proud Of

Jewett Sedan is breezy and cool on hot days. All side windows lower, as illustrated. You enjoy all the "openness" of a touring car. In the dusty stretch or sudden storm, raise the windows and you are just as snug and clean as at home. Lock the doors and luggage is safe.

When Jack Frost comes, this Jewett Sedan is doubly prized by all the family. With windows closed tight—they do close tight—you are comfortable on the bitterest days. You will go out oftener, keep in closer touch with your friends, really use your car.

But Jewett Sedan gives more than weather comfort. With the longest springs of any car its size—and costly, deep seat cushions—it defies rough roads. Its rugged construction—Jewett is 200 pounds heavier than comparable cars—gives big car riding ease. It is finished, fitted and built to please and endure. Slam the doors. The sound bespeaks substantial worth.

Jewett Sedan is known as "the closed car with open car performance," due to the spirit of its 50-horsepower motor. Pass any car on any hill. Jewett Touring cars accelerate from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds in high gear. The Sedan does nearly the same. Drive it from 2 to 60 miles an hour on high. You rarely change gears. When you do, it means a bare 3-inch movement of the lever. Do it fast or slowly—there's never a "miss" nor a "clash." Women prize the Jewett for its easy handling.

Jewett's mechanism in every particular, stays good. Jewett is the only Sedan around $1500 made by a builder of finest quality cars. Paige-Timken axles front and rear. Paige-type clutch and transmission. Paige-built motor. Sturdy 6-inch frame. It is an economical car for long, hard, satisfactory service—a wonderful six at the price of a four. Arrange for a family demonstration in this year-round Jewett Sedan.

HERE is a car priced at $1,045. Built by ordinary methods it would cost you from $200 to $400 more.

It is in scores of ways the leader of its class. No rival car compares in the value that it offers.

Let us tell you how we give that value, then urge you to see this car.

A sensation

Sales have almost trebled in three years. Last year, 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

There are tremendous reasons for this rush to Studebaker cars. And every man who buys a car should know them.

72-year traditions

The Studebaker name has for 72 years stood for quality and class. To build an ordinary car under that name is unthinkable.

One Ride a Revelation!

NEW FIVE PASS. SEDAN
$1295
f. o. b. Cleveland

IT is largely the power and pep of the new Cleveland Six motor that influences so many persons to buy this new 5-passenger sedan.

The plain truth is that not one motorist out of ten knows the Cleveland Six is one of the finest performance cars being built.

Until they drive it, they do not dream that the Cleveland Six gives exactly the performance qualities that are the basis of owning high priced and heavy cars.

It takes hills with a smooth, masterful, irresistible rush—takes them faster and easier—and with an absence of effort that is a revelation.

It sweeps along at high speeds with Pullman car smoothness—without swaying, rocking, or weaving.

In traffic, it is nimble, alert, easy to handle, and impressively swift on pick-up.

Like all Cleveland Six closed cars, it has a Fisher body, notable for the fine coachwork, the spaciousness and comfort-giving qualities that Fisher craftsmanship creates

Like all Clevelands, it comes with an established reputation for unfailing dependability.

At its present price, $1295, it stands out as a really remarkable value—unquestionably the soundest buy of the day for those who want the very maximum of closed car comfort at the very minimum expenditure.

It is impossible to prepare an advertisement that will reveal the decisive superiority of this new model as convincingly and completely as a demonstration. To arrange one implies no obligation. Please phone us.

Genuine balloon tires (31 x 5¼) optional $70 extra. Cleveland chassis design permits their use without affecting road frame or fender clearance.

On Every Chandler Without Extra Cost
The Traffic Transmission

AT the automobile shows many manufacturers have exhibited cars on which were offered certain new developments involving brakes, tires, etc.

Some were accepted as undoubted improvements. Others continue to be the subject of sharp controversy.

In many cases these improvements were offered as "optional". That is, you paid extra to obtain them. In others, it was found necessary to cover their additional cost with an advance in list price.

But the biggest, most important, most fundamental advance of all was offered on only one car, as an integral part of that car—and at no extra cost to the purchaser. This was the Traffic Transmission.

Embodying a totally new principle, it represents the solution of the gear shifting problem. There is nothing new to learn. You move the gear lever and clutch exactly as before. But the results are amazing.

You cannot clash gears. You cannot fail in any attempted speed change, even when racing down hill.

The speed and surety with which you change to second gear gives you a positive brake on the steepest grades. You can make instant use of the motor's equalized braking power to stop short without skidding.

With no fumbling to change gears, you park with ease and dispatch.

Small wonder that the Chandler is nationally regarded as the easiest and safest of all cars to handle! It is the only car which combines the Traffic Transmission with the

Pikes Peak Motor

This phenomenal power plant made Chandler the national stock car performance champion. In high gear mastery of hills and in flawlessly smooth, swift acceleration, it knows no peer.

Phone for demonstration! Make a point of getting behind the wheel in one of the new smart, handsome, low-priced sedans. You never drove a car that handled and performed like the Chandler!

The adventures of Colonel Stanley are hardly more remarkable than the Chandler car in which he has done his traveling. It is cra No. 4 produced by the Chandler factory, and has covered a total of 272,000 miles.

REAL CONVENIENCE.

The new Jewett six has some of the features of the nation's quality cars incorporated in its refinements—not the least of which has been the assembling of the instruments in a single panel on the dashboard.

This convenience makes it possible for the driver to have all of his operating instruments lighted at night by the customary dash light.

Suppressing Squeaks.

Before a car is examined for rattles and squeaks it should be thoroughly washed and dried, all bolts and nuts tightened and all parts thoroughly lubricated. After a trial run the actual cause of the noise when the indication of its location, as judged by the sound, is considered.

One Ride a Revelation!

IT is largely the power and pep of the new Cleveland Six motor that influences so many persons to buy this new 5-passenger sedan.

The plain truth is that not one motorist out of ten knows the Cleveland Six is one of the finest performance cars being built.

Until they drive it, they do not dream that the Cleveland Six gives exactly the performance qualities that are the basis of owning high priced and heavy cars.

It takes hills with a smooth, masterful, irresistible rush—takes them faster and easier—and with an absence of effort that is a revelation.

It sweeps along at high speeds with Pullman car smoothness—without swaying, rocking, or weaving.

In traffic, it is nimble, alert, easy to handle, and impressively swift on pick-up.

Like all Cleveland Six closed cars, it has a Fisher body, notable for the fine coachwork, the spaciousness and comfort-giving qualities that Fisher craftsmanship creates.

Like all Clevelands, it comes with an established reputation for unfailing dependability.

At its present price, $1295, it stands out as a really remarkable value—unquestionably the soundest buy of the day for those who want the very maximum of closed car comfort at the very minimum expenditure.

It is impossible to prepare an advertisement that will reveal the decisive superiority of this new model as convincingly and completely as a demonstration. To arrange one implies no obligation. Please phone us.

On Every Chandler Without Extra Cost

The Traffic Transmission

AT the automobile shows many manufacturers have exhibited cars on which were offered certain new developments involving brakes, tires, etc.

Some were accepted as undoubted improvements. Others continue to be the subject of sharp controversy.

In many cases these improvements were offered as "optional". That is, you paid extra to obtain them. In others, it was found necessary to cover their additional cost with an advance in list price.

But the biggest, most important, most fundamental advance of all was offered on only one car, as an integral part of that car—and at no extra cost to the purchaser. This was the Traffic Transmission.

Embodying a totally new principle, it represents the solution of the gear shifting problem. There is nothing new to learn. You move the gear lever and clutch exactly as before. But the results are amazing.

You cannot clash gears. You cannot fail in any attempted speed change, even when racing down hill.

The speed and surety with which you change to second gear gives you a positive brake on the steepest grades. You can make instant use of the motor's equalized braking power to stop short without skidding.

With no fumbling to change gears, you park with ease and dispatch.

Small wonder that the Chandler is nationally regarded as the easiest and safest of all cars to handle! It is the only car which combines the Traffic Transmission with the

Pikes Peak Motor

This phenomenal power plant made Chandler the national stock car performance champion. In high gear mastery of hills and in flawlessly smooth, swift acceleration, it knows no peer.

Phone for demonstration! Make a point of getting behind the wheel in one of the new smart, handsome, low-priced sedans. You never drove a car that handled and performed like the Chandler!

THE CAR OF THE YEAR

OLDSMOBILE SIX MEETS THE TEST

Stock Car in Record Run From Pasadena to Phoenix And Return.

Unfavorable Weather Conditions Fail to Stop Driver in Fight Through Desert.

Another record of a type to test the stamina and endurance qualities of an automobile has been made by a new Oldsmobile six. A stock touring car, fully equipped, with windshield and top, made the run from Pasadena, Calif., to Phoenix, Ariz., and return, a distance of 908 miles, over the famous mountain and desert A. A. A. course, in 31 hours and 21 minutes.

The run was male by L. S. Hopkins sales manager for the E. Grant Hayward, Oldsmobile dealer at Pasadena. Before starting Hopkins had the hood and radiator officially sealed and his time officially checked at the Western Union office at Pasadena.

Unfavorable road conditions, particularly in passing over the mountains and through the Arizona desert, were experienced by Hopkins. Nevertheless he arrived at Phoenix 15 hours and 25 minutes after leaving Pasadena. The return trip was made in 15 hours and 56 minutes. This time is considered remarkable inasmuch as during many miles of the trip road conditions forced Hopkins to maintain a rate of speed frequently below 20 miles an hour.

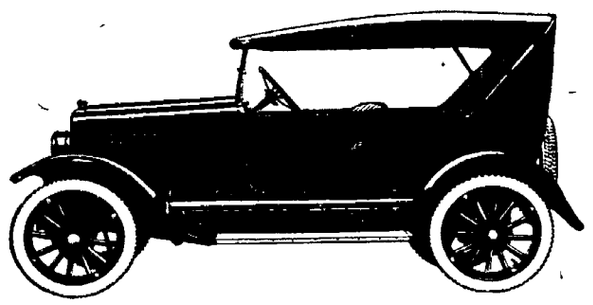

Official check showed that the round trip of 908 miles was made with an average of 26 2-3 miles per gallon of gasoline. Only one quart of oil and three pints of water were used.

Speed, Endurance, Economy.

Since its introduction last fall, the new Oldsmobile six has captured a number of records in these combined speed, endurance and economy runs. Tests of this character have supplanted speedway racing to a large extent, as they are made under actual conditions encountered by the "driver-owner" and are made by regular stock cars taken from the factory production line.

Another recent Oldsmobile run that attracted county-wide attention was made by "Cannon-Ball" Baker after he had driven an Oldsmobile from

Overland Touring Car

New York to Los Angeles in high gear, with low, second and reverse gears removed from the transmission. The day following his arrival in Los Angeles he drove the same car, still with only high gear in the transmission, from Los Angeles to San Francisco, making the 481 miles in 10 hours and 49 minutes.

On several other occasions an Oldsmobile has made record trips on the same run. In 1907 an Olds, piloted by Ralph Owen, then factory manager of the Olds Motor Works, made the run from Los Angeles to San Francisco in the then record time of 38 hours, thereby winning a match race for a $10,000 stake.

Many Record Runs.

On the other side of the country—Jersey City, New Jersey—George F. Jacklitsch, Oldsmobile dealer, recently proved to his personal satisfaction the performance qualities of the product he sells. Starting the latter part of October, he drove one of the new six cylinder cars from the factory at Lansing, Mich., to Jersey City after first having the hood, clutch housing, transmission cover, crank case and real axle officially sealed by R. E. Vandawalker, market master, and witnessed by a Lansing State Journal reporter and Traffic Officer Laing, of the Lansing police department. He drove the car to Jersey City and then made daily runs through New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, running a total distance of 5,001 miles before having the seals removed before witnesses. An examination of the car at that time showed it to be in perfect condition

Over the 5,001 miles the total gasoline consumption was 237 gallons—an average of 21.1 miles per gallon—and but four quarts of oil were used. This gasoline mileage is remarkable, considering the fact that the sealed hood prevented carburetor adjustments to compensate for temperature and weather changes over the period of the test—October to January.

Concerning Cooling System.

Be sure that all hose connections are changed once a year. Hot water rots the rubber, loosens up the fabric which gets in the way of the water, cutting down the efficiency of the cooling system.

BETTER STEEL IN MODERN MACHINE

Automotive Industry Responsible for Many Sweeping Improvements.

In the educational Hupmobile parts display, now being shown by its distributors and dealers to motorists throughout the country, is well-illustrated the sweeping improvements the automobile industry has contributed toward better steels. The industry chiefly responsible for the high grade nickel, chrome, molybdenum and other steel alloys now extensively used in the better motor cars, as well as in other fine machinery.

"A parts board takes the mystery out of the motor car," says O. C. Hutchinson, general sales manager of the Hupp Motor Car corporation. "It gives you the facts that count. Buying a car with knowledge of what is in it, is the sound, business-like way. And finding out what is in these vital parts is a liberal education in what makes motor car value. The whole question of price and value, money's worth and satisfaction, is bound up in these immensely important exhibits

"You don't have to be an expert on fine motor car practice. Every part is plainly labeled. You can see it all for yourself. Here is the kind of proof you are justified in demanding from any car.

"The parts board our dealers are displaying shows not only Hupmobile material. It shows our engineering design and manufacturing—what trained mechanics and modern precision machinery have accomplished. This is well worth seeing itself.

"For the first time in motor car annals, Hupmobile has shown the way to get facts that count. It has shown why a couple of hundred dollars more is not extravagance, but real economy.

24-HOUR SERVICE BEING INSTALLED

Will Give Owners of International Trucks Speedy Service.

A completely equipped service station for International motor trucks and a supply department carrying a complete line of all repair parts is being installed by the International Harvester company here. It will occupy a new brick building which will be built as an addition to the present building and adjoining on the west side. It is estimated that the new building and equipment will cost $25,000.

It is the company's plan to furnish a twenty-four hour service to all International truck owners in the city of Lincoln and adjoining vicinity. This service is also for the use of all International truck owners in the Lincoln territory. However, as the territory takes in all of Nebraska south of the Platte river and extending into Kansas the greatest service to those not within the immediate vicinity will be mainly that of supplying repair parts at short notice.

This new service plant is a part of the International Harvester company's plan which will include all of its ninety-three branches. Similar plants are being built and installed in each of these branches.

Work will start on the new building next week and it is expected that the building will be completed and all equipment installed ready for work by July 15.

A factory school sent direct from the International Harvester company's factories will be sent to Lincoln to be in charge of the plant. In this manner the same service and expert attention will be received in repair work that would be if the motor were sent direct to the factory.

"The twenty-four hour service which we are planning will be especially beneficial to truck owners of Lincoln who may then leave their trucks in the shop over night and they will be ready to go again in the morning, thereby saving any possible loss of time. An ignition department will also be installed for specialized work on ignition troubles. This service will be open to all tractors and trucks," said H. Kelly, assistant manager.

RUNNING FAMILY MACHINE FOR $5 CASH PER WEEK

Some Interesting Figures On Practical Operating Costs For Car.

Average Family Drives Auto Five Thousand Miles Each Year.

A car that will produce gasoline and oil, as it travels, rather than consume the same, is still in the distant future, but many and varied claims of the economy of running light cars, recalls the Wall Street Journal's Detroit bureau, have been made by the automobile industry The companies have their own records of remarkable performances. We hear of 25 miles to the gallon of gas, 15,000 miles to the set of tires, etc., but it has remained for a few leading corporations, reports the Wall Street Journal's informant, with large fleets of automobiles, running day in day out, to furnish actual figures of practical operating costs to clinch the final arguments of the producers. The Journal man reports further:

The experience of these large corporations sheds valuable light on automobile operating costs because the figures include in many instances, drivers' salaries, taxes and fees not ordinarily included in cost records of cars used by individuals or families

While the large fleet operators run forty to fifty thousand or more miles a year, their cost experience reduced to a per mile basis furnishes valuable ground for showing what should be the yearly cost of operating privately owned cars where the average annual mileage is but one-tenth of that of the cars operated in large fleets

Five dollars a week will run a Ford, Chevrolet or Overland car 9,000 miles a year in family use and provide for replacement at the end of seven years The total cost is approximately five cents a mile This is the experience of many users of light cars as shown in data collected by the Chevrolet Motor Co

Commercial Cost Higher

In commercial service the cost per week ranges considerably higher, but the cost per mile is less One company operating a large fleet of light cars found its 1922 total cost 0377 a mile, including drivers' salaries

The average family drives a car about 5,000 miles a year Strangely enough, garage rent is the largest item in the budget. This consumes 7 per cent of total annual operating costs Depreciation is the second largest item, 20 per cent of total costs Next in rank are repairs 19 per cent, and gasoline, 19 per cent, followed by tires, 8 per cent, and insurance 5½ per cent

In the $5 a week budget for the family car, according to this authority, are the following items

	Annual Cost	Per Cent of Total
Gasoline 5 000 miles 20c a gallon 20 miles a gal	$50	19
Oil 5 000 miles 30c quart 250 miles a quart	4	1½
Tires, $80 a set, for 15 000 miles	20	8
Repairs (7 year average)	50	19
Insurance fire and theft	15	5½
Depreciation one-seventh of first cost	55	20
Garage rent	72	27
	$266
Cost per week	5 10

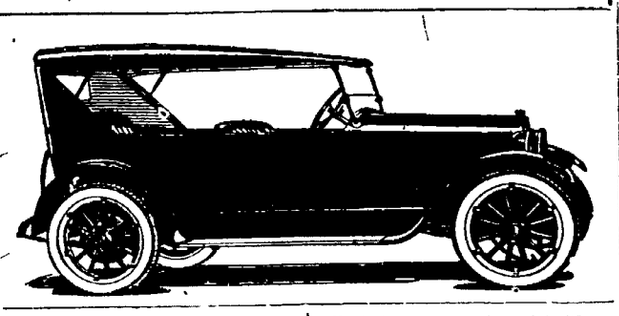

Many owners, especially farmers, have greatly reduced or eliminated the garage cost item Even in the cities hundreds of car owners are without garages In Detroit it is estimated there are more than 10-000 cars stored all night on the highways Many are unable to get garage space

Tire expense, which formerly ranked with depreciation as a cost item, has been halved and quartered Where a Ford size tire formerly cost $20 and was good for 5 000 miles, a cord tire costing $11 or $12 now can be run 15,000 miles This has decreased tire cost from 4 10 of a cent a mile to less than 1 10 of a cent a mile

But the greatest decrease in operating costs is a result of lowered first cost. This has cut the insurance item from 10 per cent of the budget to 5½ per cent and has reduced depreciation charge from $85 20 a year on a $600 car to $42 50 a year on the present car In the family budget the depreciation item, usually the second largest, has fallen to 20 per cent of total annual operating costs where formerly it was 30 per cent

The total annual cost for the average family is $266, or at the rate of $5 10 a week As late as 1920 the budget for the same car totaled $900 a year A few authorities in the trade predict that before long all cheap cars will be stored "in tire open and a large part of the garage rent item eliminated. If this comes to pass the budget is due for a further cut to around $200 a year.

Some Interesting Figures.

Operating costs of light passenger cars and trucks used in commercial service furnish some interesting data. DeLaval Separator Co operated 33 Chevrolet coupes 524,820 miles in 12 months erded September 30, 1923, at a total expense of $28,501 This was at the rate of 54 a mile and included gas, oil, tires, supplies, repairs, garage rent, depreciation, insurance, taxes and licenses

A Detroit public utility company operating 180 "A" cars, 25 "B" cars and 80 C" cars has found its costs per mile from the first 10,000 miles ranging from 045 cents a mile for one make 07 for another and 08½ for the third Included in these costs are gas, oil, tires, repairs, insurance, depreciation, interest and drivers' salaries

A Michigan company operating 130 cars in both city and country for salesmen and solicitors find its average cost 6 1-4 cents a mile Its cost experience by various items is as follows Gas and oil 1½ cents a mile, cleaning and storing 1 cent a mile, incidentals and repairs 1 cent a mile, insurance 3-4 cent a mile depreciation 1½ cents a mile, and tires ½ cent a mile

Morton Salt Co's Chevrolet fleet had operating costs in 1922 of from 0360 a mile in August to 0148 a mile in June Actual expenses are shown in the following table

1923	June	July	August	Sept

Detroit is still debating whether Ford forced other makers down in price or whether the others forced Ford down, but out of the price changes have come materially lower automobile operating costs And there is yet a likelihood that in 1924 both prices and operating costs will go still lower—Literary Digest.

Cause of Compression Knocks.

A compression knock is caused by the compression being too high for the fuel in use This condition will usually be found in an old engine which carries a compression ratio which is too high for the present-day grade of fuel As the general practice in engine design is to give as high a compression as possible without knocking, the same condition may prevail when a comparatively new car is moved from one section of the country to another, as the fuel may vary considerably The remedy is to place a thicker gasket under the cylinder head.

Overland and Willys-Knight Cars Meet 90% of all Purses

IT MUST be very evident to the stop-and-go policemen directing the traffic streams, how remarkably fast Overland and Willys-Knight motor cars are multiplying on the streets.

These fine cars ride well with the public because they wear well with owners. Sales keep growing bigger and bigger because owners keep telling friends and neighbors about the many unusual satisfactions and economies of these cars.

Variety of models is another thing that attracts the public toward Overland and Willys-Knight. Seven Overland and seven Willys-Knight models—body types to satisfy every conceivable fancy and need of every man or woman who wants a quality car at the most attractive price.

Nine out of every ten automobiles sold today are priced under $2000. Beginning with the Overland Chassis at $395 and ranging up to the big, luxurious 7-passenger Willys-Knight Sedan at $1995, Willys-Overland cars cover this most popular price field from end to end. And with models that are all marvels at the price.

All the Overland models have the big bulldog power of the bigger new Overland engine. And the cradled riding ease of the famous Overland Triplex Springs (patented). And the brute strength of the extra-big Overland rear axle, fortified at every vital point by genuine Timken and New Departure bearings. As for economy, Overland owners get 20 good miles and more to the gallon of gasoline.

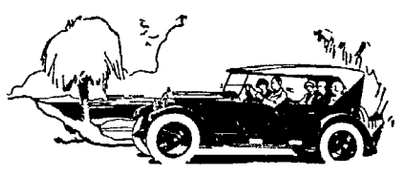

All the beautiful Willys-Knight models are powered by the wonderful Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine—the engine that improves with use—the same type of engine used in the finest cars of Europe. The quiet, silky action of this engine is even quieter and smoother at fifteen thousand miles than when new. Carbon only makes it better. No valves to grind. Owners report 50,000 miles without need for tinkering with the engine.

See these cars. You will find one among them that suits your taste from A to Z. Take that one for a ride. Drive it. Try to find its equal in looks, strength, comfort and action at the price!

RUNNING FAMILY MACHINE FOR $5 CASH PER WEEK

Some Interesting Figures On Practical Operating Costs For Car.

Average Family Drives Auto Five Thousand Miles Each Year.

A car that will produce gasoline and oil, as it travels, rather than consume the same, is still in the distant future, but many and varied claims of the economy of running light cars, recalls the Wall Street Journal's Detroit bureau, have been made by the automobile industry. The companies have their own records of remarkable performances. We hear of 25 miles to the gallon of gas, 15,000 miles to the set of tires, etc., but it has remained for a few leading corporations, reports the Wall Street Journal's informant, with large fleets of automobiles, ruuning day in day out, to furnish actual figures of practical operating costs to clinch the final arguments of the producers. The Journal man reports further:

The experience of these large corporations sheds valuable light on automobile operating costs because the figures include, in many instances, drivers' salaries, taxev and fees, not ordinarily included in cost records of cars used by individuals or families.

While the large fleet operators run forty to fifty thousand or more miles a year, their cost experience reduced to a per mile basis furnishes valuable ground for showing what should be the yearly cost of operating privately owned cars where the average annual mileage is but one-tenth of that of the cars operated in large fleets.

Five dollars a week will run a Ford, Chevrolet or Overland car 5,000 miles a year in family use and provide for replacement at the end of seven years. The total cost is approximately five cents a mile. This is the experience of many users of light cars as shown in data collected by the Chevrolet Motor Co.

Commercial Cost Higher.

In commercial service the cost per week ranges considerably higher, but the cost per mile is less. One company operating a large fleet of light cars found its 1922 total cost .0377 a mile, including drivers' salaries.

The average family drives a car about 5,000 miles a year. Strangely enough, garage rent is the largest item in the budget. This consumes 27 per cent of total annual operating costs. Depreciation is the second largest item, 20 per cent of total costs. Next in rank are repairs, 19 per cent, and gasoline, 19 per cent; followed by tires, 8 per cent, and insurance 5½ per cent.

In the $5 a week budget for the family car, according to this authority, are the following items:

	Annual Cost	Per Cent of Total
Gasoline, 5,000 miles, 20c a gallon, 20 miles a gal...	$50	19
Oil, 5,000 miles, 30c quart 250 miles a quart.....	4	1¼
Tires, $80 a set for 15,000 miles	20	8
Repairs (7-year average)..	50	19
Insurance, fire and theft...	15	5½
Depreciation, one-seventh of first cost.....	55	20
Garage rent	72	27
	$266
Cost per week.....	5.10

Many owners, especially farmers, have greatly reduced or eliminated the garage cost item. Even in the cities hundreds of car owners are without garages. In Detroit it is estimated there are more than 10,000 cars stored all night on the highways. Many are unable to get garage space.

Tire expense, which formerly ranked with depreciation as a cost item, has been halved and quartered. Where a Ford size tire formerly cost $20 and was good for 5,000 miles, a cord tire costing $11 or $12 now can be run 15,000 miles. This has decreased tire cost from 4-10 of a cent a mile to less than 1-10 of a cent a mile.

But the greatest decrease in operating costs is a result of lowered first cost. This has cut the insurance item from 10 per cent of the budget to 5½ per cent and has reduced depreciation charge from $85.20 a year on a $600 car to $42.50 a year on the present car. In the family budget the depreciation item, usually the second largest, has fallen to 20 per cent of total annual operating costs where formerly it was 30 per cent.

The total annual cost for the average family is $266, or at the rate of $5.10 a week. As late as 1920 the budget for the same car totaled $500 a year. A few authorities in the trade predict that before long all cheap cars will be stored "in the open" and a large part of the garage rent item eliminated. If this comes to pass the budget is due for a further cut to around $200 a year.

Some Interesting Figures.

Operating costs of light passenger cars and trucks used in commercial service furnish some interesting data. DeLaval Separator Co. operated 33 Chevrolet coupes 524,820 miles in 12 months ended September 30, 1923, at a total expense of $28,501. This was at the rate of .54 a mile and included gas, oil, tires, supplies, repairs, garage rent, depreciation, insurance, taxes and licenses.

A Detroit public utility company operating 180 "A" cars, 25 "B" cars and 80 "C" cars has found its costs per mile from the first 10,000 miles ranging from .045 cents a mile for one make, .07 for another and .085 for the third. Included in these costs are gas, oil, tires, repairs, insurance, depreciation, interest and drivers' salaries.

A Michigan company operating 150 cars in both city and country for salesmen and solicitors find its average cost 6 1-4 cents a mile. Its cost experience by various items is as follows: Gas and oil 1½ cents a mile, cleaning and storing 1 cent a mile, incidentals and repairs 1 cent a mile, insurance 3-4 cent a mile depreciation 1½ cents a mile, and tires ½ cent a mile.

1922	June	July	August	Sept.

STUDEBAKER WINS ARGENTINE RACE

Special Six Grabs the First Honors In Big Field of Crack Racers.

So. American Classic Awards Laurels to American-Made Machine.

BUENOS AIRES, April 12—Pushing ahead of a field of twenty-five American and European contestants, a Studebaker special-six won, for the third consecutive year, the spectacular Gran Premio of Argentine, South America's foremost racing event.

Sr Mariano de la Fuente drove the Studebaker to victory over a course twice the distance of former years and along roads in so hazardous condition that only thirteen of the twenty-five entries finished the complete distance.

Distance Is Doubled.

De la Fuente has driven in a number of previous Gran Premios, but this was his first year behind the wheel of a Studebaker. In the 1922 race he was beaten out for first place by a Special-Six and last year again finished unsuccessful. So he concluded that this year he would cast his lot with Studebaker.

Third and fourth prizes went to Gianinni and Ferreyra respectively both of whom also drove Studebaker special-sixes, making a total of three places won by Studebaker in this year's race.

Studebaker's winning time was 24 hours and 45 minutes over a treacherous course of 1,520 kilometers (about 950 miles). The race last year was 750 kilometers (465 miles). The racers started from here and made their way to Rosario thence to Cordoba, and returned by the same route to Buenos Aires.

The Gran Premio is held annually under the auspices of the Argentine Automobile club. The hard service to which cars are subjected in this grind is greater than many months of ordinary driving.

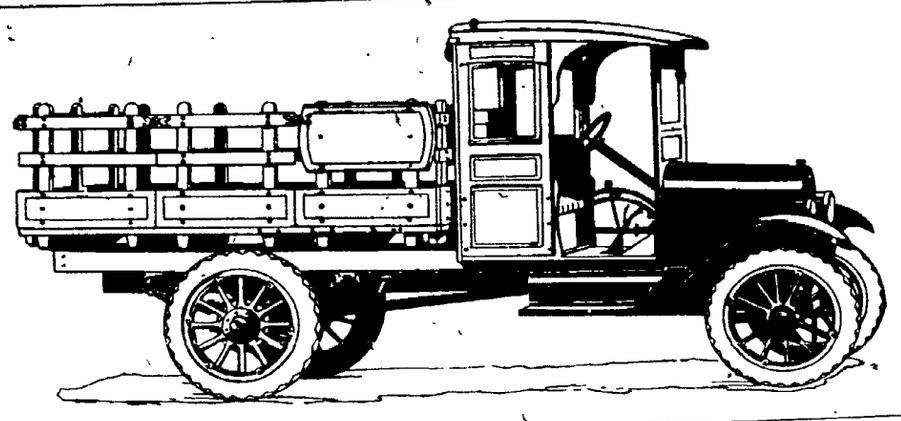

So gruelling was the race this year that nearly half the entries were compelled to drop out, due to mechanical difficulties brought about by the road conditions over which the race was run. The famous Gran Premio is more than a test for speed. South American motorists consider it a final contest for gauging motor car endurance.

Wins for Third Time.

The fact that a Studebaker, for the third time, won this speed-fight against some of the most expensive European and American makes was commented on by the judges

In 1922 the race was won by Antonio Ovides in a Studebaker. William T. Burke's special-six was the first car over the line last year. The Studebaker's victory here comes in the heels of similar achievements in South Africa, the Syrian Desert, Australia and Florida.

Chevrolet Utility One-Ton Truck

Florida Record Established By Studebaker Car

TAMPA, Fla., April 12—A remarkable seven-day, 168-hour, nonstop run of 3,101 miles, just completed here by a Studebaker eight-six touring car, is causing widespread comment among motorists in this vicinity.

Eighteen drivers handled the car during the run. Taking out the time required for changing drivers, the light-six actually covered the 3,101 miles in 147 hours Gasoline consumption averaged twenty-one miles a gallon and more than 300 miles per quart of oil were obtained.

Running continuously day and day out, and forced to idle down constantly in congested traffic, the car's radiator thirsted for only one additional teacup of water.

The original owner, Monroe Lazarus of the Tampa Daily Times, drove the Studebaker for fifteen months on daily express schedule over his newspaper route for 68,000 miles. He averaged 4,500 miles a month in the fifteen months. His records show an agerage of twenty miles per gallon of gas; eight tires were in service for 44,000 miles, and his total cost of operation, including every expense, was less than five cents a mile.

After 68,000 miles on this gruelling road work, the Studebaker was taken in by the Peninsular Motors Corporation, Tampa, who ran it 7,000 miles, making a total of 75,000 miles the car had been run. Then without tuning up, the traded-in Studebaker was started off on the record-breaking run.

No adjustments were necessary during the test. The motor and car were in excellent running condition at the termination of the non-stop flight. This record, it is said, has never before been approached in the south.

Rollin Company Is Making Record Car Production

Reports from Cleveland are that The Rollin Motors company is now turning out fifty cars per day. "This quantity," says James G. Heaslet, president of the Rollin Corporation, "is only the start of what we are aiming to accomplish. And the sweetest part of it is that every man in our production department is on his toes and doing the job as though he had been building Rollins for a dozen years.

"Naturally, we have a big labor advantage inasmuch as nearly all of our 'key' men have had years of training under Rollin H. White and they have been taught to know, when operating on a Rollin White job, that anything that can be improved upon isn't good enough. It's no wonder that every Rollin car in service today—and I guess they are now operating in every state in the union—is giving such a good account of itself."

Here's An All-Star Baseball Nine Made Up of Buick Owners

FLINT, Mich., April 12.—From the list of 1924 major league baseball players who own Buick cars nine players could be selected who, during the 1923 season, hung up a collective average batting mark of .329—by far a higher average than any major league team the attained in the last ten years either in the regular season or the world series

This team would consist of Dauss, Detroit, p.; Severeid, St. Louis Browns, c.; Pipp, New York Yankees, 1b.; Frisch, New York Giants, 2b.; Rigney, Detroit, ss.; Dugan, New York Yankees, 3b; Archdeacon, Chicago White Sox, lf.; Speaker, Cleveland, cf; all .300 or better hitters except rf.; all .300 or better hitters excepting Dauss and Dugan.

The fan who thinks the above team could be improved as a Buick "All American" entry might choose from Buick owners a pitcher more to his liking in either Sam Jones of the Yankees, Clarence Mitchell of the Phillies, or Sylvester Johnson of the Tigers. Dauss and Jones were among eleven pitchers (in the two major leagues combined), who succeeded in winning twenty or more games during 1923.

If the infield, as outlined in the .320 team named above, does not exactly suit the captious critic, he can have the entire infield of the World's Champion Yankees and still confine his choice to Buick owners. Pipp, Ward, Scott and Dugan are all Buick owners and boosters. Besides those four stars, there is the renowned "Marty" McManus of the St. Louis Browns, and the veteran Jimmy Austin of the same team. They own Buicks too.

And when it comes to the outfield, how that old "leather" would suffer in a "punch" with such drubbers available as "Bobby" Veach and Ira Flagstead, of the Boston Red Sox, "Ty" Myers of the Cardinals, and "Bing" Miller of the Athletics.

Who will manage these all American Buickites? How about Tris Speaker? Or Connie Mack? Or Wilbert Robinson? They all own Buicks.

C. T. Burns is New Skelly Manager in Lincoln Territory

R S Lenge who has been district manager of the Skelly Oil company for Lincoln and the surrounding territory, has removed to Eldorado, Kas., and his place has been taken by C T. Burns of Davenport, Ia., who for the past three years has been connected with the Fort Dodge division of the company, with headquarters at Davenport

Mr Burns says that the same standard of service and courtesy established by the former manager, Mr Lenge, will be maintained. Mr. Burns' office headquarters are at Eleventh and L streets.

Easy to Replace.

When the rubber on an old windshield wiper wears out it can be readily replaced by taking an old inner tube and cutting two strips exactly the same as those removed from the wiper to fit clamps.

Test for "Dead" Cylinders.

To locate a "dead" cylinder run the engine and open the cylinder pet cocks one at a time If the cylinder is dead the gases will not be exploded in the cylinder and there will be no loud report heard coming from the open pet cock. If there are not cylinder pet cocks, touch the end of a screwdriver (one with an electrically insulated handle) to the cylinder casting and the side of the screwdriver to the top of a spark plug. If spark between screwdriver and the engine casting at any cylinder does not diminish the speed of the running motor (determined by careful listening) that cylinder is the one which is dead.

Concerning Oil Drips.

Oil drips frequently come from loose cap screws on the crank case, from the bearings, from the plungers or tappets above the camshaft. In addition to being wasteful, drips of this kind make a frightfully messy sengine and should be attended to promptly In some cases where oil drips from the bearing the fan picks it up and scatters it over the inside of the hood.

CAR MAKER AFTER RECKLESS DRIVER

Would Take Auto From Person Who Puts Human Life In Danger.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 12. —"The car whose driver recklessly or drunkenly puts human life in jeopardy has no right on street or highway. Take it away from him. Let the punishment folow the car as well as the driver. The automobile industry recommends this penalty in addition to all others now applicable where the offense has been proved after due process of law. The term during which the car is impounded should vary according to the seriousness of the offense."

This declaration, shot forcefully into the proceedings of the tenth annual coference on Highway Engineering at the University of Michigan, by Geo. M. Graham, was a dramatic event of the proceedings.

Mr. Graham is chairman for the traffic planning and safety committee, representing the automobile manufacturers association, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Therefore, his drastic recommendation carried the full authority of the automobile industry which now takes its place among the leaders in demanding the safeguarding of traffic.

The plan, as represented by Mr. Graham, is one of the first planks in the safety platform which is being worked out by the traffic planning safety committee

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is keehly interested in the reduction of automobile fatalities an daccidents, and is prepraed to work co-operatively and aggressively with every organization that aims to accomplish the same result.

Hupp Distributors Report Thriving Business Increase

G. R. Morris of the Southern Nebraska Motor company states the sale of Hupmobiles has increased 110 per cent for the first three months of 1924 over the same period in 1923 and 330 per cent over 1922, and states that the prospect for future business was never more promising. The same reports comes from all Hupmobile dealers throughout the country.

The addition of the club sedan to the Hupp line is attracting much favor due to its classy appearance and the price is the lowest ever known in a Hupmobile closed car.

Mr. Morris reports also that they find it necessary to arrange for more room in the near future to take care of the ever increasing business, and is very much encouraged with the prospects for future expansion. They are laying plans now along these lines, in order to keep in line with Hupp factory's policies for the giving of adequate and prompt service to all of their customers, new and old alike.

REAR AXLE FEATURE.

The rear axle of the new Jewett is the spiral driving gear type—the most quiet construction known, say its manufacturers. This type of construction with a small pinion keeps more than one tooth of the gears in mesh all the time. The "sliding in" action of the spiral bevel gearing is also considered more silent than the spur type.

He averaged 4,500 miles a month in the fifteen months. His records show an agerage of twenty miles per gallon of gas; eight tires were in service for 44,000 miles, and his total cost of operation, including every expense, was less than five cents a mile.

After 68,000 miles on this gruelling road work, the Studebaker was taken in by the Peninsular Motors Corporation, Tampa, who ran it 7,000 miles, making a total of 75,000 miles the car had been run. Then without tuning up, the traded-in Studebaker was started off on the record-breaking run.

No adjustments were necessary during the test. The motor and car were in excellent running condition at the termination of the non-stop flight. This record, it is said, has never before been approached in the south.

Rollin Company Is Making Record Car Production

Reports from Cleveland are that The Rollin Motors company is now turning out fifty cars per day. "This quantity," says James G. Heaslet, president of the Rollin Corporation, "is only the start of what we are aiming to accomplish. And the sweetest part of it is that every man in our production department is on his toes and doing the job as though he had been building Rollins for a dozen years.

"Naturally, we have a big labor advantage inasmuch as nearly all of our 'key' men have had years of training under Rollin H. White and they have been taught to know, when operating on a Rollin White job, that anything that can be improved upon isn't good enough. It's no wonder that every Rollin car in service today—and I guess they are now operating in every state in the union—is giving such a good account of itself."

Here's An All-Star Baseball Nine Made Up of Buick Owners

FLINT Mich., April 12.—From the list of 1924 major league baseball players who own Buick cars nine players could be selected who, during the 1923 season, hung up a collective average batting mark of .320—by far a higher average than any major league team the attained in the last thirty years either in the regular season or the world series.

This team would consist of Dauss, Detroit, p.; Severeid, St. Louis Browns, c.; Pipp, New York Yankees, 1b.; Frisch, New York Giants, 2b.; Rigney, Detroit, ss.; Dugan, New York Yankees,, 3b.; Archdeacon, Chicago White Sox, lf.; Speaker, Cleve-rf.; all .300 or better hitters except-rf.; all .300 o rbetter hitters excepting Dauss and Dugan.

The fan who thinks the above team could be improved as a Buick "All American" entry might choose from Buick owners a pitcher more to his liking in either Sam Jones of the Yankees, Clarence Mitchell of the Phillies, or Sylvester Johnson of the Tigers. Dauss and Jones were among eleven pitchers (in the two major leagues combined), who succeeded in winning twenty or more games during 1923.

If the infield, as outlined in the .320 team named above, does not exactly suit the captious critic, he can have the entire infield of the World's Champion Yankees and still confine his choice to Buick owners. Pipp, Ward, Scott and Dugan are all Buick owners and boosters. Besides those four stars, there is the renowned "Marty" McManus of the St. Louis Browns, and the veteran Jimmy Austin of the same team. They own Bucks too.

And when it comes to the outfield, how that old "leather" would suffer in a "pinch" with such drubbers available as "Bobby" Veach and Ira Flagstead, of the Boston Red Sox, "Hi" Myers of the Cardinals, and "Bing" Miller of the Athletics.

Who will manage these all American Buickites? How about Tris Speaker? Or Connie Mack? Or Wilbert Robinson? They all own Bucks.

C. T. Burns is New Skelly Manager in Lincoln Territory

R. S. Lenge who has been district manager of the Skelly Oil company for Lincoln and the surrounding territory, has removed to Eldorado, Kas., and his place has been taken by C. T. Burns of Davenport, Ia., who for the past three years has been connected with the Fort Dodge division of the company, with headquarters at Davenport.

Mr Burns says that the same standard of service and courtesy established by the former manager, Mr. Lenge, will be maintained. Mr. Burns' office headquarters are at Eleventh and L streets.

Easy to Replace.

When the rubber on an old windshield wiper wears out it can be readily replaced by taking an old inner tube and cutting two strips exactly the same as those removed from the wiper to fit clamps.

Test for "Dead" Cylinders.

To locate a "dead" cylinder run the engine and open the cylinder pet cocks one at a time. If the cylinder is dead the gases will not be exploded in the cylinder and there will be no loud report heard coming from the open pet cock. If there are not cylinder pet cocks, touch the end of a screwdriver (one with an electrically insulated handle) to the cylinder casting and the side of the screwdriver to the top of a spark plug. If spark between screwdriver and the engine casting at any cylinder does not diminish the speed of the running motor (determined by careful listening) that cylinder is the one which is dead.

Concerning Oil Drips.

Oil drips frequently come from loose cap screws on the crank case, from the bearings, from the plungers or tappets above the camshaft. In addition to being wasteful, drips of this kind make a frightfully mesy sengine and should be attended to promptly. In some cases where oil drips from the bearing the fan picks it up and scatters it over the inside of the hood.

CAR MAKER AFTER RECKLESS DRIVER

Would Take Auto From Person Who Puts Human Life In Danger.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 12. —"The car whose driver recklessly or drunkenly puts human life in jeopardy has no right on street or highway. Take it away from him. Let the punishment follow the car as well as the driver. The automobile industry recommends this penalty in addition to all others now applicable where the offense has been proved after due process of law. The term during which the car is impounded should vary according to the seriousness of the offense."

This declaration, shot forcefully into the proceedings of the tenth annual coference on Highway Engineering at the University of Michigan, by Geo. M. Graham, was a dramatic event of the proceedings.

Mr. Graham is chairman for the trffic planning and safety committee, representing the automobile manufacturers association, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Therefore, his drastic recommendation carried the full authority of the automobile industry which now takes its place among the leaders in demanding the safeguarding of traffic.

The plan, as represented by Mr. Graham, is one of the first planks in the safety platform which is being worked out by the traffic planning safety committee.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is keehly interested in the reduction of automobile fatalities an daccidents, and is prepraed to work co-operatively and aggressively with every organization that aims to accomplish the same result.

Hupp Distributors Report Thriving Business Increase

G. R. Morris of the Southern Nebraska Motor company states the sale of Hupmobiles has increased 110 per cent for the first three months of 1924 over the same period in 1923 and 330 per cent over 1922, and states that the prospect for future business was never more promising. The same reports comes from all Hupmobile dealers throughout the country.

The addition of the club sedan to the Hup line is attracting much favor due to its classy appearance and the price is the lowest ever known in a Hupmobile closed car.

Mr. Morris reports also that they find it necessary to arrange for more room in the near future to take care of the ever increasing business, and is very much encouraged with the prospects for future expansion. They are laying plans now along these lines, in order to keep in line with Hupp factory's policies for the giving of adequate and prompt service to all of their customers, new and old alike.

REAR AXLE FEATURE.

The rear axle of the new Jewett is the spiral driving gear type—the most quiet construction known, say its manufacturers. This type of construction with a small pinion keeps more than one tooth of the gears in mesh all the time. The "sliding in" action of the spiral bevel gearing is also considered more silent than the spur type.

Oil production has decreased during the last few months, as predicted, and the price has gone up accordingly. Last year, when the new California fields were producing heavily, the price dropped. But in the third week of March, this year, these fields produced 388,000 barrels daily against 668,000 at the peak of production last August.

The number of producing wells completed in January is the smallest since October, 1921. Mid-continental crude of average test is now $1.75 a barrel, compared with $1.60 in February and the recent low of $1 last December.

Gasoline stocks are accumulating, but the tourist demand in the summer months is expected to draw heavily on the stocks.

AUTO FACTOR IN BUILDING SCHOOL

It remained for the village of Holcomb, in Finney county, Kansas, to show the whole state what could be accomplished by the modern school consolidation plan when the taxpayers took active pride in their community.

This town, barely more than a hamlet, has what is said to be the largest and finest consolidated grade and high school in all Kansas. It serves a school district area of 125 square miles, with an enrollment this year of 500 pupils

Holcomb, sixmiles west ofGarden City, itsne arest "metropolis," which has apopulation of less than 4,000. The country lies near the Arkansas river, and is fertile soil for sugar beets, melons, potatoes and onions. Despite the inherent productiveness of the soil, growth has been retarded by roads that were impassable at certain seasons.

Claims Educators' Attention.

But now Holcomb is claiming the attention of western educators because of its eminently efficient school system. A concrete road recently completed through Finney county has been an important factor,

Of the 500 pupils enrolled, 380 are taken to and from school in speed wagons. Eleven are in use daily, and a twelfth is held in reserve. The busses travel about 800 miles a day, making an average of a little over 27 miles a day for each one, or less than 14 miles for the morning and 14 miles for the afternoon trips. Thus the children are carried quickly, comfortably and safely.

Two of the speed wagons are driven by older high school boys and the other nine are driven by the women teachers. In this way the expense for drivers is held to about $20 a month.

Lose But Thirteen Days.

Holcomb claims the honor or originating this system of insuring satisfactory service at minimum cost. Last year only thirteen days were lost during the entire school term because of road conditions. This year, with improved highways, it seems probable that still less time will be lost.

The speed wagon fleet of Reos has been in service since August, 1920, with such records of dependability and economy that school boards elsewhere in that vicinity have been influenced favorably toward the consolidation plan. Its success obviously depends largely upon tha utter reliability and constant low cost factors so unfailingly delivered by school wagons.

A Cold Weather Tip.

Do not, in any circumstances, attempt to race the engine when it is cold in order to warm it up. In cold weather, the oil in the engine naturally assumes a chilled or semi-solid stage, leaving the wearing surfaces practically unprotected for the first dozen or so revolutions of the crank shaft or until the oil is heated to a temperature to where it can be splashed agninst the cylinder walls, wrist pins, and other wearing surfaces. Let the engine warm up gradually until it is working smoothly and there will be no trouble.

CAN you stop QUICK, when sudden danger looms ahead? Crowded streets, thoughtless drivers, careless pedestrians call for good brakes.

Our shop is equipped with modern brake equipment. We are brake experts. Leave your car with us while shopping, at the matinee or office. It will be ready when you want it.

MOTORS AND THEIR CARE

Danger of Gas Vapor.

To prevent vapor of gasoline from spreading, care must be taken to avoid overflow. Any gasoline spilled over the tank or around the car forms a heavy vapor that may be ignited as soon as the engine is started.

Tires and Rims.

It is a simple matter to remove a tire from a rim that has been shellacked. Clean tire rims thoroughly and paint them with shellac the next time a tire is removed. Allow the shellac to dry thoroughly before attempting to put on the new tire.

Crank-Case Logic.

Change engine oil more frequently in winter than in summer. Gasoline will not vaporize completely in cold weather, and some of the gas will seep down into the oil and dilute it. Its lubrication value is lost much sooner, therefore, than ordinarily.

In Case of Emergency.

An emergency headlight can be rigged up with the use of the trouble lamp. The trouble-cord lamp socket is removed, and the wires attached to the headlight plug, replacing the usual wires. The cord is then run from the dashlamp socket to one of the headlights.

Brake Control.

No part of a car is more important than the brakes, and anything less than 100 per cent brake efficiency may mean the loss of life. Keep them adjusted properly and have them relined when they become too badly worn. Oil the brake mechanism at regular intervals.

Position At Steering Wheel.

An operator of a car can steer much easier and will experience less fatigue if he will settle himself comfortably in the driver's seat, grasp that portion of the steering wheel rim closest to his body in such a fashion that the elbows hang loosely to the sides, each upper arm and forearm bent to approximate a letter L. The right hand palm should be up, the left hand palm down.

Causes of Clutch Trouble.

A dragging clutch may be caused by too close an adjustment or by lack of lubrication of the thrust bearing. The thrust bearing at the rear of the clutch shaft and the throwing collar bearing should be kept well lubricated. If these bearings become worn appreciably the clutch will not operate satisfactory.

Worth While Accessories.

A comfortable rest or cushion for a creeper can be made by using a section of an old inner tube with the valve. Cut out about a foot of section containing the valve and vulcanize the ends so that it may be inflated. The ends can be arranged so that the valve stem will point downward or project from the side, whichever may be the most convenient.

Make a habit of listening carefully for any change in the noise the engine makes while running. Any tap or squeak means a loose part or lack of lubrication. If neglected serious results will follow.

A grinding or humming noise in the differential is the result of worn gears.

Keep the radiator clean Flush the water circulating syste mto remove any rust or sediment deposits, as these tend to heat the motor.

Examine all spark plugs Clean and set all points about the thickness of a ten-cent piece, and in replacing be sure they set tight in cylinders

Never turn the steering wheel while the car is standing still, as such a turn puts unnecessary strain on all steering gear parts—and it is bad for tires

Drain out all old oil in motor and replace with clean oil every 500 miles Always make sure gauge registers proper level and that pressure guage indicates properly.

The correct length of plug gaps is as follows: High compression .75-80 sion 65-pound zdscg l puggfk tnsO pound, .020-inch; medium compression, 65-pound, .025-inch; low compression, 55-pound, 030-inch.

Examine the electrical equipment to make sure that the generator and ammeter are functioning properly and that lighting circuit, starter and horn connections are secure.

Go over the supply of spare parts and repair kit and see that all items are supplied. Such small parts as tube patches, repair cement, valve plungers and caps are soon used up and are not there when wanted.

Quiet gear shifting is the unmistakable mark of the good automobile driver.

The wheels of a car should be jacked up and tested periodically, not only for smoothness of running, but for side play as well.

Noise in the driving bevels of the rear axle is commonly caused by poor adjustment, allowing too little or too much backlash.

Skidding on wet streets may be avoided to a great extent by careful driving.

A motorist should never bend the license plates or hide them behind a bumper or tire holder so they cannot be read. Keep them clean.

Storage batteries when fully charged will not freeze at 60 degrees below zero, but when discharged they will rfeeze much easier a tthis time of the year.

About 30 per cent of each gallon of gasoline is wasted in automobiles, resulting from wrong carburetor adjustment and consequent imperfect combustion.

It is always advisable to use tire chains whenever pavements and roads are in such conditions as to make skidding likely in turning corners, stopping and starting.

There are usually two or three places in the brake assembly where a "take-up" is possible to remove the slack. Each time the brakes are adjusted a different place should be used.

If the cooling system leaks, it is advisable to have it repaired at once. Avoid using anti-leak preparations, they are likely to clog up the cooling system and retard proper colling.

To remove hard, greasy deposits from the engine and adjacent parts, apply a solution of one-half pound of washing soda to two quarts of water, used hot, scrubbing off the offending parts with a stiff brush.

AUTO FACTOR IN BUILDING SCHOOL

It remained for the village of Holcomb, in Finney county, Kansas, to show the whole state what could be accomplished by the modern school consolidation plan when the taxpayers took active pride in their community.

This town, barely more than a hamlet, has what is said to be the largest and finest consolidated grade and high school in all Kansas. It serves a school district area of 125 square miles, with an enrollment this year of 500 pupils.

Holcomb, sixmiles west ofGarden City, itsne arest "metropolis," which has apopulation of less than 4,000. The country lies near the Arkansas river, and is fertile soil for sugar beets, melons, potatoes and onions. Despite the inherent productiveness of the soil, growth has been retarded by roads that were impassable at certain seasons.

Claims Educators' Attention.

But now Holcomb is claiming the attention of western educators because of its eminently efficient school system. A concrete road recently completed through Finney county has been an important factor.

Of the 500 pupils enrolled, 380 are taken to and from school in speed wagons. Eleven are in use daily, and a twelfth is held in reserve. The busses travel about 800 miles a day, making an average of a little over 27 miles a day for each one, or less than 14 miles for the morning and 14 miles for the afternoon trips. Thus the children are carried quickly, comfortably and safely.

Two of the speed wagons are driven by older high school boys and the other nine are driven by the women teachers. In this way the expense for drivers is held to about $20 a month.

Lose But Thirteen Days.

Holcomb claims the honor or originating this system of insuring satisfactory service at minimum cost. Last year only thirteen days were lost during the entire school term because of road conditions. This year, with improved highways, it seems probable that still less time will be lost.

The speed wagon fleet of Reos has been in service since August, 1920, with such records of dependability and economy that school boards elsewhere in that vicinity have been influenced favorably toward the consolidation plan. Its success obviously depends largely upon tha utter rellability and constant low cost factors so unfailingly delivered by school wagons.

A Cold Weather Tip.

Do not, in any circumstances, attempt to race the engine when it is cold in order to warm it up. In cold weather, the oil in the engine naturally assumes a chilled or semi-solid stage, leaving the wearing surfaces practically unprotected for the first dozen or so revolutions of the crank shaft or until the oil is heated to a temperature to where it can be splashed against the cylinder walls, wrist pins, and other wearing surfaces. Let the engine warm up gradually until it is working smoothly and there will be no trouble.

CAN you stop QUICK, when sudden danger looms ahead? Crowded streets, thoughtless drivers, careless pedestrians call for good brakes.

Our shop is equipped with modern brake equipment. We are brake experts. Leave your car with us while shopping, at the matinee or office. It will be ready when you want it.

MOTORS AND THEIR CARE

Danger of Gas Vapor.

To prevent vapor of gasoline from spreading, care must be taken to avoid overflow. Any gasoline spilled over the tank or around the car forms a heavy vapor that may be ignited as soon as the engine is started.

Tires and Rims.

It is a simple matter to remove a tire from a rim that has been shellacked. Clean tire rims thoroughly and paint them with shellac the next time a tire is removed. Allow the shellac to dry thoroughly before attempting to put on the new tire.

Crank-Case Logic.

Change engine oil more frequently in winter than in summer. Gasoline will not vaporize completely in cold weather, and some of the gas will seep down into the oil and dilute it. Its lubrication value is lost much sooner, therefore, than ordinarily.

In Case of Emergency.

An emergency headlight can be rigged up with the use of the trouble lamp. The trouble-cord lamp socket is removed, and the wires attached to the headlight plug, replacing the usual wires. The cord is then run from the dashlamp socket to one of the headlights.

Brake Control.

No part of a car is more important than the brakes, and anything less than 100 per cent brake efficiency may mean the loss of life. Keep them adjusted properly and have them relined when they become too badly worn. Oil the brake mechanism at regular intervals.

Position At Steering Wheel.

An operator of a car can steer much easier and will experience less fatigue if he will settle himself comfortably in the driver's seat, grasp that portion of the steering wheel rim closest to his body in such a fashion that the elbows hang loosely to the sides, each upper arm and forearm bent to approximate a letter L. The right hand palm should be up, the left hand palm down.

Causes of Clutch Trouble.

A dragging clutch may be caused by too close an adjustment or by lack of lubrication of the thrust bearing. The thrust bearing at the rear of the clutch shaft and the throwing collar bearing should be kept well lubricated. If these bearings become worn appreciably the clutch will not operate satisfactory.

Worth While Accessories.

A comfortable rest or cushion for a creeper can be made by using a section of an old inner tube with the valve. Cut out about a foot of section containing the valve and vulcanize the ends so that it may be inflated. The ends can be arranged so that the valve stem will point downward or project from the side, whichever may be the most convenient.

Make a habit of listening carefully for any change in the noise the engine makes while running. Any tap or squeak means a loose part or lack of lubrication. If neglected serious results will follow.

A grinding or humming noise in the differential is the result of worn gears.

Keep the radiator clean. Flush the water circulating syste mto remove any rust or sediment deposits, as these tend to heat the motor.

Examine all spark plugs. Clean and set all points about the thickness of a ten-cent piece, and in replacing be sure they set tight in cylinders.

Never turn the steering wheel while the car is standing still, as such a turn puts unnecessary strain on all steering gear parts—and it is bad for tires.

Drain out all old oil in motor and replace with clean oil every 500 miles Always make sure gauge registers proper level and that pressure guage indicates properly.

The correct length of plug gaps is as follows: High compression .75-80 sion: 65-pound zdscg l.puggfk tnsO pound, .020-inch; medium compression, 65-pound, .025-inch; low compression, 55-pound, 030-inch.

Examine the electrical equipment to make sure that the generator and ammeter are functioning properly and that lighting circuit, starter and horn connections are secure.

Go over the supply of spare parts and repair kit and see that all items are supplied. Such small parts as tube patches, repair cement, valve plungers and caps are soon used up and are not there when wanted.

Quiet gear shifting is the unmistakable mark of the good automobile driver.

The wheels of a car should be jacked up and tested periodically not only for smoothness of running, but for side play as well.

Noise in the driving bevels of the rear axle is commonly caused by poor adjustment, allowing too little or too much backlash.

Skidding on wet streets may be avoided to a great extent by careful driving.

A motorist should never bend the license plates or hide them behind a bumper or tire holder so they cannot be read. Keep them clean.

Storage batteries when fully charged will not freeze at 60 degrees below zero, but when discharged they will rfeeze much easier a tthis time of the year.

About 30 per cent of each gallon of gasoline is wasted in automobiles, resulting from wrong carburetor adjustment and consequent imperfect combustion.

It is always advisable to use tire chains whenever pavements and roads are in such conditions as to make skidding likely in turning corners, stopping and starting.

There are usually two or three places in the brake assembly where a "take-up" is possible to remove the slack. Each time the brakes are adjusted a different place should be used.

If the cooling system leaks, it is advisable to have it repaired at once. Avoid using anti-leak preparations, they are likely to clog up the cooling system and retard proper colling.

To remove hard, greasy deposits from the engine and adjacent parts, apply a solution of one-half pound of washing soda to two quarts of water, used hot, scrubbing off the offending parts with a stiff brush.

Chadron Normal

Vivian Bard, who was head of the department in this school two years, recently appeared on a department club program in Terre Haute, Ind. Miss Bard is a graduate of the De Pauw university and has studied in Chicago under Jasef Lheyinne, a Russian pianist, who has taken a prominent place among the leading virtuosi in this country since 1919. Lhevinne teaches in Chicago only during the summer. Miss Bard is one of his performing pupils in his master classes. Lhevinne speaks very highly of her work therein. Miss Bard was piano instructor at Chadron when Leroy North won the gold medal in Lincoln for piano playing.

Irma Stockdale, '21, who has been the instructor of English in the Scottsbluff high school, has been re-elected to her position at an increase in salary. Miss Irma has, however, declined the offer as she wishes to continue her studies next year.

Six young women of the college, accompanied by Miss Work, left Thursday morning for the Y. W. cabinet conference held at Spearfish, S. D. They returned Sunday night. The girls who composed the group were Mabel Pierpont, president; Anna Rose Kurt, vice president; Lillian Gaswick, treasurer; Evelyn Curry, music chairman; Catherine Treadway, program chairman, and Helen McDaniel, publicity chairman.

The first high school junior-senior banquet was held Friday evening in the banquet room of the Normal gymnasium. There is also to be a high school commencement separate from the college commencement, a senior play, a class day program, and the usual activities for high schools this year. Mrs. Bodster sponsors the high school juniors. Elizabeth Patterson acted as toastmaster. Dan Van Ingen, Scott Hill, Mrs. R. I. Elliott, Miss Delzell, sponsor of the high schol seniors, and Dean Stockdale were on the toast list.

The debate Tuesday night was a session of congress. The national education bill, now known as the Sterling-Reed bill, was under discussion. Those who took part were Roy Whiting, Malcolm Sweeney, Dan Van Ingen, and Carlos Tilford. The discussion will be continued April 7. At the close of the session a vote will be taken on the measure.

Professor Holch successfully won his election as councilman, representing the fourth ward.

The Touring Special

IT HAS EVERY THING

A lot of people have been waiting for a powerful, sturdy, graceful, six-cylinder car, fitted at the factory with all the "extras"—a fully equipt car.

Here it is—the Auburn Six-43 Touring Special!

It has everything—distinctive looks, rugged power, long life—great economy. Easy to handle—easy to park!

Last year's owners were enthusiastic over the Six-43 Touring—said it couldn't be improved.

But Auburn did it, of course!

Built into the Touring Special, at the factory, all those extra necessaries. It has everything for style and safe, comfortable driving—from disc wheels and front bumper to rear vision mirror.

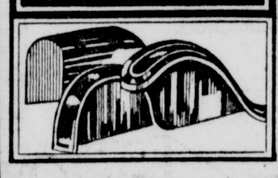

Extras are extra no longer! They come with the Auburn!

NEED FOR BETTER TRAFFIC CONTROL

Cities Just Beginning to Use Plans to Remove Congestion.

Atlantic City Points Way To Commissions Of Smaller Cities.

"In these days when city planning engineers describe the triple-decked streets for traffic relief in the city of the future, the man who has enough money to buy an automobile wonders whether congestion isn't so great that he had better put his money into something else," says Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board of directors of the Chrysler and Maxwell Motor corporations.

"The truth is that our cities haven't begun to use immediately available means of relieving traffic congestion. The synchronization of traffic is just one instance. Imagine what would happen on Fifth avenue, New York, or Michigan boulevard, Chicago, if an attempt were to be made to have each traffic officer at each street crossing direct the movement of cars regardless of how traffic was moving a block away. In less than it takes to tell it there would be absolute confusion.

"Atlantic City points the way to smaller cities. There traffic on certain much-used streets is controlled by over-head lights which are controlled by a central operating board automatically and do not require the presence of officers at each corner When the lights were first installed there was a tendency on the part of some drivers to ignore the lights but a few arrests and heavy fines soon discouraged this.

Need Traffic Control.

"Traffic in New York has been greatly helped by the synchronized traffic control. Contrast the traffic conditions on Fifth avenue where traffic is synchronized and on Sixth avenue where it isn't. One of the things that should be done in New York immediately is synchronize all traffice between Fourteenth and Fifty-seventh streets and between Lexington and Eighth avenue.

"New York has greatly simplified its traffic problems by the use of one-way streets. Other cities should profit by the same example

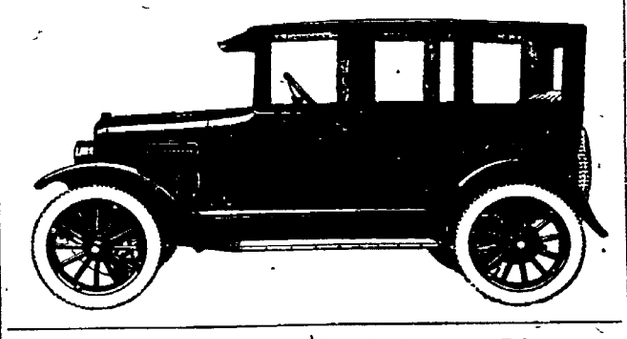

"Many a so-called two-way street is converted into a one-way street because of motor cars parked parallel with the sidewalk on one side of the street and trucks are backed at an angle on the other. Is there any particular reason why trucks must be unloaded from the rear? Can't they be unloaded from the side? By unloading and loading from the side from room will be left in the streets for cars. Freight cars are loaded from the side and motor trucks should be also.

"Traffic problems aren't nearly so serious as some people like to think they are. All that is required is a bit of enterprise and imagination and many of these so-called problems will disappear."

Auto Associations' Officers Will Meet At Detroit In May

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—The second annual national conference of secretaries and managers of automobile dealer and trade associations is set for Tuesday, May 20, in the Statler hotel in Detroit. Lynn M. Shaw, assistant general manager of the National Automobile Dealers' association, announced today that the decision of the advisory committee had been unanimous for that date and place. Herbert Buckman, manager of the Cleveland Automobile Dealers & Manufacturers association, Timothy D. Beard, executive secretary of the Chicago Automotive Trade association, Robert E. Lee, manager of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers association, are the members of the advisory committee which has worked with the National Automobile Dealers association to establish and organize the conferences. The conference this year will be a one-day program. Secretaries and managers of all city and state dealers and trade associations in the automobile industry are invited to attend the conference. More than forty associations were represented in the conference in July in Chicago last year. It is expected the program will be announced later this month.

PLACE LIMIT ON LOAD FOR TRUCKS

Commissioners Decide Combined Weight Must Not Exceed 28,000 Pounds.

Washington Department Fixes Limit For Most Economical Transportation.

NEW YORK, April 12. — Commissioners of the city of Washington, D. C., have decided to establish a limit of 28,000 pounds for loaded motor trucks, following hearings that have been in progress for several months. This decision is in line with recommendations submitted by the bureau of public roads made by its chief, Thomas H. MacDonald. It is also in accordance with the standard policy of the motor vehicle conference committee

"Probably $25,000 annually is saved by the federal government in the transportation of fuel in 7 1-2 ton trucks as against 5 ton units in the city of Washington," testified G. P. Pope, engineer in charge of the government fuel yards, department of the interior, before the commissioners at one of the recent weight limitation hearings.

With 7 1-2 ton trucks the fuel yards moved 111,282 tons at a cost per ton of 39.9c as against 68 700 tons by 5 ton units at 52.3c per ton—a spread of 22c.

Most Economical Transportation.

That weights of vehicles traveling over the highways should be those which provide the most economical transportation, and the fact that with the same weight distribution the difference between a 25,000 pound limit and a 28,000-pound limit is so slight that it has no appreciable effect on the highway or street, was brought out by representatives of the bureau of public roads.

"The public will have to pay for one and a half tons that are not hauled if this limitation is enforced," declared one large trucker, adding that greater congestion will result from distributing this delivery among more units. Freight cars were originally designed at about half their present capacity but larger units developed through necessity and the roadbed was built to carry them, was the analogy drawn.

Emphasis was laid upon the need for enforcement of present regulations to prevent overloading. This the commissioners declared impossible and asked for an agreement among the truckers as to what would be a proper penalty for violation of overloading regulations.

Retail Delivery Of Ford Products Hits High Record

DETROIT, April 12.—Retail deliveries of Ford cars and trucks in the United States during the month of March reached the record breaking total of 205,735 it was announced by the Ford Motor company here today.

Nothing in the history of the automobile industry compares with this remarkable record.

A significant feature developed during the last ten days of the month when sales averaged 10,804 cars and trucks a day indicating that the spring buying rush has begun and that under this enormous demand production of the company will be taxed to the limit in an endeavor to meet the heavy flood of orders.

Stork Leaves Big Boy at Cornhusker Filling Station

Cornhusker filling station announces the arrival of a new boy, and not an ordinary boy either. This boy stands 6 feet 2 inches high and has more than 10,000 brothers scattered all over the United States.

His name is En-ar-co and Cornhusker filling station has put him to work on their sales force. Although this unusual boy is made of wood he is by no means a blockhead. His winning smile and witty remarks make new friends for him every day.

A reporter from this paper interviewed the boy upon his arrival, and after greeting him the reporter said. "This is a fine day, but it looks like we'd have zero weather," and the boy wrote on his slate, "What if it does go down to zero, that's nothing."

Our reporter then touched upon a few personal questions. He asked the boy who was the boss of his family. The boy wrote on his slate: "If Dad says no, and Ma says yes, yes is correct."

Asked what are the ages of man, the boy wrote on his slate: "Ages of man — school tablets, aspirin tablets, stone tablets.

Our reporter then asked: "What are the ages of woman?" The boy wrote on his slate: "Ages of woman —safety pins, hair pins, diamond pins, rolling pins."

We can't tell here all the clever things that this remarkable boy told us during our interview. This new boy, En-ar-co, may be seen any day at Thirteenth and Highstreets, Cornhusker filling station.

He holds a monstrous slate and on this slate you will always find his witty comments. He is here to help the sale of scientific refined En-ar-co motor oil.

Business Outlook Good Says Head of Auburn Concern

Auburn dealers throughout the eastern section of the country are very optimistic as to business conditions according to R. H. Faulkner, director of sales of the Auburn Automobile company who recently returned from an extensive trip in that section of the country.

"The new English coach has aroused more interest in the Auburn line than any other model which was ever put on the market," says Mr. Faulkner. "This interest and enthusiasm not only indicates great possibilities for that particular car but is reflected in the sales of the other models as well.

"While deliveries have been somewhat slow due to weather conditions making it impossible for many dealers to drive cars, a great number of orders are being booked for future delivery and everything points to a shortage of Auburn cars within the next few weeks.

"People are buying with more deliberation than ever before and quality is being very carefully considered. The sturdy construction and economical operation of the 6-45 and 6-63 Auburn chasses have a definite appeal for buyers of this type and it is apparent that an exceptionally good year is in store for Auburn dealers."

ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION.

LITTLE ROCK, April 12.—Steps for the formal organization of an N. A. D. A. chapter of automobile dealers have been taken here. Five members already were here and five more made application. P. F. Drury and Lynn M. Shaw, assistant general managers of the National Automobile Dealers' association advised with the dealers on the steps to be taken to form a permanent local chapter.

PLACE LIMIT ON LOAD FOR TRUCKS

Commissioners Decide Combined Weight Must Not Exceed 28,000 Pounds.

Washington Department Fixes Limit For Most Economical Transportation.

NEW YORK, April 12. — Commissioners of the city of Washington, D. C., have decided to establish a limit of 28,000 pounds for loaded motor trucks, following hearings that have been in progress for several months. This decision is in line with recommendations submitted by the bureau of public roads made by its chief, Thomas H. MacDonald. It is also in accordance with the standard policy of the motor vehicle conference committee.

"Probably $25,000 annually is saved by the federal government in the transportation of fuel in 7 1-2 ton trucks as against 5 ton units in the city of Washington," testified G. F. Pope, engineer in charge of the government fuel yards, department of the interior, before the commissioners at one of the recent weight limitation hearings.

With 7 1-2 ton trucks the fuel yards moved 111,282 tons at a cost per ton of 39.9c as against 68,700 tons by 5 ton units at 52.3c per ton—a spread of 22c.

Most Economical Transportation.

That weights of vehicles traveling over the highways should be those which provide the most economical transportation, and the fact that with the same weight distribution the difference between a 25,000 pound limit and a 28,000 pound limit is so slight that it has no appreciable effect on the highway or street, was brought out by representatives of the bureau of public roads.

"The public will have to pay for one and a half tons that are not hauled if this limitation is enforced," declared one large trucker, adding that greater congestion will result from distributing this delivery among more units. Freight cars were originally designed at about half their present capacity but larger units developed through necessity and the roadbed was built to carry them, was the analogy drawn.

Emphasis was laid upon the need for enforcement of present regulations to prevent overloading. This the commissioners declared impossible and asked for an agreement among the truckers as to what would be a proper penalty for violation of overloading regulations.

Retail Delivery Of Ford Products Hits High Record

DETROIT, April 12.—Retail deliveries of Ford cars and trucks in the United States during the month of March reached the record breaking total of 205,735 it was announced by the Ford Motor company here today.

Nothing in the history of the automobile industry compares with this remarkable record.

A significant feature developed during the last ten days of the month when sales averaged 10,804 cars and trucks a day indicating that the spring buying rush has begun and that under this enormous demand production of the company will be taxed to the limit in an endeavor to meet the heavy flood of orders.

Stork Leaves Big Boy at Cornhusker Filling Station

Cornhusker filling station announces the arrival of a new boy, and not an ordinary boy either. This boy stands 6 feet 2 inches high and has more than 10,000 brothers scattered all over the United States.

His name is En-ar-co and Cornhusker filling station has put him to work on their sales force. Although this unusual boy is made of wood he is by no means a blockhead. His winning smile and witty remarks make new friends for him every day.

A reporter from this paper interviewed the boy upon his arrival, and after greeting him the reporter said. "This is a fine day, but it looks like we'd have zero weather," and the boy wrote on his slate, "What if it does go down to zero, that's nothing."

Our reporter then touched upon a few personal questions. He asked the boy who was the boss of his family. The boy wrote on his slate: "If Dad says no, and Ma says yes, yes is correct."

Asked what are the ages of man, the boy wrote on his slate: "Ages of man — school tablets, aspirin tablets, stone tablets.

Our reporter then asked: "What are the ages of woman?" The boy wrote on his slate: "Ages of woman —safety pins, hair pins, diamond pins, rolling pins."

We can't tell here all the clever things that this remarkable boy told us during our interview. This new boy, En-ar-co, may be seen any day at Thirteenth and Highstreets, Cornhusker filling station.

He holds a monstrous slate and on this slate you will always find his witty comments. He is here to help the sale of scientific refined En-ar-co motor oil.

Business Outlook Good Says Head of Auburn Concern

Auburn dealers throughout the eastern section of the country are very optimistic as to business conditions according to R. H. Faulkner, director of sales of the Auburn Automobile company who recently returned from an extensive trip in that section of the country.

"The new English coach has aroused more interest in the Auburn line than any other model which was ever put on the market," says Mr. Faulkner. "This interest and enthusiasm not only indicates great possibilities for that particular car but is reflected in the sales of the other models as well.

"While deliveries have been somewhat slow due to weather conditions making it impossible for many dealers to drive cars, a great number of orders are being booked for future delivery and everything points to a shortage of Auburn cars within the next few weeks.

"People are buying with more deliberation than ever before and quality is being very carefuly considered. The sturdy construction and economical operation of the 6-45 and 6-63 Auburn chasses have a definite appeal for buyers of this type and it is apparent that an exceptionally good year is in store for Auburn dealers."

ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION.

LITTLE ROCK, April 12.—Steps for the formal organization of an N. A. D. A. chapter of automobile dealers have been taken here. Five members already were here and five more made application. P. F. Drury and Lynn M. Shaw, assistant general managers of the National Automobile Dealers' association advised with the dealers on the steps to be taken to form a permanent local chapter.

WILL SPEAK AT LONDON MEETING

Advertising Manager of Rickenbacker Motor Co. To Club Convention.

E. LeRoy Pelletier, manager of advertising and sales promotion of Rickenbacker Motor company, is one of six Americans selected to represent this country at the international convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world, London, England, next July. Mr. Pelletier will represent the newspaper division and his address will be on the subject of "The Successful Use of Newspapers in Developing the Automobile Industry."

Having been one of the first advertising men to use large space in daily newspapers throughout the country and hooking them up so as to constitute a national campaign; having been from the first an ardent champion of the daily and a consistent user of this medium, he was the unanimous choice of the committee to represent this division. It is expected that more than 1,500 leading advertising men from all countries of the world will be present.

The American delegation have chartered three entire ships, new ones now under construction and which will make their maiden trips as the official transports of the American advertising men.

Keep Headlamps Shiny.

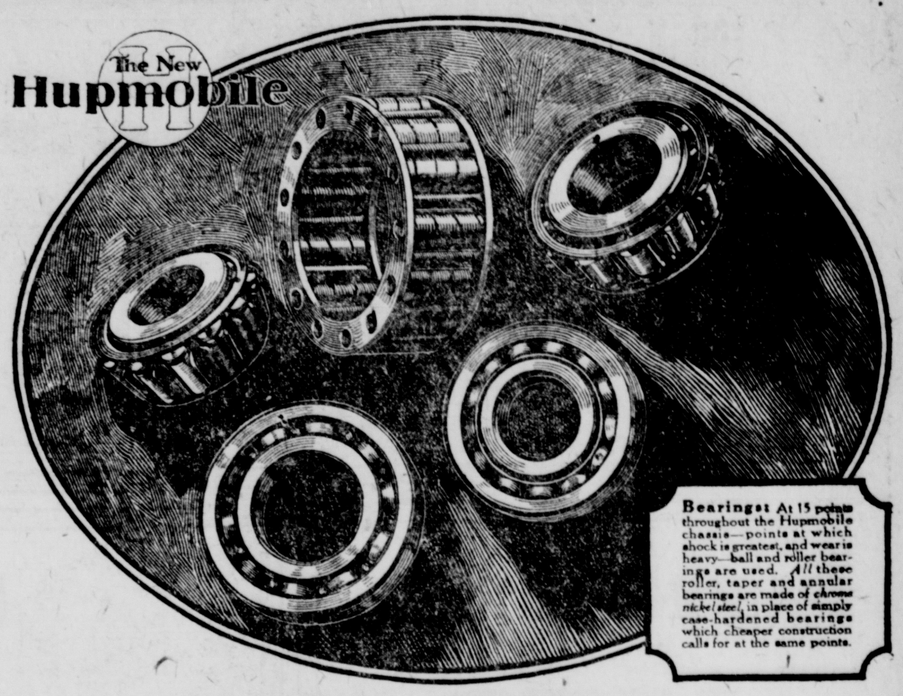

Headlamps can be kept bright for a long time by covering the surface with polish paste or by using a pair of fabric or leather covers when it starts to rain.

Facts You Should Know

Hupmobile Quality-Proof Arms You With Them

Hupmobile Quality-Proof, in the shape of a parts display which contrasts Hupmobile construction with ordinary construction, will tell you plain facts about the things that make a motor car stand up.

It will tell you more than we can ever say about economy and long life, about wonderful performance and stick-on-the-job ability, about whole-hearted satisfaction.

But even all that is not enough for us. We want every man who puts his good money into the Hupmobile to do so with his eyes open. So we bring the inside of the car out into the daylight, where he can see it before he buys. We want him to know that he can't buy higher value no matter how much he might be willing to pay.

We want him to see how much more he gets than the same price can buy elsewhere.

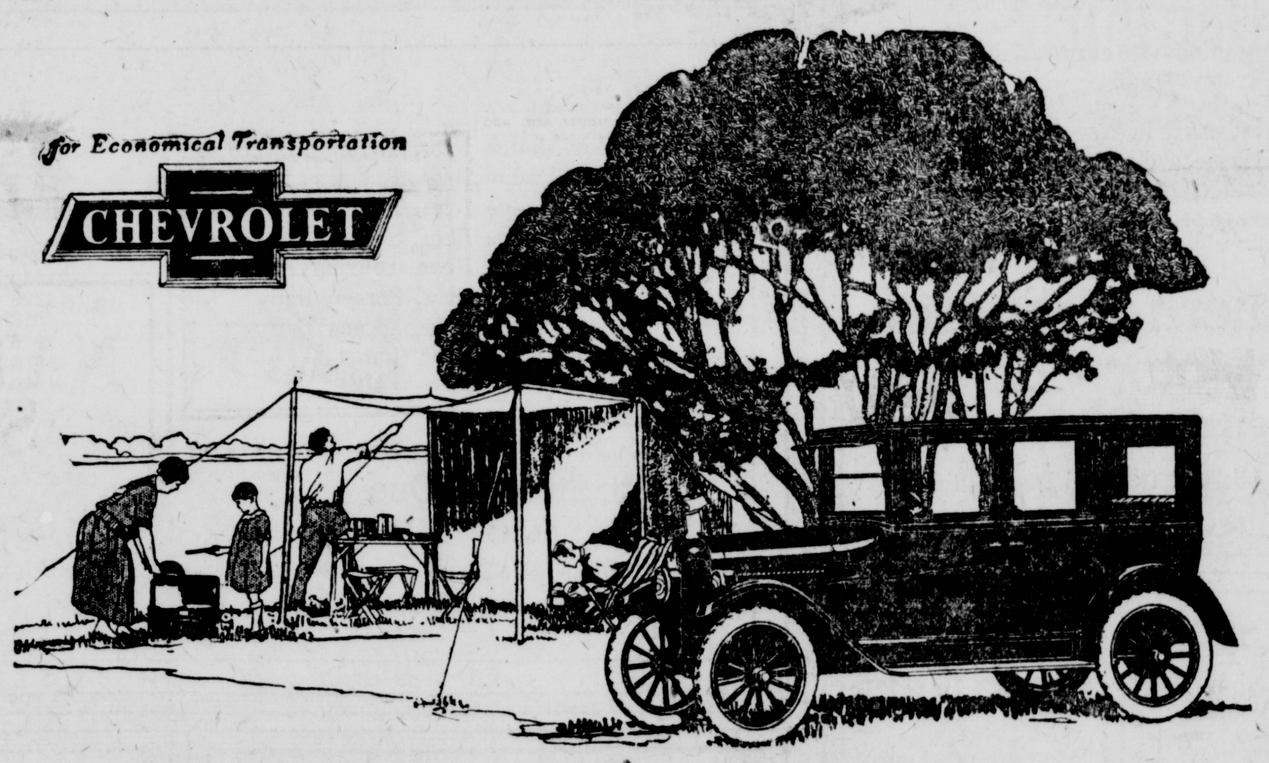

So come in—see the Parts Display—and learn real facts about motor car construction.

CHEVROLET

Will Your Family Be Happy This Spring?

Suppose you have definitely decided to buy a Chevrolet this Spring.

That does not necessarily mean you are going to get it.

Anyone posted on conditions in the automobile business will tell you that thousands of families are going to be unable to get cars this Spring. That has been true almost every spring for the last ten years, but the shortage in April, May and June, this year, is going to be more serious than ever before.

The only way to be sure of a Chevrolet this Spring is to order it NOW.

If you do not want to pay for it in full at this time, any Chevrolet dealer will arrange terms to suit your convenience, so you can pay as you ride.

You will be surprised to learn how easy it is to pay for a Chevrolet and to get possession and use of it.

Will Chevrolet Advance Prices?

Ten makes of automobiles have already advanced in price. In spite of increased costs of materials, the Chevrolet price is still the same. How long—we cannot guarantee. To make sure of your Chevrolet at present low prices

Used Cars

are just as good as New Cars

If

the cars in question are in good condition.

Many used cars have been rebuilt by us, so that the owners were assured of service which some new cars cannot render.

Come in and let us show you what Economy Rings and Alloy Pistons, when combined with polished cylinders, burnished bearings and valves which never need grinding, can do for you.

Our workmen have been taught how to do the work as it should be done.

We solicit the patronage of those who expect Superior Service.
